Falwell: 'Fill the gap' in social services

The Rev. Jerry Falwell, far left, met the press of Southern Illinois outside the Student Center Ballrooms Monday afternoon.

F-Senate resolution asks for administrative hiring freeze

By Doug Hettinger Staff Writer

The Faculty Senate's executive committee will propose a resolution Tuesday that would ask the University to freeze the hiring of additional administrators.

The senate will meet at 1 p.m. in the Saline Room of the Student Center.

As a means of easing budget problems, the committee's proposal urges the administration to stop searches for a Graduate School dean, a dean of the School for Technical Careers, an executive of the School for Technical Careers, an executive director of University relations, a special assistant to the vice president for University relations or any other unfilled administrative

Herbert Donow, Faculty Senate president, said the University needs to make cuts in personnel services to meet budget constraints, but he denounced any plan that would make cuts mainly at the teaching level.

President Albert Somit last week confirmed that he had sent a plan to Chancellor Kenneth Shaw that would leave 100 to 120 positions unfilled, including about 60 faculty Donow, a faculty member in English, said the reductions in faculty and staff should not be made at the expense of basic education. The cutbacks should be made by not filling administrative positions "that can't be clearly justified," he said. Donow said people teaching large numbers of students are essential to the mission of the lightestics.

University.

He said appointing people from outside the University to fill the positions of Graduate School dean and the School for Technical Careers dean would cost the University about $100,000 in salaries because the people who temporarily fill these positions would still be retained by SIU-C in other functions.

That $100,000 would pay about seven people at the basic teaching level, Donow said.

"Think of how many students they could teach," Conow said.

Donow said a member of the Faculty Senate Donow said a member of the Faculty Senate found that there were ten administrative officers at the Board of Trustees level listed in the 1981 staff directory, compared to six in 1971. He said that at the presidential level, the number of administrators has nearly doubled between 1971 and delit recording to the presidential to the control of the said of 1981, according to the senate member's study

Letter campaign on aid cuts to start

Students who want to protest are being asked to write letters Wednesday to their U.S. senators and representatives explaining their displeasure as part of National Letter-Writing

Addresses of the legislators Addresses of the legislators, as well as stationery and sample letters will be available to students at Lables in the Student Center, Communications Building, Fanef Hall, General Classroom Building, and the Lesar Law Building from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and in the dining areas of Thompson Point, Grinnell and Trueblood Halls from 4:30 to 6 p.m., according to Carl Kosierowski, graduate student in business, and coordinator of the letter-writing day. "That should take less than five minutes if they use our sample letters." Kosierowski

Carl Kosierowski said the SIU-C letter writing drive is part of a national campaign spearheaded by the SIU-C Graduate Student Council and the Undergraduate Student Organization legislators aware that the way they vote on the education issue will affect how students vote in November

We are trying to encourage legislators to support legislation that enhances rather than restricts the attainment of higher levels of education," Kosierowski said.

Kosierowski is prepared for a big response.
"I talked to the campus pos office and they said they could handle all the letters students can provide," he said.

If you're bothered by headache that seems to have its origin at the base of your skull, you may be suffering from tension headache.

Tension headaches can be coused by an irritation of the of the area spine immediately under the skull. These are called the suborginital narves

They pass through small DR. WHITE coenings in the spinal column to muscles in the surrounding area. Any abnormal pressure or dys-function of the neck and des can imitate the nerves and cause tension. The tension doesn't cause the headache. To treat this form of headache, attention should be paid to the bone and muscle structures. They should be returned to normal balance so they can function properly again Medication is not the ans wer to tension headaches. Aspirin and other pain-killers may give you temporary relief-but they won't solve the problem. Once the source of the problem is found and treated, THEN you can get the relief

Steps needed to ensure fair voting procedures

THE AMERICAN ELECTORAL process is based on the premise that the person should have one vote. But whether this premise applies to Undergraduate Student Organization elections is open to question.

The USO has not devised an infallible way to guarantee that students will vote only once since the student I.D. and fee statement were combined last year. When students had to carry a separ-te fee statement, a mark was placed at the statement when a student voted. Any student with a marked fee statement was prosunably barred from voting again.

Now he USO must rely essentially on the honesty of students and hope that students will not vote more than once. USO officials are ap arently ignoring the fact that some students are so interested in influencing student government that they are ex-

Student government officials did try to prevent double voting during the athletic referendum last fall. Students' hands were stamped with ink as they voted. But some ingenious voters quickly discovered that the ink could be easily washed off. There were reports that some pro-fee voters had bragged of voting at least seven times. These reports put the legitimacy of the least seven times. referendum in doubt

DURING THE RECENT student government elections, voters were stamped twice with indelible ink, and many students also were asked to roll two fingers in the ink. It was assumed that student who were thus marked for the next few weeks would be restricted to the one vote that was rightfully theirs

At least one student, however, discovered that the ink could be

At least one scorent, nowever, discovered that the link could be scrubbed off with baby oil, thus opening the door once agair to charges of ballot-box stuffing.

The USO bylaws state that elections are to be conducted according to state and national election laws. This rule should be cording to state and national election laws. In its rule should be also be extended to the ballot process itself.

Currently, most students can vote at any poll they happen to walk by. Instead they should be restricted to voting at one poll only—the same way that voters in primary and general elections can vote only in the precincts where they are registered. For example, all students enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts would have to vote at a poll placed, perhaps, in Faner Hall.

ENROLLMENT LISTS could be kept at each poll and names could be checked off as students voted.

Restricting the places where students could vote and thereby making voting less convenient might further reduce already low voter turnouts. Only 3,322 votes were counted in this year's

But making the voting procedure legitimate might also induce students into taking campus elections more seriously.

It would make each vote that is cast carry the weight of every other vote cast. And that is more important than big turnouts in which the vote totals are suspect.

Meaning result of prejudice

I wish to make a short reply about the use of the word "niggardly" in a column written by me on March 30. If, as copy editor Angela Wimes and David Nava suggest, it is true that all know suggest, it is true that all know the negative connotations the word "niggardly" implies, then I ask where is their reply to Christian Moe's use of that same word? For if we are to use their logic, it would have to apply across the board, would it not? It would follow that if the It would follow that if the not? It would follow that if the word were to be deemed offensive when used in conjunction with "black," then, by extension, it would also be offensive when spoken to a black person. As a copy editor, Wimes should be aware that personal conjectures, fantasies and fabrications about the literal meaning of words could be, and usually are, the result of one's usually are, the result of one's prejudices or imagination. As a black, I don't find the word offensive because I am familiar offensive because I am familiar with its proper meaning, which has nothing to do with the slander of blacks.

As for Nava's assertion of my "paranoid nonsense." I will use his own logic to answer this affront. Using the reasoning, without qualification, that certain words grouped together constitute offense, I again say that is a matter of personal perception. I certainly wasn't offended when Moe asked me "How many whites are in the play?" Or, "How familiar are play?" Or, "How fayou with Chicago?"

If I reasoned as Wimes and Nava apparently do, I could take Moe's question to mean implying that white characters were a prerequisite for play predection, or that he felt all blacks on this campus were trom Chicago and should perhaps return there.

About the play's fate I am in the process of submitting the play, along with the March 30 column, to various individuals, universities, theater houses, etc., throughout the United States.

To turn this into a game of harades or semantics and charades or semantics and completely ignore the issues a carlier presented accomplishes nothing. On the contrary, it serves to make obvious that something is not being brought to light. The truth is plain for all to see if they will. Truth cannot be debeted, as it is a double-edged sword cutting both ways. That sword is swift, sure and incalcuable. — Consello M. Parrish, "Senior, Speech Communications.

Solving murders not economical

WHO WROTE THE commentary, "Jackson County is still not another 'Fort Apache'" in the April 19 DailyEgyptian? I want to thank him for writing such a no-thought commentary because it has motivated me to reply to a topic feel has been almost ignored by the press of this area for some time. The topic is murder and rape, problems that have become almost rape, proviems that have become almost commonplace in Jackson County. What outraged me was the ridiculous anologies the writer used throughout the commentary trying to defend the law en-forcement agencies of this community. He called one communities student consider called one commonplace student complaint, that "They give out tickets, but they can't solve murders," absurd. Personally I agree with that complaint. Seven murders and several races with no leads or arrests in one year is a pretty bad track record.

The writer also said it was "absurd to suggest the police are incompetent because ey give out traffic tickets while murde nsolved." I find it absurd that a Carbo police officer, paid close to $15.000 a year sit-ting in a $7,000 squad car, is instructed to waste their time pulling over bicyclists running stop

PUBLIC SAFETY is their job. I feel women walking dow. Forest Street after a 6 p.m. class in constant fear of either being murdered or raped should at least be able to expect a squad car periodically for at least a little reassurance.

As far as the campus police, I would say it would be a joke to either consider them effective or professional. I don't consider it professional to see police reading paperbacks during work, or to see constantly two SIU squads talking in parking lots. I also love to see the best patrol, armed to the teeth with guns, interesting the patrol of the professional p nightsticks and mace, harassing bicyclists and wasting the night hours checking serial numbers. People are being killed and they're worried about bike registration. Give me a

I also think the Daily Egyptian and the Undergraduate Student Organization should share part of the blame. It's their responsibility to tell people about the events in our community — even the bad ones. I wish I could express the hatred I once felt when I saw the news of a rape of an 18-year-old woman on page 15, behind the classified ads, of the Daily Egyptian.

I WISH I could express the hatred I feel every time I see the sign "Take the Safeway, Take the Brightway Path." Do you realize how many new students may misinterpret this sign by actually believing that the lighted walkways of SIUC are saie at night? This is just not true. Over the years there have been many rapes along these paths, and the Daily Egyptian and the USO could just be instigating more. I say take the safe way — carry mace.

I have thought about this and lost sleep over

I have thought about this and lost sleep over if for a long time. As far as the commentator who compares the crime rate of Carbonswesses ($5,000) to Chrago tover 4.5 million). I hope he puts that in his resume and lives on Presiden: Reagan's social welfare plan all his life. Face it, what this all comes down to is money. It's expensive to solve murders, and differences he to rescent rapists. That's why it's expensive to prosecute rapists. That's why the law enforcement agencies of this town are instructed to spend their time handing out parking tickets, traffic violations, bid violations and anything else they can stick you with. All these build revenue for the University and the town and doesn't cost them any extra

This has to end. I don't mean to frighten students, but this area has a serious crime problem on its hands and I wish it would acknowledge it. Then maybe, just maybe, we can have them protecting the public and patrolling our neighborhoods, and not just making money over our dead bodies. — Scott Carr, Sophomere, Radio and Television.

Gun control will not reduce crime

Maybe it should be un-constitutional to think while reading the Daily Egyptian editorial page. That surely must have been the premise of Mike Scaletta's opinion on gun control, for his argument was about as shallow in fact as any about as snation in fact as any five heard all year.

Gun control laws were as relevant in the shooting of President Ronald Reagan as the legality of heroin and cocaine were in John Belushi's urfortunate accident. Ban gurs, no more homicides. Sounds safe. Ban alcohol, no more alcoholics. Ever read about Prohibition?

Scaletta would do well to look at countries that have tried to eliminate guns. Mexico has gun control laws so stringent as to make ours seem nonexistent. But its homicide rate is for-midably higher. Switzerland has virtually no gun control laws and almost no crime. And there is an abundance of other Ironically, the reason why this correlation does not exist was stated by Scaletta himself: "Criminals, who after all are the targets of gun control laws, will ignore (the law) anyway. - Jay Cook, Senior, Finance.

Cutting educational funds will damage our children's future

Many communities in this area are once again experiencing difficulties with a lack of funds in their school districts and subsequent teacher lay offs. An important question for many people at times like these is if we can really afford to have cutbacks in such an important area. Our children are our country's greatest natural resource. Should we allow anyone to tamper with this?

In times of economic hardship like these, a suggested increase in taxes is generally met with vehement disapproval on the part of taxpayers. This is a very part of taxpayers. This is a very natural response. But can we allow a lack of funds to deteriorate the quality of our childrens educations? For the 1982-83 school year, due to teacher lay offs, the average number of students in the elementary classes in this area will be 34. Can one teacher adequately educate this many pupils? Ask anyone with classroom experience and they will tell you that in this

It has also been suggested that area school boards are going through with teacher lay offs as retaliation for the teacher strikes of last August. These people would surely realize the long-term effects this petty action could have on our future. The children of today will control our future. More importantly, they are the future. Our major goal should be to provide them with the very best possible education we can hest possible education we can

In a situation like this, the people in our communities should work together to see the snould work together to see the realization of this important educational goal. Teacher strikes, lay offs and tax increases should be considered only after this goal is met. What we should all work toward is the successful accomplishment of successful accomplishment of a quality education for our children and a secure future for all. - Carolys Grob, Senior Education.

Perplexing questions face senior

Being a graduating senior is turning out to be quite an overwhelming status. In the turning out to be quite an overwhelming status in the recent past, many goals and values were directed by and centered around academic life and the social life that goes with it.

values, goals, thoughts and ideas all require thought and attention to answer these

At a point in time where decisions and directions will be determined, all these factors of myself deserve to be explored. It's a tremendous growing experience. But I have one question. How is someone hose mind is so full of thoughts and ideas about himself and life also supposed to understand and think about Aristotie, St. Augustine, Marxism, power Augustine, Marxism, power elites in America, energy flow in the ecosystem, environmental degradation, social psychology and interpersonal communication at the same time? # Falklands crisis brewing for centuries

By Charles Victor, Staff Writer, and Donald Fernandez, Freshman, Engineering,

The British call them the Falkland Islands. The The British call them fine Falkland Islands. The Argentines call them Islas Malvinas. Whatever they are called, the Falkland Islands issue promises the sensetion hungry world a new dramator and blood. Arghanista, Poland and other trouble spots grow pale as the world watches the British Naval Task force move into the Falklands area this week.

AND TO SATISFY the world, newspapers are already talking of World War III, playing up the draina of having the British Prince Andrew as a ec.nbat helicopter pilot in the task force and posing the threat of Russian exploitation of the situation.

Yet few know fully the issues involved, or the movements of history that caused the situation. Will inter be a super power confrontation? Why have the Falklands, a place hardly anyone knew of three weeks ago, become such a big issue? What is the role of the United States? What are the Falklands anyway

The legal name for this disputed area is Colony of the Falkland Islands. It is located 200 miles off the east coast of Argentina, its nearest neighbor. It is made up of 200 islands, the most important of which are East Faikland and West Faikland. The rest are mostly uninhabited. Ninety-seven percent of its population is of British descent living under English Common Law. The economy is almost

THE VERY DISCOVERY of these islands is enneshed in controversy. Though history inclines to the claim of the finding of the islands by a British ship captain, John Davis, in 1592, an earlier claim by an unbower Sarahaki. iknown Spanish ship in 1540 has never been by an unknown Spanish ship in 1540 has never been satisfactorily put to rest.

Since 1562 however, the islands have been periodically settled by the British, French and Spanish. In 1766 the French were forced out of the picture by the Spanish. Four years later, in 1770, the Spaniard, Don Juan Ignaco Madriarga, who had settled on the east side, led a force of 1,400 to wrest the west side from the British. Then, as it hopes to do today, Britain reacted strongly and forced a settlement, recognizing, however, Spanish sovereignty over the islands.

forced a settlement, recognizing, however, Scanish sovereignty over the islands.

In 1811 the Spanish, who were being slowly kicked out of South America, abandoned the islands, leaving newly independent Argentina to claim them in 1829 as their inheritance from their former Spanish mesters. However, 1831 saw the Falklands governor Vernet make the mistake of seizing an American sealing vessel American retailistion. American scaling vessel. American retalilation made mincement of the Argentine settlement, and the Falklands declared their freedom. Within two years, however, the British moved

THUS BEGINS THE modern phase of the saga. A THUS BEGINS THE modern phase of the saga. A minor naval incident six years ago led to negotiations in 1977. By February of this year, negotiations had reache an impaase, precipitating the Argentine invasion on April 2 that gave them the Falklands, for three weeks at least, and put the Falklands in headlines all over the world. The British claim rests on the modern day concept of the right of self-determination of the people.

ho, like the Protestants of Northern Ireland, want to remain British.

Argentina bases her claim to legal sovereignty as the rightful heir of Spain. They also recall the 59-year absence of the British from 1774 to 1833. But why this fight over a group of islands that have 300 times more sheep than people?

Despite great strides in decolonization, the sun easn't quite set on the British Empire, Britain still has at least 12 overseas colonies, including Hong Kong and Gibraltar. The Falklands can be a valuable base for exploration of Antartica before the 1961 Antartica Treaty expires in 1991. Rumors of rich oil deposits, reportedly larger than even the North Sea deposits, make it a rich economic prize for the embattled British economy.

The Argentines give great credence to the rumors of oil, and they also need as exponic shot in the arm. I maintin, which reached 131 percent last year, has reportedly been over 100 percent for seven of the last eight years.

THERE IS ALSO growing domestic disenchantment with the ruling junta. Political survival makes it expedient to create an external coramon enemy, and, judging from the flood of jingoism released in Argentina by the invasion, the tactic appears to be working, at least temporarily. Argentines also haven't forgytten British attacks of the tack of the proper Airconnections. 1906 and 1907 on Buenos Aires.

And what about the super powers? The United States has been put in a very difficult situation. On one side is Britain, her strongest NATO ally. Even strict neutrality on America's part would alienate a great deal of British public opinion. Eisenhower's firm dealings with the British and French during the 1356 Suez crisis is no guideline here, for the British are the violated nation. It is not a case of colonialism either, for the Falklanders, or "kelpers," as they are often called, clearly want to remain British.

remain British.
On the other side is Argentina, ready to do the dirty work for the CIA in Central American countries like El Salvador. American companies have $2.5 billion worth of direct investment in Argentina, and that country owes American banks. $9.2 billion, more than a quarter of her total foreign debt.

Any overt support of Britain could send Argentina scurrying to the Soviet Linion. It could also cause a reaction among unthinking Third World countries. Many would throw their weight behind Argentina as an emotional reaction to what they would perceive as imperialism, thus legitimizing a violation of international law.

THE DANGER OF Soviet interference is also very real. Pussia is already begining to play the tune of Third World champion against Western imperialism.

Argentina will not allow the Soviets to forget that they bailed them out during Carter's 1980 grain embargo of the Soviet Union. Today the Soviets buy 75 percent of all Argentine grain exports and run up an annual deficit of more than $3 billion with Argentina. To wean Argentina away from the Western influence would be a major feather in the cap for the Soviets, who haven't been able to make any inroads in the fiercely rightist regimes of South America to date

The Falklands issue raises many very important international questions. It could set a precedent for armed settlement of territorial issues. There are 20 such issues in Latin America alone, including contested claim of the Beagle Islands by Argentina and Chile. Chilean nationalists still believe even the Argentine region of Patagonia should belong to

So far the world has receted negatively to the Argentine action. Even her Latin American neigh-bors are lukewarm in their support of her claim and decidedly against the invasion. But all this can change overnight once the shooting starts. Fickle world opinion could immediately perceive Britain as the aggressor. The Soviet Union could come out in stronger support of Argentina now that they have had time to test the waters.

EVEN BEFORE THE British recaptured the island of South Georgia, the economic war had already started. The European Economic Com-arready started. The European Economic Community's oficial sanctions against Argentina show Europe's ready backing of Britain.

Can the matter be settled without recourse to battle? Many options are open and all would require a face-saving formula for Argentina. One prescribility would be givined Argentina. possibility would be giving Argentina sovereignty over the islands while giving the "kelpers" special status. But this would definitely meet fierce opposition from the islanders themselves. However, they could be made more amenable if they were they could be made more amenable it they were allowed to remain British subjects.

Another ootion is the Hong Kong solution, to give the Palktands to Argentina and have her lesse it back to Britzin for a certain number of yours. This too has been rejected by the islanders in the past. Would the two countries actually go to war? No one can be sure. Both countries have been bellicose in their statements. We can only hope for a peaceful examination schedule attempts to avoid examination conflict viding separate examination periods for Tuesday-Thursday to classes. Some questions might develop for which answer provided at this time. by providing lecture class can be provided at this time.

1. Classes that meet longer than one hour on Tuesday and Thursday, such as four credit hour classes, should use the examination period established for the earlier of the hours. For example, a class meeting from 1:00 to 12:50 on Tuesday and Thursday would hold its examination at 12:50 p.m., Wednesday, May 12. This aprilies also to non-lecture rope courses such as laboratory or sertimate type course. Classes that meet for one of the 25 minute periods on Tuesday-Thursday are ansigned a specific examination period. For example, 12:35 to 1:50 Tounday-Thursday classes have their examination at 3:10 p. m. Thursday, May 13.

Play examined Brecht's feelings

By Abigsü Kimmei Staff Writer

Theater, Theater McLeod the Laboratory Theater and Shryock Auditorium, among others, have brought an in-teresting season to SIU-C theater-goers.

The offerings have included a classic American tragety, a story of a marital breakup over a handicapped child, two plays written entirely for confusion and shock value, and showcases of two fascinating artistic personalities from the past. Yet another famous historical figure has become the subject of the final spring production on the McLeod stage.

"Brecht on Brecht," by George Tabori, with music by Kurt Weill and lyrica by Bertolt Brecht, differed somewhat from the kind of production usually done at McLeod ater.

Directed and arranged by Judith F. Lyons, it featured eight performers singing, dancing, reciting and in-terpreting pieces of the poetry and plays of German writer

At first, the pace was disconcerting; the cast seemed lacktuster. But soon it became apparent that the measured pace reflected the detachment and yet attachment of Brecht's feelings toward fascism, vizism and bourgeois capitalistic American society—simmering at a slow boil, with a firal statement revealed in the blowur.

The musical numbers were done with a great deal of style, and the production and accepting the humorous twists in Brecht's

The more effective pieces, however, were macabre, chilling tales of infanticide and persecution. Among these vignettes were absorbing performances by Julie Williams as a woman fleeing to save her doctor-husband from suffering the consequences of being married to a Jew, and Anthony Hausmann as Galileo, thrown in prison after he denied his scientific discoveries. "Brecht on Brecht," although not a suns ine and roses kind of play, was entertaining and play, was entertaining and enlightening as to the man and his work. This spring's presentations have nearly all been the kind that provoke further study of their themes.

. Illinois State Scholarship Commission (ISSC) Monetary Award

For students who have not already done so, we strongly recommend that you apply for a 1982-83 ISSC Monetary Award. The deadline to apply is June 1, 1982. To apply, all undergraduate, lilinois residents must submit at ACT/Family Financial Statement (ACT/FFS) and answer "Yes" to Question 74 and 75a."

2. On-campus Student Employment

Students who wish to have an on-campus student work job, must have a 1982-83 ACT/FFS on file. Be sure to enclose the ACT/FFS processing fee and enter SIUC's school code #1144 in Section H and Question 76.

NOTE: ACT/FFS Need Analysis Forms may be obtained in our office.

3. Guaranteed Student Loan/Illinois Guaranteed Loan

As the Federal Government has not yet established the GSL guidelines for the 1982-83 academic year, lenders are being advised not to give loan applications to students. Our office can not process loan applications until these guidelines are published.

4. Financial Aid Award

Our office had planned to begin making financial aid awards in the middle of April, allowing those students who mailed their ACT/FFS in January to hear from us in late April or early May. However, because of delays in the delivery system at the federal level, students who mailed their ACT/FFS in January may not hear from us before late May or early June. Those students who mailed their ACT/FFS before April 1, will still be given priority for Campus-Based Aid.

Students who are just now sending in their ACT/FFS can still apply for the Pell Grant, ISSC Monetary Award, Student Work, and Guaranteed Student Logns.

5. Short Term Loan Service Charge

Effective Monday June 7, 1982, the service charge for short term loans will be increased to the following:

| Amount of loan | Service Charge                                 |
| 0 - $50       | $1.00   |
| $51 - $100   | $2.00   |
| $101 - $150  | $3.00   |
| $151 - and up | $4.00   |

Drunk Korean cop kills 30 people

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A drunken policeman went berserk with carbines and hand grenades Monday night, killing 30 people and wounding 22 in a town 200 miles south of Seoul, the state-run radio KBS repored.

The 27-year-old policeman took out two carbines, seven hand grenades and 180 rounds of ammunition at about 9:30 p.m. and ran through the streets of Kungyu, in Viryong county, firing indiscriminately, the radio said.

He expanded on the subject of education by saying that there is a need for "improved quality in America's educational system."

Falwell said there is "too much moral permissiveness in classrooms," and attributed the problem to the teaching of "secular humanism and situational ethics."

"Improving the quality of education in America necessitates a belief in behavioral absolutes," which in turn means a belief in an absolute God. he said.

"There is not a word in the original document, that founded this nation to indicate that the founding fathers wanted to throw God out the back door," but this is what the "secular humanists" have done, he said.

He also said that the Moral Majority is pro-life — "we are against the killing of 1.5 million babies every year"; protraditional family — which he said is being threatened by a 40 percent divorce rate and espousal of homosexuality as an alternative lifestyle; and promorality — "we believe that the widespread presence of pornography is damaging to our children's sense of values."

119 N. Washington

Falwell said he believes the majority of Americans agree with his organization's positions on "moral issues."

Falwell also used the occasion of the press conference to take a swipe at actress Jane Fonda. Responding to a questic a about Norman Lear's "I Love Liberty" TV special in which Fonda appeared, Falwell said that "having Jane Fonda sell

God and country is a little like having Hitler speak at a Jewish convention."

Senior Lito Ampon, shown here Sunday, had no Mol Monday, as he disposed of his opponent in two trouble with Illinois-Chacago Circle's Rudi Van sets, 6-1 and 6-1.

Red-hot netters shut out Circle

The red-hot men's tennis team warmed up for this weekend's Missouri Valley Conference Championships by burning Illinois-Chicago Circle 7-0 at the Court Club Monday.

The threat of rain that forced the two teams indoors, turned out to be a blessing in disguise for the Salukis, a powerful in-door team, as they rolled to their fifth stright victory in only three days.

Although the win was three days.

Although the win was a relatively easy one for SIU-C, Coach Dick LeFevre said that just like the Salukis' losses to top teams, it serves its purpose. "It's encouraging," he said. "Circle is trying to get things together there and right now they are having a few problems. But I'm not taking anything from us; we played well."

Circle, who fell to 10-19, has been taking its lumps ail season, especially from Division I teams. The northerm school is experiencing its first cording to Coach Charles Cunningham, teams like the Salukis have been giving it to them on the chin.

"We've been paying our dues," he said. "But we know this is what we want to do, and within a few years, we'll be competing."

No.1 seed Brian Stanley, who Lef'evre said has a chance of winning the singles at that spot this weekend, got into high gear early for the Salukis, defeating Mark Wagner, 6-4, 6-2. No.2 seed Lito Ampon ran Rudi Van Mol crazy, beating him is straight sets, 6-1, 6-1; and John Greif had no trouble with Jim Henen, 6-1, 6-0. The Sakki Nos. 4, 5 and 6 netters had no trouble at all with their opponents. David Desilets beat Gary Barkauski, 6-1, 6-0; David Filer beat Steve Davis 6-1, 6-1; and Gabriei Coch beat Bruce Siegal 6-3, 6-0.

The Salukis, now 16-13, won the two doubles played to fixish off Circie. Ampon and Desilets teamed up to beat Henen and Davis, 8-2 in an eight game pro set, and a Stanley-Coch team flattened Siegal and van Mol by "This was a relatively easy one and I guess I could consider it as a warm-up," said LeFevre.

Salukis sign JUCO center

The Saluki basketball staff again went to the junior college level Monday morning to sign a recruit, this time 6-8 center Harry Flunter from Northwest Mississippi College.
Hunter is the fourth recruit the Salukis have signed. Last week SIU-C signed two guards, Benny Smith from Volunteer

State College in Tennessee and Roy Birch fr.m Coffeeyville College in Kansas. Car-bondale's Brian Welch signed two weeks ago.

Hunter averaged 13 points and 12 rebounds per game last season and will allow Charles Nance, 6-6, to return to a for-ward's spot.

Lady netters lack that extra edge

By JoAnn Marciszewski Staff Writer

When 2½ points can make the difference between a fourth-place finish and a first-place finish, every little bit helps. SIU-E had that needed little extra and edged the Salukis for top spot at the College Tennis Open in Edwardsville over the weakend. weekend.
SFUE scored 32 points for first place. The Salukis' 30.5

tirst place. The Salukis' 30.5 points placed them just above Southwest Missouri's 30 and Western Lilinois' 29.5. Lisa Warrem led the Salukis with a 3-1 record playing at the No. 1 singles position. Warrem's 3-0 record in Friday and Saturday's matches carried her into the final on Sunday, where the let to Sophie Rivering of she lost to Sophie Bjoring of SWMO, 6-1, 6-1. Warrem was seeded fourth in flight one of the tournament, which consisted of the top three players from each team. According to Coach Judy Auld, she played well throughout the weekend.

"She was at the top of her game." Auld said. "She was more aggressive and going to

As the team bus pulls out of the city of Normal on Sunday, its occupants, SIU-C baseball players, are deathly quiet. The team has just lost a doubleheader to Illinois State. The two Saluki wins over the lost

The two Saluki wins over the Redbirds the day before aren't any consolation this day. Munching ca McDonald's Quarter Pounders and fries. ("We'd be eating steak if we had won," quips one of the players) the bus slowly makes its way toward home.

One player, sitting by himself and clad in a white SIU-C sweatshirt, can reflect on the weekend with a little more than consolation. He is Rob Clark, the tall, ianky lefthanded pit-cher who on Saturday broke his cher who on Saturday broke his two-game losing streak. Clark had been struggling on the mound of late. Before his four-hit, 9-4 win over the Redbirds—only two of the runs were earned—the 6-2, 180-pound southpaw was letting discouragement get the better of him of him.

"I started struggling," says, as he directs some Skoal with the manner of a veteran with the manner of a veteran chewer into a makeshift spit-toon, a paper cup. "But everybody siruggles. I started to let little things bother me instead of going out and just pitching."

A heavy burden that Clark has had to carry this season is his brilliant 10-1 record of a year ago. Nevertheless, he has established himself as SIU-C's premier pitcher with a 5-3 mark going into the thick of the Missouri Valley Synforunce race. "Everybody expects you to repeat what you did the year before," Clark says. "Coming a hard thing off a 10-1 season is a hard thing to deal with. Now I'm just taking one game at a time." Clark, like many ballplayers, is fanatically superstitious. As he heads toward the mound from the dugout, never will he step on the third base line, nor the dirt on either side of the

And the foot that first lands in fair territory is never the first to step on the mound. Also, his personal superstition dictates that Clark always, not sometimes, enter the mound from the left.

To make certain luck stays on his side, he will always let someone else — either Coach l'chy Jones or reserve catcher Kevin Weaver — hand him the game ball before he goes to work. But does the brownhaired, 22-year-old native of Haminond, Ind., actually believe these superstitious And the foot that first lands in believe these superstitious intricacies help his game?

"I don't know if they really help my pitching," he says disposing of another used chaw 'but I started doing them a year ago because it got me into a rhythm. I started having some good games, so I thought I'd keep it up."

Clark had en sugh "good" games last season is attract the attention of the Detroit Tigers, attention of the Detroit Tigers, who picked him in the 13th round of the major league baseball draft. The Tigers offered him a contract, but instead of jumping into professional baseball — the minor leaguer — right away. Clark opted for one more year in the Saluki rotation.

tian upon in the Saluki rotation.

"I wanted to finish my last year at Southern, and see what I would be worth after this season," the industrial health season," the industrial health and safety major says. "My goal is to play in the major leagues, of course, but for now I'm just setting short-distance goals and conquering them one at a time." at a time.

Clark describes himself as a 'finesse' pitcher. He doesn't overpower batters with fast-overpower batters with fast-balls, but works the plate with his overage and outer pitch; the stides, while showing an oc-casional fastball or change-up to keep batters out of synch. At Gavit High School in Hammond, Clark not only pitched but played first base. He hit 411 and, to his knowledge, still holds the state record for most hits in a high record for most hits in a high school career.

His baseball inspiration has been provided from day one by his father, Rob Clark Sr. From the time Rob Jr.'s Little League team lost to a Taipei, Taiwan, team in the final game of the Little League World Series in 1972, his father, and mother, have usually been on hand to see their son play.

"My dad has always been my main source of support," Rob Jr. says. "He and my mom would skip vacations to come watch me play."

The team bus, a bit noisier now, is still rolling down In-terstate 57. Thank heavens it's dark now. If a black cat were to cross the road, surely Clark
