The Daily Egyptian, February 25, 1994

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_February1994
Volume 79, Issue 105

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1994 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in February 1994 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Bosnian Serbs violate ultimatum

In the most brazen challenge to U.N. authority, a Bosnian Serb commander in Oviljek, a village west of Sarajevo, not only refused to hand over an arsenal of 19 heavy artillery pieces but spirited three pieces outside the 12-mile exclusion zone set by the United Nations on March 31.

The Bosnian government listed eight further violations by the Bosnian Serbs, which the United Nations did not confirm.

see BOSNIA, page 13

Hate speech hinders rights

Tolerance declines for racist attitudes, calls for regulation

By Emily Priddy

Responding to increasing instances of ethnic and sexual intolerance, many U.S. universities have passed hate-speech codes that may cause more problems than they solve, according to an American Civil Liberties Union representative.

Jane Whitcher, a union specialist in First Amendment cases, said that the codes were needed because of a rising tide of intolerance and bigotry.

"We hope it will deter people from making these statements," she said.

Gus Bode

Gus says it looks like we need a counter intelligence for our counter intelligence.

CIA officer arrested after ample evidence

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—The fleet that led to the arrest of CIA officer Aldrich H. Ames began in 1987 with unexplained disappearances or deaths of U.S. agents overseas, but a seven-year probe failed to produce all the incriminating evidence. U.S. officials had hoped to get, government sources said Wednesday.

Ames, 57, was arrested at his Arlington, Va., house Monday night before the investigation was complete, primarily because officials feared he might flee on a forthcoming CIA assignment overseas, the sources said. Investigators had ample evidence to support his arrest but only a partial picture of the scope of his alleged espionage for Moscow.

While many intelligence officials suspect Ames of leaking information that led to the deaths of U.S. agents overseas, several sources said these suspicions have not been corroborated by the evidence gathered so far by FBI and CIA counterintelligence investigators.

U.S. officials said they assumed that Ames passed along virtually everything he knew about matters for which he was directly responsible to foreign agencies. See SPY, page 5
Shabbat Dinner and Purim Celebration
Friday, February 25, 6:15pm
Temple Beth Jacob, Northwest Drive
$2.00 donation requested.
Costume if you so desire.
Sponsored by Staff and Cong. Beth Jacobs (549-5641)
Bake Sale 10:00 am - 2:00 pm in Breezeway between Pallani and Wimmer.
Handmade and other sweets.

SMOKERS
Be Paid For
1. Research Participation or
2. Quit Smoking Research
Call SIUC Smoking Cessation Program between 10 am & 5 pm
453-5361 453-5327

Newswrap

Rhetoric Strengthens U.S.-Indian Rift — In a war of words that has alarmed U.S. officials here as in Washington, Indian authorities say relations between the two countries have reached their lowest point in two decades, threatening growing economic ties and American efforts to control nuclear proliferation in the region.

Heads in the Indian press run a growing vitriolistic over the past several weeks, accusing the Clinton administration of unfairly attacking India on human rights issues and its handling of a civil war in India's northeastern region of Jamuna and Kashmir, and taking sides with India's neighbor and arch enemy, Pakistan.

Sheik Abdel-Rahman's Quest Takes Detour — Before the World Trade Center bombing, Sheik Omar Abdel-Rahman was a little-known Muslim fundamentalist preacher with a small and sometimes violent following. Today, as the first anniversary of the fatal explosion approaches, the Egyptian cleric is a better-known Muslim fundamentalist preacher with a small and sometimes violent following. Middle East specialists say the indictments that linked Abdel-Rahman and other supporters, such as the pyramid, on Feb. 26, 1993, blast catapulted him into headlines in the United States, but left him little closer to his longtime goal of toppling the government in his native land.

nation

Judge Throws Out Lawsuit by Midshipmen — A federal judge dismissed a lawsuit Wednesday filed by 47 midshipmen who sought to block the Navy's policy of excluding students by students at the U.S. Naval Academy. The midshipmen had objected to the use of a special five-member Honor Review Board, chaired by Rear Adm. Richard C. Allen, to review the cases of more than 100 students accused of cheating on the tough electrical engineering exam in December 1992. The ruling will allow the Allen Board to begin its scheduled case-by-case review of the allegations against midshipmen.

Federal Workers' Stock Fund Grows Fast — The fast-growing stock fund of the federal employees tax-deferred thrift savings plan posted a total return of 12.90 percent for the year ended Jan. 31, during the same period, fund paid 8.92 percent, and the Treasury fund paid 6.07 percent. Government workers now have $15 billion in the super-safe Treasury securities, $4.7 billion in the C-fund (stocks) and $1.5 billion in the F-fund (bonds). Most investments in the federal 401(k) plan were restricted to the bond fund.

EX-AIDE FIERY BUT RESTRAINED IN SPEECH — Khalid Abdul Muhammad, a former top aide to Nation of Islam leader Louis Farrakhan who was denounced this month for denouncing Jews and other groups, urged an overflow crowd of students at Howard University Wednesday night to affirm their lives and culture no matter what hard work has to be done to keep them. In a fiery speech he refrained little from the rhetoric for which he has been widely condemned. (C derivation is scheduled case of the year ending Jan. 31, during the same period, fund paid 8.92 percent, and the Treasury fund paid 6.07 percent. Government workers now have $15 billion in the super-safe Treasury securities, $4.7 billion in the C-fund (stocks) and $1.5 billion in the F-fund (bonds). Most investments in the federal 401(k) plan were restricted to the bond fund.

Correction: The day, rather than the deadline, that petitions and waivers can be picked up by USG candidates, A February 23 letter to the editor entitled "Da Silva's 'Mistakes' Require Corrective Action" was written by Erik Gerhard, not A. In another Feb. 23 letter to the editor, the words "predicative acts" was used in error, referring to RICO. The words 'predictive acts' are correct. Mark Shelton, president of SCU's chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said his organization has never been affected by Adhereth Waith with regard to legal assistance in lawsuits relating to the death of his son, former SCU student Joe Waith. We regret these errors.

Accuracy Desk

Newswrap

Rhetoric Strengthens U.S.-Indian Rift — In a war of words that has alarmed U.S. officials here as in Washington, Indian authorities say relations between the two countries have reached their lowest point in two decades, threatening growing economic ties and American efforts to control nuclear proliferation in the region.

Heads in the Indian press run a growing vitriolistic over the past several weeks, accusing the Clinton administration of unfairly attacking India on human rights issues and its handling of a civil war in India's northeastern region of Jamuna and Kashmir, and taking sides with India's neighbor and arch enemy, Pakistan.

Sheik Abdel-Rahman's Quest Takes Detour — Before the World Trade Center bombing, Sheik Omar Abdel-Rahman was a little-known Muslim fundamentalist preacher with a small and sometimes violent following. Today, as the first anniversary of the fatal explosion approaches, the Egyptian cleric is a better-known Muslim fundamentalist preacher with a small and sometimes violent following. Middle East specialists say the indictments that linked Abdel-Rahman and other supporters, such as the pyramid, on Feb. 26, 1993, blast catapulted him into headlines in the United States, but left him little closer to his longtime goal of toppling the government in his native land.

nation

Judge Throws Out Lawsuit by Midshipmen — A federal judge dismissed a lawsuit Wednesday filed by 47 midshipmen who sought to block the Navy's policy of excluding students by students at the U.S. Naval Academy. The midshipmen had objected to the use of a special five-member Honor Review Board, chaired by Rear Adm. Richard C. Allen, to review the cases of more than 100 students accused of cheating on the tough electrical engineering exam in December 1992. The ruling will allow the Allen Board to begin its scheduled case-by-case review of the allegations against midshipmen.

Federal Workers' Stock Fund Grows Fast — The fast-growing stock fund of the federal employees tax-deferred thrift savings plan posted a total return of 12.90 percent for the year ended Jan. 31, during the same period, fund paid 8.92 percent, and the Treasury fund paid 6.07 percent. Government workers now have $15 billion in the super-safe Treasury securities, $4.7 billion in the C-fund (stocks) and $1.5 billion in the F-fund (bonds). Most investments in the federal 401(k) plan were restricted to the bond fund.

EX-AIDE FIERY BUT RESTRAINED IN SPEECH — Khalid Abdul Muhammad, a former top aide to Nation of Islam leader Louis Farrakhan who was denounced this month for denouncing Jews and other groups, urged an overflow crowd of students at Howard University Wednesday night to affirm their lives and culture no matter what hard work has to be done to keep them. In a fiery speech he refrained little from the rhetoric for which he has been widely condemned. (C derivation is scheduled case of the year ending Jan. 31, during the same period, fund paid 8.92 percent, and the Treasury fund paid 6.07 percent. Government workers now have $15 billion in the super-safe Treasury securities, $4.7 billion in the C-fund (stocks) and $1.5 billion in the F-fund (bonds). Most investments in the federal 401(k) plan were restricted to the bond fund.

Correction: The day, rather than the deadline, that petitions and waivers can be picked up by USG candidates, A February 23 letter to the editor entitled "Da Silva's 'Mistakes' Require Corrective Action" was written by Erik Gerhard, not A. In another Feb. 23 letter to the editor, the words "predicative acts" was used in error, referring to RICO. The words 'predictive acts' are correct. Mark Shelton, president of SCU's chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said his organization has never been affected by Adhereth Waith with regard to legal assistance in lawsuits relating to the death of his son, former SCU student Joe Waith. We regret these errors.

Accuracy Desk

If readers spot an error in a news article, they can contact the Daily Egyptian Accuracy Desk at 536-3311, extension 233 or 228.
Dancing, music and fun will continue at Beach Bumz on the Strip this weekend — only without alcohol — with proceeds going to a special cause, the bar owner says.

The Carbondale City Council ruled not to allow Davis to sell alcohol this weekend as punishment for the establishment at 611 S. Illinois Ave. for admitting and serving alcohol to minors last year.

Davis also was fined $1,500 after undercover police charged him with the offense.

Davis said he is responding to the council's alcohol sales restriction in a positive way. "We're hosting a non-alcoholic dance party and donating some of the proceeds to the Carbondale chapter of MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving)," Davis said.

Beginning tonight, an admission charge of $2 before 11 p.m., $3 after 11 p.m., will be collected from customers, and 10 percent of the proceeds will be given to the organization, Davis said.

Davis said he hopes the non-alcoholic dance party, titled, "Jump on the Wagon," will prove that Beach Bumz's primary function is to dance and have fun, not to drink.

"This is an excellent opportunity to show what Beach Bumz is really about," Davis said.

"We (Beach Bumz) are here more for entertainment reasons than we are for drinking reasons." Non-alcoholic beverages such as O'Doules and Sharp's beer will be available at special prices during the party, Davis said.
Recycling deadline around the corner

WITH THE DEADLINE FOR SIUC TO INSTITUTE a recycling program less than a year away, more than 94 percent of all campus waste continues to go directly to landfills.

SIUC is mandated by law to have in place guidelines to increase recycling and reduce waste production by 40 percent before the turn of the century. By Jan. 1, 1995, the University needs to have a plan to achieve that goal.

A campus-wide committee, formed nearly two years ago, is in charge of developing and submitting that plan.

Slowly, with much prodding, SIUC has taken steps to comply with the law, and do the environmentally correct thing.

Had the University looked at recycling as a challenge, rather than an obligation, SIUC would not find itself racing to meet a deadline that is nearly two months away.

The University needs to look beyond the initial costs inherent in instituting a comprehensive recycling program, in order to realize potential of future savings and environmental benefits.

WITH ILLINOIS LANDFILL SPACE AT A premium, it is apparent that the University cannot continue to dispose of material that can be easily recycled. White paper, cardboard and newsprint (three widely accepted recyclables), make-up approximately 40 percent of all University waste.

Hauling this waste to distant locations will only increase the garbage bill. By decreasing waste, the University also decreases its dependence on these landfills, placing it in a favorable position should truck-tipping fees increase.

The University is conducting a year-long study to determine the amount and type of waste it generates. Once completed, the University can file the plan and apply to the Department of Energy for up to $50,000 in grant money to help institute it.

RECYCLING WILL NEVER BE A WINDFALL to the University. Last year, nearly 100 tons of white paper, cardboard, and cans were recycled by the University. In return, the university received $1,656, hardly enough to offset the cost of transporting such material.

However, this money could have been offset by the decrease in waste, if the University's garbage disposal contract were based on mass or volume.

Unfortunately, under the current contract, the University is charged the same rate. approximately $360,000 per year whether trash bins are full or empty when collected. The contract, due to be renegotiated this year, needs to be changed, so as to reap the rewards from decreased solid waste.

BY RECYCLING, THE UNIVERSITY CAN NOT only comply with state law, but cut the cost of disposing its waste while taking a favorable position on the environment.

While SIUC has been experimenting with a voluntary recycling program, other Illinois schools like the University of Illinois have already cut waste by 40 percent and are in full-compliance with the law.

University administrators cannot allow Illinois Board of Higher Education Priority, Quality and Productivity requirements and decreased funding for education and athletics to stract from compliance with the law.

The University needs to consider recycling and the purchase of recycled goods a beneficial activity rather than an inconvenient obligation.

c

Letters to the Editor

Militant views, political parties victimize facts

This letter is in response to Mr. Holder. You criticized Mr. Caldwell on his position of slavery being rooted in the South. The war between the states was for economic gains and states' rights. If this is true then how do you explain Abraham Lincoln ambushing the war to Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." You suggest to join the black community and talk to some of the older people about what partis have done as far as slavery is concerned. I think none of these would acknowledge Republican party efforts because as long as the black community views themselves as a victim, they do not have to take responsibility for their actions.

You suggest that we read up on black history to truly understand the plight of blacks in this country. I have read all of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and even the racist views of Malcolm X. This does not make me more of an expert on blacks than anyone else. I propose that you know nothing about slavery except what you have heard or read. I think it is about time to let go of your anger and stop being a victim. I suggest that you go back and read more thoroughly about the history of political parties and not biased, militant black history.

Mark G. Smith, senior, administration of justice

Poem reflects month's theme

Black History month awakens a time of remembrance as well as looking ahead, not only for African Americans, but for all people.

It would give me great pleasure to be able to share with you a portion of the writings of the late Clifford L. Dobbins, former S.I.U. Journalism graduate. This has been a past tradition during his time of attendance.

--- Cathay Dobblins, senior, elementary education

Who Am I?

The world gloats over me, As it does to all who dare to be different. There is fear in my link to reality Which hides its face from me. My birth becres my death Whieh shall be yet another birth. I, with my shackles and declaration of freedom. Shall contruct the lives spoken of false love. I shall school myself in the hallways of bleached pillars and bleached lies. Among the eyes that say "How dare you challenge my superior intellect?" But I shall plant, harvest, and sell these by virtue of their countenance.

Who am I?

I am the child from the world of blackness, who formulates books in hidden hallways and dead valleys. I am ignorant who hats the world looking for a piece of life. I am the graduate from earth in search of God. I am the assassin who was acquitted for speaking blasphemous lies. I am a blasphemous liar, who will be struck down by God. Who am I?

I am the being by virtue of my superior intellect who dare to be so different. --- Clifford L. Dobbins

Status quo needs challenge

It would seem that our elected officials are very worried that our government may be in peril and as such they are ready to take any steps to ensure that the political status quo is maintained. The political status quo is, always in jeopardy in a democracy, as well it should be. Government is inherently a self-serving and uncaring entity. The founders of our country after a painful and bloody lesson in this axiom decided that a government should always be in peril from it's constituents. In our Constitution and Bill of Rights they reserved unimpeded public criticism of government, voting and even the most extraordinary measure of encouraging the common citizenry to arm themselves against "Those rascals in government" and their standing army. The next time the government decides it is going to pass some seemingly innocuous abridgment of rights in order to protect the ignorant peasantry from themselves ask yourself what would Voltaire, or Thomas Paine, or Frederick Douglas, or old Dan Webster think about this?

--- Lance P. Avery, graduate student, administration of justice

How to submit a letter to the editor:

A: You
B: Letter
C: Editor
The 1994 performance of Thornton Wilder's 1938 hit "Our Town" at John A. Logan college still maintains the simplicity and impact it had 56 years ago.

"One is supposed to be bright light, elaborate sets and flashy costumes that usually accompany theater productions today, a new awakening is about to happen," Wilder said.

The role of the Carpenter, played by Bracken, gives the production an extra spice of magic.

The play is narrated by the stage manager, played by Brackett, who leads the audience through events starting in 1906 in Grovers Corners, New Hampshire.

"This is a show of warmth and character, Brackett brings the part, which has the possibility of being a shallow character," said Dr. Leslie Altman, who is staging the entire play.

The use of souce, such as the whims and crickets, bring feelings and pictures to life without the use of scenery.

Also, watch for one of the most well presented aspects of the play, as the town settles down to night filled with moonlight and stars. It captivates you into the play.

On a day in the life of Grovers Corners, the lives of George Gibbs and Emily Webb are introduced.

The cliches are used to show how people live, vital and lively according to plan, from every day life to the grandness of life. Their lessons learned not one nor all.

The lesson told by Wilder asks, "How can we appreciate the matter how simple or uneventful it may seem, as the slightest sign of love."

Moore changes his slide and materializes effectively as he grows older and is enjoying to watch, especially as a young boy experiencing the first signs of love.

But his leading lady falls to pull the tare.

We'll Dwayne Dowles does put her emotion onto the past, her failure to choose as her character gets her puts a damper on the play.

Showman difference from when Emily is a young girl, to when she was a woman at the end of the play. However, performances by her supporting actors during the graveyard scene how Emily's strong, lived feeling alive.

"Our Town" hits the stage tonight and Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in John A. Logan. Admission is $5, $4 for students.

CANDIDATE, from page 1

it has become.

Rooser said he worked to get Edgel elected in 1990, but decided to run because Edger broke his campaign promises on gambling and abortion.

Michael Caldwell, a senior in geography from Metropolis, said he is supporting Rooser because of his conservative and business-like approach to government.

"I am supporting Jack Rooser because Edger has betrayed Republicans and conservatives," Caldwell said.

"Rooser is pro-family, anti-abortion, ..." said Kathleen Reater, 38, of rural Carbondale, said Rooser displays courage for challenging Edger.

"We have whole-heartedly taken personal choice for education and respect for loving my mate and love," Reater said. "It is refreshing to hear someone with the same voice as myself."

Rooser's next major campaign event will be a rally in Springfield on Feb. 28.

HATE, from page 1

persons that the codes were designed to protect," Whitcher said.

"We should recognize that the codes are motivated by the best of intentions, but we think that the adoption of and reliance on hate-speech codes is unfortunate." Whitcher said.

Hate-speech rules violate the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, "which guarantees freedom of speech," Whitcher said.

Whitcher said speech designed to incite illegal actions is the only form of speech besides obscenity that is not protected by the First Amendment.

"However, the constitutional right to promote equality is a dangerous and unwise one," Whitcher said.

"These codes demonstrate an alarming willingness to abridge one's freedom of expression to promote another," she said.

Hate-speech codes may be a way to avoid the "natural problems of racial or sexual tension," Whitcher said.

"The university administration can and should respond aggressively to incidents of violence and bigotry," she said. "Universities can aggressively recruit minority students and faculty. They can educate students in the whole university community about intolerance and bigotry instead of themselves becoming the speech police.
Key spy prop popular ‘sight’ for funerals in Washington

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—A memorial service was held Monday in the corner of 37th and R streets in Northwest Washington, and the Postal Service’s blue eagle was poised to soar out of a field of white, and no sign of a few noisy spots and chipped areas that show an underbelly of red paint. It is just another mailbox anchored to a set of a pad of concrete.

That war until Tuesday. On that day, CIA counter-intelligence officer Aldrich Ames was charged with being a double agent, and the blue box at the corner became the Spy Mailbox.

Ames allegedly left a chalk mark on the box to signal that he wanted to meet his Russian counterpart. Dan north, at the top of it all between Tulua Road and Wisconsin Avenue, is the sleekly modern Russian diplomatic compound, surrounded by high fences and broken trees. On a trip from there to the Russian Embassy on 16th Street NW, a spy might easily drive through the Barloch neighborhood and past 37th Rd.

New spies would be slowed at the Ivy League intersection just north of Georgetown University by drivers stopping to pose at the box.

By Melissa Edwards
Entertainment Reporter

Relaxing, socializing and fantasizing may sound like the ideal way to spend a weekend, but add a little creativity and magic, and the 1994 Egyptian Campaign appears.

The seventh-annual board and role-playing convention, hosted by SIUC Strategic Gaming Co., comes to the Renaissance and Romulo's Ballroom of the Studer Center at 6 p.m. today and 8 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Joel T. Nadler, chair of the campaign, said convention visitors will be able to play games such as Advanced Dungeons and Dragons, Axis and Allies, and Star Wars.

Prizes will be given to the winners, and beginners can learn from experienced players, he said.

Kerry Smith, a senior in secondary education from Benton, said every person who runs the games is prepared to teach beginners the ins and outs of game industry.

Media allegations that role-playing games are intended to be played, Nadler said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.

Joel T. Nadler, chair of the campaign, said convention visitors will be able to play games such as Advanced Dungeons and Dragons, Axis and Allies, and Star Wars.

Prizes will be given to the winners, and beginners can learn from experienced players, he said.

Kerry Smith, a senior in secondary education from Benton, said every person who runs the games is prepared to teach beginners the ins and outs of game industry.

Media allegations that role-playing games are intended to be played, Nadler said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.

"The only person I’ve known who got too involved in it now a born Christian who (criticizes strategic games)," he said.

"Very few play more ' ’lll experienced players," he said.
Divine biography searches, questions lifestyle of Jesus

Los Angeles Times

Who was Jesus? Albert Schweitzer was among the first to try to answer this question in print, publishing "The Quest of the Historical Jesus" in 1906. Usually, others have explored the subject.

Scholarly books for non-scholars:

John Dominic Crossan's "Jesus: A revo-

The Story of Qiu Ju: A Village Cinderella

By Bob Chiarito

Generation X mimicked by 'Bites'

From grunge clothing to unemployed twenty-something slackers, Reality Bites is the widely anticipated response of Generation X.

It is a shame that several fine acting performances were wasted by a weak script and an over-powering soundtrack that was better than the movie.

Produced by Danny DeVito and Michael Shamberg, (producer of the blockbuster "The Big Chill"), and directed by big screen rookie, Ben Stiller, (son of Fox's acclaimed "Ben Stiller Show"), I expected a much more memorable experience.

From the opening scenes, the music takes command of the movie.

Ryder, appearing in her first contemporary movie since "Heathers," stars as Leilaina, a struggling assistant of a morning television show.

After she loses her job, she is just another slacker struggling to get by, day by day. Ironically, Ryder was the valedictorian of her University yet she cannot even find work at a fast food restaurant.

Jancie Garofalo is the scene stealer of this flick, playing Ryder's hipster sidekick Vickie. The only problem is that at times she acts like a cliché, as the "ultra-fearing girl who single handedly tries to bring one night; stands back to popularity.

Ethan Hawke plays Troy, the ultimate slacker who is so lazy he fails to even show up to his job interview. Troy resembles a James Dean-like rebel who tends to irritate the most amiable viewer.

Watching this movie, I began to detest Troy, who would say one thing and then do another. He is in love with Leilaina, but he treats her like shit. Being the child of divorced parents, Stiller implies that Troy cannot know what compassion and love are. It is Stiller's character, Michael, who gives Leilaina the love and respect she deserves.

After several meetings, Leilaina shows Michael the documentary she made about her slacker friends. Michael is impressed and brings the film to his corporate meetings in New York, where the station eventually buys it and asks him to, to Leilaina's dismay.

This is precisely the area in the film that casts it from a truly memorable story to a 2-hour episode of Melrose Place.

Leilaina, for reasons unexplained to the viewer, doesn't give Michael another chance and eventually falls for Troy, the epitome of slack.

I hope this was not Hollywood's attempt to show the rest of the world the state of singles in their twenties in America today.

To see an accurate and moving portrayal of Generation X, please rent Richard Linklau'r's acclaimed film, "Slacker."

For this was no "Saturday Night Fever" of the 1970's; this was "Reality Bites" and it really bit.

CORRECTION

The ad that ran on Thursday, January 24 for Cousins Restaurant was incorrect.

Slappin' Henry Blue featuring Taw Paul is playing Friday night ONLY.

We apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused.

SCHEDULE

feb. 27 - march 6, 1994

COMPETITION SHOWCASES

Cinema Soundstage, Communications Building, Free Mon., Feb. 28-Fri., March 4, 2-5pm Tue., March 1, 10am-12pm & 1-3pm Longbranch Coffe.e House, Free Tue., March 1, 7-10pm Student Center Auditorium, $1 Animation/Experimental! Sun., Feb. 27, 5pm Burning Issues documentaries Mon., Feb. 28, 6pm Women: Filmmakers Wed., March 2, 6pm Short Narratives Sun., March 6, 2pm Best of Fast Sun., March 6, 4pm

FEATURE FILMS

Student Center Auditorium, $1 8 1/2: Sun., Feb. 27, 7 & 9:30pm The Story of Giusu: Mon., Feb. 28, Wed., Mar. 2 & Thu., Mar. 3, 8:30pm Orland0: Fri., March 4 & Sat., March 5, 8 & 10pm

GUEST ARTIST PRESENTATIONS

Student Center Auditorium, Free Craig Baldwin – Thu., March 3, 6pm Phil Solomon – Fr., March 4, 5:30pm Dalida Maria Benfielcl – Sat., March 5, 5:30pm

ALL EVENT PASSES $5.00 (SAVE $3.00) FOR MORE INFO. CALL 453-1482.

16th Annual big muddy film festival

The festival is supported by the City of St. Louis, Public Arts Commission, and the St. Louis County Arts Council. It is also supported by the National Endowment for the Arts, the Missouri Arts Council, Station One Radio, Footlighters, KNOX, the Chicago Sun-Times, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Altavista, and the City of St. Louis.

If you like country music at its finest, FRED'S is the place to be. Not only unique to Southern Illinois, but unique to anywhere.

When's the last time you made reservations to go to a Country/Western Honky Tonk. Isn't it a rush to stand in a line with 200 people, have your name called, and go right in. Just because you had reservations...

This Saturday, February 26th:

Timberline

Next Saturday, March 5th:

Cumberland

For Reservations Call 549-0221...
Journalist leaves impression

By Katie Morrison
Special Assignment Writer

Former SIUC graduate student, journalist and dedicated community health advocate Trumier Camphor died Tuesday after a year-long battle against a brain tumor.

He was 30. Dina Nace, a graduate student in journalism, said Camphor was there to help others and was a good friend. "He had trouble saying no if you needed help," Nace said.

Although Camphor was diagnosed with his illness more than a year ago, he did not let it get in the way of being a good journalist, Nace said.

He was a journalist at the Daily Egyptian and the Southern Illinoisan, as well as dedicated to helping others achieve their success.

Wanda Brandon, former acting manager of the Daily Egyptian, said Camphor was a very professional journalist, concerned with social issues and social justice as well as science and politics.

As a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, Camphor was influential to his brothers, member Richard Melvin said.

"He was the first person to go to if you had a problem," Melvin said. William Elliott, assistant dean of the School of Mass Communications and Media Arts, did research work with Camphor and was helping him start on his master's thesis.

Camphor was active in campus groups such as the Journalism Graduate Student Association and Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. He began his undergraduate work at University of Missouri in 1981 and left to join the Navy in 1986.

In the Navy, Camphor was a hospital corpsman and hospital corpsman program coordinator.

Camphor received his bachelor of science in Healthcare Management in May 1991 and was well on his way to a career in science and media at SIUC.

"He did great work in research and was a good colleague," said Elliott. Camphor spent $800,000 on a new child-care facility for the students with children yet they have no idea how many children they might collect such demographic information. Is this demographic significant? Ask someone from policy who has not. It is therefore the intent of.

STAFF WANTED

Positions Available: Unit Supervisors, Specialists in Waterflying, Sailing, Athletics, Outdoor Adventure, Art, Video, Dance, Ropes Course, etc.

Salary Range: $1,400-2,400, Plus Free Room and Board.

For CAMPUSS INTERVIEWS ON TUESDAY, MARCH 1st

Please contact University Career Services for an Interview at (618) 453-2391 or call Camp Chi at (708) 272-2301

PARkING AT THE ARENA

There are more issues at hand, such as the one-sided attendance policies that damage one's GPA when the responsibilities of life or family cause us to miss class, and the school's inclement weather policies, but, like the parking problem, this space is finite. Therefore, it will end with the following:

PRESIDENT GUYON AND THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

A CONSENSUS HAS BEEN REACHED

For a growing portion of the student population, the policies of this school have become oppressive. Oppressive, because times have changed and policy has not. It is therefore the intent of this advertisement to bring to your attention that, for a significant percentage of your customer base, this institution is failing to fulfill its primary function: that of educating its customer.

Education is not a privilege that can be competed with buying a new pair of shoes. The environment is maintained in such a way as to make education possible. The tools required for that education are accessible - books, microscopes, computers - all the trappings of education lay in place. Most importantly, the mental and physical requirements are provided for - relaxation facilities, medical care, dormitories, cafeterias - all of these things exist to ensure that the educational process is possible, and successful. In this, you are to be commended.

However, in the process, you have overlooked a significant portion of your customer base, who have needs that diverge from those you so generously provide for. By the turn of the millennium, that portion of your customer base will have grown to roughly half of your students. Therefore, it was felt that perhaps now would be a good time to start preparing for that eventuality, by acquainting yourself with that population's needs so that you aren't caught with your proverbial pants down in the near future.

1) What do you know about us? Next to nothing. Does SIU officially know how many of its students/customers have children? No. Why? SIU does not collect such demographic information. Is this demographic significant? Ask someone from the economics department. SIU must not think so - they just spent $800,000 on a new child-care facility for the students with children - yet they have no idea how many children they might be facing with accommodating them.

2) I need help with daycare, SIU will help? Nope. Not officially, not unofficially, not at all. As one SIU administrator put it, "SIU has no responsibility to the students' children!" Well, that is absolutely, unqualifiedly true. SIU has no responsibility to its students' children. But SIU does have responsibility to the student - to provide an education in an environment where such an act is possible. That is why the Student Center exists. That is why the Recreation Center exists. Do you suppose that a student, who is a mother of two, spends much time at the rec center? Does she spend her evenings hanging out in the Student Center playing polo? Probably not. Chances are, this typical student might conceivably never even enter the rec center. What would valuable, expensive, dependable child-care services in the "students' facility" look like at SIU? Recreation. Rainbow's End? The doors aren't even open, and already the administration is talking about raising the rates. After all, SIU won't do a thing for the students, unless there is a profit to be made. In fact, SIU has the opportunity to open a child-care facility that would cost the students only 50 cents per child per week, and cost SIU nothing. It is a Federal program called Title 20, and SIU can accept it at any time. Why don't they? Because they have to open to the public - to Carbondale, who do not pay for this university a home. But, it seems to open the bottom line that Title 20 offers no source of profit, therefore it is rejected, despite the overwhelming good it would do the students.

3) Why can't I find a parking space? The parking at SIU has become an obscenity. There is talk of new parking lots, parking structures, all the while as they add new buildings, a hotel, on and on. For a growing number of students, there is no choice but to drive to campus. They have jobs to come from and go to, children to drop off and pick up, and they don't live anywhere near Carbondale. Some of them are disabled, and must use a vehicle to get around. For these students, driving to campus is the only way for them to attend school at all. SIU says, "There are always parking spaces at the arena!" True enough. However, in many students, it is not the distance that galls them, but the time that required. These students marry on the responsibilities of their lives while carrying the burden of school. TIME is a precious commodity, for the demands of family and job and school can curtail time in the extreme. PARKING AT THE ARENA: IS NOT A VIABLE SOLUTION. How about this instead? SIU exists in a finite space. The answer to the problem lies not in finding more room in a finite space, but in reducing the amount of room required in that finite space. If you reduce the number of cars that are parking on campus, there won't be a parking problem. How do we do that? Recently, we voted in favor of a bus system. Do you think anyone who can drive will use the bus? Would you, if you had the option? The bus system will be a colossal waste of money if no one needed to use it. So, if we impose a one mile radius around the campus within which, if you reside, you cannot park your car on campus between 7AM and 4PM, and include a responsible bus system, there won't be a parking problem at SIU, and we'll be doing something good for the environment. As bonus.

There are more issues at hand, such as the one-sided attendance policies that damage one's GPA when the responsibilities of life or family cause us to miss class, and the school's inclement weather policies, but, like the parking problem, this space is finite. Therefore, it will end with the following:

The press is encouraged to attend

PAID FOR BY THE NON-TRADEITIONAL STUDENT UNION
Williford

Focus

Writer loves his job

Writers are humans of a peculiar nature.

Some would venture so far as to say that they are eccentric — Edgar Allan Poe wrote poems that were mysterious, Franz Kafka wrote The Metamorphosis, a man who was transformed into a bug.

There is no doubt, however, that they did love their job.

Len Williford does.

Williford recently laid his book of short fiction stories called "Macauley's Thumb" published. He also instructs English fiction writing at SIUC.

"The job I've had at SIU has just been wonderful. I've been able to work with colleagues who are not just talented, but pretty wonderful people," Williford said.

Williford said his teachers in his early days of literature claimed he couldn't write.

"I had teachers who got paid to teach something that they loved to do and I thought, 'Well, damn, I'd like to do that,'" said Williford.

Williford's job will take him to the University of Alabama, where he will teach fiction writing in the Master's of Fine Arts program.

"I've been really comfortable with the program here," Williford said. "The reason I'm leaving is that the job that I was offered there was not a tenure position, it was a lecture position.

Book reflects different subjects

Stories about children — two boys who were abandoned by their parents and the way they deal with their grief; a story about a man who picks up an illegal alien, one about a chimpactor who loves Godzilla movies; an ex-alcoholic record driver who says he should be a member of the AA Auto Club rather than the AAA.

This wide range of subject matter graces the reader of a new book of short fiction stories by SIUC English instructor Lex Williford.

Williford claims there was no one inspiration for the book, "Macauley's Thumb" but it is a collection of related, stereotyped stories.

I guess they have a certain string through them, and I can say this after the effect but I wouldn't have been able to say this before the fact," Williford said. "I think all the stories share several characteristics, they're often about inarticulate characters, characters who are unable to express their emotion verbally, but they express it somehow.

Williford said his characters are often male and this says something about male culture.

"Males can't talk, and I think it is a lot of ways the stories are about the struggles between men and women because of this inability," Williford said. "It's a pretty diverse collection of stories, a lot of them are about diverse-framed males, as Publishers Weekly put.

Williford said he tried to make the stories seem a thought they could have been written by different people.

There's a certain voice that I think runs through many of them that are similar (you could say that's my voice) but many of them are experiments in voice.

"I really need to see, look, how they all work together, do I think they are all similar? Do I think they are all different? Don't think they are all of some similar," Williford said.

Williford said he would like to think the best stories are not autobiographical, although he has used experiences from his personal life.

"The title story is about a man who goes out of his mind with grief when his wife is killed by a rattle snake in a particularly gruesome way," Williford said.

Williford said the cabin builder begins to take vengeance upon all the rattlesnakes on the mountain where he lives.

He heard details about this story from a cabin builder who built a cabin with him and his father in the mountains of Southeastern Oklahoma.

One of his favorite stories in the book is actually quite autobiographical.

"Hoot Last Bubble Bath paints a comic story based on my experiences with my great uncle when his wife was dying," Williford said. "I'm writing again in that particular story I would like to think that the best.

Author realizes life’s trials affect story telling ability

Williford

Writers' block, creative black-out, mental blank — these are common terms many writers use when faced with pieces of paper or a blinking cursor on a computer screen rager for feedback — but to no avail.

In the last two years, Lex Williford, author of a new book of short fiction stories, "Macauley's Thumb," has written a lot of material about family.

"It's difficult material for me because essentially it's about the conflicts between my father and myself," he said. "My father and I have essentially been at war with each other since the Vietnam War, on one level or another.

Williford's main ambition is to write everyday and be, hopefully, loved.

"I have gone through a period of time...

This is a before picture, before what? Before my kid brother and JFK died, before my father died, before I went to war over Vietnam, before I lost an ear in a car wreck, before I lost my blade, before I roll, like this kid. He's full of zest and optimism. He spent a ton of his time in storm sewers. He likes kissing girls in their parents' dark garages until all his buddies are telling about cookies. I feel myself coming back to this kid after a long time... and I'm wearing cool shirts. He knows things."

---

Focus

Writer loves his job

Writers are humans of a peculiar nature.

Some would venture so far as to say that they are eccentric — Edgar Allan Poe wrote poems that were mysterious, Franz Kafka wrote The Metamorphosis, a man who was transformed into a bug.

There is no doubt, however, that they did love their job.

Len Williford does.

Williford recently laid his book of short fiction stories called "Macauley's Thumb" published. He also instructs English fiction writing at SIUC.

"The job I've had at SIU has just been wonderful. I've been able to work with colleagues who are not just talented, but pretty wonderful people," Williford said.

Williford said his teachers in his early days of literature claimed he couldn't write.

"I had teachers who got paid to teach something that they loved to do and I thought, 'Well, damn, I'd like to do that,'" said Williford.

Williford's job will take him to the University of Alabama, where he will teach fiction writing in the Master's of Fine Arts program.

"I've been really comfortable with the program here," Williford said. "The reason I'm leaving is that the job that I was offered there was not a tenure position, it was a lecture position.

Book reflects different subjects

Stories about children — two boys who were abandoned by their parents and the way they deal with their grief; a story about a man who picks up an illegal alien, one about a chimpactor who loves Godzilla movies; an ex-alcoholic record driver who says he should be a member of the AA Auto Club rather than the AAA.

This wide range of subject matter graces the reader of a new book of short fiction stories by SIUC English instructor Lex Williford.

Williford claims there was no one inspiration for the book, "Macauley's Thumb" but it is a collection of related, stereotyped stories.

I guess they have a certain string through them, and I can say this after the effect but I wouldn't have been able to say this before the fact," Williford said. "I think all the stories share several characteristics, they're often about inarticulate characters, characters who are unable to express their emotion verbally, but they express it somehow.

Williford said his characters are often male and this says something about male culture.

"Males can't talk, and I think it is a lot of ways the stories are about the struggles between men and women because of this inability," Williford said. "It's a pretty diverse collection of stories, a lot of them are about diverse-framed males, as Publishers Weekly put.

Williford said he tried to make the stories seem a thought they could have been written by different people.

There's a certain voice that I think runs through many of them that are similar (you could say that's my voice) but many of them are experiments in voice.

"I really need to see, look, how they all work together, do I think they are all similar? Do I think they are all different? Don't think they are all of some similar," Williford said.

Williford said he would like to think the best stories are not autobiographical, although he has used experiences from his personal life.

"The title story is about a man who goes out of his mind with grief when his wife is killed by a rattle snake in a particularly gruesome way," Williford said.

Williford said the cabin builder begins to take vengeance upon all the rattlesnakes on the mountain where he lives.

He heard details about this story from a cabin builder who built a cabin with him and his father in the mountains of Southeastern Oklahoma.

One of his favorite stories in the book is actually quite autobiographical.

"Hoot Last Bubble Bath paints a comic story based on my experiences with my great uncle when his wife was dying," Williford said. "I'm writing again in that particular story I would like to think that the best.

Author realizes life’s trials affect story telling ability

Williford

Writers' block, creative black-out, mental blank — these are common terms many writers use when faced with pieces of paper or a blinking cursor on a computer screen rager for feedback — but to no avail.

In the last two years, Lex Williford, author of a new book of short fiction stories, "Macauley's Thumb," has written a lot of material about family.

"It's difficult material for me because essentially it's about the conflicts between my father and myself," he said. "My father and I have essentially been at war with each other since the Vietnam War, on one level or another.

Williford's main ambition is to write everyday and be, hopefully, loved.

"I have gone through a period of time...
CAREER, from page 9

strikes in their writing," he said. "I just feel really fortunate to be part of such a strong writing program." Learning about the development of his style of writing is a lesson Williford received through his students. "One of the things many of my students will tell you is that I'm real tough in class and that I don't put up with a lot of mediocrity and I have very little patience for Hollywood plots," he said. "I think the worst thing that I have taught have tended at times to be very direct, very honest and sometimes students will probably think brutal." Williford has had to take a really hard look at the way he conducts workshops. "It is as much as possible to be honest with the highest degree of kindness and finding that balance," he said. "It is important to tell people not what they want to hear but what they need to know in order to make their stories work." Williford said he has taken enough workshops himself to know parts are made up, Williford said. "I think the best fiction is a lot of times about our differences and not about the things that make us similar," he said. "If you write about the individual, if you write about the difference between the characters or between people, then the universal truer naturally." Williford said he has written his share of bad stories in his life. "Unfortunately, one or two actually published," he said. "I'm at the point now where I'd like to go to the library where I got my MA and my MFA and steal the

THUMB, from page 9

BLOCK, from page 9

when I have loved it less than I used to, but it's because I have been struggling through difficult material," he said. "I think (my ambition is) just the ability to have financial and other kinds of freedom and time to sit down and write every day — and we'll see what happens."

Flickers® RESTAURANT & PLAZA

Food Court
718 S. Illinois Ave, Carbondale, IL
10:00 a.m.-2:00 a.m.
Dine In • Carry Out
457-5659

What does Flickers stand for?
Hint: Back to the days of the silent screen — watch for more!

FREE BEER
It's not here...
But the opportunity to make money in a fun-filled resort is.

We offer flexible hours, discounted golf, tennis, and theatre.
Also worldwide discounted hotel rooms for you and your parents.

Line up your summer job now and call our Human Resources Dept. for an appointment at (708) 634-0190 ext. 6142.

Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort
10 Marriott Drive Lincolnshire, IL 60069
We are an equal opportunity employer.
Speech department’s ‘Romance’ depicts love novels, good acting

By Jamie Madigan
Features and News Reporter

A couple waltzes on stage, he woman lifting her chin defiantly as the man stares boldly into her eyes. The audience is in tears — tears of laughter — as the Speech Communication department presents ‘Romance.’

Director Ron Pelias, professor in speech communication, said the production will run at 8 p.m. today and Saturday in the Morris Library Auditorium. Admission is $4 or $2 for students with I.D.

The play opens with a romance novelist telling the audience her views of love, and how she came to write the novels. She maintains a constant presence on stage to guide the audience on a journey through people’s ideas about romance.

Three scenes from a real romance novels come to life on stage. Any serious acting is made comic by actors playing narrares, darting in and out of scenes to relate the characters’ feelings.

In a particularly funny scene, a woman is wooed by a man who strongly resembles romantic hero Fabio. Adding to the scene’s comical nature is the presence of the narrator who speaks directly to the audience.

While there are some serious scenes, the majority of them are humorous. They range in topic from first kisses to major break-ups, and are well acted by the expressive cast.

The performance has two reasons for this production. ‘The performance has two purposes,’ he said. ‘It is a piece of good theater and a vehicle for helping us reflect on this subject.’

 Pelias said the cast is ready to perform, especially after the past week of rehearsals. ‘It’s always an exciting week,’ he said. ‘We’ve been having a lot of fun.’

The STARZ! Free Preview is over, But you can still see STARZ! for only pennies a day!

STARZ! Prime-Time Movies

Sunday Feb. 20
Lonesome Dove
Part 1
7:00pm
Part 2
10:30pm

Monday, Feb. 21
The Right Stuff
7:00pm
Starz And Bars
10:30pm

Tuesday Feb. 22
The Taking Of Pelham
7:00pm
One, Two, Three
10:30pm

Wednesday, Feb. 23
Breakheart Pass
7:00pm
Face To Face
9:00pm

Thursday, Feb. 24
What’s New Pussycat?
7:00pm
Halloween III — Season Of
The Witch
9:00pm

On The Strip

Sun-Thurs 11am-1am
Fri-Sat 11am-3am
Delivery case price

Double Cheeseburger & French Fries With a Large Soft Drink
Only $3.99! + Tax

Chicken Gyros & French Fries
Only $3.99! + Tax

Deluxe Gyro Plate
Only $3.99 + Tax

 Falafil Plata
( Vegetarian Delight)
Only $1.99! + Tax

FAST DELIVERY 549-2234

On Ch. 43 in Carbondale
TCI of Illinois, Inc.
Wiring single wire antenna
1620 W. Main 523-2001

- 1 Plate : & French Fries With : &
- 2 Plates : & French Fries With : &
- 3 Plates : & French Fries With : &

- Sheet phyloby -“ It
- PlastPholoby -“ It

- ZIMA
- Rigid Staff
- £ & French Fries With : &

- TCM
- £ & French Fries With : &

- TCM
- £ & French Fries With : &

- TCM
- £ & French Fries With : &

- TCM
- £ & French Fries With : &

- TCM
- £ & French Fries With : &

- TCM
- £ & French Fries With : &
Spiritual songs ring out at dorm

By Kyle J. Chapman

Songs rang out through the 14-room Point dining room on the evening of Feb. 23, as the 14 members of the Voices of Inspiration celebrated Black History Month in their own special way.

Ted Fields, a senior in journalism, gave a poetry reading of original works, and from the work of famous writer-activist Langston Hughes before the Voices of Inspiration performed musical selections.

Fields echoed the words of the poem titled "I, Too" by Langston Hughes. It reflected the African-American confrontation with the oppression of slavery and the desire to be recognized as human beings.

Fields said Hughes was inspirational and helped African-Americans imagine.

"The poem 'I, Too' is a poem of recognition that characterized the African-American presence and helped bring it towards the forefront of American culture," Fields said.

The Voices of Inspiration sang two Baptist spirituals entitled "Safe in His Arms of Love" and "I Have a Message."

A roar of applause filled the room, as the crowd listened to the traditional African-American spirituals.

Field's said he did not mind performing in the auditorium as long as he felt students were getting something out of the concert.

"I think that Thompson Point has had very few..."

TRAINER, from page 11

his clients three times a week in activities such as weight training and aerobics. All Fagin’s clients are women, whose ages range from about 20 to 50. "Their activity levels range from very active to sedentary. For some it’s not healthy to get extreme sedentary," he said.

Jennifer Hanover, an aerobics instructor at Great Shapes, said she observes Fagin working with clients.

"He warms up with them (the clients) and works with them the whole time — he gives them his full attention," Hanover said.

Fagin said he is the most popular personal trainer.

During sessions with clients, Fagin said he stresses weight training and kinesiology (anatomy as it relates to human movement) as well as nutrition.

"I’m interested in promoting physical activity and increasing motivation for people with a sedentary lifestyle," Fagin said.

The cost of the program is $5 an hour for students and senior citizens and $8 an hour for all others.

"The primary importance is behavior modification — I want people to change their lifestyle and maintain or achieve happiness," he said.

Many people just want to make a temporary change in eating and exercise habits to lose weight or get in shape for the summer, he said.

Fagin said one-on-one training usually lasts a few weeks, after which time his clients have developed skills to work on their own. Dedication also is an important factor.

Fagin said he enjoys working with clients one-on-one because he can better help them achieve personal goals.

Group settings do not allow people to express personal goals, the most a trainer can do is show people how to do the exercise, he said.

The Student Fair Association and International Law Society thank the following businesses for their support of the 1994 Talent Show & Auction:

AMC
Bobby’s Submarine Sandwiches
Broder’s Ice Cream & Burgers
Carnival Video
Circus Video
Coulsins Restaurant
Dick, Jockley
El Bajo
El Greco
Fannie May Candies
Gordie’s Restaurant & Pub
Godfather’s Pizza
Holiday Inn
Italian Village
Keracres Theatres
Kirlin’s Hallmark
Mississipi Flyway
Mug’s McCarters’s Old Town Liquors
Papa John’s Pizza
Pizza Hut
Pizza Recorders, Inc.
Pollos Restaurant and Night Club
Quatro’s Deep Pan Pizza
Saki’s ki’s Sports Bar
710 Book Store
Sports Center Bowl
Student Center Bowling & Billiards
TCAV’s of Carbondale
Tres Vientos Mexican Restaurant & Lounge
Vulcan’s Movie Store

Quatro’s Original

The Big One

Large deep pan or thin crust pizza with 1 topping and 4-16 oz. bottles of Pepsi $9.89

Real Meal Deal

Medium deep pan or thin crust pizza with 1 topping and 2-16 oz. bottles of Pepsi $7.79

Small Wonder

Small deep pan or thin crust pizza with 1 topping and 1-16 oz. bottle of Pepsi $5.49

499.5326 fast, free delivery

1410 Main St.

412 E. Walnut

Hours:

Sun. - Tues. 9 a.m. - 3 a.m.
Wed. - Thur. 9 a.m. - 4 a.m.
Fri. - Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 a.m.

Now 2 Locations to Serve You Better!

TACO BELL

©1994 Taco Bell Corp.

Buy One Taco Salad and Get the Second One FREE!

Valid at 412 E. Walnut and 1410 Main St., Carbondale.
Expires 3/28/94

Buy A Nachos BellGrande and Get the Second One FREE!

Valid at 412 E. Walnut and 1410 Main St., Carbondale.
Expires 3/28/94

A Search for Blacks in the Bible

...the truth shall make you free

John 8:32

6:30 pm TONIGHT

Davis Auditorium, Whan 105
BOSNIA, from page 1

The U.N. spokesman, Lt. Col. Jill Aikman of Canada, did discuss, however, that of 135 sites where the Serbs had placed artillery or tanks to bombard Sarajevo weapons had been found at 35 after the deadline. U.N. monitors had not yet v\ind eight were still

Now, with its resources stretched is locating Serb artillery sites and rounding up the weapons that the Serbs failed to turn in, the United Nations in New York has announced it will take on two major tasks by March 7, opening the airport in Tuzla, a government-held enclave with as many as 750,000 people, and demilitarizing central Bosnia.

You Deserve More... KOPIES & MORE FREE COMPUTER TIME

& 25¢ Laser Prints

809 S. Illinois Ave. • 529-5679 • Open 24 Hours

BOSNIAN SUPER SALES

The Ultimate Tanning Experience

"The Tanning Salon of the 90's"

NEW BULBS!

$4.00 OFF Includes Package

REMEMBER! We have Puretan C. 3800 30 beds.
The Best in town!

Expires 2/28/94

855 E. Grand

Call for an Appointment

457-TANU

Friday

Friday Afternoon Derailment

With D.J.: C.C. Hall 5-8 pm

Trivia, Prizes, Free Wise Guys Pizza!

Free 16 oz. Derailment Cups with any drink.

Blackhawks Action

4:30

Sun. Blackhawks Action

1:30 PM

SAT. Zima Girls: 9-17 PM

Introducing...

STUDENTS & SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNT CARDS

(Some Restrictions Apply)

COME IN FOR YOURS TODAY!

Puppyfest

Lafayette

Bottrower

Sameday

Woolie

Min. Durbabtown

Murdell Shopping Center • 549-7214

Sat. • 30-6 • Sun. 15
Houses
31. 321, 6026, 6028, Cerro, costal, $162,500.
32. 1321, 6025. 6027, Cerro, costal, $165,000.
33. 6001, 6003, 6005, Cerro, costal, $167,500.
34. 105 W 5th St, Spencer, 6005, Cerro, costal, $170,500.
35. 2100, 6028, 6030, Cerro, costal, $175,000.
36. 2150, 6029, 6031, Cerro, costal, $180,000.
37. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
38. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
39. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
40. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
41. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
42. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
43. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
44. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
45. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
46. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
47. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
48. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
49. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
50. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
51. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
52. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
53. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
54. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
55. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
56. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
57. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
58. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
59. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
60. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
61. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
62. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
63. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
64. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
65. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
66. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
67. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
68. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
69. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
70. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
71. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
72. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
73. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
74. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
75. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
76. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
77. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
78. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
79. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
80. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
81. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
82. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
83. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
84. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
85. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
86. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
87. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
88. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
89. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
90. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
91. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
92. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
93. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
94. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
95. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
96. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
97. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
98. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
99. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
100. 1050 W 2nd St, 6004, Cerro, costal, $210,000.
February 25, 1994

Comics

Calvin and Hobbes

Today's Puzzle

Shoe

Open for lunch & late night

Mother Goose and Grimm

Walt Kelly's Pogo

Today's Puzzle

Today's puzzle answers are on page 19
Women's tennis team goes west; match-ups with conference foes

James J. Faires
Sport Reporter

On the road again! That's what the SIUC women's tennis team will be singing this weekend as they have to saddle up for a three-game road trip through the state of Oklahoma.

After an encouraging tournament at Eastern Kentucky, the Salukis women will try and take their high spirits and some bodies to play some tough tennis in Oral Roberts on Friday, Tulsa on Saturday, and Oral Roberts on Sunday. The Salukis are currently ranked 15th in the Missouri Valley Conference.

"The team is really excited about the trip," Coach Auld said. "We're looking forward to playing against tough opponents.""

The Salukis have been dominating in any 'me. "We're looking really good in the last few weeks," Auld said.

Coach Auld said that the team has been working hard to improve their performance. "We need to make some adjustments to our strategy," Auld said.

The Salukis are heavily favored in all three matches, but Auld said the team will be cautious. "We need to be prepared for anything," Auld said.

The Salukis are looking for a third straight victory in the conference and a win in the championship.

Sports Report

Auld said, "We don't dominate in any season."

"The team has a lot of potential," Coach Auld said. "We need to work hard to realize it."
Helping hand

Scott Sirrett, from Clinton, spots Scott seniors majoring in exercise science, West, from Mount Carmel, in a set of butterfly presses. The two lifters, both seniors working out at the Rec Center weight room Thursday afternoon.

Super glue needed for U.S. aerial hopeful

Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — Trace Worthington set to for fifth. only length (in the men's 40-kilometer relay Tuesday) Worthington led than a point behind Andrew Capick.

MISSOURI VALLEY INDOOR CHAMPS

Saturday, Feb. 26 & Sunday, Feb. 27
9:00 - 5:00 10:00 - 5:00
Admission $3 - Adults/$2 H.S. & Under
SIU Students Free with I.D.

Sports Briefs

ROCK CLIMBING - second section of North Face at the Indoor Recreation Center will be free from Mon-Sat, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday and Wednesday from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. for more information call Kosti at Phone 417-1275.

JAZZ DANCE - has started at the Student Recreation Center. Classes are held Monday and Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. until March 21. For more information call Kam at Phone 417-1275.

BIFFS POLICY - The deadline for Sport Briefs is two days before publication. The brief should be in typewritten, and must include time, date, place and original of the event and sound information. All briefs are subject to the Daily Egyptian Sports Desk, 304 Graff, 247, a brief will be published once and only once a space allows.

Puzzle Answers
Salukis shock Wichita in 69-65 win

By Grant Deady
Sports Reporter

She dices, dices, cuts, chops and shreds opposing teams' defenses. Illinois State guard Nikki Gilmore's playing style may resemble a Veg-O-Matic, but it is sure effective.

Thursday night at the SIU Arena, the sophomore playmaker from St. Louis, MO, led the way for SIUC in a 69-65 turn-burning win over Wichita State.

Gilmore played all 40 minutes, pouring in 25 points, including a game-clinching 3-pointer to delight the delight of 3,844 Saluki loyalists on hand.

The win avenges a 41-point stomping the Lady Shockers laid on SIUC on Jan. 26, and puts SIUC in sole possession of third place in the Missouri Valley Conference.

As the game went, WSU head coach Linda Hargrove said Gilmore was too much.

"Obviously it's a verydispelling loss for us," she said. "In the second half we didn't contain Nikki at all. It's all a different ballgame every time you step on that floor.

It was a battle for the Salukis from the start, as WSU led by as many as nine in the first half. A balanced shot chart led the Shockers to take a 49-35 lead at halftime.

WSU held the second seed for WSU in the first half as guard Kim Evans' eight points led the team. Karen Lewis chipped in seven and Tashia Barnett six to key a 51 percent shooting performance from the field.

Gilmore kept the Salukis alive going into the locker room with 12 points, 12 rebounds and four assists from the field.

Gilmore said the team could not be happy wanting revenge on Wichita State after the embarrassing loss suffered in its first meeting.

"I think it will teach everyone involved in athletics that it's a lot mental," she said. "We were mentally or emotionally to play in that last game.

Powell finished with 15 points for SIUC and Agnessa Samuels added eight off the bench.

WSU was led by Tootie Shaw, who poured in 17 points and grabbed seven boards.

The Shockers are now 8-6 in the Valley and fall to 14-10 overall. SIUC makes a statement action on Saturday night when they host conference leader Southern Illinois State in a must win game at the SIU Arena.

Saluki point guard Nikki Gilmore drives to the lane against a Shockers defender Thursday night. SIUC defeated Missouri Valley Conference foe Wichita State at the SIU Arena, 69-65.

Dawgs, Redbirds to clash in national spotlight

By Dan Leathy
Sports Writer

The SIUC men's basketball team will close out its regular season Sunday night with a nationally televised game against Illinois State.

The Salukis (19-6, 12-4) will be trying to wrap up second or third place in the Missouri Valley Conference, which would likewise earn them the second or third seed in the MVC tournament.

Illinois State (15-9, 11-5) is comfortably in fourth place, but could move into a third-place tie with SIUC by winning Sunday night.

But put aside all those factors and it comes down to SIUC-ISU: the Dawgs and Redbirds, on ESPN to finish the season. It's the Valley's top rivalry, matching two of the conference's top programs, both from the same state, against each other.

The Dawgs have had the better of the rivalry lately, as they have won three out of the last four contests with the Redbirds, including last year's win in the MVC title game.

Rich Herrin said he knows the importance of the game, but does not want to go into the outcome.

"I'd like to have it, but we've got to be careful not to put too much emphasis on that," Herrin said. "Because it's too far to the right of you if you win and if you lose you get too far down.

The Dawgs have the extra to come out of Redbird Arena with a win, a first-year coach Kevin Stallings has his team undefeated at home to this point in the season.

Mike Vandegrade is one of the most versatile players in the Valley as the senior forward can score inside or outside.

The Redbirds' defense flows through him, as other players look to spot up when defenses collapse on Vandegrade.

Vandegrade notched 18 points in the earlier meeting with the Salukis this year, but only one point in the last 10 minutes due to foul trouble.

Marcus Timmons had a monster 19-point, 14-rebound performance to lead the Salukis to the 67-64 victory.

The victory was by no means easy, as the Salukis shot just 37 percent from the floor.

If the Salukis beat ISU, the Dawgs will have to get a little help from Bradley to stay in second place.

The Braves host the Northern Illinois Huskies Saturday, then travel to Creighton for their season finale on Monday.

SIUC track and field teams host 1994 MVC indoor championship

By Grant Deady
Sports Reporter

The SIUC men's and women's track and field team, which has competed at home the last three years, will move to Normal this season and the home field advantage will be a factor this weekend when it hosts the 1994 Missouri Valley Conference Indoor Track and Field Championship at the SIUC Student Recreation Center.

SIUC will be led by MVC Athlete of the Week for the second week in a row, Brian Miller. Miller threw a season-best shot in the shot put with a top mark of 59.6 M. This mark ranks the Marian, Illinois state rival, in the nation, while also improving his National Collegiate Athletic Association provisional qualifying standard.

"We appear to be healthy, and we feel like we're going in with a good shot at winning it," said SIUC men's coach Bill Cornell.

"The athletes know the facility and are comfortable with it, but there is no doubt Illinois State is the favorite right now.

The Salukis shipped to a fifth-finishing last year but hope to rebound with strong showings in the field events and the distance races.

"We're not strong in the sprints, particularly distances anywhere from 55 meters to 600 meters," Cornell said. "But we hope to place well in every other event.

Another Marian native, junior Cameron Wright, will look to defend his MVC title in the high jump. Wright won the event with a jump of 7.22 last year, but has only managed a season-best 7.10 in 1994.

1993 MVC individual cross-country champion Neil Emberton, who has the league's top time in the mile this year at 34:10.44, will lead a strong nucleus of distance runners. He will be joined by Garth Akl, whose 3000 meter time of 8.27 has second best in the MVC and Mark Russell, who has run the mile's best time of 1:51.35 in the 800 meters.

A pre-championship poll, determined by votes of the league coaches, ranks SIUC third right behind Indiana State and Illinois State.

The Salukis' women's team will be battling for their second MVC title and the MVC victories are good for the seniors in the program.

"I've been looking at the performances throughout the season and consistently the same team,..." women's team coach Don DeNeon said.

"Illinois State has kept athletes that can place in more than one event.

Baseball's spring fever begins;
SIUC heads south to Ole Miss

By Grant Deady
Sports Reporter

Saluki baseball fans looking for an early spring break should consider a road trip to Oxford, Miss.

Ole' Miss will host SIUC for two single game match-ups, one on both Saturday and Sunday.

The Rebels brought in the 17th best scoring team in the nation, according to Collegiate Baseball Magazine, and are trying to improve on last seasons 31-25 record.

SIUC will have the revenge factor on their side, though, since OleMiss routed the Dawgs in their last meeting, 16-0, 12-7.

"We had a terrible outing against them two years ago, and hope to turn that around," Saluki head coach Sam Riggleman said.

"We realize they are a quality club, and it will take a good effort to defeat Ole Miss in this season," Saluki pitcher Mike Blang is the team's most promising pitcher after being elected to the Missouri Valley Conference preseason All-Conference team.

Blang also made an exclusive list of 25 players in Collegiate Baseball Magazine, as the team's most likely college players to be drafted into the major leagues this year.

Chint Smothers will move to the outfield with junior Greg Holsinger taking over Pete Schlesser and Dave Taylor, while the pitcher will be anchored by first baseman Paul Ridgway.

Ole Miss' offense is a hard line defense at either third base or shortstop, and isoporcelain Tim Kirkman will be a mainstay behind the plate.

Baseball, page 18