SIU Veterans Plan Memorial Trip

By Bob Allen

Four SIU students who are former servicemen will observe Memorial Day by laying their own wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery.

The four, members of the Veterans Association Incorporated of SIU, plan to leave at 2 p.m. today from the University Center and will return to campus Wednesday.

Before the ceremony on Tuesday they will visit various national shrines and the graves of friends who died in Vietnam. One of the students, Richard A. Azzaro, a sophomore from Yonkers, N.Y., who is majoring in philosophy is a former member of the honor guard assigned to the Tomb. He will guide the group on a special tour through the honor guard quarters which is not normally open to the public.

They will also be present at the presidential wreath-laying ceremony.

The four veterans making the trip are, Guy Blazier, a sophomore from Chicago;

Ralph E. Kastel, a sophomore from Chicago who is majoring in engineering technology; Jerry Eubanks, DuQuoin, who is majoring in industrial technology, and Azzaro.

The national shrines they visit include Iwo Jima Memorial, Civil War battlegrounds, and Ford Theater. They will also pay their respects to the graves of former Presidents Herbert Hoover and John F. Kennedy.

Senate Hears Yates Declare Irregularities

Closing of polling before the announced time, lack of ballots, an unqualified candidate on the ballots, omission of a qualified candidate from the ballots and partisan counters of the ballots — all this was cited to the Campus Senate by Jeff Yates, campus elections commissioner, as grounds for invalidating many of the results of last week's campus wide student body elections.

Senate consideration of the matter was postponed Wednesday when the session adjourned at 11:30 p.m. Ann Bosworth, Senate chairman, called a special session of the Senate for 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Yates said the commission found discrepancies in the presidential, vice presidential and commuter and west side dorm senatorial returns. He recommended a new election for these offices to correct these discrepancies.

He declared valid the returns from all other ballots.

Winners were:
West side non-dorm: Bard Grosse and Beverly Schrader, one year terms.

East side dorm: Kathy O'Malley, Pat Weberpal, Ronald Raschke, one year terms; Dan Wachtel, half year term.

East side non-dorm: John Foote and Gary Krischer, one year terms. Small Group Housing: Elsa Durham, one-year terms, University Park:

BROADCASTER—Alan Wood, 14 (right), wants to start a new commercial radio station in Carbondale. He hopes to have the station under way this summer, while he's on vacation from University School. Meanwhile, he's been operating a noon-hour disc-jockey show in Furr Auditorium. Dan Christensen handles the microphone.

Wants Backing from RCA

14-Year-Old Boy Needs Adult Assistance In Establishing Commercial Radio Station

By John Epperheimer

Fourteen year old Alan Wood needs help.

He wants to establish an AM commercial radio station in Carbondale. But he figures he needs a little administrative assistance. And then there is the matter of money, and equipment, and a studio and a staff...

Alan has a plan, though. He will ask the Radio Corporation of America (RCA) for the equipment and financial backing, in return for publicity and "plugs" on the station. Naturally, he plans to call the station WRCA.

But first he needs the help of an older person, to provide advice and sponsor him. After he gets that and (he hopes) the money from RCA, he will apply to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) for a license for a 250-watt AM station. Later he wants to get a license for the station to broadcast FM also.

Sound a little far out? Alan doesn't think so. He says teenagers and college students in Carbondale are dissatisfied with the radio stations in the area.

The "sound" Alan wants to play is rock, of course. But he wants to add something. "I want to specialize in bringing the new sounds to southern Illinois faster," he said. He added that many teenagers think area stations have "too much talk and not enough music."

As for commercials, Alan is sure there will be no trouble. He plans to emphasize the advertising of products, not stores. "Things like motorbikes and cool clothes," he explained.

Alan, who operates a non-time record-playing session in Furr Auditorium in University School, would like to get things set up this summer, while he is on vacation from school. Then a staff can be hired to run the station.

"The big thing we need is adult help," Alan said.

And how do Alan's parents feel about his plans? "Well, mother has some doubts... but I think I can do it."

Watch your mail, RCA.

Train Departure Time Postponed 25 Minutes

Departure time for the 11:50 a.m. "Campus" train No. 28 will be postponed 25 minutes today only, according to an Illinois Central official.

In anticipation of heavy student traffic, No. 28 will leave Carbondale at 12:15 p.m. today only and will arrive in Chicago at approximately 6:15 p.m.

Disputed Elections Declared Valid

Raymond Lenzi and Richard Karr were recognized by the Campus Senate Thursday night as president and vice-president-elect of the Carbondale student body.

Senate recognition came despite the Election Commissioner's refusal to declare winners for the positions in last week's campus election.

Election procedure calls for the commissioner's declaration of all winners before Senate recognition.

After hearing Lenzi-Karr opponents, Hedayat Aminarsala and Paul Wheeler, officially withdraw from contention, the Senate voted to accept the report of Jeff Yates, campus election commissioner.

The report was then submitted before the legislative body in the form of a motion and was amended to recognize the victors in all of the contested elections.

Carolyn Rohde, Dale Boatright and Marvin Edwards were declared duly elected west side dorm senators with the passage of the amendment. Robert Aikman, Bill Potter and Tony Maurino were named commuter senator-elects.

The Senate also passed legislation creating two committees which will be responsible for the revision of the student government codified election procedures.

The first, a five-man committee, will be responsible for the complete examination of current election protests.

The second committee, an eight-man group, will receive the results of the first committee's report and proceed with revisions of the procedures.

Gus says the professors are not doing a lot for him but he thinks he may make the roll of honor with the draft board.

To Reopen Saturday

Weed Killing Closes Down Lake

Three hundred twenty gallons of aquathol, an aquatic weed killer, have been dumped into Lake-on-the-Campus, according to Kenneth E. Varcoe, assistant coordinator of student activities. The treatment resulted in temporary closing of the lake.

The liquid solution is mixed by an outdoor motor and disposed from a machine directly into the water. Two boats were used in the job, which took seven hours. It was financed by the University and administered by the Student Activities Office.

William H. Lewis, director of Fisheries Research Laboratory, explained that application is preventative and takes place about this time every year.

"The weeds need to be young and tender for application. They have not developed enough to become resistant to the herbicide. Mature weeds have already produced a seed crop," he said.

The weed absorbs the solution, dies and decomposes, according to Lewis, without interfering with marine life.

Lewis said recreational facilities were hampered by the weeds. Rooted plants and pond weeds comprised most of the growth problem.

Lake-on-the-Campus will reopen Saturday. No one should use the facilities until that time, Lewis warned.

'DIDN'T WE GET CAUGHT CROSSING

Stayskal, Chicago's American

Strait of Tiran Israel's Throat

A focal point of the Egyptian-Israeli crisis is a small chunk of geography that few Americans could readily find on a map. It is the Strait of Tiran, a 1,300-foot-wide neck of water dividing the Red Sea from the Gulf of Aqaba — Israel's only outlet for shipping to Asia and East Asia. The neck is a very convenient size for choking, and Egypt's President Nasser is evidently proposing to do just that.

In doing so he is threatening far more than Israel. The move is a direct challenge to the United Nations and every individual nation whose ships use the gulf.

Now Secretary - General Thant, in his haste to pull out the UNEF at Nasser's bidding, has scrapped a formula that worked for 10 years and has left Nasser an effective control over gulf shipping. Much of the world, it appears, could be dragged into the Egypt-Israel confrontation thru the tiny Strait of Tiran. —Chicago's American

United Nations Holds Hope for Peace

The conflict in the Near East is sending ripples of danger that are even lapping the shores of the United States. What began as an Israeli-Syrian quarrel has now involved Egypt, all the Arab countries and the United Nations.

Israel is suddenly and dangerously on the defensive with an aggressive enemy in Syria and a strong, militant one in Egypt. The United States, along with Britain and France, is bound by a declaration made in 1950 that they would all "immediately take action both within and outside the United Nations" to prevent violations of Israel's frontiers. The Soviet Union has been helping Syria with arms and with support in the Security Council,

Oberlin Students Act Impulsively

Oberlin College students who oppose the Vietnam war plan to protest the presence of Navy recruiters on the campus — unless the college changes its policy by then to permit recruiting only if the military would be free to debate the war.

First, it is commendable that the students have taken a responsible attitude toward the manner in which the protest will be made. The February fiasco involving impulsive, coercive picketing of Air Force recruiters in the snack bar was a black mark on the student body's record of orderly dissent. The formation of a committee for the Navy's "invasion" gives promise that the purposes of protest and the alternatives to military service will be clearly presented.

Second, it is senseless to insist that military recruiters be made to debate the war, in the same way that it would be senseless to suggest that recruiters for industry be required to debate big business economic philosophies, methods or morality. —Oberlin (Ohio) News Tribune

Postmaster O'Brien's Ideas Best Since Days of Franklin

If Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien keeps on saying intelligent things, he will become known as the wisest postmaster general since Benjamin Franklin. This may not be saying a great deal, considering the caliber of the average postmaster general, but it is nevertheless intended as a compliment.

Not long ago Mr. O'Brien proposed that his job be abolished and that the post office be set up as an independent government corporation so that it could be run on a businesslike basis, free from political interference. Until something like this is done, the department is condemned to remain a vast bog of inefficiency and postal rates will have to keep rising to finance a deteriorating quality of service.

While pleading with a House subcommittee the other day for higher postal rates, Mr. O'Brien distinguished himself again. He warned that without a general increase in rates the department would incur a deficit of 2.5 billion dollars, and added:

"In the last analysis postal services are paid by the people, either directly thru the purchase of our services or indirectly thru taxation. For the nation as a whole, there is and can be no postal deficit.

We commend Mr. O'Brien's remarks to the attention of his many colleagues who persist in the belief that the government can spend money that it doesn't have and thereby make the country richer. What Mr. O'Brien says of the post office goes equally well for every area of government spending. If we as citizens don't finance it directly, thru taxes or other cash outlays, we will pay for inflammable situation was made more perilous last week when Cairo insisted on the immediate withdrawal of the

it indirectly thru inflation. As more and more dollars are pumped into the economy without a corresponding increase in the volume of production, each dollar in our pay checks and our bank accounts will buy progressively less.

If the rest of the administration hierarchy does not listen to what Mr. O'Brien says, perhaps he should start a correspondence course in public finance. This might make the bureaucracy wiser, the post office richer and the country safer. —Chicago Tribune

United Nations Emergency Force from the Sinai peninsula. Secretary General Thant felt that he had to comply, and he did so with abruptness and speed.

The best hope, in fact, lies in a continuing role by the United Nations. If the Emergency Force must disband, some similar outfit might be reconstituted. The Security Council would have to expect the usual Russian veto in favor of the Arabs and against Israel, but there is no guarantee that this will happen, and in any circumstances a Council would have to be called if there were hostilities.

The situation is "certainly more menacing than at any time" since the Suez crisis of 1956, as Mr. Thant said. Ambassador Goldberg referred in a statement to "the extreme gravity of the current situation." United States policy, he said, is to back the Secretary General's initiative in going to Cairo.

The Russians may take some satisfaction in contemplating the Middle East in a ferment, but they would hardly want to see a war in which the Soviet Union could not be a mere bystander. Israel is militarily very strong. The Arab nations talk unity, but even in a crisis they remain divided.

The danger is the typical one of incidents or provocations acting like sparks to start a blaze. A little war in the Middle East could quickly involve all the major powers in the world. A series of small clashes has already brought about the present exercise in brinkmanship. The time has come for every country involved to stop at the edge and listen to Secretary General Thant. He will be a fair, impartial and sensible peacemaker. —New York Times

Letters to the Editor

Arabs Right

To the Editor,

I want here to answer "Some Justice" by Stewart Metzger and clear some Bitter Facts.

Palestine was a strip of land 2500 years ago; it was an Arab land culturally and geographically. The Hebrews came and took it away by their savage manners. After a while the Arabs fought for it and took it back. This is the old story.

Who could claim a land he thinks is theirs after 2500 years? The Zionists did. Their manner of taking the country from the Arabs was savage and cruel and will not be forgotten by an Arab.

In the meeting between President Roosevelt and King Abdul Aziz on the U.S. SS "Murphy" at Suez in February, 1945, and after discussion of many hours, President Roosevelt was convinced by the King. The meeting was ended with assurances made by the American President that he would never do anything which might prove hostile to the Arabs and that the U.S. Government would make no change in its basic policy in Palestine without full and prior consultation with both Jews and Arabs.

President Roosevelt later said about the conference that he had learned in a few hours about the Arabs what he could not learn in years. It is important to emphasize, that Colonel Eddy further says in his booklet: "To the King, these oral assurances were equal to an alliance, he did not foresee that death was waiting in the wings to bear the speaker away before the promises could be redeemed."

Pathetically, however, his successor, President Truman, broke all these promises by saying to four of his Middle East ambassadors who urged him to uphold them: "I am sorry, gentlemen, but I have to answer to hundreds of thousands who are anxious for the success of Zionism. I do not have hundreds of thousands of Arabs among my constituents."

Israel was created by miscalculations of Truman but still the American Presidency follows the same policy. Who has to be blamed for a war in the Middle East—the Arabs or the Zionists and their creators?

We as Arabs believe in dignity, we are straight in our thinking and we always sacrificed our blood for the sake of freedom, human values and standards. We don't have meanness at all.

As Arabs and as people we ask the American people to be against any intention from anybody to interfere in the Middle East crisis.

Latins Won't Sacrifice for Great Society

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones
(General Features Corp.)

President Johnson returned from the Punta del Este summit conference with 18 Latin American chiefs of state without giving away another U.S. shirt. Indeed, he extracted general promises of sweeping reforms that, if ever acted on, would help relieve the chronic social and economic stagnation of the Latins.

Only President Otto Arosemena of Ecuador blew a sour note. He was not so hot for reform. He just wanted a lot more dough from the U.S. taxpayers. His colleagues shushed him, but he was perhaps the most honest man in the hall.

Having voted for the resolutions promising an eventual common market, land reform, intensified education and improved public health the Latin American countries will, in general, return to their old habits that make it impossible for national wealth to keep pace with rising population.

The chronic crises will continue, and eventually there will be another conference.

For, to be blunt about it, most influential Latins haven't the foggiest desire to submit to those disciplines, make those sacrifices, and meet that degree of competition which is necessary to produce a "great society."

Instead, they will hang onto their great haciendas, cling stubbornly to their 300 per cent mark-ups, shirk their taxes, tolerate public graft and inefficiency, and, when the peasants murmur loudly enough, bote those lavish social security payments which are guaranteed to wreck the national economy.

Always there will remain the wistful hope that some rich outside power, namely Uncle Sam, will become sufficiently concerned about the threat of Communist revolution in Latin America to rescue Latin Americans from their own follies.

Most of the rich south of the Rio Grande couldn't care less about the poor. And the poor form a vast, unstable quagmire beneath the structure of the state, ever so often giving off seismic quakes of emotion and despair. This frightens the power group and causes it to turn again and again to military dictatorship.

It would be a mistake, however, to conclude that the general supremacy of the reactionary Right is the trouble with Latin America. For the Left is just as hapless. The mess which Juan Peron, leader of "los descamisados" or "the shirtless ones," made of Argentina is a classic example. In Uruguay everyone, by law, may retire on full salary at the age of 50. The economy, naturally, is in shambles and the waits for American gifts are endless. Castro's Communist paradise in Cuba has a long waiting list trying to get out and no one trying to get in.

The plain fact is that as long as ancient habits of mind prevail among the Latins no system of government will work well. Latins look with envy upon more successful economies. But they remain resistant to that degree of intelligent organization necessary before popular governments can be stable and economic success can be achieved.

There are bright spots. Mexico has gradually developed a large and stable middle class. Venezuela has demanded that much of its natural wealth be reserved for the uplifting of its citizens—if it isn't siphoned off in official cumshaw.

There are dark spots that are not the fault of government. Costa Rica and El Salvador have runaway birthrates. Peru is mostly desert and crags. More than half the population of Bolivia, consists of Stone-age Indians. Colombia is cursed by a single crop.

But there is no earthy excuse for the utter snafu of the marvelous treasure houses of Argentina and Brazil except sloth, dishonesty and general human cussedness.

Dr. Lyndon Johnson and his State Department consultants did give out some advice at Punta del Este. A common market would help. More education might cut the birthrates. Little-used hacienda land could stand distribution.

But Doctor Johnson, sadly enough, has absorbed some of the Latin American virus. He cannot bring himself to balance his own budget at a time of boasted prosperity. He is embarked on a fabulously expensive social welfare program that doggedly pretends there is no war going on. He is trying to turn Social Security away from the concept of insurance paid by citizens and employers and into some new form of government relief. In short, he is on the road Uruguay took.

We could have sent better teachers to Punta del Este. For Latins must learn that dishonesty in government eventually brings ruin to all, and that a democracy cannot live without a high degree of integrity among the people.

Until then, President Arosemena of Ecuador is right. The only real hope is that Uncle Sam will throw more money at them.

Is the Presidency Too Powerful?

By Robert M. Hutchins

Executive power is highly concentrated in foreign affairs—and in the most dangerous way. The President has literally the power of life and death. In spite of the constitutional provision that Congress shall declare war, the United States is presently engaged in a distant, expensive and bloody war that Congress has not declared.

We know that economic and social developments at home also have tended to concentrate executive power. But this tendency could be moderated if Congress were elected in such a way as to make it more representative of the whole people. A legislative branch based on states and districts cannot hope to cope with a President who is nationally elected. The President may legitimately claim that he and he alone is required to serve the interests of the country as a whole and that only he can discern them.

Changing the electoral base of Congress would have little effect on the concentration of executive power resulting from the President's role in international affairs. Congressmen and senators elected by the nation would not be able to control the President on foreign policy much better than they can today.

Celebrated British historian Arnold Toynbee suggested at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions that it was too bad that the United States came into existence through a war. Though he sympathized with the Revolution, he thought it established, as wars usually do, exaggerated standards of loyalty from which this country has suffered ever since. He had difficulty in understanding why we did not take loyalty for granted. For example, why do we insist that every child shall pronounce the pledge of allegiance to the Flag every school day?

Excessive self-consciousness about loyalty leads to excessive timidity about dissent on the part of individuals and excessive concern about it on the part of the public. In France and England dissent, like loyalty, is taken for granted.

In this country the characteristic American self-consciousness about loyalty and dissent appears whenever governmental officers talk about the widespread criticism of the war in Vietnam.

They always begin by proclaiming the right of free speech—that is, the right to dissent. They always end by broadly hinting that in this case the dissenters are disloyal. The only clear exception to this rule is Ambassador to the United Nations Arthur Goldberg who has rejected the insinuations of Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk has done everything he could to create the impression that anybody who regards the slaughter in Vietnam as unwise or undesirable is in league with the world Communist apparatus.

Those who want a military victory in Vietnam appear to be carrying the day. How can the minority be effective? The concentration of executive power in foreign affairs includes the general control of the mass media. Once started on a foreign adventure the executive can expect the appeal to loyalty and the condemnation of dissent to be carried far and wide day after day over the airways and through the press. The dissenters are first ignored and then misrepresented.

Toynbee seemed to be on solid ground when he suggested that the citizen's highest loyalty was to his own conscience. It was his duty to try to persuade the majority of the error of its ways.

If he could not do this, the only course open to him would be civil disobedience.

Toynbee recommended the nonviolent kind. For him Gandhi is the model to be followed by those who would check the abuses of executive power.

Sailor Asks Help for Orphanage

By Arthur Hoppe
(San Francisco Chronicle)

For more than a year, I've been corresponding with a young naval officer stationed in Vietnam. His name is Lieutenant (j.g.) Karl J. Phaler, now serving on a patrol boat in the Mekong Delta.

Lt. Phaler is, I have come to think, an intelligent, sensitive, extremely valuable human being. Most of his letters have been wryly bitter, larded with that calloused cynicism defensively erected by those deeply appalled by the human condition.

Yet war changes men in strange ways.

Herewith are excerpts from Lt. Phaler's last two letters.

"There was a lot of freedom spread around here last week. On Good Friday morning a sampan came out of one of the canals in a VC-controlled district and its cargo was human. Seven wounded women and children and one dead man. An American air strike, right on target. Some VC in the village had shot at a spotter plane, and so the jets came, and the canals ran red. But it was a VC village.

"A nine-year-old girl was lying in the bottom of the sampan with her leg shattered and her father dead next to her. She was just lying there with her leg in pieces in the early morning and she was smiling. Just smiling.

"The doctors told me later that she smiled all through the operation. But now that she's found we can't put the leg back on that we took off, she isn't smiling any more. But then, it was a VC village.

"There are many organizations around here in the orphan-creating business, but I can't find very many in the orphan-caring business. Matter of fact, there is only one old nun, and she had been trying for a couple of years to raise the three million piastres necessary to build an orphanage (the first) in Kian Giang Province. She's still about a million piastres ($8500) short. So Commander Joe O'Malley, the head of the Navy Surgical Team here, and I are going to try to raise the rest.

"We haven't bothered to channel this through USAID, JUSPAO, OCO, USOM, MACV, CRS, JGS or the State Dept., mainly because we want to get something done this year. So we're just writing to private persons and organizations in America, asking if anyone's interested. And if they aren't . . .

"When I was visiting the one-legged girl last week, one of the nurses told me not to be so upset, because I wasn't responsible. But you know, I am responsible. Someone has got to be."

(From the second letter, a month later): "The initial response was close to $1000. I think I'm glad to be part of the human race after all. My sometimes shaky pride in being an American is much restored. There is hope.

"For the first time I think the project will make it. Only one thing—there's nothing special in what I'm doing. I'm here and it's impossible not to get involved. But, as Bertrand Russell has pointed out, the virtue that is going to keep us all alive is empathy, the caring about others who are in trouble even when they are far away.

"That is the only just conflict, the struggle against needless suffering and death. The valourous are those anywhere who are truly concerned. I am shaken by the numbers I have suddenly met. People really are the best thing going, aren't they? Shout it out."

Lt. Phaler's address is "Coastal Group 24, Advisory Team 28, APO 96316, San Francisco." Checks should be made out to him or Commander O'Malley, but may be marked "For Project Rach Gia." The Lieutenant says this could make them tax deductible. But he's damned if he knows. He's never done anything like this before.

Election Irregularities Cited

Thomas Britton, one-year term. Thompson Point: Jerry Finney, one-year term.

Yates said a recount of the ballots involved in the presidential election revealed a total count of 3,265 ballots, 245 fewer than the total recorded after the first count, the night of the election.

The commuter senatorial election was invalidated, Yates said, because the name of Dan Laurino was left off the ballot.

An eligible candidate was listed on the west side dorm senatorial ballot, invalidating that election, Yates said.

Sam Baker, University Park senator, called for a thorough investigation of the evidence presented by the commission. He asked particularly that those who had filed formal protests of the elections be present at the Thursday meeting.

"This is an all or none proposition. Either we invalidate all the seats or none. Why single out one and say, 'OK, you Charlie, you run again,'" Baker replied to Yates' plea for a partial invalidation of the elections. "I would support the rerunning of the entire election myself but I would recommend that we only run those areas which are being contested. It is my belief that these are the only ones which are going to create any significant discrepancies," Yates said.

Yates cited a number of protests lodged by students.

Asked by members of the Senate to name the individuals lodging the protests, Yates named several students including Chick Svjhlik.

Raymond Rainbow To Lecture About "The Last Class"

Raymond Rainbow, assistant professor of English, will lecture on "The Last Class," at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Studio Theatre of the University School.

Rainbow was chosen along with George Adams, professor of history, by SIU seniors to present his views in this "Last Lecture Series," sponsored by the Activities Programming Board.

The idea behind the last lecture series is that the speaker will be giving his views as though this lecture was his last opportunity to express his concerns about society or his own field.

Rainbow received his B.A. degree from Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa. and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago.

Dependents Pulled Out Of Mideast

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The United States is pulling wives and children of U.S. officials out of Egypt and Israel because of a dangerous situation that could rapidly develop into an Arab-Israeli war.

The U.S. announcement affecting more than 500 dependents, came Thursday, a few hours after U.N. Secretary-General U Thant cut short by 24 hours a peace mission to Cairo and flew back to New York to report to the U.N. Security Council on the Middle East crisis.

There were these other developments:

—President Johnson made a surprise trip to Canada—a key nation in the effort to prevent a Middle East War—to confer with Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and visit Expo 67, the world's fair.

—Arabs and Israelis reported border incidents. Cairo radio said a unit of the Palestine Liberation Army in the Gaza Strip clashed with an Israeli patrol Wednesday night and forced it back into Israel. There was no confirmation from Israel.

An Israeli army spokesman in Tel Aviv said two explosive charges were detonated Thursday in central Israel near the Jordanian border but there was no damage. One charge went off under a bridge. The incident was reported to the Jordan-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission, an Israeli spokesman said.

—Algeria offered to send troops to bolster Egyptian troops facing the Israeli border, and Syria announced it is distributing arms and ammunition to its 250,000-man Popular Army, a civilian home guard force, to back its regular forces in the event of war.

—India voiced support of what it called Egypt's right to block Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba leading to the Israeli port of Elath. This is Israel's only direct route to ports in East Africa, Asia and Iran.

EGYPTIAN PRESIDENT GAMAL ABDEL NASSER has threatened to bar Israeli shipping from the Gulf of Aqaba and Israel promised to fight if the waterway between its port at Eilat and the Red Sea is blocked. Map shows relationship between the Gulf and the Gaza Strip, where troops are massed on both sides of the Israel-Egypt border. (AP map)

Grinnell's Yearbook Editors Produce Marijuana-Sex Study

GRINNELL, Iowa (AP)—Student editors of the 1966 Grinnell College Year Book decided to produce something different. They did.

What emerged after months of effort was a photo-essay of undergraduate life featuring marijuana and sex.

There was no class picture. Also missing were the conventional shots of the year's athletic heroes.

Coeditors Henry Wilhelm and John Phillips spent so much time on the year book they both flunked out of Grinnell. Among other things, they took more than 15,000 pictures.

The printers took a quick look at the manuscript, shuddered and mailed it right back to Grinnell. They told the college they would publish only if they received a hard and fast release from any legal responsibility.

Grinnell's attorney, John F. Bierman, read the layout and was appalled. He said he counted at least 30 instances of libel. And that's all he'd say on that subject.

Glen Leggett, president of the college, returned the material to Wilhelm. The co-editor locked it in a safe deposit box until he could decide what to do next.

Last Friday the staff of the Grinnell student newspaper resigned in protest against what it described as "censorship."

Casualties In Vietnam Highest Yet

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. casualties soared to a new high for the Vietnam war last week. The U.S. Command announced Thursday that 337 Americans were killed in combat and 2,282 were wounded.

Thirty-one Americans were reported missing in action. The jump in casualty figures sent the total of American combat dead in the war to 10,253 by unofficial count, and the number of wounded to 61,425.

Heavy fighting along the demilitarized zone, where U.S. Marines repeatedly took heavy casualties, accounted for the sharp rise in the number of killed and wounded.

The previous record of Americans killed in one week was 274—during the weeks that ended March 25 and May 6.

The toll of killed and wounded last week was 2,629, making it the bloodiest week for U.S. forces in more than two years of accelerating combat.

The U.S. Command said 2,464 of the enemy were killed last week, while the combined total of dead on the allied side was 628. South Vietnamese government losses for the week were 241 men killed, and other allied forces reported 50 men dead.

This count of men killed in combat for other allied foreign forces also was a record, but there was no breakdown by country.

The South Vietnamese dead last week, 241, were slightly less than the 257 reported the previous week. The Vietnamese said they had 18 men missing last week. They do not report the number of their wounded.

The number of U.S. military personnel in South Vietnam reached 453,000 last week, the U.S. Command announced, an increase of 4,000 over the week before.

The strength of other foreign allied forces remained the same at 54,000. The estimate of enemy forces also was the same for the past two weeks—292,000.

Comedian's Father Starts Son's Career

By Tom McAlevey

His father's career in accounting strangely enough gave Norman F. Meyer, a 22-year-old St. Louis senior majoring in marketing his start as a comic.

Meyer, master of ceremonies at this year's Theta Xi Variety Show, was able to meet such professional comedians as Henny Youngman, Joey Bishop, Jimmy Durante and Milton Berle through his father's accounting firm which did booking for night clubs in the St. Louis area.

While still in high school, he collected comedy records "in an attempt to take the approaches of noted comics and incorporate them into a single style and manner that would give me a distinctive delivery, and at the same time not sound repetitive and overworked."

Probably the greatest boost to his career came when his father introduced him to a local St. Louis comic, Davy Bold. In the next two or three years, the two became good friends, and Meyer was able to study Bold's style and delivery. More important, "I could see first-hand some of the traps that a comic gets himself into, and learned how to deal graciously with the ever present 'self-appointed' audience comedians that seem to be in every night club."

Until he came to Southern, Meyer's experience was limited to private parties and in groups of friends. In the summer of 1965, his first real break came when he auditioned for a job alternating with a female vocalist at Pom-Pom Joe's a night spot on Gas Light Square in St. Louis. Ironically enough, he just happened to drop in this spot with a friend and was informed of the opening for a comedian by the owner who was an acquaintance of his father. The job was on a "get up on the stage and work" basis with no preparation.

Looking back on the incident today, Meyer says, "I don't know how I ever did it. I came in the place with no preparation or thought of going on, and 10 minutes later I was on the stage with a somewhat hostile crowd looking on."

Well, on that night, luck, plus an inherent ability to speak well, were on his side and Meyer got the job. This led to work at other spots on Gas Light Square including the Silver Dollar, Vanity Fair and Jacks-Or-Better.

Now Meyer is primarily a student. As for future plans as a comic he says, "If I really wanted to pursue a show business career, I wouldn't be here. It's something that you really don't need a college education to do, that's all. When things come up like the Variety show I like to try to get the job. All of it has been good experience, if in no other way than I feel that I have gained confidence in speaking to people."

Paul Schoen, a senior from Carbondale, has been awarded the annual Alpha Kappa Psi Scholarship.

The award is given to a male senior in the School of Business who has the highest academic average for his last three years.

Schoen an accounting major who will graduate in June, has a 4.8 overall average. He plans to attend law school at the University of Illinois after graduation.

Auditions Open to Campus Talent

Tryouts for a major television production company will be held on campus Monday by a member of a famous entertainment family.

The auditions, for Screen Gems, will be conducted by Eddie Foy III, in Morris Library Auditorium.

"We have talent on this campus and there should be a chance for a professional outlet," says Paul Hibbs, coordinator of special programs at SIU.

Editors to Hear

C. Horton Talley

C. Horton Talley, dean of the School of Communications, will be the guest speaker June 1 at the national meeting of the American Society of Business Press Editors in New York City.

Talley will discuss "The New Journalist: 1970 Communicator".

Talley's speech will be on a subject that has presented many problems to today's businessmen, that of finding the type of people they need to fill their positions.

Talley will attempt to pinpoint the cause for these attitudes such as these:

College graduates today are not like the college graduates of the past; today's graduates have different attitudes toward business; many are not really interested in business at all.

Tornadoes Unpredictable

Weathermen cannot predict exactly when a tornado will burst from the clouds. However, a certain combination of conditions appears indispensable for a tornado's formation; moist, warm air at low levels and cool, dry air at higher levels; a southerly wind at the surface and a strong wind blowing over it from a different direction.

The auditions, which are open to anyone in the area between the ages of 18 and 30 will consist of a three-minute scene of light comedy or medium drama. The players should be mixed couples and the scene should be of their own choosing. Excerpts from contemporary comedy productions, television, motion pictures and short stories are preferred.

Foy will arrive late Sunday night at the Marion Airport and will leave early Tuesday afternoon, Hibbs said.

There will be a general meeting of auditioners at 9:30 a.m. Monday and auditions will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Another general meeting will be held at 2:45 for those who could not attend the earlier meeting, Hibbs added.

Auditions will resume at 3 p.m. and continue to 7 p.m. if necessary. If the auditions are not completed, tryouts will again be held Tuesday at 8:30 a.m. Auditions are open to the public for viewing.

"It would be my guess that Mr. Foy will not give the results while he is here but will communicate with those people at a later date," Hibbs added.

Persons chosen by Foy will get a small salary from Screen Gems, which is part of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and will go to Hollywood for a screen test, Hibbs said. There, they may be signed to contracts.

John F. Bell, a senior from Camden, N.J., was elected president of the fraternity.

Other officers are: Lamar Gentry, vice president; Derryl Reed, secretary; Gerald Buckner and Frank Walker, treasurers; Edward Moore and Major Hearn, stewards; Eddie Smith and Larry Gardner, house-managers; Henry Shields, historian and reporter; George Lofton, parliamentarian and Willie Wilkenson, director of public relations.

Tour of Russia, Czechoslovakia Canceled for '67

The SIU-sponsored summer study tour of Russia and Czechoslovakia has been cancelled.

Joseph R. Kuppek, languages faculty member who was to direct the six-weeks Russian language study group, said a cablegram received Thursday from Moscow explained that official delegations coming to Russia's major cities to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the revolution made it impossible to provide housing and university facilities for study groups from the western world.

Thirty-one students, 10 from Southern and 21 from other universities, had signed to attend the language courses and tour. The group was scheduled to leave June 22 and return Sept. 4. All deposits and fees will be refunded to the students, Kuppek said.

The SIU faculty member said Russian authorities originally had planned the revolution anniversary celebration for August but now the celebration would include July as well. Kuppek had scheduled his study group for July in Russia and August in Czechoslovakia, to avoid the anniversary crowds.

The Russian tour will be rescheduled for next summer, Kuppek said.

New Vending Machines Coming

Beginning next week, campus vending machines will take on a new decorative look, according to Carl Runkel, branch manager of Automatic Retailers of America (ARA).

Runkel says that the machines, new since January, will feature a "mechanical theme" with the addition of colorful Formica panels and indirect lighting. A series of "X's" and "O's" will mark the panels and add eye appeal to the machines.

Along with the color architecture, new facilities will be offered by ARA. Now there will be "Radar Ranges" or portable electric ovens to heat the sandwiches purchased from the vending machines. These ovens will be located at economy tables called "Service Bars" at the end of the machines.

ARA will now provide milk shakes along with their soft drink selection. These will be in 10-ounce cans; the "shakes" will be offered in the flavors of chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry.

Different color panels will be added at different locations on campus.

Reds Against Whites

Annual Spring Football Game This Saturday

By Tom Wood

The Salukis will put the finishing touches on spring football drills at 1 p.m. Saturday in McAndrew Stadium with the annual spring game.

Actual game conditions will prevail for the contest, with Missouri Valley referees handling the officiating chores. The game will pit the first team offense and defense, the Reds, against the remainder of the squad, the Whites.

Although the sides look a little unbalanced, Coach Dick Towers expects a tight game. The two squads played to a scoreless deadlock last spring.

The action will be free of charge to anyone wishing a look at the 1967 Saluki squad. Injuries have necessitated a great deal of lineup juggling by the coaching staff this spring, but the Reds will be a predominantly veteran outfit.

Junior college transfer Barry Stein will start at quarterback, getting the starting call over Tim Kelley, Charlie Pemberton and Doug Hollinger will open at halfback and Hill

Williams at fullback. Towers expects Kelley and halfback Roger Kuba to see a great deal of action.

Kuba was sidelined for two weeks with a bruised hip. Tom Wirth will back Williams at fullback.

John Ference and Terry Cotham will get the call at end. The interior line will be made up of Isaac Brigham and Bob Hudspeth at tackle, Ralph Galloway and Ron Morse at guard and Jim Malone at center.

Towers said Hollinger has been extremely impressive thus far. He was the junior college back of the year last season and can play halfback, end and flanker in addition to handling punt and kickoff returns and punting chores.

Brigham has been moved from guard to tackle, to fill the spot vacated when Jim Johnson was dismissed from the squad for disciplinary reasons. Morse was moved in at guard and Malone took over center duties.

Greg Johnson and Chip Marlow will flank the Red defensive line. Another end, Bill

Hohn, is sidelined with a broken jaw. Ken Doyan and Gary Wilber will start at tackle, Dale Dickhut and Bill Patrick at guard and Carl Mauck and Bob Roberts will back up the line.

The secondary includes Larry Cox, Ed Walner and Ed Edelman. Towers said the concentration has been on speed and quickness in deciding upon this trio. Charles Goro is the top replacement at halfback.

The defensive line averages about 215 pounds. Doyan weighs 260 and Wilber 240. They are 6-4 and 6-5 respectively.

Despite the rash of injuries, Towers feels the spring has been successful. "I feel we're well ahead of last year. We have trained people in the positions they'll play next fall," Towers said.

"I expect this spring game to be a real successful one and it would be a tremendous lift to the team if they could play before a good crowd," Towers said.

The game will be preceded by a coaching clinic in the morning. The intramural track meet will follow the game.

Frazier Receives Trophies Wednesday Night at Banquet

Walt Frazier walked away from the Athletic Department's All-Sports Banquet Wednesday night with three more trophies to add to his rapidly-growing collection.

Frazier was voted the basketball team's most valuable player and, by vote of all athletes in the 10 SIU intercollegiate sports, was elected the most valuable athlete at Southern, receiving the Hinkley Trophy for this selection.

Frazier also received a plaque recognizing him as a member of the Associated Press' Little All-America first team.

The 6-3 guard was the National Invitation Tournament's Most Valuable Player and is a two time Little All-American.

But Frazier wasn't the only person recognized for his ability and contributions.

Each athletic team awarded a most valuable trophy. The players voted on the recipient.

The awards went to: Rich Hacker, baseball, Gerry Pierson, swimming, Joe Domko, wrestling, Rick Tucker, gymnastics, Gary Robinson, golf, Al Pena, tennis, Ross MacKenzie, track, Oscar Moore, cross country, Charles Pemberton, football back, and Larry Wolfe, football lineman.

Basketball coach Jack Hartman received the Associated Press Small College Team of the Year award. He received a similar award from the United Press courier.

The Harry Bobbitt Award, for spirit and dedication went to football linebacker Bobby Roberts.

Centralia coach Jimmy Evers received the William McAndrew award for his contribution to the youth of southern Illinois.

KFVS-TV presented an award to basketball player Butch Butchko as the outstanding freshman athlete.

Paul Mayer received the Frank Schmitz award for his performance in the NCAA Gymnastics Championships.

Don't laugh at Charles Van der Hoff's big ears. He can hear a party a mile away, thanks to Sprite.

VAN DER HOFF WITH SPRITE

Social-life majors, take a look at Charles Van der Hoff. He can't play the guitar. Never directed an underground movie. And then look at his ears! A bit much? Yes! But--Charles Van der Hoff can hear a bottle of tart, tingling Sprite being opened in the girls' dormitory from across the campus!

What does it matter, you say? Hah! Do you realize that Charles Van der Hoff has never missed a party in four years? When he hears those bottles of Sprite being uncapped--the roars--the fizzes--the bubbles--he runs! So before you can say anti-existentialism, he's getting in on that tart, tingling, slightly tickling taste of Sprite. And delicious refreshment--as well as a good time--is his.

Of course, you don't have to have ears as big as Charles Van der Hoff's to enjoy the swinging taste of Sprite. You may just have to resign yourself to a little less social life.

SPRITING OF PARTIES, THE WINNER OF OUR AD CONTEST IS: JHON W. DOSWELL FROM Florida State U.

SPRITE, SO TART AND TINGLING, WE JUST COULDN'T KEEP IT QUIET.

UCLA Basketball Star Denies Smoking Marijuana; on Bail

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA sophomore basketball star Lucius Allen said Wednesday he has never used marijuana.

The 19-year-old is free on $1,100 bail after being arrested and booked Tuesday on suspicion of possessing the narcotic. His arraignment is scheduled for Friday.

Officers said they found four hand-rolled cigarettes and about four grams of marijuana in a car registered to Allen.

Police said they noticed the car parked in front of Allen's home early Tuesday, and said the automobile had no license plates. A routine investigation of the car turned up the marijuana, officers said.

John Wooden, coach of the national champion UCLA team, said: "Allen is still on the team until we find out what the whole story is."

Allen was second high scorer to Lew Alcindor for the Bruins last season.

Allen is the second member of the UCLA basketball squad to have a run-in with police.

Prior to the start of the season forward Mike Lynn was suspended from the team following charges of illegal possession of a credit card.

He was fined $300 and placed on two years probation.

O'Sullivan's Homer Paces Salukis Past Broncos

By Bill Kindt

Baseball is still a nine inning game and don't ever forget it. To prove the point, both games in Thursdays District 4 championship opener were decided in the ninth inning.

Barry O'Sullivan smashed a bases empty homer in the top of the ninth to provide the Salukis with a 2-1 win over Western Michigan. Ohio State scored two runs in the bottom of the ninth on Steve McLaughlin's double to defeat Valparaiso 3-2.

The Salukis will play Ohio State at 1 p.m. today in the second round of competition. Western Michigan will take on Valparaiso at 10 a.m.

The Saluki-Western Michigan game started off with a pair of lefties on the mound, Skip Pitlock for SIU and John Mayer for the Broncos. Neither starter finished the game although Pitlock came very close.

The Broncos took a 1-0 lead after the third inning. Catcher Rich Brown walked, advanced to second on a wild pitch by Pitlock, went to third on an error by third baseman Gene Hanson and scored on a single by Jim Johnson.

Southern tied the game in the top of the sixth. Rich Hacker singled, went to second on Paul Pavesich's hit and scored when Don Kirkland rifled a single to center.

Bronco manager Charlie Maher decided Mayer had had enough and brought in right-hander Chuck Mestek. Mestek came in like gangbusters, retiring the first six Saluki hitters and fanning the first three.

Then came his only mistake. He fooled O'Sullivan on a change up curve on the first pitch then tried to come back with a fastball. O'Sullivan wasn't fooled the second time around and hit the ball right over the 365 foot sign in left center field.

Coach Joe Lutz wasn't taking any chances with Pitlock, who had pitched a magnificent game by allowing the Broncos only three hits, because he had Kirkland warming up while the Salukis were batting in the ninth.

Pitlock started the ninth bound and determined to finish the game and he almost did. He got Pat Locar to pop to shortstop and struck out the Broncos clean-up batter Chuck Koselke.

Pitlock then got a little anxious to end the game and walked Rich Trudeau on four pitches. Lutz came out to the mound but decided to go with Pitlock for one more batter. John Schlukibir hit a grounder to Hacker at shortstop and Saluki fans thought the game was over. But Hacker, normally a slick fielding shortstop, bobbled the ball and both runners were safe.

Lutz then decided to make his move and brought in Kirkland. Kirkland struck out Bruce Roberts.

The victory over Western Michigan was an inspired one for the Salukis. Four of Lutz's regulars, outfielder Nick Solis, first baseman Dwight Clark, catcher Randy Coker and second baseman John Mason were ineligible for the tournament which meant Lutz had to use a make-shift lineup.

Pitlock's pitching was the best he has shown since the beginning of the season. He struck-out six and walked five and was really never in trouble.

Kirkland will probably get the role as starting pitcher today against the Buckeyes who will probably send Joe Sadelfeld to oppose the Salukis.

Kirkland and Sadelfeld have met once before this season with Sadelfeld coming out on top. He pitched a one-hitter at the Salukis and beat Southern and Kirkland 3-0.
