She's 'Go-Going' Through SIU By Dancing at DuQuoin Fair

It's got to be a college student's dream come true—a part-time job involving nothing more than dancing which keeps up the figure, helps pay for the old sheepskin and is a ball of fun.

At least, that's what Dianne (Dee) Mueller, 20, a junior from Mount Prospect, is doing. Miss Mueller will be featured nightly at the DuQuoin State Fair as a "go-go girl" at the fair's Teen A Go Go.

She is part of the fair's new emphasis on attracting the young people of the area. Miss Mueller should be quite an attraction performing in a gilded bird cage to the music of various local groups such as the Jades, of Herrin, the Viscounts of Carbondale and others.

Miss Mueller is a physical education major who came to SIU with hopes of making the girl's gymnastics team. She was set back, however, by a damaged ligament which almost required operation. She began dancing to help pay for the operation, but since it was called off she is using the money to help finance her education.

The 5 foot 3, 105-pound dancer will be performing between 6 and 11 p.m. daily except Sunday during the fair.

Rehabilitation Workshop Is Completed

Professional workers in service agencies throughout the state completed two weeks of workshop training Friday in SIU's 13th annual Institute for Rehabilitation Personnel.

Guy A. Renzaglia, director of the SIU Rehabilitation Institute, is coordinator of the annual workshop institute.

The institute, which is supported by 20 agencies in Illinois, is designed to introduce new workers to rehabilitation procedures and principles, and to provide refresher courses for experienced counselors.

Such agencies as the state Department of Mental Health and Goodwill Industries use the institute as a training resource for their employees.

The institute's lecturing and consulting staff includes 58 educators and professionals from SIU, other universities, the cooperating agencies and specialized institutions.

Speakers from SIU are Robert W. McVicar, vice president for academic affairs; Harris B. Rubin, associate professor in behavioral research; Ronald G. Hansen, coordinator of research projects; and John M. Johnson, counseling trainee coordinator for the retarded.

FINAL PERFORMANCE—Robert Guy as Tommy Albright and Susie Webb as Fiona MacLaren will head the cast in the closing production of "Brigadoon" at 8 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium.

Sleeping Sickness Absent In Area, Officials Report

No cases of encephalitis (sleeping sickness) have been reported in Jackson County this summer, a spokesman for the Jackson County Health Department said Friday.

A rumor that three cases had been reported in Franklin County could not be confirmed. A spokesman at the Franklin County Health Department said she had not heard of any cases. And the county medical officer was not available for comment.

Mosquitoes that carry encephalitis are among the 55 different strains found in this area, according to John C. Downey, associate professor of zoology.

He said one of the strains is known as the St. Louis variety because it is prevalent in the St. Louis area, southern Illinois and Southeastern Missouri.

He explained that temperature and other weather conditions as well as other factors play a major role in the type mosquitoes that thrive in the area from one year to the next.

"One year we are bothered by one particular strain and another year a different one," he said.

Southern Illinois has a history of malaria and yellow fever as well as encephalitis. And a number of years ago an SIU athlete died of encephalitis.

"The malaria and yellow fever seem to have left the area but not the mosquitoes," Downey said.

Visitors to Race

Hambletonian Fills Neely Hall

Nearly all of the 400 available reservations for space in Neely Hall during the pre-Hambletonian days at the DuQuoin State Fair Monday and Tuesday, have been filled, the Housing Office reported.

The Hambletonian trotting race will be held Wednesday at the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds.

Samuel Rinella, coordinator of housing, said that rooms in Neely were made available to visitors to the fair only after area lodging was reported filled during fair week.

The same arrangement will cover Commencement weekend, Sept. 1 and 2.

Rates for non-students at Neely Hall are $6.50 a person or $5 each for two persons in one room the first night; and $5.50 for a single person or $4 a person for two in one room on succeeding nights.

Food service is available in Trueblood Hall, University Park's dining room.

Rinella said student workers from the University Park maintenance crew will serve as bell boys during their off-time on a "tips-only" salary basis.

Neely has been closed to full-time student residents during the summer because of the availability of other campus housing and the need for additional lodging for campus visitors.

In addition to the fairgoers, Neely will be used during the weeks prior to the beginning of fall term to house several student and non-student groups.

Varsity footballers here for preseason practice move in today and will be staying at Neely until Sept. 17.

Approximately 160 members of a bankers' convention will be at Neely from Aug. 29 to Sept. 9 and 100 incoming foreign students here for orientation will be housed there from Sept. 8 to 17.

Gus Bode

A production of "Peter Pan," by J. M. Barrie, will be staged during the winter term. It will be presented Feb. 10-12 and 16-19. This play calls for many concepts of theater which were not possible before the new theater was built.

"Come Blow Your Horn," a comedy by Neil Simon, will be presented April 7-9, and 13-16. In addition to these dates, the play will also be taken on a USO tour of the Far East.

A classic in theatrical literature will close the season. "The Three Sisters," by Anton Chekhov, will be presented May 12-14 and 18-21.

Curtain time for all productions will be 8 p.m. Tickets for the productions will go on sale the first week of the fall term. Single tickets are $1.25 and season tickets are $4.

Gus says he'd rent a room in Neely Hall for the fair if they'd let him stay there during the fall term too.

Checking Duck Boxes

Students Aid Staff At Wildlife Refuge

High school students from all over the state have visited the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge this summer...

The students, about 190 of them, have been enrolled in a conservation workshop at SIU. One day each week is set aside for a field trip to the refuge.

One group in each weekly session has erected a stock fence around a pond. That's to keep cows from getting into an area being developed for duck habitat.

Another has planted cattails at a second wildfowl habitat area.

And a third group has checked duck boxes.

What's a duck box? A good percentage of the student conservationists had never been to Crab Orchard before and the vast majority had never heard of a duck box. They found out.

The boxes, which actually look like miniature rockets, are designed to compensate for a lack of natural nesting sites on the refuge.

With refuge biologist James Rice supervising, the student climbs a ladder to the box, beats on its side to drive out wasps, then unscrews the nose cone and checks out the contents. He is looking for evidence of wood-duck habitation, such as egg-shells. Another objective is to clean out nest built frequently by starlings.

Delta Chi Elects Prusok to Office

Ralph E. Prusok, dean of students at SIU, was elected national treasurer of Delta Chi social fraternity at its St. Louis convention Friday.

David Gillespie, controller of the Department of Agriculture at the University of Illinois was elected president at the 35th annual convention of the fraternity. Charles Wright, mayor of Topeka, Kan., was elected secretary.

NEST CHECK—A high school student attending an SIU Conservation Workshop checks a wood duck nesting box on the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge. Duck box detail was one of three tasks students found awaiting them on Refuge field trips.

El Canonigo

Obispable de Sevilla

Había en Sevilla un canónigo más político que teólogo y más enredador que pastor de almas; electorero de Maura, el jefe del Partido Conservador, repartía más sonrisas y más ruidosos apretones de mano, que bendiciones.

Debido a su amistad con el "ilustre jefe" y a sus servicios al partido (a sus merecimientos, decía él), tenía por seguro que lo iban a hacer obispo en la primera ocasión. Y cada vez que quedaba una sede vacante, sea en Coria, o en Gaudix o en las mismas Hurdes, si obispado hubiera en las Hurdes, a Madrid se iba nuestro buen canónigo a trabajar su candidatura.

Y tan confiado estaba en que su buen amigo D. Antonio Maura no lo abandonaría, que dejaba en Sevilla hablados a sus amigos para que acudieran a la estación a recibirlo en triunfo cuando regresara con el nombramiento en la mano.

—Esta vez no pudo ser; yo lo comprendo—dijo a sus amigos en la estación la primera vez— porque D. Antonio tenía un compromiso doméstico y le fue necesario dar la mitra al padre Leandro, sobrino de la lavandera de su casa. Pero ya es cosa decidida: la proxima es mia. ¡Obispo tendremos de aquí a poco!

— Miren ustedes que mala paga! —explicó a sus amigos de allí a poco— ¿Querrán creer que fue el mismo rey quien pidió a Maura esa mitra para el hijo de su mayordomo de Balsafán? Pero la que venga... la que venga es mía sin falta —aseguraba con confianza.

Pero fue para el padre Requilorio. Y la otra para el reverendo D. Soliloquio. Y otra para un amigo malagueño de Romero Robledo, y para un compromiso inaplazable con Bergamini; y otro con La Cierva...

Aquello parecía una repetición al revés de lo ocurrido a D. Illán con el canónigo de Santiago en el cuento de El Conde Lucanor. ¿En qué acabó tanta agonía, tanto viaje a Madrid, tanta promesa formal?

Con razón dice la copla popular:

"Papeles son papeles, cartas son cartas; palabras de ministros todas son falsas".

Al regresar una de las veces, el canónigo sevillano le confesó con desmayo a sus amigos más íntimos:

—Miren ustedes: Si está un día entero lloviendo mitras en Sevilla, no habrá una, ni chica ni grande, que me caiga en la cabeza. Pero, si en medio de tanta mitra cae por casualidad un orinal, un solo y por chiquito que sea... ése, ése me quedará encasquetado. No lo duden.

Y no hubo más viajes a Madrid; se acabaron los apretones de mano y las sillas episcopales que solicitar. El buen prebendado volvió a sus mitras y a sus laudes, al coro y al coro catedral. Se cortó, no diré que la colera (¿No estamos en Sevilla?), se le cortaron las ínfulas...

Youth Corps Sees Southern Campus

The Carbondale campus is host this week to 75 members of the St. Clair County Neighborhood Youth Corps.

The youths, principally high school seniors, are accompanied by seven VISTA workers. They arrived on campus Tuesday to spend the week being introduced to a college campus. Chester Williams of the Community Development Service is workshop coordinator.

In addition to university orientation programs conducted by student activities leaders and faculty personnel, the visitors will hear talks by leaders at the Crab Orchard Job Corps Center, visit the Little Grassy Lake facilities, and participate in organized recreation at the Lake-on-the-Campus. This evening they will attend a performance of "Brigadoon" at Shryock Auditorium.

The Youth Corps enrollees will return home Saturday morning.

SIU Vocal Group Will Sing on TV

Moody and Company, a group of SIU students who won a first-place trophy in the Theta Xi Variety Show last spring, will appear Tuesday on "Illinois Sings," a color television special.

The hour-long special, which is narrated by Eddie Albert, features talented amateur performers from Illinois.

The SIU group will sing "This Land" from the steps of the Capitol in Springfield.

In preparation for 10 months, "Illinois Sings" spans every season of the year and over 3,500 miles of the state's towns, parks, rivers and countryside, featuring over 37 locations throughout the state.

In 17 musical numbers, the singers will attempt to express pride in the heritage of Illinois, the Prairie State and the Land of Lincoln.

The program, sponsored by Illinois Bell Telephone, can be seen in this area at 9 p.m. on WSIL-TV, Channel 3, Harrisburg.

SIU's Shea, 'Tad' Wieman Coauthor Book on Athletics

A book designed to provide guides to sound practices and procedures in intercollegiate athletics compatible with purposes of higher education has been written by two educators in physical education.

Authors of "The Administration of Athletics in Higher Education" are Edward J. Shea and E. E. (Tad) Wieman. Shea is chairman of the Department of Physical Education for Men. Wieman, who had a football coaching career at Michigan, Minnesota, and Princeton Universities, currently is director of athletics emeritus at the University of Denver.

The book, to be published this fall by the Charles C. Thomas Co. of Springfield, Ill., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., provides criteria by which to judge educational worth of intercollegiate athletics. It also presents a checklist against which an administrative organization may be measured for purposes of self-study.

A final chapter reveals what the authors think is the likely future of athletics as the result of growth of professional athletics, television, multicampus universities, changing views of students and diversity purposes of educational institutions.

Negro Youth Need More Jobs, Status

By Robert M. Hutchins

In modern society work is more than a means to a livelihood. It is a symbol of status. If you are working, you belong. If you are not, you don't.

Automation and a guaranteed annual income may gradually change the prejudices of Western man, formed by the teachings and habits of centuries. But today a man out of work is a second-class citizen. He is so in his own opinion as well as that of his neighbors.

Therefore, one does not have to be an economic determinist or a Marxist to say that in the United States the unemployment figures disclose a basic disorder in our society. This is so because these figures reflect something more important than the condition of production. They show how many people have been thrown out of or excluded from the society and who they are.

Because of the war in Viet Nam, unemployment has been steadily declining. But in the middle of June, unemployment among Negroes increased over the month before and is twice the general rate. Almost 8 per cent of all Negroes are officially unemployed.

This is bad enough. But the figures on Negro youth are terrifying. In the middle of June, 32 per cent of 18- to 19-year-old Negroes were out of work. This was an increase of 5 per cent over the number a year ago in the same date.

The unemployment statistics do not present the real situation, for they record only those who have applied for work within a given period. They do not include the very large but unknown portion of Negro youth who have given up the search on the justifiable ground that it is hopeless.

Because the draft law favors young men who continue their education, and because the length of education in this and every other country depends on family income, a larger proportion of Negroes is drafted than whites. There is some truth in the charge that the war in Viet Nam is being fought by the poor—and the Negroes are the poorest among us.

It is so alarming that no other explanation of the current disorders in many large cities is required. It seems a little silly for government officers to be trying to ferret out Cuban Communists among the Negroes in Chicago. There may be some there, and they may be influential. But to blame them for what has been going on in Chicago is no more intelligent than blaming it on the heat.

Do the Negroes aim at reform or revolution? Do they want to join the society or overturn it? The Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions has listened to the experts and to all sectors of Negro leadership as they have talked about this subject for the past five years.

I have noticed a change lately. The voice of those who think the Negroes want nothing but admission to the American Way of Life is getting weaker. The Center is hearing more and more often that the resentment of Negroes is reaching such a point that they would not join the white society if they could. This means a revolutionary movement.

The peaceful settlement of Negro claims depends first of all on a massive effort to provide work and the status that goes with it to the Negro population, and particularly to Negro youth.

No Windows, Doors

Concrete Embassy Will Win Friends

By Arthur Hoppe (San Francisco Chronicle)

If there's anything that angers us loyal Americans, it's these foreign mobs constantly smashing up the windows of our embassies.

"What's wrong with our State Department?" we demand to know. "It's supposed to be winning friends abroad, isn't it? Why can't it come up with a new foreign policy that will put an end to all this window smashing?"

At last, thanks to our insistent pressure, the State Department has done just that. At our embassy in Moscow, as you may have read, it has ended window smashing forever—by installing two-inch thick steel doors across all entrances and steel shutters on the windows up to the fourth floor.

"Actually, steel shutters are only a beginning step in our new foreign policy designed to curb growing anti-Americanism abroad," the noted foreign policy architect, Ar. Homer T. Pettibone, A.A., explained in an exclusive interview.

The first step? "Yes," he said, rubbing his hands. "This was merely a remodeling job—a pilot project, so to speak. We are confident that the annual savings in broken glass alone will lead to congressional acceptance of our radically new design—the All-Purpose American Embassy. Perhaps you'd care to inspect the model here."

A perfect hemisphere! What clean, functional lines!

"Yes, we call it 'The Pill-box Concept.' It eliminates the cost of placing steel shutters over the windows by the ingenious device of not having any windows."

Very clever. But what about mobs tearing down and burning the American flag on top?

"Asbestos. Guaranteed non-inflammable. Besides, to reach the embassy itself, they'd have to scale this 20 foot electrified barbed-wire fence first. And even then they's have a long leap across this crocodile-filled moat. Before they landed in this mine field."

An admirable fortress. Not only did it have no windows, but it didn't seem to have any doors either.

"Quite right," said Mr. Pettibone happily. "Our studies show that doors always prove to be a weak point."

But without doors how will our diplomats get in and out to carry through our foreign policy?

"In? Out?" Mr. Pettibone looked puzzled. "Oh, I neglected to point out the strongest design feature of our new All-Purpose Embassy. It's solid concrete."

A lump of solid concrete? What kind of a way was that to win friends abroad?

"Our exhaustive survey on this subject," said Mr. Pettibone grimly, "show that we can do better."

But we'll have no diplomats in foreign lands explaining our actions, no urgent cables going our from Washington, no... Why, it would be like having no foreign policy at all.

"Exactly," said Mr. Pettibone.

Hijacking Is Worry Of Airline

By Edward Neilan Copley News Service

SAIGON—Air Viet Nam, the national airline, has taken precautions to prevent hijacking by Communist North Vietnamese or Viet Cong agents. After a reminder of the experience of Korean National Airlines in 1958, Communist agents forced an American pilot at gunpoint to fly into Communist North Viet Nam. The act gained the North Koreans a plane (they never returned the DC-3), the return of their agents, and several South Korean legislators and businessmen.

The legislators were either shot or imprisoned and the businessmen were later returned after being held hostage for ransom.

One South Vietnamese step has been to take its French-made Caravelle jets off domestic service near the North Viet Nam border and use them only on international routes to Singapore, Kuala Lumpur, Bangkok, Phnom Penh and Hong Kong.

Air Viet Nam's other international service to Vientiane in Laos, uses a four-engined DC-4. This route flies over parts of Communist-held Laos and Viet Nam.

Air Viet Nam's concern about hijacking includes the possibility that a flight could be routed to Cambodia at the point of a gun.

Vietnamese air force pilots who bombed the presidential palace in 1962 fled to Phnom Penh with their Skydriver aircraft. Another South Vietnamese pilot flew himself and his family to Cambodia two years ago.

The biggest concern, according to Air Viet Nam officials, is that agents might try to divert one of its flights en route to northern Hue or Da Nang, or to Kon-tum or Banmethout in the highlands. It would be relatively easy to get into North Viet Nam, Laos or Cambodia before Vietnamese air force planes could turn the plane back.

Air Viet Nam's domestic fleet includes DC-3, C-46, DC-4, DC-6B and Boeing Stratoliner aircraft, which is the last type of four-engined planes to be built with a rear tail wheel, as opposed to the presently favored tricycle landing gear.

All pilots have instructions about what to do in case of hijacking attempts, including emergency radio signals to be flashed. Some of the pilots carry weapons.

Peace, An Illusion: Ho Is Out to Win

This has all been said a hundred times before, but it must be repeated time and time again until foolish illusions are dispelled.

With the support of China and the backing of the Soviet Union, Ho Chi Minh does not want to end the war. He wants to win it. He is not only a nationalist caring for his people, he is a convinced Communist of the radical kind.

He believes in war as the means of building a classless society all over the world. —Hamburg Sonntagsblatt

Cards Assist Downed Pilots

Copley News Service

SAIGON—Survival is in the cards for U.S. Navy and Air Force pilots shot down by enemy fire over North or South Viet Nam.

Each pilot flying missions over Viet Nam carries a deck of cards.

These are not intended for a game of solitaire in some rain forest clearing while waiting for a rescue helicopter to arrive. In fact, there no kings, queens, jacks or aces in the deck.

Instead, the cards contain a short course in Vietnamese botany—the flora and fauna of Viet Nam's jungles and hill country.

The deck of cards is called the Survival Plant Recognition Set.

Published by the U.S. Naval Training Device Center, the card set tells the Navy or Air Force pilot all he needs to know about the plant life in the jungle environment.

There is detailed information on 15 indigenous killer plants.

Included are such colorful but lethal species as black-eyed Susan, castor beans and banberry.

The other 40 cards of the set make more pleasant reading. They tell about fruits, nuts, berries, roots and flowers native to Viet Nam that are edible, tasty and nutritious.

THE THEORY OF WALL STREET QUADRANGLES

Wall Street Quadrangles is owned and managed by a student for the benefit of students and is established upon the following principles:

1. Respect and protect the privacy and individuality of each and every resident.
2. Provide each student with 250% more living space than maximum competing standards.
3. Furnish the finest in interior residential furnishings— not cheap, lifeless carpeting and drab institutional decor.
4. Make living at Wall Street Quadrangles so attractive that a prospective tenant might even think about cutting down on his drinking in order to pay the rent.

In fact, the Wall Street Quadrangles residences reflect this theoretical framework:

1. Co-educational living on a sensible basis.
2. Unusual bi-level suites - not 7x10 cubicles
3. Plush wall to wall carpeting, deep walnut paneling, complete commissary and recreational opportunities.

WALL STREET QUADRANGLES Winner of national acclaim for excellence in design and the proud possessor of an unmatched local reputation.

WALL STREET QUADRANGLES is superior in every respect to Carbondale's norms - but don't ask us; talk to the student who lives there.

King's Good Faith

March on Cicero Is Postponed; Chicago Offers Rights Program

CHICAGO (AP) — A civil rights march into Cicero, scene of racial violence 15 years ago, was deferred Friday after a conference reported reaching an agreement on open housing.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., one of the conferees, said: "To demonstrate our good faith, we will defer this march to Cicero. This does not mean we will cancel the March. It is postponed."

The agreement reached at a summit conference of King and his aides, Mayor Richard J. Daley and city leaders covers the Chicago metropolitan area, King said.

The agreement calls for "a cessation of neighborhood demonstrations on the issue of open housing so long as the agreement is being carried out."

King called the agreement "one of the most significant programs ever conceived."

Ben W. Heineman, conference chairman, said the agreement will "put Chicago in the forefront of northern metropolitan areas that have worked to remove one of the most troublesome of racial problems."

A civil rights march Tuesday night drew little attention.

The agreement includes a 10-point program aimed at opening all-white neighborhoods to Negro dwellers.

Here is the gist of the agreement:

1. -The Commission on Human Relations, a city agency, will increase its enforcement staff and make year-around tests to determine the extent of compliance with open occupancy regulations. The commission also will initiate complaint proceedings on its own.

2. -The Chicago Housing Authority said it has begun activities to improve the character of public housing, including the scattering of housing, for the elderly across the city, and initiation of a leasing program which places families in the best available housing without regard to the racial character of the neighborhood.

4. -The Cook County Department of Public Aid will make an effort to search out the best housing for aid recipients available, regardless of location.

5. -The Department of Urban Renewal also agreed to search out the best housing, regardless of location, when relocating families.

6. -Mortgage bankers affirmed that their policy is to provide equal service and to lend mortgage money without regard to race.

7. -The U.S. Department of Justice promised to inquire into the questions raised with respect to federally-insured loans to financial institutions found guilty of practicing racial discrimination.

De Gaulle's Somaliland Visit Continues to Spark Violence

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland—(AP)—Police and troops fought angry crowds with clubs, tear gas and concussion grenades in a public square Friday, forcing visiting President Charles de Gaulle of France to cancel a scheduled speech there.

Blood flowed on both sides. The security forces emptied the square. But the crowd, yelling for independence from France, built up again, shouting abuse. Police and soldiers turned on the crowd savagely.

After the square was cleared, De Gaulle arrived and talked briefly in the territorial assembly hall adjoining the square. He told Somali officials in an oblique way that independence could be achieved.

"It is possible," he said, "that the day may come when, by regular democratic methods, the territorial assembly may express itself in a new direction, and if so, France will take account of this."

As De Gaulle spoke, traces of tear gas still hung in the square outside, where only a short time before the battle between troops and demonstrators had been fought.

Concussion and tear gas grenades were tossed into the crowd, which included women and children.

In panic, the crowd fled. Several stumbled and were trampled underfoot by those charging up from behind. Several were wounded by explosions and left moaning on the pavement in the blistering sun.

A number of Africans, one with a foot blown off, tried to climb into an army ambulance, but troops hauled them out saying the vehicle was only for wounded soldiers.

It was the bloodiest outbreak yet in violence which began as soon as De Gaulle arrived Thursday for a visit to this last bit of French territory in Africa.

Prayer Amendment Action Sidetracked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate action on the proposed constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayers in public schools was put off indefinitely Friday.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, chief sponsor of the amendment, originally had planned to call up the proposal for a floor showdown next Tuesday.

He told newsmen he would not do this, in part because many of his supporters will be absent and in part because he is satisfied the Senate Judiciary Committee will now approve it.

The amendment has been stalled in a judiciary subcommittee, which conducted lengthy hearings. Dirksen said the subcommittee has agreed to send it to the full judiciary committee without recommendation.

He said he has enough votes for approval by the full committee and will seek a vote when the committee meets next Wednesday.

Even if the committee approves it, the amendment could not come up on the floor until after the Senate debate on civil rights starting Sept. 6.

Its chances for action in the midst of an adjournment crush after the civil rights fight is ended would appear to be slim.

Johnson Makes Another Plea For Cooperation From Soviets

ARCO, Idaho (AP)—President Johnson sounded a new call Friday for Soviet cooperation to lessen the threat of nuclear war.

Then he expanded that to a general plea for peoples to work together, on the theme that the American goal is justice for man, whether at home or abroad.

"Violence is one face of failure," he said in asserting that "our foreign policy must always be an extension of our domestic policy."

America, the President said, must wear the same face in Denver and Des Moines, and in Moscow, Peking or Hanoi. "We are a great and liberal and progressive democracy up to our frontiers," he said. "And we are the same beyond."

For his approach to Moscow on atomic affairs, Johnson chose as his site the national reactor testing station here. The scene for his broader application of principles was Denver, Colo.

Taking off from Washington this morning, Johnson set out on his second consecutive wide-ranging weekend of personal appearances, with dates at Arco and Denver, and last night at Pryor, Okla. He visited five northeastern states last weekend.

In the address prepared for Arco, Johnson said the United States and the Soviet Union face the common task of searching for every possible area of agreement to lessen the chances of nuclear war.

Market Drops For 9th Time

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed lower Friday for the ninth time in 10 sessions. Trading was active.

Prices fell from the start, steadied, somewhat in early afternoon, then weakened again.

Glamour stocks were hit hard. Losses of several points were taken by such stocks as Motorola, Fairchild Camera, Texas Instruments, Delta Airlines and Teledyne.

The key stocks which affect the averages declined from fractions to 2 or 3 points. Most sections of the list were weak.

Volume for the day was estimated at 8 million shares compared with 6.76 million Thursday.

Here was the picture near the close:

It was the ninth market drop in 10 sessions.

Motorola topped more than 11 points; KLM Airlines, Fairchild Camera and Texas Instruments about 8; IBM and Delta Airlines about 7; Continental Airlines and Teledyne 5; J. Ray McDermott, Northwest Airlines and Hecla Mining about 4.

Off about 3 were TWA, Scientific Data and SCM.

The market sank from the start and widened its losses until the afternoon when there was a partial recovery.

Chance to Attempt Taming Hurricane Estimated at 50%

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Hurricane Faith, moving along the northern fringes of the Leeward Islands, swept tantalizingly close Friday to a target area where scientists hoped to make the first sustained effort to tame the terror of the tropics.

Chances still remained less than 50-50, however, that Faith's eye, circled by 80- to 90-mile winds, would edge across the boundary line into the region where she could safely be bombarded with silver iodide crystals. "Faith is not forecast to go into the area," said the Miami Weather Bureau's top storm forecaster, Gordon Dunn.

Cecil Gentry, alternate director of the U.S. government's Project Stormfury, and other scientists clung to a hope that the hurricane would veer just a bit more northward and become their historic guinea pig.

Scientists from Washington and California converged on Florida Thursday night and Friday and kept a close eye on Faith's movements, ready to take off for the Stormfury base at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, on short notice.

A swing from a westward course to a west-northwest track raised hopes that Faith would wind up in the right spot. The switch spared the lower Leeward Islands and densely populated Puerto Rico from a direct blow.

SIU Will Meet Wichita Sept. 17

By Mike Schwebel

SIU head football mentor Ellis Rainsberger will make his coaching debut here on Sept. 17 against a Missouri Valley Conference foe with a lot of potential.

The Wichita State University Shockers, like the Salukis, will be coming out after a rather dismal 1966 season. Under first-year coach George Karras last season, Wichita ended up with a 2-7 record, compared to a 2-8 year for Southern.

Karras used mostly sophomores last year as he installed the 1-formation for the first time at Wichita, and he and Shocker fans are looking forward to a vastly improved record this season.

Playing Southern for the first time last season, the Shockers shut out the Salukis 27-0 at Wichita.

WSU will have 18 returning lettermen, and these returnees almost guarantee one of the stronger defenses around. Karras, a real defensive specialist in the coaching game, will lose only a defensive linebacker and a tackle from last season's squad.

The offensive line is the big question mark for the Shockers. If they can come up with a suitable forward wall, they have the backfield to make a solid offensive showing.

John Eckman will be in the starting slot at quarterback,

Coach to Greet Football Players

Ellis Rainsberger, new SIU football coach, will greet 21 returning letterman among about 60 candidates reporting Monday.

Rainsberger, who succeeded Don Shroyer as head coach said Friday that drills will start in earnest Sept. 1 after physical examinations Tuesday and a picture taking session Wednesday.

The Salukis finished with a 2-8 record last year. SIU kicks off the 1966 football season against Wichita State Sept. 17 at home.

Geese Regulations Told for Season

Dates for the goose season in Alexander, Jackson, Union and Williamson counties will be from Nov. 14 to Dec. 23 and from Dec. 30 to Jan. 5.

Hunting hours will be from sunrise to 3 p.m. with the bag and possession limit set at five a day. No more than two Canadian geese or subspecies, or two white-fronted geese or one Canadian and one white-fronted goose, may be included in the limit.

and the 6-foot, 175-pound junior is a potentially fine passer.

Fullback John Shannon, another junior, should fill in at fullback adequately.

At the tailback positions, the Shockers have lots of speed and depth.

Roosevelt Bonner, Charlie Brown and Don Cherry give Karras plenty of talent at that position.

Bonner is rated as one of the fastest runners ever to play at WSU, with fine break-away moves.

Wichita will be playing four Missouri Valley opponents during the season, Cincinnati, Louisville, North Texas State and Tulsa.

The Salukis will play two other MVC teams, besides Wichita, Louisville and North Texas State.

As far as the Missouri Valley race is concerned, Karras rates Tulsa to return with a strong team, although he sees both Louisville and Cincinnati as possible squads to take the crown.

The Shockers, along with North Texas State, are rated as underdogs who could reach the top if they get the breaks.

Starting time for the season opener is 7:30 p.m. at McAndrew Stadium in Carbondale.

Deer Permits Filled In Southern Counties

Deer permit quotas have been filled in seven counties in southern Illinois.

They are Hardin, Johnson, Monroe, Union, Wayne, Williamson, and northern Pope counties.
