3 to Speak On Man, His Past

How man has adapted to his surroundings and how his environment and culture have moulded him physically will be the theme of the annual Sperry Foundation Lecture beginning Monday at Southern.

Three noted scholars of human biology will discuss different aspects of "Human Biology: The Evolution of Man and Culture" during the three-hour session in Morris Library Auditorium. After each of the 8 p.m. presentations, the speakers will examine each other's views in a panel discussion.

J.T. Robinson, University of Wisconsin zoologist, will lead off Monday with "Earliest Evidences of Man and Culture." He is a specialist on the early man-apes of East Africa, particularly their physical characteristics.

Tuesday night, naturalist Marjorie Baum of the University of Michigan will discuss "Man's Early Ecological Problems." Bates is the author of several books on people, evolution, and ecology, including "TheForest and the Sea," 1960 winner of Phi Beta Kappa's science writing award.

F.S. Hulu, anthropologist at the University of Arizona, will give Wednesday's concluding lecture on "Effects of Social and Cultural Behavior on Man's Biology."

Weather Snows

Deans, Makes 'List' With 4.25 (Inches)

University workers were busy Thursday morning clearing paths through 4.25 inches of snow that had covered the campus Wednesday. In addition to the ankle-high blanket of snow on the ground, strong winds throughout the night had caused considerable drifts, some of them over a foot high.

The downfall of snow Wednesday became the total for 1965 to nearly an inch above the seasonal normal, according to the climatology laboratory.

Officials report 8 inches this December, 23 inches in January, and 4.25 inches that fell Monday.

The record snowfall for this period was set in 1910, when 14.3 inches was recorded.

WSIU to Televise Arena Game; All Seats Sold; 10,014 Expected

At Least 5,000 Tickets Short

Of Demand, Boydston Says

WSIU-TV, Channel 8, will televise the basketball game between Evansville and Southern Saturday night, the Athletics Department has announced.

The decision to televise the game was announced shortly after the last ticket was sold, amounting to a capacity crowd of 10,014 for the game.

Eager students had formed a line outside the Arena Wednesday afternoon and by 5 p.m. Thursday morning there were only 300 seats left, with waiting in line for tickets. The students have agreed to live coverage of the game as it is obvious that we are at least 500 seats short for the game," said Ronald Boydston, athletics director.

"We hope the opportunity to see the game will make more fans for our fine team and encourage more to buy season tickets next year," Saturday's coverage will make only the second time that WSIU TV has televised a basketball game. An earlier game this season against North Dakota State was televised on Channel 1 in Evansville Saturday night at 10:30 p.m.

The horns that have been causing a great deal of controversy this week have not been banned for the game. W. D. Justice, Arena manager, said no fan has not made any policy banning horns but hopes that the fans themselves use some self-control so that they do not interfere with the broadcasting or the actual playing of the game.

The lone former currently hanging up in the Arena will be allowed to remain, but any others must be first approved by the Arena manager.

A ticket to the Evansville game was found Thursday in the vicinity of the KGA Foundry. The ticket was identified by Don R. Moss, an assistant manager, and the possession of Mr. Moss was considered one of the most obvious that we are at least 500 seats short for the game," said Ronald Boydston, athletics director.

Dialing Service

Links Southern's Campus System

SIU has been brought closer to the "campus community" concept with an inter-campus direct dial service linking all campuses.

The system, which is available for business calls between the campuses and through university business phones only, is comprised of 60 stations between the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses. The campuses are linked with trunk lines between these two points.

The inter-campus service is a joint effort of the General and Bell Telephone Company, Auxiliary Enterprises, and the university. At present, both telephone companies are studying traffic patterns on the four wires to determine if more lines should be used by the university.

Icy Streets Cause Rash of Accidents

Despite a rash of minor accidents on the snow-stick Carbondale streets, police reported Thursday that SIU students were involved in any serious mishaps.

The only injury noted in a check of Carbondale Police reports was a reportedly minor¿mishap. It occurred when one car slid into the back of another stopped at a stop sign. Police said motorists were apparently exercising caution on the hazardous streets.

Bob Holt, announcer for radio station KMOX in St. Louis, has been named as master of ceremonies of this year's Theta XI Variety Show as creator and performer of special effects for KMOX, Holt is well-known as the station's "weather bird" and is considered one of the most gifted comedians and dialecticians in the St. Louis area.

ASHLEY ANN MCDONALD

"An Equal Opportunity Employer"
On Student-Faculty Freedom by David Omar Born

In a recent letter to Ka, Max Plicken spoke in favor of the Free Speech Movement, making the following statement: "Naturally, we think there is a real relation between the student body and the party (Berkeley) and students else­where in the country. Although we are not taking an active position advocating similar movements at other universi­ties, we are eager to see American college stu­dents turn their attention to a more serious part in the poli­tical affairs of the nation, and not have their liberties and freedoms interrupted by right­wing extremists. We have sympathy for the radicals and their efforts to bring about social change." However, the Southern Illinoisan is highly critical of the way that the University has handled the protest. The University suspended a student who had been allowed to speak and "poisoned" the students' minds. The author argues that "we are spending mil­lions of dollars every day to keep the earth going, and yet we are dying, down and dying in the streets."

Herrn, Johnson City United Against Communists

United to oppose the speak­ers of the Free Speech Movement, a group of student­government leaders in Herrin City this week took a stand in hopes of gaining support, even though it is understood that Southern Illinoisan." Herrin Mayor Fred Hender­son, not said that their stand is a way of "setting our higher of free thought that Communist speech right under our nose."

Soviet Union, however, continued to produce speeches and the press in the country are still being done within the University, the bureaucracy maintains its power.

Since neither of us seemed to be doing any­thing being done within the University, the bureaucracy is maintaining its power.

The concern expressed stems from a recent speech given by a student who has been called "known Communists" by the American Communist Party. Speaking in Feb. 15, Apthe­der, the student, who is a member of the American Legion, said that the University was a place of ideas, because he does not think academic freedom in that community is needed for these freedoms to exist.

Failure to exercise these freedoms in the past has cost the student body many of their rights and freedoms. The individual among students and faculty who wish to express ideas that we do not wish to hear or think, may be the primary fault here. Also, since the University does not wish to support, they have been allowed to speak and "poisoned" the students' minds. The author argues that to have spent millions of dollars every day to keep the earth going, and yet we are dying, down and dying in the streets." But on the fourth day, the sun rose and spit out, "The Word, Southern Style.

In another context, that is, in defense of freedom of expression, the University suspended its right to prescribe the ability of the student body to cope with the complexities of the modern world and to bear the responsibili­ties of citizenship. SIU Microbiologist To Be Honored

Carl C. Lindegren, microbiologist and originator of yeast genetics studies, will be honored next September when geneticists from all over the world gather at the University of Washington, Seattle, for the opening of a new genetics building at that institution.

In preliminary announcements of the event, H.L. Roman of the Seattle Times said, "We will use the occasion to commemorate the distinguished contribution that Carl Lindegren has rendered to genetics in general, to the area of yeast genetics in particular."

Lindegren, who has headed the SIU Biological Research Laboratory and the Department of Microbiology since 1948, retired to half-time service last fall. However, he will spend the winter quarters of each year as professor at the University of Puerto Rico, where he is setting up a yeast genetics research program similar to the extensive one here at SIU. He is also consultant on the Puerto Rico university's agricultural experiment station yeast research program for the rum industry of that country.

WILLIAM D. GRAY

DePauw to Honor SIU's Prof. Gray

William D. Gray, professor of botany, has been named to receive in 1965 "Outstanding Alumni Award" from DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind.

De Pauw President William E. Keatinger said the award is sponsored by the university's board of trustees and a alumni association, with selections made by an anonymous faculty committee.

Gray, who is a native of Jeffersonville, Ind., has attracted international attention by developing a process for producing a high-protein food supplement from waste products through fungal synthesis.

Now refining the process at SIU, he hopes to prove the supplement can be produced economically on a massive scale, a step which could go far in reducing world food problems.

Unique English Grad Program Will Begin at SIU This Fall

Beginning next September, SIU will inaugurate a graduate program in English as a foreign language.

Daniel Cook, associate professor of English who is directing the program, said no more than a dozen other U.S. universities at present have well-developed programs of this kind.

Cook said the SIU program, leading to a degree of master of arts, will be a rigorous one with a solid base of linguistic training. Extensive course work and teaching methods will also be included, along with practical teaching experience.

"While greatest interest is this type of training at present comes from foreign students," Cook said, "we expect also to attract a number of American students interested in teaching opportunities abroad."

Cook cited data from the Modern Language Association of America indicating a serious shortage of persons qualified to teach English as a foreign language. With a present national output of only 250 such teachers annually, U.S. government agencies alone have indicated a need for more than 3,500 in the next two years.

He said an undergraduate degree in English will not be required of those entering the program, as it will begin with basic linguistics training and work up.

Most of the courses required for the degree already are taught at Southern, primarily in the Department of English. Some are in anthropology and one in guidance. Some new courses are planned, and two new faculty members will be added.

Cook said it is expected that a limited number of fellow ships or assistantships will be available to qualified candidates.

Hillsboro Farmers To Hear Kapusta

George Kapusta, supervisor of the SIU-owned southwestern Farm experimental unit in St. Clair County, will speak on "Corn Production" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Hillsboro High School theater.

The event has been arranged by Edward L. Volts, Hillazoro vocational agriculture instructor, as part of an adult education program for area farmers.

Kapusta joined the SIU faculty in July, 1964, after spending six years in agronomy research at the Williams- l ooD, N.D., Experiment Station.

Nasser Warms To Ulbricht, $78 Million

CAIRO (AP) — East German President Walter Ulbricht plunged into talks Thurday with President Gamal Abdel Nasser after a well-cheered visit to a textile plant here, which he promised increased economic aid to this country.

"You are marching boldly toward industrialization," the 72-year-old leader told a cheering throng at the fac­tory.

"We have given you a help­ing hand already, but there is room for more cooperation between our two countries and we plan bigger and better contributions for your second five-year plan."

During his controversial six-day visit here, which has precipitated a crisis in rela­tions between the United Arab Republic and West Germany, Ulbricht is expected to initial a $78 million loan to Nasser.

West Germany, which claims to be the only legitimate representative of divided Germany, has cut off economic aid to the United Arab Rep­ public. Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and his cabinet also were considering Politburo proasals, which could produce a diplomatic break.

However, Ulbricht made it clear in a speech Wednes­day night that relations are improving, and he does not plan to extend diplomatic recognition to East Germany.

Informal sources also said that other than the $78 million loan to Nasser, negotia­tions between Ulbricht's arrival, no major economic or political results were expected. East German sources conceded that major financial aid to the United Arab Republic "is beyond our means."

East Germany has so far contributed only $25 million in economic aid to Nasser, compared to more than $400 million the Bonn government has extended to the United Arab Republic.

Ulbricht's name, however, is expected to gain prestige from his warm welcome here.

School Aid Bill Runs Into Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's $1.2-billion school aid bill ran into trouble Thursday in a dispute over means of getting the money to the schools that need it.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Education Committee, put the key section of the bill aside when the problem arose and the numbers went on to other provisions.

Over unanimous Republican opposition, the committee then quickly gave tentative approval to a provision making $100 million available for the purchase of new textbooks and library books for distribution to public and private schools.

Students Differ on Pass or Fail System

Caltech Grading System

Favored by Many at SIU

Reactions of SIU students to the elimination of a grading system for freshman at the California Institute of Technology have been generally favorable, according to an informal survey conducted by the Daily Egyptian.

Of the two dozen students interviewed, 12 favored the idea, eight were against it, and four had mixed reactions.

Under the new system, Caltech freshman will receive merely a pass or fail, rather than the traditional A-B-C-D-F grades on a quarterly or yearly basis.

Ernest H. Swift, chairman of the Caltech faculty, said the policy does not imply changes in the courses or in the teaching methods. Assignments and tests will continue to be given to the students.

In giving reasons for the new policy, Swift said: "Highly competitive, try (the freshman) to maintain status and self-esteem in the form of high grades, whereas grading allows the faculty to the extent that the grades, rather than the process of learning, become a major pre-occupation."

A student, an SIU senior from Charleston majoring in animal industries, feels strongly that the system is an excellent one.

Saluki Trackmen to Compete On 2 Fronts This Weekend

SIU trackmen will be competing on two fronts this weekend as the Saluki track club travels to the Illinois Federation Indoor Championships at Central Florida to compete with the varsitymen head for the Central Collegiate Indoor Championships at South Bend, Ind., Saturday.

Two Track Club members, Illinois and Purdue, will compete with teams entered in the Federation meet, probably along with the Chicago Track Club and the Illini freshman team.

Saturday's meet at Notre Dame will be a qualifying event for the first national indoor championships to be held March 12 and 13 at Detroit, Mich. Best bet for the Salukis at the big championships appears to be veteran distance man George Woods, who won the 1,000 yard run and the Salukis' highly regarded mile relay team.

Also competing for coach Lew Harzig's squad, which was scheduled to have left this morning for South Bend, will be Allen Ackerman of the mile, Gary Carr in the 440, Robin Coventry in the 300, and Jerry Fendrich in the 800. Coventry, Cornell, Fendrich, and Carr will combine for the relay race in which they are the favorites.

At Champaign tonight the Track Club may also have some competitors right in the thick of things. Shot-putter George Woods will be making his first appearance of the season after being declared academically ineligible to compete with the varsity during the indoor season.

Woods placed second in the NCAA track championships last June.

It Takes More Than 5
Over 300 Helpers Getting Ready
For Cage Spectacular Saturday

By Stan Nicpon

It takes more than five Salukis to play a four-minute game. In fact, approximately 30 people either prepare or help in the process of one basketball game.

And with a team as Evansville, problems are only multiplied.

Randal McBride, captain of the Security Police, was given the assignment of handling the expected crowd. "We have mobilized the entire force which includes 30 security and Saluki patrolmen."

The ushers needed are many. The normal number of ushers that participate is usually 65, all of whom are students.

George Davis, supervisor of athletic equipment, said, "We didn't have enough to handle the crowd expected for a typical Evansville game. The ROTC department was nice enough to offer their assistance. With them we will have a crew of about 125."

Joe F. Spackmann, assistant professor of air science, said, "I approached the Arnold Air Society and they were more than willing to help. In addition, we have the Hortor and have the colors at every game. And also we are selling our gang band of about 40 members."

William Justice, Arena manager, commented on his preparations.

"We have a regular maintenance staff of four people and a student work force of about 48," commented William D. Justice, Arena manager, two referees, five official scorers and have eight ticket sellers available. "For concessions, I would say 45 people are engaged in that."

Robert Spackmann, athletics trainer, finds that basketball is not as difficult as football.

"The only preparation for the game that I have is to tape a few anklets, he said. "In the training room it is not very busy. Also there is the security police ambulance that is always stationed outside for every game."

"Most of the people making comments are optimistic about Saturday's outcome. The physical education office buzzes with excitement and has one thought in mind — beat Evansville."

Dave Lee, Southern's ball hawk, was asked comment on his preparations for the game. "All the players got a good meal at TP at 6 p.m. before every game. When we are finished, we will take a rest. And if you want my opinion on the Evansville game, I tell you right now, we're ready for them."

Dodge City, Kbn. (AP) — Dodge City, Kan., is ranked No. 1 in the final basketball coaches polls of the season in the (AP) poll. The Jayhawks were voted to withstand the challenge of Saluki forward Randy Goin.

Friday proceeded to score a perfect 3-1. The Jayhawks, playing the game back out of the fire for the Aces and gave Evansville a 1-71 victory. It also took about a thousand pounds of weight off the shoulders of the Jayhawks.

"I thought it was going to be rather close," said Randy Goin, the 5-11 sophomore as his memory traced back years to the first meeting of the Central and Evansville leading by a lone point the 5-11 youngsters had fumbled a pass from teammate Sam Watkins and lost the ball to Saluki forward Randy Goin.

Goin proceeded to score to per cent of Saluki's total. A last second twisting layup by Evansville's fabulous Larry Humes pulled the game back out of the fire for the Aces and gave Evansville a 1-71 victory. It also took about a thousand pounds of weight off the shoulders of the Jayhawks.

Salukis Face Power Team

The game of the year for SIU basketball fans takes place Saturday night when the Salukis meet the Evansville Purple Aces at 8 o'clock before a full house in the SIU Arena. The game also shapes up as a showdown between two of the nation's finest college squires. Evansville is ranked as the No. 1 small college team by both major wire services while the Salukis are third in the UPI and fourth in the AP.

The Aces have earned the top spot by racking up a 23-0 record for the season, and they will be shooting for No. 30 in a row when they wind up their season tomorrow night. Evansville won its six last games last year en route to the NCAA college division championship.

Last year's championship was third in the last five year's for coach Arad McCutcheon's teams. The Aces' colorful pilot has written a fantastic success story in his 18 years at Evansville. In that time his teams have won 313 games while losing only 180. McCutcheon has also produced seven first place finishes in the Indiana Collegiate Conference.

The superstitious mentor always wears red socks to every game for luck, and it certainly hasn't hurt him yet. This year his team is riding a 23-game winning streak by decking themselves in red for the games, but the players aren't overlooked either. They are attired in bright orange uniforms for the road games and warm up in multicolored robes which range in color from red to mandarin red to robin egg blue.

But Evansville's flash doesn't end with uniforms. They boast one of the most powerful rosters in college basketball. Heading the line-up is forward Jerry Sloan, a former Olympic player who turned down a $14,000 pro-fessional offer to finish college. At 6-6, he is a fantastic rebounder with an average of 14 a game, to go along with his average of 17 points. The senior, who played high school ball with Dave Lee at McLeanboro. was feted to the fourth team in the nation.

At center the Aces have a leap-frogging Herb Williams. Although he is only 6-3, Williams has jumped a surprising 11 feet 4 inches, and this spring makes him a tough competitor on the boards where he is averaging 12 rebounds a game.

At the guard posts are Sam Watkins and Russ Grieger. In victories, a 6-3 junior, is averaging 17 points and in a deadly shot from out front. Grieger, a 6-3 senior, is averaging 9.5 points a game. Evansville's sixth man is 5-11 guard Ron Johnson, who played high school ball with Williams at Centralia. The scrappy sophomore is a hot-shooter with a 30 per cent average from the field.

The Aces play a wide-open offensive style as evidenced by their average of 93.9 points a game. All things considered, it should be one of the best games Carbondale fans will have seen.

(Salukis fans remember Humes as the man who made the winning basket in the first game which the Aces won 81-80. A fantastic shot with every move in the books, Humes is averaging 32.9 points a game. He tallied 38 points in the earlier game.

Saluki Gymnasts Hope to Close 3rd Straight Undefeated Season

A third straight undefeated season is the goal of the Salukis as they close out their regular season's schedule Saturday in Chicago.

The Salukis will be meeting the University of Illinois (Chicago branch), a team that has won its last four starts and has posted a 7-2 dual meet record this season.

Coach Bill Meade will go with nine men in this meet as the Saluki performers tune up for competition to come later in the NCAA meets.

Steve Whitlock and Hutch Dvorak, two men who did not travel to Arizona, will be returning to the lineup. Whitlock will be working free exercise and Dvorak will be performing on the trampoline.

The trampoline event figures to be the most exciting event with three Southern performers battling for the top spot.

Frank Schmitz, who has been the Salukis' No. 1 trampoline man this season, has been getting strong competition from teammate Brent Williams.

Williams had been finishing third and fourth on the trampoline most of the season, but on the last road trip managed to tie Schmitz at Arizona State and beat him at Wichita.

Meanwhile Dvorak has shown steady improvement the season and promises to cause trouble for the other two.

In other events Schmitz will be working free exercise and will be trying to keep his perfect record clean in this event. He will also be working long horse where again another close battle shapes up between him and Williams.

Rick Tucker, who worked all-around at the Wichita State meet Monday, will give way to Larry Lindauer in this event. Tucker will be working his three best events, the side horse, high bar and parallel bars.

Captain Bill Wolf, who has been slowed somewhat lately by a knee injury, should be ready to go at full strength and will be working high bar, parallel bars and rings.

Tom Cook, who has been giving Wolf his stongest competition on the rings, will be trying to end the season on a winning note.
