Twenty-seven apply for senate seats

By Ken Temkin
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Twenty-seven petitions for placement on the Nov. 12 Student Senate elections ballot have been received by Student Government Elections Commissioner Lenny Swanson.

The deadline for applications was 5 p.m. Friday. The 27 applications are for positions in all six senatorial districts.

Fifteen full-time and two half-time senatorial seats are up for election this semester for terms which will begin in spring of 1976.

Swanson said the turnout of senatorial candidates has been pretty much average with the largest numbers of petitions to be placed on the ballot coming in at the last moment.

Senatorial candidates were required to obtain the signatures of 50 registered students within the district for which they plan to run.

Swanson said a majority of the petitions started to flow into his office on the last day of eligibility with more than half the petitions being handed in within the last two hours.

The senate, which currently has 25 seats, will be expanded for the spring semester to 30 seats as a result of the enrollment increase this fall.

The number of senatorial seats is determined by a computer analysis of the living patterns of students in the six senatorial districts. The computer uses a ratio of one senator to 700 students to arrive at the number of senatorial seats in any given district.

Swanson said that because of the increase in the size of the senate and the expiration of many of the senators' terms there are six open seats in the commuter district, 1½ openings for Thompson Point, one opening for University Park, three openings for the east-side community, three openings for the west-side community and 1½ openings for the Brush Towers district.

Half-term openings are for one semester only with full term seats being for one year terms.

Senatorial candidates are required to maintain a 2.0 grade point average on a 4.0 scale and are required to maintain a residency within the district they represent.

A meeting for all registered candidates will be held at 1 p.m. on Sunday in the Student Government offices to review campaign and election regulations with the candidates.

Active campaigning in the form of distribution of campaign literature, or any other form of campaign materials will not be allowed until Monday.

Two women name SIU in bias suits

Two new sex discrimination suits have been formally filed against the University, John Huffman, University legal counsel, said.

The charges are being brought in separate suits by Antoinette Appel, assistant professor in the School of Medicine, and Elsa Kula Pratt, lecturer in the Department of Design.

Antoinette Appel brought charges of sex and religious discrimination against the University. She is Jewish.

Appel's complaint also charges the University with intimidation and harassment because of her affirmative action activities. Appel served last year on the American Association of University Professors' committee on discrimination against minorities and women.

Attempts are being made to schedule a meeting between the Fair Employment Practices Commission, SIU and Appel, Huffman said. He said no offer for settlement has been made by the University at this time. "The University is always trying to find a mutual ground for resolving problems and the meeting will be an attempt to determine any mutual ground," Huffman said.

In another discrimination suit, Elsa Kula Pratt charges that she was denied the opportunity to join the retirement program until seven years after she was hired, while men are allowed to join upon hiring.

Pratt also charges that her salary is lower than that of males with lower seniority in the Design Department.

Pratt was unavailable Friday for comment on her case.

Man pleads not guilty in Hood trial

James Seitzinger, accused murderer of Mark Thomas Hood, pleaded not guilty to two counts of murder and one count of voluntary manslaughter in Jackson County Circuit Court.

Seitzinger, 308 N. 9th St., Murphysboro, is accused of slaying Mr. Hood, a former cousin of Jackson County State's Attorney Howard Hood, at the Seitzinger home on Aug. 14.

In related court action, a substitution of judges was granted after a motion by the defense attorney to replace Presiding Judge Peyton Kunce. Judge Everett Prosser will now hear the case.

The case was originally set for jury trial beginning Oct. 29, but prosecutor William Meehan, State's Attorney's Task Force, asked for a continuance to prepare his case.

The case is now set for a readiness call on Nov. 12 and trial sometime between Nov. 17 and Dec. 8.

A coroner's inquest established that Mr. Hood was killed by a single shot from a .30-30 caliber Winchester rifle while he sat at the kitchen table in Seitzinger's home. Police first called the slaying an accident, but the coroner's inquest ruled it a homicide.

The Jackson County Grand Jury returned the three-count indictment against Seitzinger on Sept. 11. He is free on $7,500 bond.

Because of his relationship to the victim, State's Attorney Hood appointed Meehan as special prosecutor.

Witnesses at the coroner's inquest testified that Seitzinger was holding the rifle and the fired shell had been levered out of the chamber and a live round inserted.

Challenge entered against free insurance ruling

By Mary E. Gardner
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A motion to set aside the ruling of a Champaign County judge, in a case which may decide whether student workers at Illinois universities are eligible for free state health insurance, has been filed by the Illinois Attorney General's Office.

The case, if it goes high enough in the court system, will determine whether students working half-time at Illinois universities will be eligible for coverage under the State Employees Group Insurance Act of 1971.

If students are eligible for the health insurance, the state could be forced to refund health program fees to students who work more than 20 hours per week for a state university.

The Assistant's Union of the University of Illinois-Urbana campus, is suing the Illinois Department of Personnel for denial of free health insurance benefits to students. Under the State Employees Group Insurance Act of 1971, any person working half-time for a university is eligible for free health insurance.

The Department of Personnel has denied the free insurance to students on the basis that their employment is contingent upon being students at the university.

Judge Creed Tucker declared the department in default for failure to appear in court as scheduled on Sept. 30. A motion to set aside that default was filed soon after, said Charles H. Evans, assistant attorney general.

"The suit is still alive and going," Evans said. "It (the default) was an oversight" on the part of the defendant, he said. He declined to elaborate, however, saying he was trying to "keep anybody from getting unfavorable publicity."

It is "up to the court," when a decision on the motion will be made, Evans said.

If the case is appealed, it will go to an appellate court, and although the decision would not be binding upon state courts outside of that appellate district, it would be "persuasive," John Huffman, SIU legal counsel, said.

Only decisions made by the Illinois Supreme Court are binding upon the entire state.

The Urbana campus of U. of I. is in the Springfield appellate district and SIUC is in the Mt. Vernon district, he said.

Evans declined to speculate on how the trial court will rule on the motion to set aside and dismiss the default.

The only SIU employees who would be affected by the case would be student workers who work at least 20 hours per week.

All permanent part time Civil Service personnel and all faculty members are now covered by the State Employees Group Insurance Act of 1971, John McCrosky, personnel office, said.

Mitchell denies knowledge of CIA opening mail

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Atty. Gen. John M. Mitchell returned to the site of the Senate Watergate hearings Friday and denied under oath he was ever told the Central Intelligence Agency or the FBI was illegally opening mail.

Mitchell, who is appealing his conviction for perjury, conspiracy, and obstruction of justice in the Watergate coverup case, said he does not recall that CIA Director Richard Helms ever told him of the mail opening operation.

He also told the Senate intelligence committee he has no reason to believe Richard M. Nixon was informed of it while president.

Mitchell's testimony appears to conflict with Helms' statement to the committee Wednesday. Helms said he left a 22-minute meeting with Mitchell on June 1, 1971, with the clear impression that Mitchell understood the CIA was opening and reading letters to and from the Soviet Union.

Helms testified he showed Mitchell information that obviously had come from an illegally opened personal letter.

Mitchell said he can't recall being shown anything of the sort but declined to say Helms had "misled" him.

"You're implying an intention on the part of Mr. Helms to mislead me that might not have been the case at all," Mitchell said.

Russia expects smallest grain harvest in six years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has bought an additional 1.2 million metric tons of American corn, the first U.S. grain purchased by Russia since sales were suspended last summer, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

Department officials also announced that Russian harvest prospects have continued to deteriorate and that 1975 Soviet grain production will be the smallest in eight years.

The new sales, confirmed earlier by three trading companies, raised total U.S. grain sales to Russia this season to 11.5 million metric tons, which contain 2,205 pounds each. Department officials have predicted that Russia may eventually buy up to 17 million tons of U.S. grain in the 1975-76 season.

According to the new estimate, Russia will produce 160 million tons of grain this year. That would be the smallest crop since 147.9 million tons were produced in 1967.

The previous USDA estimate on Oct. 9 was 170 million tons. Officials said the reduced figure does not appreciably change Russia's total grain import capacity, previously estimated at 30 million tons from all foreign sources.

The reduced Soviet harvest means the Soviets would fall 25.8 per cent below their original grain goal of 215.7 million tons this year.

Franco has third heart attack in three days

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco suffered his third heart attack in three days Friday, his physicians said. The generalissimo's deteriorating condition indicated his 36-year rule was rapidly nearing its end.

A medical bulletin said the 82-year-old Spanish head of state had survived the attack and was resting peacefully by early evening. The doctors gave no indication of Franco's chances for recovery.

Pressure increased on Premier Carlos Arias Navarro to seek an immediate transfer of power to Franco's designated heir, Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon.

The brief bulletin from the 11 physicians attending Franco said he had suffered a new "coronary insufficiency," or temporary failure of the heart. It added that "his cardio-circulatory state is stationary."

Several hours before Franco's third attack, the physicians said his condition had "improved" and signs of heart failure detected after his second attack on Thursday had diminished.

Arrest warrants issued for teachers on strike

BELLELEVILLE (AP)—Warrants were issued Friday for the arrest of more than 100 Cahokia school teachers who violated a circuit court order to end their strike.

St. Clair County sheriff's deputies were in the process of serving the warrants Friday afternoon.

The four top leaders of the Cahokia Federation of Teachers Local 1762 already were under arrest and being held without bail in the St. Clair County jail at Belleville. Placed in jail under contempt of court charges were union president Ed Geppert, Jr., and vice presidents Terry Osia, Arnold Kinsella and LeRoy Trifienbach.

The teachers named in the warrants had manned picket lines earlier in the day in violation of a temporary injunction issued Thursday by Associate Circuit Judge Richard Goldenbersh.

Chief Deputy Paul Klinecar said deputies were being sent out to make the arrests as the warrants were prepared.

Extra rail cars sought to ship Illinois grain

TUSCOLA (AP)—An official of a farm cooperative group said Friday Illinois grain elevators may soon be getting additional railroad cars to ship the tons of corn being harvested in the state.

John Rice, assistant traffic director for F.S. Services, a farm supply cooperative, said a group met this week in Washington with members of the Interstate Commerce Commission and several U.S. senators from the Midwest.

Rice said a spot check of member grain elevators in Illinois showed the elevators had five million bushels of corn stored on the ground because of a lack of railway equipment to get the crop to market. Richard said that based on the elevator price of 2.50 a bushel, the corn in Illinois was valued at $12 million to $13 million.

He said that George Stafford, chairman of the ICC, told the group from Illinois that he would check with eastern railroads to see if any cars suitable for loading grain were available. Rice said Stafford told the Illinois group that if surplus cars were located, he would order them shipped to the Midwest. Stafford also said he would check with Canadian carriers to see if any equipment could be moved to the Midwest.

Area boy's drawing shown at art center

By Celeste Hauptmann
Student Writer

Glory often goes unseen but not unheard. Such is the case for an artistic 7-year-old boy from Murphysboro whose art work is being shown too far away from him to see.

Carl Berry has been honored by the display of his drawing at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

Carl's drawing was selected from pictures submitted by students in kindergarten through high school at the Murphysboro Unit District 186 schools.

Carl, a second-grader at Washington School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Berry, 2019 Commercial St.

"His first drawings were of scary monsters," recalls Mrs. Berry. "He was frightened by his uncle when he was a year old and started drawing grotesque faces at age two. I was certainly relieved when he started drawing happier subjects."

Mrs. Berry has saved much of Carl's art work since he was two. His pictures started out with monsters, spacemen, FBI scenes and religious figures and advanced to his colorful stained-glass window designs. The latter style has been used to draw apples, people, buildings and animals.

"I don't like everything to be just one or two colors," said Carl. "It makes things more interesting if there are lots of bright colors."

Carl's family is pleased with his art work, but they don't want Carl to be pressured into drawing all the time.

"I hope Carl won't come to think that everything he does is good, because it won't be," Mrs. Berry said.

Carl's biggest project now is his backyard clubhouse, which he has expanded several times since he started it. He said he wants to waterproof and paint it with bright colors.

Trial, speech in conflict; gay noncom cancels talk

Plans for a speaking engagement of T. Sgt. Leonard Matlovich at SIU Nov. 3 have fallen through because his case challenging military regulations against homosexuals in the Air Force has been scheduled for trial on that date, Jerry Hemstock, vice president of the Gay People's Union, said Friday.

Ironically the cancellation by Matlovich came just after the Student Government finance committee had agreed to pay his travel expenses to SIU, Hemstock said.

Student Government lectures committee had already pledged $500, and Matlovich was discharged Wednesday from the Air Force because of his homosexuality, and his case is proceeding to federal court.

Matlovich notified his superior officer of his (Matlovich) homosexuality, early this year to test regulations banning homosexuals from serving in the military.

Attempts are being made to reschedule Matlovich for early December, Hemstock said.

Joel Spinner, chairman of the finance committee, and Dave Park, chairman of the lectures committee, were unavailable for comment on whether the funds from Student Government will still be available for a later speaking engagement.

City liberal for area, says mayor's wife

By Barry Meyers
Student Writer

Is being of Oriental extraction a disadvantage in a small town in Southern Illinois? "Yes and no," said Mrs. Li Eckert, the Chinese-born wife of Carbondale's mayor, Neal Eckert. "Mrs. Eckert feels that some open hostility is evident in the area culminating in a minimal loss of votes for her husband in past mayoral elections.

Mrs. Eckert, born in Hong Kong 35 years ago, does not feel that being Chinese-American is of any great disadvantage here in Carbondale, however.

She feels that the citizens of Carbondale are much more liberal than in other Southern Illinois communities because of the University.

"People have to accept me for what I am, and they either like me or don't like me," Mrs. Eckert said. "The children haven't had any problems caused by their being Eurasian," she said.

The Eckerts, married for 14 years, have three children, Kim, 13, Jon, 7, and Del, 5. Her speech becomes lively as she speaks about her family.

"As the wife of the mayor, I get to meet a lot of people," Mrs. Eckert said. "But, I don't depend on Neal for all my activities. It's hard. Neal has a meeting almost every night of the week.

"The unique situation here allows me to be myself," Mrs. Eckert said. "When Neal first became mayor, I decided that if I wanted to wear jeans on the street, I would do so. I wasn't going to let my new position change me."

While her husband attends to city business, Mrs. Eckert finds it easy to occupy her time. She was recently appointed as a member of the Title I Advisory Committee for the Illinois Office of Education.

The committee makes recommendations for the use of funds for educationally and emotionally deprived students in grades kindergarten through 12 in Illinois.

Mrs. Eckert goes on many trips as a representative of the family's business, Eckert Orchards, Inc.

In her spare time she enjoys playing tennis, horseback riding and attending Saluk football games. During the summer months she can be found selling flowers at the family farm in Carbondale.

As busy as she is, Mrs. Eckert still finds time for her family. "What I like to do best," she said, "is to play with my children. We wrestle, play ball or just throw a Frisbee around." She also finds time to play an occasional game of bridge with her husband.

She and the mayor will appear in SIU's Homecoming Parade Saturday. They will leave to attend a mayors' conference in Lawrenceville the same afternoon.

Claims court hears landlord-tenant cases

By Pat Corcoran
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Jackson County Small Claims Court provides an avenue for a landlord or tenant who feels he has been wronged to collect the money or know the reason why not, court officials say.

Persons may collect up to $1,000 without paying more than an $8.50 filing fee. Small claims court was designed so that neither party would need an attorney, James R. Kerley, Jackson County circuit court clerk, said.

"We have 528 small claims cases already on file and it usually takes three weeks for the case to come to trial," Kerley said.

Tuesday is small claims day in Jackson County Circuit Court with 25 cases docketed each Tuesday.

Standard procedure is for both the plaintiff and defendant to tell the judge their story after which the judge decides the facts in the case and makes the judgment.

Kerley said the judge does not always grant the plaintiff's claim.

"Whether or not the judge decides to give all or part of the money depends on the facts of the case, just like in the big court," Kerley said.

Small claims court in Jackson County operates slightly differently than in other counties," Kerley said.

Here, the deputy clerks in the office fill out the claim forms for anyone who comes in. In other counties, the person must fill out the forms themselves and they often do not include all the information, Kerley said.

"By having my people fill them out, I know they will be typewritten and uniform," Kerley said.

Filing fees for the court are $8.50 for a claim of $500 or less and $11.50 for a claim of $1,000.

Persons use the small claims court for several reasons, Kerley said. "We get landlords and tenants, bad checks, people trying to collect from insurance companies, stores trying to collect, you name it, we get all kinds," Kerley said.

Usual practice is to notify the defendant named in the court by certified mail. The $1.50 for mailing is included in the filing fee, Kerley said. However, if a person requests the sheriff's office to serve the notice, the sheriff may charge a fee of $7.50 or higher, Kerley said.

Kerley said collection from small claims decisions usually hinges on a memorandum of judgment being filed against the defendant. The memorandum restricts a defendants' ability to make financial transactions until the claim is paid.

"It may take a while but the claim is paid. It's just due process of the law," Kerley said.

Landlords in college communities may often take advantage of student tenants by not returning rent deposits, Kerley said. Small claims court provides a settlement for these money disputes.

Co-op teaches severely handicapped

By Peggy Sagona
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Carbondale Special Education Cooperative has been providing educational services to severely handicapped children, teens and young adults since Oct. 15.

The co-op serves elementary school District 95 and high school District 165. The students range in age from 3 to 21.

The students are so severely handicapped that they cannot fit into the regular school system or a special education program, said Marvin Ott, director of the Special Education Co-op.

In 1967 an Illinois law was passed which stated that education must be provided for all children.

Last year, the Orphanage Act revised the mandatory education law so that education could also be provided for the severely handicapped.

"Up until this revision, children had to be in school five hours a day," Ott said. "Now, with doctor's orders, a child can attend school for less than five hours if he is not able to withstand the regular hours required," he added.

The co-op consists of about 90 programs and five teachers. The number of programs is large because the classes have six or fewer children in them.

Much of the education is administered on an individual basis, Ott said.

Most of the classes are held in the basement of the Styrest Nursing Home. For those who are immobile, there is a visiting teachers program in which the instructor comes to the bedside of the patient.

"Eventually, we hope to have 10 teachers," Ott said. "We also plan to hire some aides to help complement what the teacher has to offer," he added.

ter of the U.N. Association in conjunction with United Nations Day activities.

"We have to be honest with ourselves as to the structure and form of the institution that we honor on United Nations Day," he said, "because an institution not examined is not worth having or supporting."

The institution is the creation of men who have formed the ways by which order, procedure and idea-flow can take place to reach a meaningful end, Witunski said.

"The United Nations organization, in its present form, is another step in the evolution of institutions put together by man to help solve the dilemmas of his time," he added.

Homecoming circus is in town-ho-hum

By Jerie Jayne

Welcome back, alumni. Homecoming is traditionally a time when a group returns to a place they have at one time called home. The problem with SIU's homecoming is that there is no tradition here.

Since Delyte Morris resigned as top man in 1970 we've had six men at the helm (some known as top dogs,) for varying lengths of time. When Morris left, he took his connections to get money for the University with him. Since that time, we've had no one president to really bind us together as a university. If SIU has any claim to a traditional identity, it's parties, riots and the firing of 104 teachers.

A winning football team is another tradition Homecoming has been centered around. No matter how much school spirit we're supposed to have, the Salukis with their past records and this year's record (0-5-1) just can't pull off any sort of traditional rah-rah spirit. SIU can hardly tag its homecoming on the fumbling "dogs," so they instead think of ridiculous themes to justify events.

This year, about $4,500 in student activity fees went to support the theme, "Three-Ring Wing-Ding." The circus theme would be more appropriately centered around the football game rather than the rest of the homecoming events. The projected attendance figures given by Homecoming Committee Adviser Bob Saieg is between 2,000 and 3,000. With the current student population at about 21,000, the $4,500 was spent disproportionately for less than 1 per cent of the student population.

How much time and brainpower did it take to think of bringing the Two Penny Circus troupe to SIU? Aren't our student activity fees worth more than a circus troupe? Apparently the Student Government Activities Council (SGAC) thinks $4,500 is worth only frivolities rather than educational information.

Last week the Jackson County Community Mental Health Association sponsored Ralph Nader to speak in Carbondale.

Harry Cecil, administrator of the Jackson County

Community Mental Health Center, said he made every effort to seek out help through university organizations. But as he said, he "just couldn't get support." SGAC was one of the organizations asked to help share the expense of Nader's fee.

The cost of bringing Nader to Carbondale was $3,500 plus expenses, bringing the total to about $4,000. Since the association couldn't afford to foot the bill alone, they were forced to charge $3 per person. They didn't ask SGAC to pay the entire $4,000, just to help pay part of it.

SGAC's priorities are obvious. They'd rather spend students' money for the Two Penny Circus than help finance Nader's speech on campus.

And now we have only rinky dink activities to call Homecoming festivities, which include everything from old Marx Brother's movies (shown every year about this time) to a Monty Python movie, who can be seen every Sunday night on the Public Broadcasting Service.

Yes, welcome back alumni. Welcome back to the circus we've worked up for you.

Unfair to cut student workers' hours per week

To the Daily Egyptian:

Why should the student body work force have to sacrifice for errors in misjudgment made by schools administrators?

I am referring to the cut in student workers hours. We (student workers) were informed that our work week will be shortened by two hours. So instead of having a pay period of 40 hours every other week, we know only get paid for 36 hours.

The four-hour reduction may not seem like a lot, but for those of us who depend on and need every penny we make the four-hour loss is a 10 per cent decrease in pay.

The question arises as to why the decrease. It is an attempt to keep the students from qualifying for free insurance. The administration even admits this on page 1 of the Oct. 18, edition of the Daily Egyptian.

As it stands now the student workers do not receive any benefits what-so-ever, so I suppose the administration figures that's the way it's been, and that's the way it will continue to be.

Lack of funds is another cause for the cut. If the school has so much money that it can build a $2 million football stadium that hardly gets any use, and a $800,000 parking garage for use by the elite only, then why do they lack money to pay the students?

It seems whenever a cut has to be made it always comes as a sacrifice from the students. It's about time the administration took a cut themselves. I suppose I should have realized already that students are always the ones to get the shaft, now they want us to work less but do the same quantity of work.

It's about time the students stood up for their rights. After all, we're the ones losing, not the administration. They never lose. They would still have their jobs even if the school closed. Since when have students ever been considered, except of course for fee increases? So why should the administration worry about us now when they've done such a good job of ignoring us in the past?

No refund for found meal ticket

To the Daily Egyptian:

I lost all of my identification on Saturday, Oct. 11. When I woke up the next morning, I noticed I had lost them and proceeded to go about recovering it.

It was a futile attempt. I tried to eat at Trueblood Hall, but was told I had to purchase a new meal ticket for $5. I starved myself Sunday hoping my identification would turn up, but it did not materialize.

Monday afternoon I had to eat so I bought a new meal ticket which left me almost broke. On the following Friday I received a notice informing me that my identification had been found. I then went and talked to John Qualkinbush, (a housing administrator) about receiving a refund for my returned ticket. He told me that I could not receive a refund because the old ticket had not been found within two days and that it was against the rules.

He also said that the money was used to change the records and fix the ticket sheet. I find this utterly absurd for a piece of paper. We pay enough in our housing contracts to take care of these frivolous little details. It doesn't cost that much to buy a new driver's license or student ID.

In my dealing with the University Park officials I have learned that it is another organization that we as students cannot fight, but just abide by their preposterous rules. Let's change this rule so University Park doesn't become rich on poor students like myself.

When I entered the U.P. office there were workers sitting around playing chess. If this is where my fine will end up at, this is a sad example of how our working class is structured.

Thanks for support

To the Daily Egyptian:

A very special thanks to the following campus groups for their support in bringing two professional Modern dance companies to SIU: Graduate Student Council, Student Government, Academic Affairs, Graduate School, Department of Theater, College of Education, SIU Foundation, and the Convocation Series. Our hearts cry with joy and gratitude for your support, and we hope to bring these professionals in contact with as many students and faculty as possible for their 2½ day residency.

'Alumnus' editor keeps track of graduates

Trying to keep track of 74,000 SIU graduates is an immense job, but Karen Gaumer of the office of Alumni Services says she manages to prod the majority of them into keeping her office informed of their whereabouts.

Gaumer, who is editor of the Alumnus magazine, said that each graduating class receives a "grad pack" which includes a form from Alumni Services asking for updated information about the graduates.

The office also sends out bulletins to all graduates and former students who were not graduated but wish to remain in the files, she said. The Alumnus periodically publishes lists of persons for whom the office has no current address and asks that anyone knowing the addresses contact the office.

The geographic distribution by state of alumni, including 1975 graduates, was compiled this week, Gaumer said, and shows that of the 74,000 graduates with whom the office maintains contact, 45,963 reside in Illinois.

"We get so many students from Chicago and a lot of them return home after school," Gaumer said. "But a lot of the graduates stay in Southern Illinois because they have made acquaintances here, they find jobs related to their fields and they like the area. They feel comfortable here and find they don't have to move on."

Missouri claims the next highest number of SIU graduates, with 2,719 alumni residing in that state. Other states with a large alumni population are California with 1,930; Indiana with 1,148; Florida with 1,087 and New York with 1,035.

The other states and the number of SIU graduates residing there are: Alabama, 193; Alaska, 48; Arizona 491; Arkansas, 217; Colorado, 547; Connecticut, 182; Delaware, 51; District of Columbia, 131; Georgia, 353; Hawaii, 60; Idaho, 60; Iowa, 446; Kansas, 274; Kentucky, 579; Louisiana, 195; Maine, 27; Maryland, 285; Massachusetts, 285; Michigan, 814; Minnesota, 357; Mississippi, 152; Montana, 57; Nebraska, 168; Nevada, 64; New Hampshire, 31; New Jersey, 449; New Mexico, 160; North Carolina, 243; North Dakota, 53; Ohio, 766; Oklahoma, 230; Oregon, 180; Pennsylvania, 450; Rhode Island, 43; South Carolina, 134; South Dakota, 67; Tennessee, 464; Texas, 921; Utah, 53; Vermont, 31; Virginia, 513; Washington, 240; West Virginia, 68; Wisconsin, 587 and Wyoming, 50.

Alumni are also distributed around the world, Gaumer said, "from Afghanistan to Zambia."

Some of the more highly represented in terms of SIU alumni are Hong Kong with 50, Canada with 139, India with 37, Iran with 42, Japan with 25, Philippines with 18, Taiwan with 36 and Thailand with 55.

Strike Day to honor women

A march and rally are planned by several campus and civic organizations in honor of National Women's Strike Day Wednesday.

The strike day is to show "the importance of women in our economic system," said Jacqueline Abel, spokesperson for the Women's Strike Day Committee.

The march is scheduled to start at noon Wednesday in front of the Student Christian Foundation, 913 S. Illinois Ave. and continue down S. Illinois Avenue to Main Street. The rally, featuring women speakers, musicians and artists, will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. Wednesday behind Woody Hall. Abel said at a meeting of the Strike Day Committee Thursday.

The wearing of armbands and the making of silk-screened t-shirts were discussed at the meeting.

T-shirts will be silk screened from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday in the Pulliam Hall industrial wing. Abel said anyone wanting a silk-screened shirt with the feminist symbol of a circle and cross with a clenched fist inside with the words "strike: Oct. 29," in Red, should bring a shirt with them. Joanne Kunz, an artist from Alto Pass, will be working on the shirts.

About 25 women attended the hour-long planning meeting. Anyone wanting to work with the Strike Day Committee should contact the Feminist Action Coalition, Washington Square A, third floor, or stop by the Strike Day table Monday or Tuesday in the Student Center solicitation area.

Campus, city map
to be published
spring semester

Student government will publish a pocket-sized map of the campus to be distributed spring semester, said Cheryl Coe, student liaison.

The brochure, which will be funded by local advertising, will consist of a map of the campus and the city with special points of interest marked. Parking lots, parking regulations, pertinent phone numbers, and other information concerning students will be included in a condensed form, Coe said.

About 25,000 copies may be distributed annually for the next five years if Student Body President Doug Diggle approves, she said. However, Coe added, Diggle recommended that she seek approval from the Student Senate.

A representative from American Publishing Company Monday will describe the format to Coe and members of the Public Relations Club, who will assist in the project. Local merchants will then be solicited for advertising, Coe said.

Park District sets
'spooky' program

A Halloween Happening, ghost hike and costume parade will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday at Evergreen Terrace Park for children of ages five through 12. The program, sponsored by the Carbondale Park District, will originate from J.C. Field.

A ghost hike scheduled through the area will be light lit by jack-o-lanterns and "haunted" by live spooks. During the costume parade, judges from the Kiwanis Club of Carbondale will determine best and second-best costumes in prettiest, funniest, most original, scariest, ugliest, and best group categories. Prizes will be awarded in all divisions.

Also scheduled is a puppet show, movies and Halloween games. Grab bags and refreshments will be served during the evening. The Park District may be contacted at 457-8370 for more information.

Festival service set for Sunday

A Reformation Sunday festival service will be sponsored by the Southern Illinois and Eastern Missouri congregations of the Lutheran Church in America at 7 p.m. Sunday at the First Lutheran Church in Murphysboro.

Guest preacher will be the Rev. Robert Smith, professor of New Testament studies at Seminex, the seminary in exile of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

The Rev. Smith will speak on "Luther was no angel," following Martin Luther's German Mass, commemorating the 450th anniversary of the service.

Banners from many Lutheran congregations, adult and youth choirs and instrumental music will highlight the services.

Beg your pardon

Tuesday's Daily Egyptian incorrectly stated that the French Section would offer only French 190 during the summer session. Actually, only one 100-level French course will be offered this summer, namely French 190.

Carbondale Briefs

Highlights of the recent Murphysboro Apple Festival will be featured on the Channel 8 television program, "Spotlight, Heritage '76," at 8:30 p.m. Monday. "Skip" More, a student in Cinema and Photography, was in charge of production of the program.

Dean H. Prosser, general manager-merchandising, Amoco Oil Co., will be on campus Monday. Prosser will speak from 1 to 2 p.m., in Lawson 151, 2 to 4 p.m., in the Communications Lounge, and 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., in Lawson 141. Niles R. Swanson, vice president and account supervisor, D'Arcy-MacManus-Masius, Chicago, will accompany Prosser in the sessions. All sessions are open to the public.

Steve Tietz, graduate student in English, has had two poems published this year. "The Glass Jar" and "Reception Room" were published in the Mississippi Valley Review.

Student Action for Christ, an organization headquartered in West Frankfort, will hold an "Issues and Answers" program at 7 p.m. Mondays at the Herrin Teen Town. Topics for discussion include education, U.F.O.'s, occultism, drugs and evolution versus creation. The group is committed to teaching Christian high school and college students how to proclaim their views in the classroom.

Biofeedback and psychic study group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Room 1007 in the Communications Building.

David M. Vieth, professor of English, delivered a paper at the annual meeting of the Midwest Regional American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies held at Indiana University. The subject of Vieth's paper was "The Mystery of Personal Identity: Jonathan Swift's Verses on His Own Death."

Women's Center to host artist Judy Chicago

By Sandra Mulder
Student Writer

Feminist painter, sculptor, filmmaker and author Judy Chicago will give a lecture and slide presentation at 3 p.m. Tuesday in room 240 Neekers B. A pot luck supper in her honor will be held at 6 p.m. in the Women's Center, 408 W. Freeman, followed by an informal talk session at 8 p.m..

Chicago is known as one of the foremost contemporary feminist artists in this country. In a recent Ms. magazine column, critic Lucy R. Lippard praised Chicago and said she is "the first all-out feminist artist of the current movement, the first to get it together as a painter, a woman, and a political force, and the first with enough vision, energy, intelligence, and emotion to build a community of female peers, independent of the established art world that has heartily rejected women's art for so long."

Chicago is co-founder of WomanSpace, a woman's gallery and performance center in Fresno, Calif., and creator of the Feminist Art Program in Fresno. The multimedia film and art experience, "Womanhouse," was a direct outgrowth of that program.

She worked with painter Miriam Shapiro at the California Institute of the Arts and has recently founded the Feminist Studio Workshop in California with artists Sheila de Bretteville and Arlene Raven. The workshop is intended to be an experimental program in female education in the arts.

Chicago's autobiography, "Through the Flower: My Struggle as a Woman Artist," was published this year. Her paintings deal with female experience and overt sexual imagery and have been exhibited, along with her sculptures, in numerous one-woman and group gallery showings.

In 1973, Chicago was chosen by Mademoiselle magazine as one of its Outstanding Women of the Year. The visit is being sponsored by Feminist Action Coalition, Graduate Development Fund, Graduate Student Council and Student Activities fees.

Lowell Thomas recalls history

Lowell Thomas will be the host for "Lowell Thomas Remembers" this weekend on Channel 8 WSU-TV, sharing his memories of the years 1919-1963.

Thomas' recollection of events of these years together with newsreel film from the Movietone News Library, can be seen at 7 p.m. Saturday and at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Thomas, 83-years-old, has been the voice of Movietone News as well as an author, explorer, news commentator and lecturer. His wide travels and vast experience make him a knowledgeable commentator. Part of America's Bicentennial celebration, "Lowell Thomas Remembers" is an in-depth look back at the 20th Century.

Film highlights will include coverage of such world news as the Russian Revolution, the burning of the Hindenberg, the kidnapping of the Linbergh baby, the eruption of Mt. Aetna, Amelia Earhart's first solo flight across the Atlantic, the dropping of the atom bomb on Hiroshima and hundreds of other historical events.

SIU assistant professor joins committee on disabled citizens

Lucky Leo Ogbojafor
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Anthony Cuvo, assistant professor in the Rehabilitation Institute, has been appointed to the Region 5 Planning Committee for Developmental Disabilities.

Cuvo said recently that the Regional Planning Committee, formed to provide a "grass roots" involvement in planning and directing, needed services for the developmentally disabled citizens throughout Illinois, had its first meeting Friday, Oct. 17.

MOVE collects

$350 in drive for United Fund

Debbie Vermilye, coordinator of the Mobilization of Volunteer Effort, (MOVE) said Friday that $350 was collected on campus last week for the United Fund.

Vermilye said about 50 volunteers from various student organizations solicited money on campus.

The money will be divided among community groups such as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the Jackson County Humane Shelter and the Women's Center she said.

Vermilye said the Office of the Vice President for Development and Services sent packets soliciting donations to staff members. She said that money was due at the end of next week.

MOVE will sponsor a blood drive, from Nov. 17 to 20, she said.

A meeting for volunteers to help with the drive will be held at 8 a.m. Thursday, in the Student Center. She said she did not know what room would be used for the meeting.

Vermilye said groups participating in the United Fund drive were the Social Welfare Club, the Recreation Club, Angel Flight, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Gamma Rho, Delta Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, and Alpha Sigma Alpha.

City Council to discuss extending bar hours to 6 a.m.

The Carbondale City Council will meet in an informal session at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the University City complex to discuss extending bar hours to 6 a.m.

The council put off action on the proposal Oct. 6 when Mayor Neil Eckert was not present to vote. Eckert and Councilman Archie Jones have expressed support for the plan in the past, while Councilmen Hans Fischer and Joseph Dakin have been opposed. Councilwoman Helen Westberg was last reported undecided. Last week the council voted to continue to extend bar hours for Homecoming and Kappa Kappa Gamma weekends.

The council is also scheduled to discuss a proposal to purchase a segment of the Murdale Water District System, and will hear the Planning Commission's recommendations on sign regulations.

Cuvo said that in selecting committee members, attempts were made to achieve a balance between service providers, consumers, consumer advocates and state agencies. Attempts were also made, he said, to select members from each respective planning area within Region 5 which is made up of the 27 southernmost counties of the state.

Cuvo said he was nominated to the committee by Henry Allen, assistant professor in Rehabilitation Counseling and Planning, who is also a member of the committee. Cuvo's special interest in the Rehabilitation Institute is family and institutional mental retardation.

Allen said the committee felt Cuvo's area will be a valuable resource to its objectives.

Allen said he was appointed to the committee last year by Mary Joe McGill of United Cerebral Palsy.

"I had worked on other projects with her previously, and she may have chosen me for that reason," Allen said. Other members of the committee included John Deichman of the Department of Guidance and John Anderson of the Speech Department.

Allen said the committee has nothing to do with SIU and that membership carries no financial remunerations. It has a staff of 27 persons chosen on the basis of their interests in developmental disabilities. It is made up of parents, professionals, providers, state agencies and organizations that provide services and consumers who receive the services.

Cuvo said the committee serves as an advisory council on developmental disabilities to the Governor. He explained that some of the objectives of the committee include surveying existing services to the disabled persons, the nature of the disability served and a disability range. He said that evaluation of the needs of the disabled will help to determine what additional services are needed and ways to support existing services.

"The outcome of the survey will help tell us how best to spend the state money that will be allocated," Cuvo said. The next meeting of the committee will be Nov. 7.

Police investigate two burglaries

Two burglaries were reported Friday by the Carbondale police. Wayne Wheelles, assistant superintendent for the city, reported Friday that between Oct. 13 and Oct. 16 somebody stole a 25-watt radio receiver from a storage area at the corner of North Marion Street and East Jackson Street.

Police said the thief apparently climbed over the ten-foot fence surrounding the storage area, because the gate was still locked. The item is valued at $950.

Joseph P. Beck, 303 S. Beveridge St., reported Friday that someone entered his residence and stole a 12-string Cortez guitar. Police said there were no signs of forcible entry. The item was valued at $200.

Mixed media class to meet for ideas

Students interested in a new class to be offered spring semester by the Department of Cinema and Photography will be meeting at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the EAZN Coffeehouse at 816 S. Illinois St.

The class, C and P 497, "Mixed Media," will involve student group productions, national research and interdisciplinary study.

Instructors for the course include Bob Walsh and Jim Sullivan, art; Will Boltje and Dave Riddles, music; Bruce Appleby and Dick Lawson, English; Bob Fish, speech; Herb Rowan, design; Steve Fagan, Mike Covell, Don Zirpala, Peter Bukatski, Tom Pettrillo, Dave Gilmore and Richard Blumenberg, cinema and photography.

A student-faculty meeting will be held Nov. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the EAZN Coffeehouse to generate ideas and allocate responsibilities for the course.

Convocations to feature Paul Winter Consort

By Judy Vandewater
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Paul Winter Consort will return for its fourth appearance at University Convocations at 8 p.m. Nov. 1 in the Arena. The free concert will feature "Earth Music."

Paul Winter describes the group's style as "a bridge between the world of ordered music, classical and symphonic, and-a world of free-form music, such as rock, jazz and folk music."

"Earth Music" draws on the earth's rich musical heritage and gains inspiration from its composers, its cultures, and its wildlife.

The Consort combines exotic and familiar instruments to produce a sound that has been compared to that of John McLaughlin's Mahavishnu Orchestra. The Wuhan gong, a contrabass sarusophone, a tabla tarang and a almglacken as well as a classical guitar, a marimba and a Fender Rhodes Piano Bass offer a wide range of expressive possibilities.

The musical concept of the group came from Renaissance consorts which were concerned with achieving an organic blend of improvisation and ensemble playing. Improvisation involves "sensing the development of the whole at the same time you are letting it carry you along, feeling the boredom when it's not going anywhere and accepting the responsibility for trying to lift it up again," according to Winter.

Winter plays alto and soprano sax for the Consort. David Darling is on acoustic and electric cello. Keyboards and percussion instruments are played by Robert Chappell, Tigger Benford and Ben Carriel.

Defense ties knots in punter's boots

By Dave Wiczorek
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

When you get two punts blocked in one game, on two consecutive attempts as Saluki Ken Seaman did against Northern Illinois, something is definitely out of whack.

The same man blocked both of Seaman's punts, but this week in preparation for the homcoming game with the Wichita State Shockers, Seaman said he thinks things have been worked out.

"I've been working on getting the kick off quicker," Seaman related. "I think they may have changed the blocking a little too."

Seaman was willing to explain just what happened against the Huskies, although he looked pained when his abbreviated punts were mentioned.

"I think he (NIU left end Tim Dacy) came from the outside," he recalled. "Usually everyone inside is blocked and that man isn't. If everyone has taken the proper man, that leaves the up back to take the outside man."

Seaman could not explain why Dacy rushed in untouched by a Saluki both times.

Not really admitting it was his fault, Seaman said, "It was my understanding that I took too much time."

The junior from Hazelwood, Mo., has been averaging a somewhat erratic 35 yards per punt this season. "I should be able to average at least 35 yards without any problems. Something always seems to come up though, the wind or I'll shank it. Something."

He's not worried though, about anyone taking his punting duties away from him. "No one else is doing much better. I'm a little disappointed," he added as an after thought.

Freshman Jeff Hebenstreit has done some punting, but has been used sparingly and has averaged 34.4 yards per punt.

Seaman also does all the field goal and extra point booting, but those areas have also been disappointing for the kicker and the fans. While he has not had a field goal attempt blocked, Seaman has hit on only three of eight tries. Opponents have hit eight of 11.

In a year when some major college field goal kickers across the county are having tremendous seasons, Seaman says "I expected to have a lot better year. I guess I'm in a slump. When I kick a few, I'll get my confidence

"It's really not the team—it's just me," Seaman said. "I've been pretty close, but missing by two or three feet."

His longest field goal (51 yards) came against Long Beach State earlier this year.

He also holds the school record for the most field goals in a career with 21. The three-pointer he booted to tie the Illinois State game broke Gregg Goodman's career record of 20. Seaman also holds the single season record of 11 three-pointers, set last year.

Seaman says he feels most confident when inside the 40-yard line, yet he has hit one over 50 yards, one over 40 and one field goal from inside the 20.

Game time Saturday is 1:30 p.m. in McAndrew Stadium. The game can be heard on three local radio stations—WSIU Stereo 92 FM, WCIL 104 FM and AM and WJPF 1340, Herrin.

Three clubs slate action for weekend

Three clubs have events scheduled for weekend action.

The SIU Rugby Club will travel to Fort Campbell, Kentucky for a Saturday contest. The club will be back to regular season competition after last weekend's Heart of America Tournament.

This season's third autocross will be held by the Grand Touring Auto Club at noon Sunday in the SIU Arena parking lot.

The Road Runners Club will hold a second annual Goblin Gallop at 7:30 Sunday. Runners will meet at the west entrance to the SIU Arena. Awards will be given to all finishers.

Daily Egyptian Sports

Hockey team prepares for pair of prior victims

Visiting alumni will have a chance to see the university field hockey team in action Saturday as SIU meets Southeast Missouri State and SIU-Edwardsville at Wham Athletic Field.

SIU defeated both of these schools this season. The Salukis blanked SIU-E, 2-0, and nudged Southeast, 3-2.

The varsity will play Southeast at 9:30 a.m. and SIU-E at 3 p.m. The second team will play a doubleheader with the Southeast junior varsity squad at 10:45 a.m. and 1:15 p.m.

Helen "Hockey" Meyer leads the Saluki scoring with 19 goals, almost half of SIU's 43 total goals. The team has a 10-2-1 record.

Other major scorers for SIU are Diane Bednarczyk (7), Mary Shen (5), Pat Matreci (4) and Judy Seeger (3).

Campus lakeboat dock shuts down for season

The Lake-on-the-Campus Boat Dock will close for the winter season Sunday. Picnic areas may still be reserved for use by contacting the Office of Recreation and Intramurals in Arena Room 128 or by phoning 536-5521.

The lighted tennis courts east of the Arena will remain open as long as weather permits.

Saluki scorers with only one goal are Debbie Eubanks, Kathy Kincaid, Kathy Dondrasek and Ann Stribling.

SIU opponents have been held to 10 goals during the season and the Salukis have shut out teams seven times. Also scheduled is an alumni-varsity field hockey game at 2:15 p.m. at Wham.

Cycling Club sets weekend events

The SIU Cycling Club has activities planned for slow and fast paced riders Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday, the club has scheduled a slow-paced tour of about 30 miles. Sunday, an 80 mile-fast-paced training ride is scheduled. Both rides will leave from Shryock Auditorium at 10 a.m.

Last Saturday, the club cyclists notched high finishes in the bicycle road races at Golden Pond, Ky.

SIU winners included:
—Jim Hertz, first in Category II.
—Dan Casebeer, first in the Junior Category.

—Margaret Steinway, first in women's novice division.
—Beredis Peterson, first in ABLA women's race.

—Steve Specter, second in men's novice division.
—Terry Smart, second in Category III.
