Agreement seen in Canut-Amoros suit

By Ray Urchel
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

SIU and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Chicago have agreed on a tentative monetary settlement in the Canut-Amoros sex discrimination case.

A settlement of about $80,000 is believed to have been reached although attorneys for SIU and HEW refuse to discuss details of the settlement.

President Warren Brandt said Tuesday, "I know that figure has been discussed. I don't know if it has been agreed to."

John W. Huffman, University legal counsel, said, "At this point there is no agreement" other than financial.

Other terms of the proposed agreement have not been resolved, and both SIU and the federal government are still preparing their cases for a hearing before an administrative hearing officer July 6 in Chicago.

HEW has threatened to bring disbarment proceedings against SIU for its failure to resolve the five-year-old sex bias case. The proceeding could cause SIU to lose $5 million in federal funds.

Shirley Moscow, attorney for HEW, said, "No final agreement has been reached. Any other comment at this point would be premature."

Canut-Amoros a former instructor in the School of Engineering and Technology, filed a complaint with HEW in 1971. She charged that she was denied equal pay, denied changes in her sabbatical leave and that her resignation from the School of Engineering and Technology was used to prevent her from getting further employment at SIU—all because of her sex.

Huffman said HEW officials gave him a proposal Friday in Chicago which he called "totally unacceptable."

He said some oral agreements between the University and the federal government had been reached "but when we got it into writing, the initial statements were unacceptable."

Huffman said the proposals attempt to determine the points of agreement between the two agencies. "All parties have a right to accept or reject them." He said SIU is in the process of writing a response to the latest proposal and should submit it to HEW next week.

"The meeting in Chicago was to look over terms," Huffman said. "Any points of agreement were made prior to the meeting in Chicago."

Huffman said Canut-Amoros was not represented at the Chicago meeting. He said he does not know whether Canut-Amoros has an attorney.

Canut-Amoros also filed a complaint with the Illinois Fair Employment Practices Commission (IFEPC). Huffman said the IFEPC must also agree to the settlement before it is approved.

"The University's position is that unless the agreement is signed by everyone, there is no agreement. And we still hold that position," Huffman said. "If any of the agencies fail to agree to the settlement, there is no settlement."

Student Center director post offered to Corker

By Peggy Sagona
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

John W. Corker, director of Murray D. Lincoln Campus Center at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, has been offered the position of director of the SIU Student Center.

Corker is one of the four persons interviewed on campus for the position. Corker has also been offered positions similar at the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis and at the University of Texas at Austin. He said he would make a decision "in a couple of weeks."

Corker said he applied for the SIU position because, "I was attracted by the facility and the potential of it. I have known it to be one of the finest in the country. It has the potential to be a full top-class operation." Corker said the Student Center was better than he expected and that he found the staff and leadership "dynamic."

"At this point it is a case of going home and reviewing with my wife and family what I have seen and how I analyze it," he said.

Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, said, "Corker is recognized as one of the most outstanding student center directors in the nation and we hope he accepts."

Corker said he believes the center should be "extremely student oriented in that it should be run highly efficiently and as a business operation, but be used primarily for student activities."

"Every room in the center should be used," he said. "The more services you have the better off you are. The good business has the maximum service at the lowest price. I would like to see a maximum amount of activities."

Corker said the Student Center is a place where students can be creative and involve themselves in activities that they otherwise may not be allowed to do, such as exhibiting art projects, putting on plays or setting up special organizations.

"The center should be accessible to students," Corker said.

Corker is open to student interests and feels that if students are really interested in doing something, they should be allowed the chance to at least try it. But he added, what is good for one community may not be good for another. "A lot of it depends on the image of the school. Each school is unique to the students on that campus," he said. "The main thing is that you have meaningful student input."

Corker said that as director of the Student Center at SIU, he would develop activities that would bring more students into the building.

Corker has had experience at four major universities in programming and business management of student centers.

"The union director should be an expert in programming and management," Corker said. The extent of the programming depends on how well the operation is run.

Corker said the decision to install fast food operations is up to the Board of Trustees and the student body. But he added, "I have always operated my own food service, wherever I have been, and did it efficiently."

Officers' discrimination case settled

By John O'Brien
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The University and seven black SIU security officers have reached a predetermined settlement of a complaint filed by the officers charging the SIU Security Police with racial discrimination, a spokesman for the officers said Tuesday night.

Clarence Morgan, a conciliator for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), met with the University officials Tuesday afternoon and with the security officers Tuesday evening to reconcile differences between the officers' settlement demands and the University's response to the demands.

The agreement was signed by President Warren Brandt and six of the seven officers. The seventh officer did not attend the Tuesday night meeting, but a spokesman for the officers said he was expected to sign the agreement late Tuesday night.

The spokesman said one of their 14-point settlement demands calling for the removal of five ranking security officers from supervisory positions over black officers had been dropped. He said he was told by Morgan that it is not within the purview of the EEOC to dictate how the University should utilize its personnel.

As of Tuesday afternoon only one of the remaining 13 points was still being negotiated, SIU Legal Counsel John Huffman said.

The unresolved demand regarded the promotion of a black officer to the position of lieutenant. According to a spokesman for the officers, they were seeking an immediate appointment while the University would agree to the appointment in the case of a vacancy in a lieutenant's post. The officers finally agreed with the University's position, he said.

The officers began proceedings against the Security Police last December when they filed a complaint with the University Affirmative Action Office. A spokesman for the officers said at the time that the black officers felt it necessary to join together and voice their grievance before they were eliminated from the force.

They cited discriminatory practices and procedures that had been taking place since about 1970 when there were 15 black officers on the Security Police. Several of the eight black officers who left the force since then, they claimed, did so as a result of discriminatory circumstances.

In mid-January the officers took their complaint to the Carbondale office of the Illinois State Employment Services (ISES). Together with the manager of ISES, the officers formalized their complaint and forwarded it to the Illinois Department of Labor.

SIU $114 million budget request goes to committee

By Ray Urchel
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

SIU will present a $114 million budget request for the 1977 fiscal year to the Illinois Senate Appropriations Committee in Springfield Wednesday.

The $114 million which would be disbursed to the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses and the School of Medicine, parallels funding requests for the SIU system recommended by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) in January. However, the SIU appropriation does not include a tuition increase as did the IBHE request; it requests additional General Revenue Funds from the State.

President Warren Brandt, Vice President for Fiscal Affairs Robert E. Gentry and Vice President for University Relations George R. Mace are expected to defend the $75.8 million portion of the request for SIU-C.

Asked if he is optimistic that the appropriations committee would approve the SIU funding request, James Brown, general secretary of the SIU system, said on Tuesday, "At this point I don't have any sense of the temper of the (senate) appropriation committee.

Sen. Ken Buzbee, D-Carbondale, senate sponsor of the bill, said in Springfield Monday that the bill will not be voted out of committee for at least another week.

In a related matter, Brown said the senate Appropriations Committee will soon ask for information about a $1.2 million supplementary appropriation request for the 1976 fiscal budget.

Buzbee is also sponsoring that bill.

The Illinois legislature must authorize the spending of the $1.2 million, which was obtained by SIU from tuition because of increased fall semester enrollment, by the end of the fiscal year, June 30, or the bill will die, Brown said. The Illinois House approved the supplemental appropriation by a 98-43 margin on April 13. The supplemental appropriation seeks $150,000 for contractual services, $150,000 for commodities and $800,000 for equipment.

SIU-C is also requesting an additional $100,000 to cover tuition refunds for students who leave school during summer semester.

Council to form committee for city employes insurance

By Terri Bradford
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Carbondale City Council voted Monday to establish a six-member committee to evaluate insurance policies for city employes. The vote terminated the council's decision last week approving an Aetna Life and Casualty Company insurance plan for city employes.

The committee, chaired by City Manager Carroll J. Fry, will consist on three city staff personnel and three employe representatives. The present city insurance policy with Co-Care-Red Cross Blue Shield will be continued until the insurance committee makes a recommendation to the council.

Establishment of the committee to review insurance plans from various companies occurred after employes expressed opposition to the Aetna policy which provides most of its coverage for major operations. A petition signed by 171 city employes requested the council retain the Co-Care-Blue Cross program. Assistant City Manager Scott Ratter told council members that generally, the employe reaction toward the Aetna plan has been negative. He said the opportunity was present for all city employes to contribute input into the insurance plans under consideration. Aetna representatives conducted seminars for employes two days last week.

Councilman Joe Dakin's comment that employes should have more part in selecting the insurance policy brought applause from the audience. "Their contribution is significant. It is money out of their pockets," he said.

Mayor Neal Eckert expressed concern about the 59 per cent cost increase initiated by Co-Care-Blue Cross last fall. "It is my judgement the City Council is providing the city with the best possible plan (Aetna)," he said.

Councilman Hans Fischer also advocated the Aetna policy.

In other action, councilmen reviewed parts of the $17 million city budget for 1976-77 budget. Council members will continue the review throughout the week.

Thirty six survive jet crash in Virgin Islands

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, Virgin Islands (AP)—An American Airlines passenger jet with 85 persons aboard crashed into a hill at the end of the airport runway Tuesday and burst into flames. Civil Defense officials said 47 charred bodies were recovered from the wreckage. They said 36 survivors were taken for treatment to Knud-Hansen Hospital, the only hospital on St. Thomas island. Some of the survivors were severely burned, a spokesman said.

Two persons apparently aboard the plane were unaccounted for. There was no immediate identification of the dead or injured. American Airlines officials in San Juan, Puerto Rico, said the three-jet Boeing 727 was Flight 625 from Providence, R.I., with a stop at Kennedy Airport in New York, and carried 78 passengers and a crew of 7. A Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) official in Atlanta said earlier that there were 78 passengers and 6 crew members aboard. The FAA said the plane apparently touched down too far along the runway at Harry S. Truman Airport on St. Thomas, attempted to gain power but was unable to become airborne and hit the hill.

Henry vows opposition to white minority rule

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP)—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger vowed on Tuesday "unrelenting opposition" by the United States to Prime Minister Ian Smith's white minority government in Rhodesia. Meanwhile, in Ghana, student demonstrators have forced Kissinger to cancel his planned visit to that African country, American officials said.

Smith reacted sharply to Kissinger's statement, saying the secretary judged Rhodesia "from a preconceived stance," and a Rhodesian black leader said Kissinger offered "nothing that is new." In a major policy speech during his visit to Zambia, the third stop on a seven-nation African tour, Kissinger called for a negotiated agreement to give Rhodesia black majority rule within two years.

Court says set ups OK in convicting drug sellers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that a person may be convicted of selling drugs illegally even if an undercover agent supplied the contraband and another bought it. The justices divided three ways in their 5-3 decision. Three justices said a defendant who is predisposed to commit a crime can never escape conviction by pleading police entrapment of this kind.

Justices Lewis F. Powell Jr. and Harry Blackmun, however, refused to go that far, saying such a rule would permit a high school student selling drugs to classmates to be convicted despite "the most outrageous conduct conceivable by government agents. Powell and Blackmun nevertheless agreed to uphold the conviction of Charles Hampton of St. Louis, who testified that a government informer supplied him with heroin which he sold to undercover narcotics agents. Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall dissented, saying the government was "doing nothing less than buying contraband from itself through an intermediary and jailing the intermediary."

SIU, security officers reach predetermination settlement

From there the complaint was assigned to the EEOC because the situations described in the complaint represented a "discriminatory pattern" as opposed to individual instances of discrimination, according to a state Labor Department official. He said such cases were traditionally handled on the federal level.

The EEOC offered the officers and the University the opportunity to resolve the problem through a predetermination settlement. A formal investigation into the charges by the EEOC would only have taken place if the officers had not agreed to the University's settlement position.

Broad backgrounds aid to education grads

Editor's note: This is the second story in a four-part series dealing with job placement. This article and Part Three deal with placement efforts of the academic departments, and Part Four will explain how to collect unemployment compensation.

By Chris Gronkiewicz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

About 50 per cent of the estimated 582 May graduates in the College of Education will be employed in their field before fall semester begins, said Harvey Ideus, director of the Career Planning and Placement Center (CPCC).

Not all of those who do find jobs, however, will be employed in teaching positions. Some will work as aides or in personnel positions.

School systems are no longer looking for teachers to specialize in one subject; they are looking for flexible people with broad backgrounds. Ideus said the school systems want people who can "teach, coach, sponsor, supervise, maybe cook lunch and drive the school bus."

Ideus said that although it doesn't look very good for teachers, 10 school systems have interviewed SIU students this year, compared to only one or two at other state universities.

Ideus said employers are looking to fill more people-oriented positions. There is a demand for human services rather than for the production of goods for consumption.

"The next demand, as I see it happening, will be for a multi-talented individual who must understand human behavior as well as the process that will enable people to cope with the environment and the lack of energy," Ideus said. Companies will be looking for graduates oriented towards the behavioral and social sciences.

Ideus said vacancy descriptions sent to CPCC are almost impossible to fill because they demand all kinds of skills, including some management and technical human service skills.

Ideus defined human service as assisting people to cope with living closer together. The energy crisis and the existence of fewer job opportunities are problems which must be faced.

Ideus said the need for human services has come about because politicians are paying more attention to such specific groups as the handicapped, other minorities and the aged, and they are allocating more money to meet their demands.

Ideus received several letters in the morning's mail for human service jobs. One was a civil service position for an industrial hygienist. Ideus said someone in this type of job might work with black lung disease. He said physical science students might qualify.

Man guilty of assaulting SIU student

By Debbie Absher
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A Marion man charged with the aggravated assault of an SIU student July 15 in Carbondale was found guilty by a jury Tuesday in Jackson County Circuit Court.

The jury deliberated nearly an hour and a half before returning the guilty verdict against Richard A. Gursky, 29, who was charged with assaulting 18-year-old Debra Desantis.

Desantis testified in court that she was late for an afternoon class July 15 and decided to hitchhike, which she said had never done before.

Gursky picked her up and when Desantis saw that he was driving in a direction opposite from campus, she told him that wasn't the way, she said. He pulled a hunting knife on her, she said, and she jumped from the moving car. The car continued and she ran to a nearby house to call SIU Security Police. Desantis testified. She said she provided a description of the assailant and the auto. She was unable to identify the man from police photographs, she said.

In December Security Police Detective Bob Hopkins asked her to look at additional pictures, she said, and she was able to pick out Gursky. She also picked him from police lineups in Carbondale and in Williamson County.

Gursky testified that he was at work

July 15 at Recal Battery in Johnston City. He said he couldn't remember much about that day, but that he wasn't near Carbondale.

Charges of aggravated assault are pending against Gursky in Williamson County.

Circuit Judge Richard Richman ordered a pre-sentence investigation and set June 3 at 1:30 p.m. for Gursky's sentencing. His $2,000 bond was continued to that date.

Anything goes in rain, cold

Rain Saturday and 38 degree temperatures Sunday set the pace for "Almost Anything Goes" competition held at Evergreen Park.

Chilled and wet teams representing 28 campus and area organizations competed in the SIU Veterans Club sponsored event.

The nearly 400 contestants braved the weather trying to qualify for final competition to be held in the Arena on May 7. The Arena competition will be filmed for possible distribution in the TV game show "Almost Anything Goes" which pits hometown teams against each other in absurd sporting events.

Winners of the weekend competition who will compete in the Arena are: Chamber of Commerce Division—Carbondale, West Frankfort and Herrin; Student Division—Abbott Hall Spacers and Smith Hall Intellectuals. A faculty team, which has not yet been selected, will also compete.

B-1 bomber is great bargain— less than $2,000 per family

By Arthur Hoppe

Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld went for a test drive the other day in a new B-1 bomber. He said the demonstrator handled "exceedingly well."

That's good because Congress is trying to decide right now whether we should lay out $92 billion to buy these new bombers. That comes to more than $1800 for each American family. Naturally, an expenditure that large has caused animated discussion at breakfast tables across the land:

"Donald, do you really think we need a new bomber right now?"

"Joyce, I just wish you could've heard the throaty roar of those engines, seen that gleaming, streamlined body, felt the way that baby cornered..."

"Well, I'm sure it would be nice to have a new bomber, dear. But $1800 is an awful lot of money. Valerie Jeanne will be starting college soon and the orthodontist says little Donald..."

"Gee, Joyce, you know all I want is the best for you and the children. But, believe me, this B-1 is the best. Wait till you see that new upholstery and those decorator colors."

"It's just that there are so many other things we need, dear. Couldn't we make do with our old B-52 bomber for another few years?"

"That pile of junk? It's 25 years old, Joyce. It's falling apart. It's got a funny rattle in the transmission. Do you know what a new transmission costs?"

"But wouldn't it be cheaper to put in a new transmission than to spend $1800..."

"You'd still have an old slowpoke of a bomber, Joyce. Do you realize that if the Russians attacked us at this very minute, our old B-52 rattletaps wouldn't get to Moscow until ten hours after the war was over? Why, we'd be the laughingstock of the whole world."

"That sounds like designed obsolescence, Donald. But would a B-1 be any better?"

"Twice as good, Joyce. It would get there only five hours after the war was over. No one's got a better bomber than that. It's one the whole family could be proud of."

"Well..."

"Oh, come on, Joyce. It's only money. What American family wouldn't be delighted to lay out $1800 for a bargain like this? You only live once, I always say."

"Well, I suppose we could go without a vacation this year. Or any new clothes. And if we started using powdered milk instead of fresh and..."

"Gosh, Joyce, you're a peach!"

"But are you sure buying this new bomber makes sense from a practical standpoint, Donald?"

"Of course it makes sense. Boy, I can hardly wait! Va-ROOOOMMM! Va-ROOOOMMM! Va-ROOOOMMM!"

Discrimination not to be dismissed as rubbish

Editor's note: The following viewpoint was submitted by Herbert Marshall, research professor at the Center for Soviet and East European Studies.

By Herbert Marshall
Research Professor

In common with so many others I am profoundly shocked at an American historian dismissing the discrimination of the CPSU against Soviet minorities as 'rubbish'. Such a statement can only be attributed to someone totally insensitive to truth and to tragedy or deliberately suppressing his sensitivity for political reasons. In view of the overwhelming evidence to prove this discrimination, such a statement can only arise from three causes:

1. Total incompetence and ignorance as an historian
2. As a method of ingratiating oneself with the CPSU in order to make sure of getting an entry visa in the USSR
3. As a CP Party member or fellow-traveller carrying out the Party line.

Viewpoint

The CPSU Party line (slavishly followed by the CPUSA) is to deny completely any discrimination in the Soviet Union, regardless of the massive, continuing evidence against such a denial.

As I write the New York Times reports the forthcoming trial of a Soviet Tartar for protesting against the forced exile of the whole of his people from their native homeland in the Crimea to Siberia. Despite the fact that after the 20th Party Congress they were exonerated from the Stalinist accusation of treachery as a people, they have not been allowed to go back to their homeland or to receive back the property and belongings that were confiscated and now owned or used by Russians.

In that same Stalinist period the whole of the German colony (descendants from immigrants invited by Catherine the Great) occupied the German Volga Republic on the Volga with a capital city called Engelsk. I knew many of the German theatre artists, in particular friends of Bert Brecht, who formed the new 'Free German Theatre' there. All of them were exiled and some were executed, like Carola Neher, Brecht's leading actress. He mourned but nevertheless never publicly protested at what the Party had done. To this day they have not had proper restitution. Today the Volga Soviet Socialist Republic does not exist, not even in Soviet history books! How does Professor McFarlin, as a historian, react to such barefaced falsification and suppression of the historical record?

The discrimination against the Jews has been publicly confirmed not only by emigres in their tens of thousands, but by no other than the late Minister of Culture, Ekaterina Furtseva, and by Kosygin, the Prime Minister. They admitted that there is now in force a percentage limitation for Jews in major areas including universities. This was a Czarist measure that was at first abolished by the revolution and then re-instated under Stalin and continued under Breshnev. Your historian will find that the percentage of Jews in the diplomatic, state and intelligence posts has been reduced to practically zero today. There are, of course, a few 'token' Jews here and they are used as examples of rebuttal. Only in the areas of the sciences and performing arts, are there larger percentages of Jews, for the obvious reason that politicians and diplomats may be replaced by Russians, but really outstanding scholars or scientists are not so easily replaced.

In a democratic society a teacher can have his own private views about this matter, can falsify history for himself or his friends or his Party, but to teach it in a university class, it seems to me, is something else. And if such a university historian behaved like that in the USSR he would long ago have been 'discriminated' against and put in Gulag or more likely declared officially insane and subjected to the same inhuman treatment as the mathematician Plushch until world reaction forced his release. Incidentally even the Communist Parties of France, Italy and Great Britain joined in that protest, but not the slavish CPUSA. However, no doubt Professor McFarlin would dismiss that as 'pure rubbish'. Incidentally in a previous reply to Professor McFarlin, I had occasion to point out his deliberate ignoring of historical facts; however, because he apparently feels obliged to follow the Party line, he cannot do any other.

I can only quote the Czech motto of Jan Huss, which the oppressed Czechoslovaks still cherish, 'Pravda vzhite!': 'the truth shall prevail!'

Or maybe our historian will also follow the Party line and deny that the Czechoslovak majority were not and are not discriminated against by the invading Soviet Army?

Reservation problems

To the Daily Egyptian:

Any student who has reservations at the Carbondale Holiday Inn for May 14 should re-check their reservations and get a written confirmation as soon as possible.

I made reservations for my parents for graduation in October at the Holiday Inn and my parents were informed on April 24 that their reservations were cancelled due to "construction problems."

The Holiday Inn is renovating a section of their motel and the projected completion date was May 1. Now a desk clerk told me the section would not be finished until June 1.

At the time I made reservations, which were confirmed in late March, no indication was made that my parents would have no place to stay when they came down. It would seem that the Holiday Inn would know by March that the possibility of not meeting the completion date existed. Yet, nothing was said.

I am now stuck, at the end of April, with no reservations and the majority of motels in the area booked to capacity.

It would seem that this is very shoddy management on the part of the motel and an indication of the lack of respect the motel shows to Carbondale students and their parents. They know, no matter what they do, that they will be filled for all other major dates.

The only thing the motel "graciously" offered to do was book my parents into the Mount Vernon Holiday Inn—about an hour and one-half driving time away. My parents may as well stay home.

Whoever has reservations at the Holiday Inn should re-check and preferably get a written confirmation before it's too late to get a room anywhere.

Mary L. Heeren
Senior
Journalism

Editor's Note: Julian Pei, manager of the Carbondale Holiday Inn, said the management could not foresee the delay of the completion date because the trucking strike held up delivery of construction materials for about ten days. He said the motel has made arrangements with the SIU Housing Office to provide lodging for those who made reservations.

Expensive sidewalks

To the Daily Egyptian:

All too often, the poor walkers and bikers of SIU are faced with the problem of getting places without a car. "Why don't you use the sidewalk?" may be the first merciless response. But considering there are none, such a solution is quite meaningless.

However, we are blessed with a few alternatives. They have generously supplied us with gutters, despite the fact that they are frequently filled with mud. Some turn to the streets for salvation. Considering the unexpected driving techniques of Carbondale weekend drivers, the safety of streetwalking is questionable.

So what other answers do we have? We can hitch. Didn't they just spend $3 million for a parking lot? Wonder why no one ever builds sidewalks? I guess building a few sidewalks must really be expensive!

Lonely rock fan

To the Daily Egyptian:

I am an inmate at the Menard Correction Center in Chester, Illinois, and am lonesome for some correspondence from guys and gals who are interested in heavy rock sounds. We have a music program here at Menard, but I really can't keep up with the rock sounds, so I'm asking if there is someone at the University that I could write to about all the new cuts that are coming out all the time.

I am 25-years-old and would also like to write to some girl about the same age and music interests.

I would appreciate it if you would print this letter in your great paper. Keep up the good work. Thank you.

Start can be made on Northeast Side

To the Daily Egyptian:

First, we would like to extend our heartfelt thanks and congratulations to you and your staff for the accurate, enlightening series, "The Other Carbondale." As Lenore Sobota, student Editor-in-Chief commented in her excellent concluding article, the Northeast side of Carbondale has indeed been neglected too long. To those of us who were born and raised on Carbondale's Northeast side, awareness of this historical neglect is a very painful, day-in-day-out part of our lives.

Many of us have long since grown tired of waiting for the city, the state, the powers that be to "do something." Most of us have grown skeptical, cynical and bitter toward all the studies, promises and token efforts made to give the appearance that effective, worthwhile programs are being instituted to improve the quality of life in our community. All of here across the tracks know that these deplorable conditions need to be changed, must be changed, if Carbondale is to ever live up to its honor of having been selected an "All America City."

Clark Enterprises, Inc., a Northeast side based community development corporation, was formed precisely to begin doing those things for the Northeast side that should have been done decades ago. For well over a year now, quietly and without fanfare, we have been working day and night to create a viable, visible, first step forward on the long road of bringing the Northeast quadrant into parity with the rest of Carbondale.

The series of articles on "The Other Carbondale" could not have been better timed, or more actively supportive of our project had we written and published them ourselves. Ms. Sobota's concluding article added an insight, an impact to the series that has all of us here at Clark Enterprises ecstatic with hope and confidence that we are not alone, that the truth is out, and now, as Ms. Sobota stated, "at least a start can be made."

We thank you in advance for your continued cooperation and support, and we will be looking forward to your positive response.

Home, country compared

To the Daily Egyptian:

I have recently moved into a home nearly 200 years old; the same age as our country. It's strange but this house and our country have a lot in common. The foundation of the house is solid and strong and was made with great care and hard work, similar to the actions of our forefathers.

There are four central beams holding up the roof just as there are four major institutions supporting the country (school, church, government and family). After a close examination, I found many weak spots. The family, with an exceedingly high divorce rate of approximately two out of three marriages ending in divorce, is deteriorating. Government, with its many facets of corruption, is encouraged and paid for by several big businesses. Schools that give knowledge but not wisdom and have ignored or have cut back on the fine arts. The church has too much hypocrisy (my home town priest drives a Lincoln Continental and at the same time preaches that to sacrifice is good for the soul.)

I could move out of this house or out of this country; I could let someone else do all of the necessary repair work; I could get apathic and cynical and just let the roof cave in or I could stay with the hope that the foundation will not crumble before the house is rebuilt.

Bookkeeping blues

To the Daily Egyptian:

In regard to J. B. Cain's letter in the Daily Egyptian on April 23, I would like to say he isn't the only one disgusted with the merchants on Illinois Avenue; namely, Lowells.

Recently, I made a large jewelry purchase and had it put on layaway. I sent my payments by check every two weeks as their policies require. When I went to get the item, I was told I owed $20 more than what I actually did. After checking their records against my cancelled checks, they found that a clerk had "forgotten" to record the last payment I made.

To rectify their error, I had to get the last cancelled check from my bank and do the bookkeeping for them. Needless to say, it took a week to get the matter straightened up.

Not only do some of the merchants on South Illinois Avenue need lessons in bookkeeping, but also the University.

Although I have paid my housing on time, they have managed to mess it up since February. It doesn't matter how many times I show them my cancelled checks or receipts, they can't seem to grasp the idea of credits and debits.

My final comment before leaving this "institution of higher education" is: If the administration can't handle their job, how can they prepare us to do our future jobs?

Volleyball as a step toward peace?

To the Daily Egyptian:

Mr. Ronald Smolin, president of the SIU B'nai Brith Hillel Foundation, wrote a letter to the Daily Egyptian on April 13 challenging the Arab Student Association to a "non-violent" volley ball game as a first step toward peace in the Middle-East.

The proposal is of value only in so far as the gathering would provide an opportunity for supporters of Israel and Palestine to air their views and engage in a direct dialog, but a step toward Mideast peace can only be taken if an understanding is achieved by Israel and its supporters of the central issue at stake; the systematic denial of the rights of the Palestinians.

However, if you still think a volley ball game is the main step towards peace, then I would advise you not to deprive the world from your bright idea. Maybe you ought to take your idea to the Defense Department.

From your letter, it seems to me that you did not live the problem because it is so abstract to you or any other American living here in the States. Let me remind you that the Mideast conflict is not one between Jews and Arabs. It is a problem between the Palestinian people who were expelled from their land and the Israelis who are their oppressors.

It looks like the American Zionists offer us volleyball while their Israeli counterparts offer us bombs and bullets. We certainly prefer volleyballs over bombs. But the offer is a little ridiculous while the bombs continue to rain.

If you still feel willing to play volley ball, we can manage a Palestinian team. Please contact Mr. Omar Harb c/o Arab Student Association.

Written and water exams for certified students interested in becoming active members of the Egyptian Scuba Club will be given at 6 p.m. Wednesday in Pulliam Hall pool. Members must pass both tests to use school equipment and receive air fills. Students taking the test must have a current certification card and supply their own masks, fins and snorkels.

J. Victor Baldrige, assistant vice president for academic affairs at California State University at Fresno, will present a public lecture entitled "Collective Bargaining on College and University Campuses" at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in Museum Auditorium, Faner Hall, Room 1524. The lecture is sponsored by the Departments of Sociology and Higher Education.

Arnold Heiser, of the A.J. Dyer Observatory at Vanderbilt University, will deliver the Harlow Shapely Memorial Lecture at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Lawson Hall, Room 151. The talk, entitled "Galaxies and Cosmologies," is sponsored by the Physics Department and the American Astronomical Society.

Bar Association head to address Law Day banquet

Justin Stanley, president-elect of the American Bar Association, will give the keynote address at the third annual Law Day Banquet to be held in Student Center Ballroom D at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Law Day is observed May 1, but SIU is getting a head start because of finals at the Law School. Students in the School of Law will be honored at the banquet for their scholastic achievements and will receive awards in recognition of their work.

The dinner banquet is the main event in SIU's three-day observance of Law Day.

Teams of practicing attorneys and law students from SIU will make the rounds of schools in the area Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for presentations geared to toward Law Day.

Carbondale Community High School, Eldorado High School, Elkville and Herrin High Schools will be visited April 28.

Cartersville and Gorham High Schools will be visited on April 29. Marion High and Murphysboro High School will receive a visit on April 30.

Pedestrian struck by automobile

An Edwardsville woman was hit by a car Monday afternoon while she and her husband were crossing the street in the 100 block of West Jackson Street, Carbondale police said.

Louise Long, 64, and Melvin B. Long, 66, were crossing the street when she was hit by a vehicle driven by Charles E. Hall, 37, of Carbondale, police said. Officials said that the couple were crossing in the middle of the block and not at a street corner.

Long was taken to Doctors Memorial Hospital and then transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital in Highland where she is listed in satisfactory condition.

Hall was arrested and charged for driving while intoxicated and driving with a revoked license. Police also said he refused to take the breath analysis test to determine if he were intoxicated.

Joe Czuba, 24, of Chicago was arrested early Tuesday morning when he was found inside of the Hillel Foundation 715 S. University Ave., and refused to leave. Police said he was arrested for trespassing and, while searching him, they found what appeared to be drugs. Czuba allegedly grabbed the substance and swallowed it, police said. A charge of obstruction of justice was added.

Public relations students schedule banquet Friday

James F. Fox, immediate past president of the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA), will be the guest speaker at the 7th Annual Public Relations Banquet on Friday.

A graduate of the University of Iowa, Fox was recently elected to the university's Journalism Hall of Fame. Fox holds an honorary doctor of laws degree from the World University in San Juan, is contributing editor to Public Relations Quarterly and does international public relations work.

The banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Center.

Fox will also speak to Speech 381 students at 1 p.m. Friday in Lawson 101. He will be available to speak with students from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Speech Department.

Accompanying Fox will be Frederick H. Teahan, educational director for the Public Relations

Student Society of America. An "Educator of the Year" award will be presented to an outstanding faculty member during the banquet.

Tickets for the banquet must be purchased Wednesday. They may be obtained by contacting Julie Wandell at 549-8920.

Program seeks persons to spend time with youths

The Youth Advocate Program, designed to provide troubled youths with adult guidance and companionship, is recruiting volunteers. The program is sponsored by the Jackson County Youth Service. The volunteers are asked to devote their time and services to work with youths age 5 to 18 on an average of four hours per week for a period of four to nine months. The youth and the advocate engage in activities like swimming, horseback riding, bowling and many others. Each new advocate is provided with a general orientation to the program and training geared at understanding the problems of the youth. Volunteers should call the Youth Service Bureau at 687-1785, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

ArchiVan will exhibit works of area architecture at SIU

Examples of Southern Illinois architecture are included in the ArchiVan a mobile museum of exhibits that tells the story of the state's architectural tradition and the works of its famous architects. The ArchiVan is scheduled to visit Carbondale Wednesday through Friday.

A Bicentennial project of the Illinois Arts Council, the ArchiVan is being sponsored in Carbondale by the Carbondale Bicentennial Commission and the Society of Architectural Technology of the SIU School of Technical Careers.

The van will be located near Anthony Hall and the new parking garage, according to George Brelig, society adviser. Hours for free public admission are from 3 to 6 p.m. School and other group tours will be from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m.

Persons interested in arranging group tours should contact Brelig at 453-2524.

Glousmis takes out his frustrations and guilt feelings on the Attendant in the mental hospital in which he is kept. Glousmis, portrayed by Peter Zopp, and the Attendant, as played by Darryl Phinnessee, are actors in the upcoming Theater department show of "Ataraxia" starting Friday.

Lithuanian play to be given

Southern Players will present "Ataraxia," a play by Lithuanian playwright Antanas Skema, at 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the University Theater, Communications Building.

The action of the play focuses on a man's search through his past for his soul. The man, Lithuanian exile Glousmis, is tortured by his past and feelings of guilt as a Lithuanian partisan.

During Glousmis' stay in a mental hospital, he encounters Isaac, the Jew, a man who had tortured him and whom Glousmis had attempted to kill during the occupation of Lithuania. By reliving their past, they hope to rid themselves of the guilt.

Eventually, they realize that an attendant in the hospital, who constantly harasses the two patients, is an illusion from their past. They kill the illusion by refusing to submit to the fear he tries to instill in them.

In the end, Glousmis realizes that Isaac and all the other characters and the institution are parts of him that he must accept in order to grow.

The play is directed by Arnold Kendall, a guest professional who is a visiting professor of theater during 1976. The playwright's daughter, Kristina Skema-Snyder, will speak about her late father's career.

Following the play, Jonas Jurasas, a Soviet director in the avant-garde theater, who became an exile from the Soviet Union in 1973, will speak on the production of "Ataraxia" and compare it with contemporary Soviet and Lithuanian theater.

Starring in the production are Peter Zopp, a sophomore in theater, as Glousmis; Darryl Phinnessee, a junior in theater, as the Attendant; John Vullo, a senior in theater, as Isaac; Jeff Swanson, a sophomore in music, as Mr. Brown; Steve Dratnal, a freshman in radio and television, as Mr. Johns; Dave Buchan, a junior in theater, as Me. Smith; Egle Juodvalkis, a graduate student in theater, as the girl in white; and Lavetta Zopp, a junior in theater, as Madame.

Tickets for the show are $1.50 per person and are available at the University Theater Box Office, Communications Building, or reserved by telephoning 453-5741. Seating will be limited because of the production.

Children's classic to begin Thursday at Calipre Stage

Lewis Carroll's classic, "Alice Through the Looking-Glass" will open Thursday at the Calipre Stage with students, faculty members and grade school and junior high school students playing the roles.

"Alice" will be presented Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m., Saturday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. The Calipre Stage is on the second floor of the Communications Building.

Lynn Bradley, a former speech department faculty member and a current teacher at Giant City School, said she will stage the play as written by Carroll—in the form of a giant chess game.

The cast will include Lawrence Dennis, associate professor for educational administration and foundations, as the Lewis Carroll and the White Knight; Carolyn Bittner as the White Queen; Leigh Craine, a graduate student, as the Red Queen and Winston Throgmorton III, a junior in political science, as the Red King and the White King.

Tickets for the show are available at the door for each performance for $1. Reservations can be made at 453-2291, ext. 25 from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

SIU opera theater to present 'Columbus,' Mark Twain story

The Marjorie Lawrence Opera Theater is sponsoring two companion operas Saturday and Sunday at Shryock Auditorium.

A revised edition of "Christopher Columbus" will be featured at 10:30 a.m. Saturday and Mark Twain's well-known story "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" will be presented at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

In "Christopher Columbus," action surrounds the young Columbus who dreams of becoming a sailor. He meets characters such

Sorority plans dance, picnic

The Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority (AKA) is sponsoring four days of activities culminating in a picnic at Giant City State Park Sunday, as part of Inter-Greek Week celebrations according to Gail Drish, publicity chairwoman for AKA.

Other activities planned by the sorority are:

—A dance at Merlins, 315 S. Illinois Ave., from 4 to 9 p.m. Thursday.

—A skating party from 7 to 10 p.m. Friday, at Poe's Skating Rink, R.R. No. 3 Marion.

—Dances at University City starting at 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and —Olympic games, with sign-up sheets available at the SIU Student Center from noon until 2 p.m. Wednesday until Friday.

Times for the games are to be announced, Drish said. "Trophies and prizes will be awarded to event winners."

Buses to the skating party will be leaving at 6:30 p.m. Friday from Trueblood Hall and the Student Center, Drish said.

MFA candidates to open show in Mitchell Gallery

Peter Mitten and Ronald Morimoto will present their Master of Fine Arts exhibits at Mitchell Gallery April 28 to May 4. An opening reception will be held at the gallery from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Mitten received his bachelor's degree in 1973 from SIU, and returned in the fall of 1974 when he received a teaching assistantship. His presentation consists of cast and fabricated bronze and aluminum.

Morimoto received his B.A. from the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle in 1974. Previously he was an Army photographer in the United States and Vietnam. He will exhibit large acrylic color field paintings.

Mitchell Gallery, located in the Home Economics Building, is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays. Admission is free.

as Sheba, the parrot, played by Angela Epperson, a graduate student in music; and Lorelei the mermaid, played by Leslie Conerly, a graduate student in music.

Other characters in the musical, staged by Romeo Cecilia and conducted by Charles Seiler, graduate students in music, include Janet Morrow Stearns, a graduate student in music, as Bianca; David McCracken, a sophomore in theater, as the Spanish Ambassador; Leslie McEwen, a graduate student in music as the nurse; Randy Black, a freshman in music, as Christopher's father and Eric Hooker as the cook. Christopher Columbus will be played by Mike Orzechoski.

Admission is 25 cents. The action in "Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" centers around California during the days of the Gold Rush.

Cast includes Fredrick James and David Doyle, graduate students in music; Brenda Lualdi, a graduate student in accounting; James Quesenberry Jr., a senior in music; Joseph Accomando, a senior in communications and fine arts; David Peterson, a junior in music and Paul Barrientos.

Mary Elaine Wallace, associate professor of music, is staging the musical and Robert Mueller, professor of music, and Sheila Snow, graduate assistant in piano, will provide the music.

There is no admission charge. The show has been chosen as a featured attraction of the Spirit of St. Louis bicentennial celebration and will be performed on the Goldenrod Showboat June 28 and 29.

Laotian family in need of sponsor

Dana Henderson
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The first Laotian refugee family to be relocated in the Carbondale area is in need of a sponsor, according to Doug Linson, chairman of the Carbondale International Assistance Council.

The family of nine arrived in Carbondale last Thursday after two days of plane rides that took them from Bangkok through Hong Kong, Tokyo, San Francisco and finally St. Louis at 6 p.m. Thursday.

"They came two weeks earlier than I had expected so I have not had time to line up a sponsor yet," Linson said. "It's the sponsor's job

Students observe poultry processes

Five students enrolled in an SIU commercial poultry production course studied major poultry production and processing operations during a field trip to Indiana Monday and Tuesday.

The group spent Monday observing hatcheries, feed processing, laying chicken operations and egg processing plants at the Rose Acre Poultry Farms near Seymour. About 4,000,000 chickens are involved in the poultry operations.

They observed the Arbor Acres Hatchery and other poultry industry developments near Coryden on Tuesday. Included were hatcheries, production, processing of broiler chickens and distribution of equipment for the poultry industry.

Top level parking closed for repairs

The upper level of the parking garage will be closed for repairs Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The lower level will remain open to vehicles with blue parking stickers only, said Jack Moore, project engineer at the physical plant.

Moore said leaks in six expansion joints will be repaired. The structure was waterproofed before the garage opened on April 1 but Moore said minor repairs are normally necessary on a parking structure after it is open to traffic and exposed to the elements.

to help the family in finding a house, getting a job and things like that," he said.

The Dhavorachit family escaped from Laos across the Mekong river into Thailand about nine months ago and had been living in Bangkok, waiting for the U.S. government to arrange for their emigration to the United States, according to Dhavorachit Thongsavang, a former air traffic controller in Yientiane, the capitol of Laos.

"We couldn't stay with the Communists." Dhavorachit said. His wife and seven children, aged 8 to 15, speak French and Laotian fluently but no English.

The family will stay with Linson for the next few days, until a sponsor is found. "We could use volunteers to help the children pick up some English vocabulary before they start regular language classes," Linson said. Volunteers should call Linson at 549-0251 or visit the International Assistance Council office at 404 W. Mill St., Carbondale.

Anything went in 'Anything Goes' elimination competition

By Bob Morley
Student Writer

The event was called "Almost Anything Goes", but it should have been called "Almost Everything Goes Wrong."

The games, held Saturday and Sunday in Evergreen Park took their name and format from a popular ABC-TV game show which pits hometown teams in absurd sports designed to embarrass and humiliate the contestants.

Weekend winners in the Chamber of Commerce Division: Carbondale, Herrin and West Frankfort; and Student Division: Abbott Hall Spacers and Smith Hall Intellectuals and a faculty team yet to be selected now go onto compete in finals to be held in the SIU Arena on May 7.

Nearly 400 people, on 28 teams competed in the games which were organized by the SIU Veterans Club.

Although the event had been in the planning stage for three months, a barrage of problems arose as soon as the Chamber of Commerce teams began competing at 9 a.m. Saturday.

The participants apparently took a liberal interpretation of the rules. Evidently, they took the approach that almost anything went. Take for example, the obstacle course. A rope was strung across a path at a height of four feet. The organizers had hoped this would force teams to think of some way to help their fellow teammates across the rope without touching it, thereby avoiding a one second penalty.

But instead, some teams had one person pull the rope down to ground level, taking just one second penalty, while the remainder of the team ran across the rope which was meant to be hurdled.

More than just rules were broken in the cage ball event. In this game, which at times resembled a barroom brawl, one woman broke her nose and a man dislocated his knee.

As organizers began assembling contestants in the student division, the morning drizzle became a downpour.

But organizers didn't want to reschedule the event for Sunday. They had a band coming from St. Louis to play at a party after the game. They also had 45 barrels of beer to sell.

But, the rain continued and the officials decided to reschedule the events for Sunday.

Sunday, 1 p.m. Threatening clouds, 38 degree weather, and may be 50 contestants. Official realized the others forgot to reset their clocks.

The first event was the cage ball in which teams lined up on opposite sides of the field. At the official's signal, teams race to the cage ball, a heavy ball four feet in diameter, and tried to push the ball across their opponent's goal line.

The first two teams lined up. At the official's signal, they raced for the ball, arriving simultaneously. The result was an explosion. Team members were scattered on the ground, a deflated cage ball lying between them. The SIU Vets Club now owned a $200 piece of collapsed rubber.

Scratch the cage ball event. On to the tug-of-war. It didn't seem possible, but it wasn't long before the first two teams snapped the rope. Scratch the tug-of-war.

That left only the band and the beer to worry about. Fortunately, the Eagles Club of Carbondale let the Vets hold their dance in their hall.

The dance was just about over. But, for one official, crying uncontrollably on his bar stool, the event will always be remembered as the "anything that could go wrong did go wrong" competition.

Nominations due for judicial board

Petitions for additional nominations of faculty members to the Judicial Review Board must be submitted to the Faculty Senate Office, Fancer Hall Room 2236, by 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Petitions must contain the signatures of 25 faculty members of the same constituency as the nominee, as well as their typed or printed names and departments. Faculty members of any rank may sign the petition.

Eight positions are available on the board for faculty members of the rank of associate or full professor and two positions for those of junior rank.

Separate ballots will be sent to each of the five Judicial Board constituencies. The ballots must be returned to the Faculty Senate Office by 3 p.m. May 10, said Anita Allen, Faculty Senate secretary.

Faculty members approved for nomination by the Faculty Senate and their constituencies are: Colleges of Business, Science and the School of Technical Careers: Kendall Adams and Roland Wright (senior rank) and Bruce Petersen and Barbara Stotler (junior rank); College of Communications and Fine Arts: L. Erwin Atwood and Samuel Floyd (senior rank) and Marvin Kleinau and Harry Stonecipher (junior rank); College of Education: Ernest Lewis, Marjorie Potter (Wayne Ramp and Loren Taylor (senior rank); Schools of Engineering and Technology, Agriculture, Medicine, College of Human Resources and Morris Library: George Black, Martha Ellert, Donald Lybecker and David Wade (senior rank); School of Law and the College of Liberal Arts: William Garner, Leslie Gates, Garth Gillan and Janet Rafferty (senior rank).

Spring practice pleases coach; football mentor praises safety

By Dave Wicorek
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer
Spring progress report No. 1: SIU football Coach Rey Dempsey thinks he and his staff are making steady improvements with the team that was 1-9-1 under Doug Weaver last year.

"We're right on schedule," Dempsey said about spring practice. "The thing that keeps us on schedule is that the kids are working hard. There's no question they want to win."

One guy who is really working hard is safety Valdrew Rodgers, Dempsey said.

"Valdrew at this time is our most solid performer on offense or defense," the coach said. "We have him playing the strong safety or monster position."

Rodgers has always been known for his hard hitting, something not all the other Salukis can claim.

"He's been very tough physically. He sheds blockers well and then really attacks the ball carrier," Dempsey said. "He's been our most vicious tackler."

"Valdrew doesn't say much, but he sure gets after you once the ball is snapped. He has had a great attitude and I think many of our defensive players are starting to hit better because Valdrew is setting a good example.

"We're still pushing them hard. They seem to be going a little harder every day. What you stress or demand is what you get. We demand a lot and we get a lot."

"We're concerned about the small points. They weren't pushed in that manner last year. As a result we're getting more physical as a team. I think they sense that things are harder than last year."

It is generally acknowledged by most of the players that the winter conditioning program and spring practice thus far have been tougher than last year. Dempsey hopes the plethora of injuries the Salukis suffered last year will not plague the team this year.

"Injuries can be a lot of bad luck," Dempsey said. "Some of the guys last year had serious injuries. Some things might have just bumps and bruises. That's where I think there wasn't toughness."

"Conditioning was part of it too. You can talk to the trainers and they will tell you that we are hitting harder this spring and have less injuries."

Dempsey hopes that will hold true at least until May 8, when SIU will hold its spring game.

"By then we want to appear to be sound," he said. "We hope to have half our offense in and look sharp with those plays."

"Defensively, we hope to be hitting as a unit and to have good pursuit. We stress a lot of fundamentals. If these can be carried out on offense and defense that will be good."

Dempsey, who said the team seems to have confidence in the new coaching staff, has put all his time into football since arriving in Carbondale last January.

"All I do is work on football," he said. "I haven't spent any time with my family. In the summer I'll take some time to spend with them."

"We still have a few scholarships left so we'll be trying to get some more kids. Monday, as a staff, we'll go to different schools in Southern Illinois to show them we're still interested. Maybe we'll find an extremely big kid or an extremely fast kid."

Dempsey admitted that the excursion will also be a goodwill trip.

"This has been a big adjustment for me. Not everyone here is concerned about football," he said. "I thought there would be a little more interest."

Women thinclads 3rd at relay meet

By Scott Burnside
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Back-to-back winning performances by long distance runner Jean Ohly enabled the women's track to finish third at the Pantherette Relays held Saturday at Charleston.

Ohly won both the two and three miles races. The only other individual first place winner for the Salukis was June Winston in the high jump.

Winner of the relay was the University of Illinois with 150 points. Host Eastern Illinois was second with 140 and SIU finished with 121.

Eastern's second place finish was a surprise considering its low finish at the Illinois Invitational a week ago.

Coach Claudia Blackman said that Eastern gained some points last weekend in areas they were knocked out of by other schools at Illinois, the shot put being one of them.

"Eastern placed three in the shot put," Blackman said.

SIU didn't lose any points in Ohly's events although she wasn't scheduled to run both the two-and three-mile races. She finished with an 18:16.5 in the three-mile and 45 minutes later ran the two-mile in 11:54.9 for another first place.

"We could see that she (Ohly) would not have to run well to place in the two-mile so I asked her if she would run, and she said yes," Blackman said. "We have decided that she runs better in her second race of the day."

The other first place was taken by Winston in the high jump with a 5-foot-2 effort.

This was two inches off her best height, but Blackman said that the weather could have been the cause. SIU received its only one-two finish in the high jump since Grace Lloyd was runner up with a 5-0 leap.

The Salukis' mile relay team of Carol Anderson, Mary Shirk, Brenda Bruckner and Lloyd also claimed a first for SIU. It was the only top finishing relay team for the Salukis Saturday. The team's time was 4:14.8.

Blackman also cited performances by Nancy Barkman and Sue Visconage as outstanding.

Barkman came in third in the 100-meter hurdles with a time of 15.7, which is her best time of the season. Visconage qualified for nationals with another third place in the javelin. She threw the javelin 123-4 1/2.

Two other productive athletes were Ann Stribling and Ann McRae. Stribling was third in the 220-yard dash and fourth in 100-yard dash. McRae came in second in the mile run and sixth in the 880-yard run.

Another invitational at Illinois State is on tap for the track team Saturday.

Saluki netters edge SIU-E

The SIU men's tennis team took five of six singles matches against SIU-Edwardsville and went on to a 6-3 win Monday at the University tennis courts. The win gave the netters a 9-5 season record.

SIU's No. 1 players, Mel Ampon had an easy time in defeating Arjun Fernando of SIU-E 6-4, 6-2. Ampon placed his shots very strategically and Fernando had a hard time returning them.

Felix Ampon, Jeff Lubner, Neville Conlin and Jay Evert were the other Saluki singles winners. Lubner, Conlin and Evert had to go three sets to win their matches.

In doubles, SIU lost two of three as Conlin and Sam Dean teamed up for the only win. Mel Ampon and Evert accounted for the second.

One tennis match left for 5-2 women's squad

By Rick Korch
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The SIU women's tennis team split two games on its weekend Kentucky roadtrip and then came back to Carbondale Monday to polish off another opponent. The team's spring record is now 5-2 with one match to go.

The Salukis lost Thursday to Murray State 6-3. The only singles winner for SIU was Sue Briggs, who beat Karen Weis 6-4, 6-1, avenging a loss last fall to Weis.

After Briggs, the netters lost the next five singles matches, with Sue Cispkay, Sue Monaghan, Shar Deem, Trina Davidson and Lisa Taylor going down in defeat. For Cispkay and Davidson, it was only their second loss.

The Salukis lost to Murray State 8-1 last fall, and Judy Auld was mildly happy with the outcome. "They're a much stronger team than us, and they have depth."

SIU faced weaker Austin Peay team Friday and easily defeated them 9-0, with almost every match an easy win. Briggs raised her undefeated record to 5-0 with an easy 6-0, 6-1 win.

Other winners and their season records are Cispkay, 4-2; Monaghan, 3-3; Deem, Davidson, 4-2 and Taylor 3-1.

Briggs hasn't had as much luck in doubles as she has in singles, but Friday she teamed with Monaghan to win, raising their doubles record to 3-2. Davidson and Taylor, playing doubles together for the first time, won both weekend matches, giving them a 2-0 record. The final doubles team, Cispkay and Deem kept their record undefeated at 4-0 with two weekend wins.

The netters final match was an 8-1 exhibition win over the Fort Campbell women's team, and beat them 8-1. Cispkay was the only Saluki to lose, but the loss doesn't affect her record.

In their final home match of the season, Monday, the Salukis trounced Southeast Missouri (SEMO) 10-3. The top three members of the team didn't play, and the members of the 'B' team made up the slack.

Deem won, raising her record to 3-2, while Davidson (4-3) and MacDonald (1-5) lost. Lisa Taylor, who has played in the A team's No. 6 position won, giving her a 4-1 record.

Other members of the 'B' team who won, and their records, are: Linda (Lou) Wright (3-0); Theresa Theresa Burgard (3-0); Annette Hackett (2-0); Roseanne Cittadino (3-0); and Ann Hardin (2-1).

"The 'B' team played really good all year long," said Coach Judy Auld. "At times, I had more confidence in them than the A team."

The final tournament before the regionals is the Western Illinois Invitational Friday and Saturday in Macomb. The girls can play only singles or doubles. Briggs and Cispkay will play singles, and the teams of Monaghan-Deem and Davidson-Kim MacDonald will play doubles.

Salukis batter Indians in 2 ho-hum slugfests

By Scott Burnside
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

What is the definition of a true baseball fan?

A person who sticks clear to the end of a 18-0 game, which has been proceeded by a 13-2 contest.

Approximately 25 such fans stuck it clear to the end of a Saluki doubleheader Tuesday with those scores being posted on the scoreboard by SIU and Arkansas State University.

Happily, the positive end of the scores was posted on SIU's side of the scoreboard or there wouldn't have been that many spectators in the stands.

By the fifth inning Coach "Itchy" Jones was trying to lighten the load for his opponents and ballplayers were seeing action who were lucky to be on the statistics sheet.

"Who's that guy, I've never seen him before?" fans kept saying.

Both games had striking similarities. The Saluki pitchers starting both ballgames were the best SIU had to offer, at least by their respective records.

Tim Verpaele was the winning pitcher in the 13-2 debacle and Dewey Robinson was the pitcher of record for the 18-0 shutout. Both hurlers needed relief help, although it wasn't pitching difficulties that saw them leave the game.

Saluki hitters did their damage early in both games. By the end of the third inning of the first game, SIU had constructed a 13-1 canyon, and at the same time in the last game, SIU had catapulted to a 10-0 start.

Everybody had a chance to score Wednesday. Runners, especially the top of the order, were crossing plate faster than a herd of housewives descending on a yard sale.

The first three hitters, Bert Newman, John Hoscheidt, and George Vukovich scored in both the first and second innings of the 13-2 victory. Newman and Hoscheidt went on to cross the plate in the third inning also.

Saluki runners especially Newman had free stealing access to any base during both games. Newman came into Wednesday's doubleheader with 32 steals out of 36 attempts. He stole three more, which puts him only one shy of the stolen base record, which Newman set last year.

Altogether, the Salukis stole nine bases and only one runner (Neil Fiala) was caught. Both first innings were especially ripe for runners.

In the first frame of the opening game, Newman, Vukovich and Fiala swiped a base. In the first inning of the bottom half of the doubleheader four bases were taken without benefit of hit, error, or act of God. In fact, the first four batters in the lineup stole second base.

Hitting heroes were many for die-hard Southern fans. Home runs were hit out of the park by Chuck Curry, Hoscheidt, and Joe Hage. Altogether Saluki hitters gathered 24 hits on the day against hapless Indian hurlers.

In a day of hitting for SIU, shortstop Jerry DiSimone had the best day, going 4-for-6. The four hits include two doubles, a single and a perfect instruction book bunt single.

The two SIU hitters listed in the top 50 hitters across the nation, Murray and Hoscheidt, also helped their averages out. Murray, hitting .382 going into Wednesday games, went 3-for-5. Hoscheidt, a .371 hitter, was 3-for-6.

These victories bring Southern's record up to 31-10-1 for the season. SIU has posted 30 plus marks for nine out of the last 10 years.

Robinson and Verpaele both posted their seventh victories. Robinson has been defeated this season and Verpaele has lost only one game.

Friday SIU starts a four game home stand against the University of Missouri. A doubleheader between the two teams is scheduled for both Friday and Saturday. The games start on Friday at 1 p.m. and Saturday at noon.

Kee favored in intercollegiates

By Mark Kazlowski
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

Mike Kee is either a very confident or very cocky person.

But then the freshman sprinter from Boston has a right to be both.

In seven outdoor meets, he has lost only once in the finals of the 100-meter or 100-yard dashes.

His room must look like a miniature jewelry store. In the three relay meets in which SIU has competed—Florida, Kansas and Drake—Kee has won watches each time for first place finishes in the century race.

His only loss came in the special 100-meter dash at Kansas, an event he says now he shouldn't have run. He won the university 100-meter dash and went into the special race without Coach Lew Hartzog's knowledge or permission.

Hartzog suggested Kee may have tired himself out by running in the University event.

His best times of 9.3 in the 100-yard dash and 10.1 in the meter version should make him the favorite in the 100-meter dash Saturday in the Illinois Intercollegiates. Kee agreed that the favorite's role should be his.

"Mmmpph oooof." Looking not unlike a pelican storing a fish, umpire Terry Templin of Albers calls a time out. Arkansas State could have used more than a timeout, however, as the Salukis trounced the Indians, 13-2 and 18-0. (Staff photo by Jim Cook)

Sprinter tyrannizes dash finals

The trials for the 100-meter dash begin at 5 p.m. Friday at McAndrew Stadium. The semifinals will be run at 5:30 p.m. The finals will be run at 1:50 p.m. Saturday.

"I think the nearest guy is about three-tenths of a second behind me for 100 meters," Kee said referring to Marvin Edmond of Western Illinois.

Hartzog concurred. "I would have to favor Kee," he said. "I would consider Marvin Edmond of Western as the biggest threat along with either Joe Laws or Mike Monroe (both of SIU)."

Kee's biggest challenge might come from Monroe. After Kee won at Drake, Monroe warned Kee that he would win the 100 at the intercollegiates.

"I haven't been really pushed yet," Kee said with quiet confidence. "If I have the lead after 60 yards or 60 meters, I'll win."

"There are very few runners who can accelerate with me once I get going."

"I don't have a good start. I only use it when I have to. When I want to start, I can start."

Kee makes the statements quietly and fails to come off as a brash braggart. With his record, its not a difficult accomplishment.

Hartzog said of Kee, "I'm impressed with him as a sprinter. He's a rarity. In the easy meets, he just wins. In the tough meets he does what a true champion is supposed to do and gets tough."

Kee says he follows the philosophy of Dr. Delano Meriweather, a Boston physician and sprinter.

"You never run harder than you have to," Kee said. "If you run just hard enough to win, you always have something left for the other meets."

Looking past the intercollegiates and conference championships, Kee said, "The only time I'll have any challenge is the USTFF (United States Track and Field Federation) championships at the end of May and the nationals. That's when I'll have to start really running."

At the Drake Relays, Kee proved true to form. He took second in the preliminaries Friday on a dry track with a time of 10.52. Saturday in a steady drizzle and on a wet track in the finals he ran a 10.15 to win the watch. Robert Woods of Grambling was second with a time of 10.25.

Thrills, excitement found on country road

By Dave Wiczorek
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

If you're looking for cheap entertainment, something a little out of the ordinary that will provide a lot of thrills and excitement, don't miss the off-road races this weekend.

The Big Muddy Four-Wheelers, a family oriented off-road club, is sponsoring an annual get-together of jeep and dune buggy drivers. Events include up-hill drag races, an obstacle course race and a mud-run. Men and women will compete in separate classes.

Saturday's and Sunday's events, taking place out in the boonies, (to find the site, go to Walnut and 20th streets in Murphysboro and signs will direct you the rest of the way) is a once-a-year affair for the Four-Wheelers. The rest of the year is spent on family trail rides.

The events this weekend will be a family affair, so to speak. Most racers will bring their families. But when the racing gets underway, the track will be no place for the weak-hearted. (One driver died of a heart attack last year.)

Sunday afternoon I took a trip out to the dirt track, which is cut out of some hilly farmland. Unfortunately, or maybe fortunately, the track was too soggy from the previous day's rain even for the modified jeeps to tackle.

It was just as well. The fella' who was supposed to give me the grand tour had just installed a Corvette engine in his jeep. I had a feeling I was going to find out how fast his Corvette-powered jeep could cover the course.

Wit 'n
Whiz-dom

I did walk over most of the obstacle course. It's a very pretty setting, right in the middle of a wooded area. But when traveling fast on the course, the sudden drops and just-as-sudden inclines become as treacherous as riding a bicycle on the narrow paths leading down to the floor of the Little Grand Canyon.

What makes the course dangerous are the many sharp turns, steep inclines and numerous trees. The course is approximately one mile in length. Club president Bob Grob estimates it will take drivers two-and-a-half to three minutes to complete the run. Drivers will compete against the clock.

The obstacle race starts at 8 a.m. Sunday and will end about 2 p.m. Saturday at 9 a.m., the uphill drag races for jeeps and buggies will be held. These races will be staged just like regular, organized drag races; timing lights and all.

The two days will feature serious racing, especially since the obstacle race is the first point-earning race of the year in the Mid-American Off-Road Association, an 11-state organization of which Four-Wheelers is a member.

However, Saturday's main event, the mud-run, is sure to provide some comic relief. Contestants will be given one try to cross a mud hole that is approximately 100 feet long and maybe only four inches deep in water.

But Grob quickly points out that the mud-run is nothing to splash at. "There may not be a bottom, to it," he said. "It's an old pond and there's a lot of silt down there."

Drivers will be given only a 10 or 15-foot running area before they must begin their jump. It is doubtful whether many machines are capable of making it, but plenty of help will be on hand to rescue both machine and driver from wallowing too long in the muck.

Grob anticipates more than 4,000 spectators for the two-day affair and approximately 50 drivers. He said plenty of space is available for persons wishing to camp on the site for the two days. Admission is $2, children under 12 free.

This may be your last chance to see this type of entertainment in Southern Illinois this year. If you haven't seen off-road racing before, I'll guarantee you've been missing something.

Just bring your suntan lotion, a cooler of refreshments and be prepared for some excitement that can't be found in Carbondale except on a warm Saturday night on Southern Illinois Avenue.
