Fourth Straight Year

The SIU basketball team late Wednesday received a bid to play in the NCAA small college regional tournament at Evansville March 6 and 7. Earlier in the day NCAA officials had made a preliminary call to SIU officials to determine if Southern was interested in and could qualify for the post-season tournament.

The firm offer was made by telephone after 4 p.m. Until Wednesday SIU had had no contact with the NCAA. However, some persons felt certain that Monday night's upset over seventh-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan would bring the Salukis a tournament bid.

Only two other teams have been selected for the Great Lakes regional at Evansville. They are Evansville College and Ball State from Muncie, Ind. A fourth team will be picked later.

Patrolling are expected to be announced late Friday or Saturday.

If SIU survives the regional it will play on to the finals at Evansville on March 11, 12 and 13, as it did last year. This is the fourth straight year SIU has received a bid to the tournament and the fifth time the Salukis have competed in the small college championship playoffs.

The Salukis, who hope to win eight NCAA games while dropping six in the last five years that they have participated, finished third nationally in 1972 and fourth last year.

Following last year's tournament, which fell during SIU's winter term final week, there was some grumbling because team members were forced to miss all games from Evansville between games to take final examinations.

Only five small college basketball teams have won more games in the post-season classic than SIU.

The Salukis, who finished regular season play last Monday night with a 19-9 record, have met two of the teams already selected in the tournament. Only 14 teams have been named thus far in the 33-team field.

SIU was trounced at Evansville 94-73 earlier in the season, but upset Kentucky Wesleyan in the last game Monday, 81-77.

Electrical Blaze Destroys Southern Hills Apartment

A university student, his wife and two children, who escaped without injury when fire destroyed their Southern Hills apartment, have been picked to take another apartment in the area.

In addition, residents of the married students' housing area have started a drive to collect funds for Harold Emme, his wife and two children.

The fire Tuesday night reportedly was caused by a faulty electrical vaporizer.

It was discovered by Emme and his wife when they looked in on their six-month-old daughter, Beth Ann. The baby, who suffered minor burns, was crying. Her brother, Jon, 4, was asleep in the same room, was not hurt.

The vaporizer was between the baby's crib and Jeff's bed, above them. When the wiring caught fire, the baby awoke and began crying.

Thomas Jackson, who lives in another wing, said he emptied a fire extinguisher on the bed, then went for another, which he also emptied. He said the blaze apparently was out but started up again.

Residents, the Southern Hills maintenance crew and the Carbondale Fire Department had the blaze out by 10:30 p.m., about an hour after it was discovered.

The Emme's apartment was damaged heavily by the flames and by heavy black smoke and water. Heavy water damage resulted in the apartment below the ruined one being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John B. Fell, and Miss Margaret Jackson.

Other apartments in the 24-unit building 122 were damaged by either smoke or water, and occupants spent the rest of the night elsewhere.

Volunteers worked until 1 a.m. yesterday clearing water and smoke and continued operations later. Most of the other residents moved into apartments in the building.

The Emmes immediately moved into an apartment designated Tuesday morning. Other Southern Hills residents in the same building stayed with friends.

Residents are raising funds and clothing for the Emmes family, a neighbor said yesterday. Most of the children's clothing, keys in chests, was saved. A few other items were rescued but nearly everything in the apartment was burned.

Students to Do Summer Study At University of the Americas

More than 20 SIU students in Latin American studies, plus several seniors majoring in photography, are expected to study at the University of the Americas, Mexico City, this summer. According to A.W. Bork, director of the Latin American Institute, the study tour has made eight previous summer trips to Mexico. This year, a group of senior photography students will join the group to do individual photographic work for credit at Southern. The photographers will be under the guidance of Walter Graie, SIU printing and photography instructor.

Students in Latin American studies will take courses in anthropology and sociology of Mexico, Spanish language, literature and history and workshops in the Mexican way of life. A boat of other courses are available, Bork said.

Tuition is $15; lodging ranges between $50 and $80 per month and all participants for traveling may be obtained at any Mexican Consulate at the border. Arrangements are made by the trip can be made at the Latin American Institute.

Joint Tree Project Proved Successful

Thirteen years of cooperation in timber production research by SIU and the Carbondale Forest Research Center of the U.S. Forest Service is emphasized in the Center's 1963 annual report just sub­mit­ted to President Delroy W. Morris by Robert W. Merz, former president.

Stephen G. Boyce, the Center's project leader for silviculture and silvicultural research, prepared the re­port. It summarizes joint acdivities of the two agencies since 1950. Merz says the appli­cation and basic research carried on in cooperation with several SIU faculty members has been fruitful in providing information for upgrading timber quality. The Center, with offices specifically at the SIU Agriculture Building, is one of six in as many states under the jurisdiction of the Central States Forest Experiment Station, Columbus, Ohio.

Shapley Recounts Experiences

With Gunights, Kremlin Ants

Harlow Shapley, professor emeritus of astronomy at Harvard and visiting professor in philosophy here, spoke Wednesday at a Journard graduate seminar on topics ranging from water diving to waterdiving to Kremlin antics.

Shapley, who spent part of his youth as a reporter in Carthage, Mo., and Chas, Kan., related how, one election night, he tried to hide behind a police barricade with a two-foot tall gunman. Shapley said he helped carry away the thug's body.

"Since then we've had two world wars, though," he said, "and people have had more exciting experiences, so don't talk about that too much. I don't even embellish the tale anymore."

He said he got out of journalism for two reasons: "There was some potent dishonesty with regard to advertising; blackmail is a hard word, we took advantage of the fact that they needed guidance in placing their advertisements," the other reason was that he went to the University of Missouri, intending to enroll in Walter Williams' new School of Journalism, but found that it was not to begin

Tax Slash Now Law; Benefit Due in Week

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson told the American people Wednesday evening that the effects of the new tax cut will be felt next week.

The President spoke on nationwide radio and television shortly after signing the $1.13 billion measure, which had been approved by the Senate in a 74-19 roll call vote earlier in the day.

The reduction, biggest in the nation's history and averaging about 19 per cent for 80 million individual taxpay- ers, will be reflected in pay checks starting next Wednesday. Lower withholding rates provided in the bill go into effect then.

Johnson's address of about 10 minutes covered the implications of the tax program for the country.

In addition to the individual tax cuts, the law reduces liability for 550,000 corporate taxpayers by an average of 9 per cent.

Only the Senate vote was required Wednesday to culminate congressional action on the bill. All debate in both chambers was wrapped up Tuesday and the House cleared the compromise measure 326-83.

And Then There Were 8--Jurors

DALLAS -- A newsmen became the eighth juror in Jack Ruby's murder trial Wednesday.

A.G. Holston, 31, was sworn in. He was the third juror accepted Wednesday.

It was the first time three jurors had been accepted in one day in the hitherto slow-moving proceedings.

A second woman juror also was sworn in. She is Gwen England, 45, a housewife who also works as a bookkeeper.

Earlier Wednesday another juror, R. J. Flechner Jr., 29, was selected.

Prior to Flechner, another prospective candidate was excused when he said he is opposed to capital punishment. Principals in the courtroom agree, generally, that a jury may be complete by the end of the week or early in the next.

Luther E. Dickerson, 27, vice president of a chemical firm, and Douglas J. Sowell, 33, a mechanic for an airline, were selected Tuesday as the fourth and fifth jurors. They joined a woman and two men previously sworn in.

'Stan' Sworn In At White House

WASHINGTON -- Stan Musial, praised by President Johnson as "a hero to the youth of this country," was sworn in Wednesday as the President's consultant on physical fitness.

Musial, known as "Stan the Man" during his long and spectacular career in baseball, has been on the job since Monday. But the formal wearing - in ceremonies at the White House were delayed so his family and friends could be rounded up for the event.

Shaving Is More Dangerous Than Space Flight for Glenn

COLUMBUS, Ohio -- Astronaut John Glenn, who withstood the dangers of a pioneer rocket ride into earth orbit, was hurt in a bathroom accident Wednesday.

The Marine lieutenant colonel slipped on a bathroom rug while shaving. He suffered a cut on the forehead and a bruise behind his left ear.

Dr. Warren Leimbach said after an examination that the astronaut had a mild concussion.

Goldwater Fears Nixon, Who Says He Won't Race

WASHINGTON -- Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater says if he wins the June 2 California Republican primary, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "is the man I'm going to have to beat" for the GOP presidential nomination.

But Nixon told newsmen in Minneapolis Tuesday night he still considers himself a "non-candidate" and has no plans to change his status. Goldwater's expressed confidence that he would win both the GOP primary in New Hampshire March 10 and the June 2 California vote.

Nixon said Goldwater "is definitely in the lead as far as committed delegates are concerned. And that's in the lead in New Hampshire."

Of Goldwater's chief GOP rival in the two states, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Nixon said: "I think Gov. Rockefeller is being much used up this time. The next three weeks will tell a great deal."

The interior stairways of Morris Library will be used for the evacuation of the building in case of fire, according to Oliver Halderson, safety coordinator.

Some students have raised questions lately concerning the means of fire protection on the library.

Halderson stated that no new buildings are equipped with fire escapes these days. Fire escapes, he said, are "old fashioned."

Replacing the outside structures are "protected stairways inside the building. Doors separating the stairway from each of the library's floors, are designed to close automatically, but many students prop them open for more circulation. In case of a fire this practice would allow the smoke to sweep over the stairs quickly, and defeat the purpose of the doors," Halderson explained.

The indoor fire escapes are required by law, and far surpass the outdoor escape, he said. If flimsy outdoor escapes were built, and the weather was cold, the student might form on the stairs, hindering persons leaving the building. Halderson added.

Another safety measure is the Texas Professor To Talk Friday

Sidney R. Cleveland, assistant chief psychologist at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Houston, Tex., will present a public lecture on "Body Image Changes Associated with Sex Role Deviation," in the Studio Theater at the University School, at 4 p.m. Friday.

Cleveland is also an assistant clinical professor of psychology at Baylor University College of Medicine, and a lecturer at the University of Houston.

His appearance is sponsored by the University Psychology Colloquium and the Psychology Service at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Marion. Day. But he added that instructors should know the best evacuation routes in the buildings. Drills are practiced in campus dormitories and at University School.
A Word to the Wise

It's enough to disturb the soundless bustle of numbers, or to blight the Picassos in an adjacent drawer.

We refer, of course, to the noise created by our junior splendidissmooms, who insist on riding their motor scooters in the vicinity of Old Main during class hours.

Some park their machines, motors still roaring, within six feet of Old Main. Others cruise along the drive between Shryock Auditorium and Old Main, where the echoing din is reminiscent of the Indianapolis 500. A few peripatist in starting their machines while parked next to the building, and the racket is more windows in the Old structure.

Unfortunately, there seems to be a contingent of college students to whom the sounds of the Beatles are a great charm.

We hope scooter and motorcycle riders become more thoughtful before the University issues another regulation to remind them to do so.

Soothie the Savage Beasts?

Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast—or so it has been said. It can also have the opposite effect. Take the Beatles, for instance.

To those who prefer a lot of "Yeah, yeah, yeah" and "ooccees" in their music, the Beatles are heavenly. Their rhythms pulse, reverberate and permeate to the very quick, and croon the savage and primitive element in the hearts of their listeners.

When the group is performing, Beatles fans want nothing more than to sit around a jungle campfire the rest of their lives, enkraced by the beat of the tom-tom, interminably amplifying this ecstasy by screaming, writing and frothing on the jungle floor. Or it so would seem.

World of Li'l Abner—Gasp

Friends of Li'l Abner will receive particular recognition from him and other famous cartoon characters in this small paperback edition. The collection of Al Capp's best-known cartoon strips between 1949 and 1963 is enriched by the "Illuminating" remarks of the creator. David Manning White, America's expert on comic strips, introduces the reader to the world of Li'l Abner. This summary of thoughts and personal bias is an excellent and contemporary interpretation of Capp's work and the significance of his contribution to the American scene.

Just to set the record straight, the Beatles are a group of four rock 'n' roll machines who took to the streets. Their style of song, dress and grooming is more than to say the least, and they are presently conducting a campaign of conquest over the non-thinking element of this country.

Thus far they have been successful, New York is in shambles. Florida has been laid to waste. Police assigned to protect this group of throwbacks from the enthusiasm generated by their own acclaim have given up. Pulling hair out. One could only hope that the Beatles would not have wide appeal to college students. They are supposed to be mature and sophisticated.

Letter to the Editor

Ticket Buyers Get Leftovers

As a member of the student body of Southern Illinois University, I wish to register a complaint concerning the method used in selling tickets for the performance of the New Christy Minstrels. As stated in the Egyptian, tickets were sold from 10 a.m. until noon by bloc only.

I do not object to selling tickets by bloc; however, selling blocs only is totally unfair to the students who do not desire or cannot get tickets by this method. For example, a student wishing to purchase just one ticket was forced to wait until noon to buy his/her ticket.

If tickets are to be sold to a performance of a nationally known band why not make it on a first-come, first-served basis? If a group wants to buy a bloc, fine, but give the student who wants to buy just one ticket the same chance to be first in line.

The way tickets to the performance of the Christy minstrels were sold, all the good seats were gone before the individual student could purchase his/her seat. This way, the married student or the couple who did not desire to sit in a bloc was forced to take "leftovers."
Run Against Nation's Best Tough Schedule Will Prepare Trackmen for National Meet

SIU, the Midwest's top-scoring team in NCAA championships past two years, in relying on tough track schedule to ready itself for the 1964 national meet to be held at the University of Oregon June 18-20.

"We're real proud of our past performances in NCAA competition," said Coach Lew Harrig, "and definitely feel like we can maintain a high-level program by running against the very best boys in the nation."

The Salukis, who this week are competing in the Central Collegiate Conference championship indoor meet at Kansas City, Missouri, are expecting to have only George, Villanovas and Southern California in the 1964 NCAA meet and tied with Occidental behind Southern California, Villanova, Oregon State and San Jose State last year.

Southern will make its outdoor debut March 25 when it hosts an Indiana State team and the Arkansas Relays prior to competing in the Texas, Kansas, Arkansas and California Relays. The Salukis also have three dual meets scheduled, one at Western Michigan and Northern Notre Dame in addition to several other events.

The complete 1964 schedule follows.

March 25, at Arkansas Relays; April 3-4, at Texas Relays; April 7-8, at Southern Cal varsity teams at Carbondale; April 17-18, Salukis at Arkansas Relays; April 24-25, at Drake Relays (Des Moines, Iowa); May 2, Iliana, Mich., trailed only; May 9, dual at Western Michigan; May 16, dual at Notre Dame.

Game Fish Grow Fat, Saucy On Diet of Slower Swimmers

An abundance of small bullheads and crayfish in a lake makes the largemouth bass catch more difficult. The channel catfish population grows fat and saucy, says William M. Lewis, director of Cooperative Fisheries Research at SIU.

It's not because the game fish prefer lunch on the abundant fish and crustaceans that follow a successful hatch, Lewis says. The bass may even prefer small blueskies, but--and it's a big but--the bass can catch the bullheads and crayfish easier than they can the bluegills and it's what they eat, rather than what they want, that adds weight and length to the game fish.

Tadpoles? Yes, the bass prefer them and they are easily foraged, but for a good old country meal that fills the stomach and stretches the belt, it's bullheads and crayfish on the table.

Lewis' conclusions, which may change the stocking programs for Illinois lakes and farm ponds, are the result of two years of controlled feeding studies in 13 small ponds located on the edge of the University's Carbondale campus. Assisting in the research were two graduate students, Don Helms and Mark Anthony.

This research, which Lewis says establishes small bullheads as the number one forage fish in Illinois, could be of major significance in recent years, giving the fisherman who frequents managed waters more and bigger game fish to test his skill.

Free Throw Meet Deadline Tonight

Tonight will be the last night for men to enter the intramural free throw tournament. Those who did not enter the first round of the tourney on Wednesday may do so by reporting to the Men's Gym some time between 8:15 and 10 tonight.

All men enrolled in the University are eligible to participate except those who have won athletic awards in basketball while in college.

The competition will be divided into three leagues—fraternity, non-fraternity and off-campus. The top ten men from each league will advance to the second round which is to take place early next week.

Cassius Is 'The King'

Soft-Spoken Champ Says He Might Quit

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. AP—A subdued Cassius Clay, the new heavyweight boxing champion, told a press conference Wednesday that seriously is thinking about retirement from the ring.

"I am not joking," the 22-year old Louisville sensation said, "I don't like to fight. I don't like to get hurt. I don't like to hurt anybody. I just want to make a living and when I have enough money I won't fight anymore."

Cassius, sipping in a low monotone that contrasted greatly to his earlier loud, shouting antics, contradicted himself immediately, however, by saying his immediate future was fighting.

"Because of that," he said, "I will go back to school."

Few of the newsmen took the retirement statement seriously.

Liston said Wednesday that he begged to continue the fight but it was vetoed by his handlers.

"I feel that the end of the sixth round Willie Redditch told me to keep my left up high. I said, you fool. He said, 'Don't go to stop the fight again.' I said, 'No, I'm not going to stop the fight anymore.'"

"I got a twinge—I knew my arm went out," he said.

Final Presentation Set Saturday for 'Dialogue Series'

A panel consisting of four graduate students will discuss "The Technological Order" in the third and final presentation of this year's "Dialogue Series."

The "Technological Order" is a tape recording of a discussion that deals primarily with the problems of the emerging nations as they are affected by the "promises inherent in technological advance."

After playing the 40-minute tape, the graduate panel members will lead the discussion in an attempt to adapt the theoretical approach to practical applications.

The "Dialogue Series" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the Family Living Lounge of the Home Economics Building.

The graduate student panel will consist of David Sidney and Jeffery Collin, both of the Department of Geography and Afak Hayward and Arnold Carlson of the Department of Government.

Management Society To Meet, See Film

The Society for Advancement of Management, which meets at 7:30 p.m., March 2, in Room F of the University Center. Included in the meeting will be a film concerned with the proper procedure for conducting a meeting.

"My whole glove felt heavy like it was full of water. When I tried to raise my arm it felt like lead."

The Miami Beach Boxing Commission was awarded Wednesday with wires from all over the country processing the fight, which was called, among other things, a "disgrace" and "an insult to boxing."

Ed Lasman, a member of the Commission, said the group is satisfied with the medical report on Liston's left shoulder and had turned it over to the state attorney general's office for inspection.

Lasman said the commission was ready to release Liston's purse but would have to wait until after the state attorney general's office for inspection.

State Atty. Richard Gerasein said he has requested the Miami Beach Boxing Commission to make all the records available to him.

He declined to elaborate.

Alumni Honor Ex-Athlete

A former star athlete at SIU, Sam McVos, which honored Alumni of the Week by the SIU Alumni Association with its annual Alumni of the Week, was featured on the SIU News Review on WSIU-TV this evening.

Sam, who has been a teacher and counselor at Lebanon High School, Decatur, for three years, participated in basketball four years, football three years and track one year at Southern.

He won many honors in football and basketball, received the Henry Hinkle Memorial Award in athletics and was named to Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges his senior and junior years.

Sam was a member of a well-known family of athletes that included Nick of Ottawa and Pete of Louisville, both SIU graduates.

SIU-Purdue Golf Meet Set

Big Ten Conference member Purdue is the only newcomer appearing on SIU 1964 golf schedule.

The Saudis, who last season posted an overall 15-1-1 record, will meet the Boilermakers at Lafayette, Ind., April 11.

Other top matches on the SIU card are with Wisconsin of the Big Ten, Missouri of the Big Eight Conference, St. Louis University of the Missouri Valley and independent Notre Dame.

The complete schedule follows:

Mar. 30, Northeast Missouri State, here; March 31, University of Missouri, here; April 3, Southeast Missouri State; April 11, at Purdue; April 17, Washington University (St. Louis), here; April 21, St. Louis University, here; April 25, at University of Wisconsin; May 3, at St. Louis, May 8, at Washington; May 9, at Missouri; May 16, at Notre Dame.

Knittel to Speak

On Development

Robert E. Knittel will discuss the principles of community development at a faculty seminar slated for noon Friday in the St. Louis Theatre.

Knittel is director of the SIU Community Development Service.
The debate between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas is dramatized in the play, "The Rivalry," by Norman Corwin, to be presented by the SIU Touring Theatre Company at Lentz Hall.

The drama of the two men campaigning for the senatorship from Illinois has been described by a New York critic as "one of the really great plays of our time ... yet faithful to the facts."

Bookings of "The Rivalry" and a children's play that can be presented on the same date are now being accepted by Jess Turnbow, SIU field representative.

The tour will be made to southern and central Illinois institutions beginning: February 12 and Nov. 25, and groups interested in sponsoring the tour should contact Turnbow by writing at Division of Extension, Anthony Hall, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Turnbow said that this is the 13th season the players have toured. They have annually play in 24 to 26 towns and give a performance at Menard Penitentiary. The players are graduate and undergraduate students at Southern Illinois University.
