City Weighs Petition of Coeds

The Carbondale City Council is considering petitions signed by about 250 SIU coeds asking for better street lighting and more police patrols in the wake of sexual attacks on women.

Dick Moore, student body president, accompanied about 15 students to the council meeting Tuesday night. He said the Jan. 15 rape of a coed and the Jan. 21 attempted rape of a coed were the causes of the concern.

Moore asked that lights be installed on East College, West Mill and South Washington streets.

Mayor D. Blaney Miller said that after May 1, the beginning of the city's fiscal year, it may be possible to hire more policemen.

The mayor said the Central Illinois Public Service Co. has been asked to survey the area from Oakland Avenue to the east city limits.

"We cannot promise that a lot of lights will be put in," he said, "but we will give you every bit of help we can."

James Wallace, public safety commissioner, suggested that coeds keep to well-lighted streets.

I. Clark Davis, dean of student affairs, has said he will recommend to John Rendleman, general counsel, that the administration investigate the matter of night time protection for women in off-campus housing.

Voters Approve Both Measures In Referendum

Deciding the controversial issue of a Health Center Building and a Co-Recreational Center, SIU students Wednesday approved both measures in a referendum vote totaling 2,187.

Voting 1,146 to 719, the proposed Health Center Building was approved by 66.74% of the students. There were 22 invalid votes cast.

In a much closer decision, 1,114 approved of the Co-Recreational Building while 1,010 disagreed. The percentages were 52.4% for and 47.6% against. Sixty-three votes were invalid.

Of those voting for the Co-Recreation Building, 55% approved of the second plan to pay for it; $2 per quarter beginning Fall Quarter 1965 and $4 per quarter beginning Fall Quarter 1967.

Junta Toppled In South Viet Nam

By Associated Press

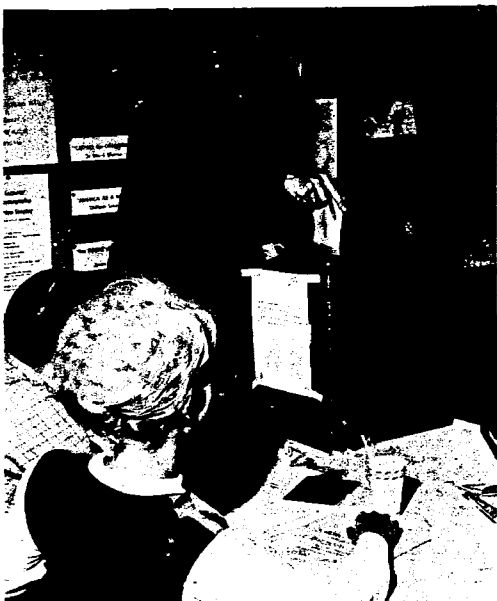

SAIGON--Troops and armored vehicles occupied Saigon Thursday, apparently carrying out a bloodless coup d'etat against the revolutionary junta that has ruled South Viet Nam since Nov. 1.

Military sources said the coup, which began before dawn, successfully ended by 8:00 a.m. local time.

The newest uprising was said to have been led by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of the 1st Army Corps in the northernmost part of the country.

No violence or shooting was reported in any part of the country.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge apparently was informed of an impending coup late Wednesday night.

HAPPY VOTER—Jim Pierson casts his vote in the referendum held Wednesday on the health center and recreation buildings. Fred Rauch, elections commissioner, and Gail Gardiner watch the polls.

Off-Campus Sweetheart Queen to Be Chosen; Dance at Center Set for Valentine's Day

Election days for the Off-Campus Sweetheart Queen have been set for Feb. 6 and 7 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., according to James Strachan, president of the Off-Campus Students Association.

Voting stations will be set up in Old Main as well as in each off-campus living area.

The deadline for turning in queen petitions is Jan. 31 at the University Center information desk or the Housing office. The candidates will be announced at the beginning of February after all the petitions are returned.

The Off-Campus Sweetheart Dance will be Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, in the University Center Ballroom from 8:30 to 12 midnight.

Don Le Masters and his orchestra will provide music for the All-Campus dance featuring old standards popular during the 40's.

Tickets for the semi-formal event will be on sale beginning Friday at 9 a.m. at the Student Government office of the University Center, the Housing Office and the individual off-campus living areas.

Top Culver-Stockton 108-53, Fifth Game Over 100 Mark

By Alan Goldfarb

Going over the century mark for the third straight game--and fifth of the year--Southern's cagers rolled over an outclassed Culver-Stockton team here last night, 108-53.

The victory, which was the fifth in a row for the Salukis, and ninth in their last 11 games, pushed Southern's season's record to a respectable 9-6.

The Salukis couldn't get moving until the first half as

Quartet to Play For Convocation

The University String Quartet performs at Freshman Convocation at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium, replacing the University Orchestra.

The quartet is composed of Warren VanBronkhorst, Peter Spurbeck, Thomas Hall and John Horton.

The orchestra's appearance was postponed because it is rehearsing for the opera, "The Marriage of Figaro."

they couldn't click on their plays and were consequently cold from the floor.

But Jack Hartman's squad pulled themselves together in time for the second stanza and rolled up 73 big points against the weaker and outmanned Wildcats.

It was co-captain Joe Ramsey who started the upsurge with four quick jumpers. But Ramsey had to sit down with sixteen minutes left because of four personal fouls. It was then Duane Warning, who lost his starting forward spot to sophomore Randy Goin who picked up the slack in the second stanza hitting on three jumpers. Warning finished the night with 16 points to lead the Salukis after a poor first half.

Both clubs were extremely cold in the first half as the Wildcats could only hit on seven field goals in 23 attempts. SIU wasn't much better as they hit on only 15 shots in 41 tries.

But with the second half bombardment, the Salukis wound up shooting a hot .500 as they hit on half of their 94 shots. Stockton stayed cool, however, to finish with a poor .308 percentage.

All twelve Salukis broke into the scoring column with five hitting for double figures. Clem Quillman, who has played only two games all year, hit for 10 points, all in the last 3 minutes of play.

Don Turpa led the Wildcats and all scorers for that matter with 20 points.

The Salukis will try to extend their five game winning streak when they close the current home stand against little MacMurray College Friday night.

In the preliminary game, Southern's freshmen scored a record 122 points as they romped to their sixth win in eight starts against Mt. Vernon JC.

Suave Rathbone Charms Audience

Basil Rathbone, a suave Englishman who was trained a Shakespearean but gained fame as a movie detective, opened SIU's Shakespearean Quadricentennial.

The tall, distinguished-looking actor, who has played 53 roles in 23 Shakespearean productions since 1911, presented a program of readings from Shakespearean plays and other poets Tuesday night in Shryock Auditorium.

With little more than a handful of notes, to which he rarely referred, and his rich voice, Rathbone turned the evening into a rare treat for the audience.

Sometimes seated, sometimes standing, Rathbone spoke in a pleasant, clipped style that was gentle and convincing. Occasionally he punctuated a line with a slight gesture or toyed with his glasses.

His selections ranged from "Hamlet's Advice to the Players" to "Annabel Lee." When he completed the latter, one person commented:

"When he recited the poem, I could just feel the wind choking her. He paints pictures with words."

Rathbone's style, his personality, his obvious enjoyment of bringing literature to life, combined to make his performance outstanding. Those who attended are not likely soon to forget the evening.

Advanced Courses Stressed In SIU Extension Offerings

Winter blasts don't halt the postman, neither do they deter SIU faculty members from taking education to the people.

Twenty-six of them are already on the road once a week to hold fall semester and winter quarter extension classes in area communities and 13 more in February will start their weekly drives--some to points as much as 100 miles away--to conduct 16-week spring semester courses.

Most of the extension classes offered by the University are designed to help area teachers complete requirements for certification or to upgrade themselves by work leading to the master's degree, according to Raymond H. Dey, dean of the Division of University Extension.

"However, we are now giving increasing numbers of General Studies courses so that area residents may start their college work in their home communities," Dey said, "or may simply take stimulating elective college-level courses for credit.

"We are gradually working ourselves 'out of business' on undergraduate courses for teachers, since most area teachers have now met requirements for the bachelor's degree.

"But advanced courses for teachers are still popular, and in a number of communities we have developed programs involving series of courses which can be applied toward a master's degree. Such centers have been organized at Albion, Karnak, Mt. Vernon and Harrisburg."

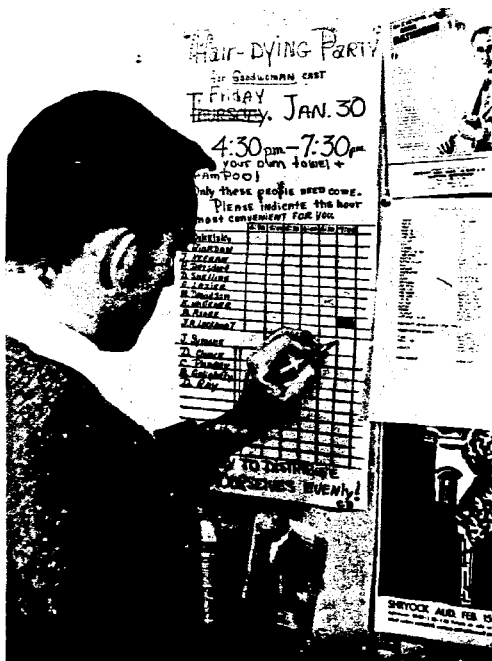

5 Face Charges In Armed Clash

The Williamson County sheriff's office indicated Tuesday that charges would be brought against five men, including three SIU students, who fought with weapons early Sunday.

A spokesman said that authorities were waiting for Charles Jordan, 22, of Harvard, Ill., one of the students, to be released from Barnes Hospital in St. Louis. The hospital said Jordan's condition Tuesday was good. He allegedly was hit with a hammer.

Police said the weapons used in the fight, which occurred at Cambria Crossroad east of Carbondale, included a hammer, a pistol, metal pipes and baseball bats.

The other SIU students were John Gunter, 23, of Peoria and John Schoen, 21 of Litchfield. Authorities said the three students fought with Roger Camden, 24, and John Woodrick, 21, both of Murphysboro. The Murphysboro men were released Monday from Doctors Hospital.

HAIR TODAY, GONE TOMORROW—James Symons, a member of the "Good Woman of Setzwan" casts, selects his time to dye. He and several other members of the production must change the color of their hair prior to the play's opening Feb. 7.

Spectators Can Study Foreign Living Habits This Weekend

Foreign students attending SIU are asked to assist with the International Night slated for Saturday and Sunday in the University Center Ballroom.

Displays and booths will be set up on the two nights to feature articles characteristic of daily living in other countries around the world. Each booth will be organized to give spectators an insight into the daily living habits of other nationalities.

Alan Comstock and Warren Steinborn, co-chairmen of the event, are requesting articles from foreign students at SIU. Coins, jewelry, paintings, household utensils, bric-a-brac, newspapers, cigarettes, books, toys, instruments, shoes, cosmetics, writing implements, stamps, photographs, pipes, clothing machines and glasses are the general types of items the co-chairmen are seeking.

However, no article that is irreplaceable should be lent to the project, they commented.

Any students wishing to supply display material should contact their organization, such as the Chinese Student Club and Latin American Organization.

Questions can be directed to the Activities Development Center at the University Center.

International Night will climax the Model United Nations Assembly. During the United Nations observance, other events are scheduled including an International Coffee House and the International Stage Show.

Need of Lifeguards Is Sign of Season

Spring must be on its way. Positions for lifeguards at Lake-on-the-Campus are now being accepted at the Student Activities Office in the University Center.

About 25 lifeguards will be needed for spring and summer quarters, and the positions are open to qualified men and women.

Interested applicants must have a valid Red Cross life-saving certificate and have a current average of not less than 3.0.

Forensics Group Organizes Forum

The SIU Student Forum has recently been organized under the auspices of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensics honorary fraternity.

The purpose of the forum is to offer SIU students an opportunity to present their opinion on current problems-- campus, state or national-- before an audience.

The format will vary with the subject, but it is intended that the usual forum will consist of two groups presenting opposing points of view. The debate will be conducted in a Parliamentary style with audience participation.

Members of Pi Kappa Delta will assist any students who might wish their help in organization and speaking skills.

Any student or student groups that are interested in participating in the forum may do so by contacting Marvin Kleinau, the sponsor of Pi Kappa Delta, in his office in T-38.

Stipends Open In Counseling

Applications are being accepted for graduate training stipends in rehabilitation counseling by the SIU Rehabilitation Institute.

Director Guy A. Renzaglia said a limited number of $200 to $225 monthly stipends from the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration are available for students entering a two-year master's degree program.

Renzaglia said inquiry is invited from anyone with a degree from an approved college or university who is interested in welfare or counseling work. Information is available from the SIU Rehabilitation Institute.

Gerler Attends 'Psych' Meeting

William Gerler, assistant professor of psychology, represented the SIU Psychology Department at the conference on professional preparation in counseling psychology at Columbia University.

Universities with accredited counseling psychology programs were invited to send representatives. The objective of the conference was to examine counseling psychology after 12 years of official activity, and determine lines of future development.

The conference, Jan. 23-26, was sponsored by the Division of Counseling Psychology of the American Psychological Association.

TICKETS FOR MORRIS — President Delyte W. Morris receives his tickets for the two major AFROTC events this weekend. The Revue in Blue will be Friday night in Shryock Auditorium, and the Military Ball in the University Center Ballroom Saturday night. Presenting the tickets are Cadet Major William Bradfield, center, and Cadet Col. Charles Wilson, right.

Ticket Sale Still Open for Military Ball

Tickets for the annual AFROTC Military Ball are still on sale in Wheeler Hall and the University Center Information Desk, Capt. Harold Maxwell announced.

The formal dance is open to all students, he stressed. The student need not be in the ROTC program to purchase tickets.

"Airmen of Note," the famous official Air Force dance orchestra, will provide music for this year's ball which is scheduled for Saturday in the University Center Ballroom. About 900 persons attended last year and Captain Maxwell believes this year's Military

Bill will be even better and bigger.

Tickets are $3 per couple. The dance is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., ending at 1 a.m. Traditionally SIU coeds living in University supervised housing have been allowed a 3 a.m. late leave the night of the dance. According to an Office of Student Affairs spokesman, this late leave practice will continue this year.

Yokie Plan Put to Residence Halls Council

SIU May Invite Leaders to Visit And Share Dorms With Students

Students living in SIU's residence halls may some day find themselves sharing their living quarters with the Governor of Illinois, the president of General Motors, an Air Force colonel or a Supreme Court Judge.

If J. Albin Yokie, coordinator of housing at SIU, is able to convince the Residence Halls Council of his idea and arouse enough enthusiasm among the students, such prominent leaders may very likely be invited to the SIU campus.

Yokie's plan would provide that leaders of industry, business, and government should come to Southern and spend a few days in the college environment to see how much college has changed since they last attended.

"Most of these people have been out of college 20 to 30

The "temporary students" would be exposed to all as-

Credit Union Slate Picked, $9,000 Shared

David S. McIntosh, SIU associate professor of music, is the new president of the SIU Employees Credit Union.

He and a new slate of officers were elected last week.

Also selected for posts were Max Sappenfield, vice-president; Miss Sina Spiker, secretary; and Mrs. Vernon Cole, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were Mrs. Cole, Allan Jones, G.C. Camp, Frank Chase, Philip Cochran, Edith Krappe, Duncan Lampman, W.C. McDaniel, McIntosh, Sappenfield, Virgil Schwegman and Miss Spiker.

Over $9,000 was paid to members of the credit union as dividends on shares last December. The dividend rate was 4 1/2 per cent, up 1/2 per cent over 1962.

SIU Professor's Report Published

An article by Leonard J. West of the Secretarial and Business Education Department of SIU's School of Business appeared in the December issue of "Business Education Forum."

Title was "Objective Testing in Bookkeeping."

pects of college life, including eating, sleeping, attending classes, and taking part in bull sessions with students.

Although the visitors would be given the opportunity to take part in any activities, Yokie said there would be no set plans for them. They could come and go as they wished, mixing informally with the students and involving themselves with college life.

"A student might find himself shaving next to a general some morning," Yokie suggested. "It would be an experience for the student to learn that the general bleeds like he cuts himself just like any other person—just like a child who cuts himself."

Yokie explained that the theory behind the idea is that educators feel that learning does not stop when the student leaves the classroom. Much of the learning process is carried on in the living areas.

"By putting these people in the residence halls," Yokie explained, "they could aid the student in learning. It is simply another step of progress in our policy of living and learning."

Yokie conceived of the plan five or six years ago, but was not able to carry it through because the facilities were not available.

U.S. Protests to Reds On Downing of Plane

Fighting Spreads In Congo Provinces As Police Mutiny

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo--The Congolese government apparently has quelled a police mutiny in Stanleyville, center of extremism in the eastern Congo.

Diplomatic sources said police mutinied Tuesday. Radio messages from Stanleyville Wednesday said Congolese army commandos had disarmed a battalion of police.

There were no reports of violence, however. Stanleyville was the capital of Antoine Gizenga's Communist backed separatist regime in 1961. The Central government has had Gizenga under arrest more than two years but Stanleyville remains a leftist hotbed.

Meanwhile, American missionaries continued to arrive in Leopoldville from the southwest Congo province of Kwilu, where rebel guerrillas are attacking Christian missions.

Ruth Hege, 58, a Baptist missionary from Wellington, Ohio, was flown to the capital Tuesday night by the U.S. air attaché, Col. Avereill Holman. She was taken to a hospital for treatment of a superficial arrow wound in the shoulder.

A U.N. helicopter rescued Miss Hege Tuesday from the Baptist Mid-Mission station at Mangungu, which rebels attacked Friday.

ers Wednesday after a 12-minute visit with William R. Ryler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

"My government has already protested against this clear-cut case of gross provocation," Kornienko said.

Earlier Wednesday the Soviet Union announced from Wiesbaden, Germany, that a Russian fighter plane downed a U.S. jet trainer over Communist East Germany, killing the three officers aboard. The U.S. Army commander in Europe called on the Russians to make an immediate investigation.

The Soviet Union disclosed the fate of the T39 trainer, missing for 24 hours, in a note released in Moscow accusing the United States of a provocative flight designed to increase tensions.

Shortly thereafter, Gen. Paul L. Freeman, U.S. Army commander in Europe, sent a note calling for an investigation to Col. Gen. Ivan Yakubovsky, the Soviet commander in Germany.

The State Department said the plane was unarmed, "obviously lost" and "afforded no threat of any sort to the Soviets."

Johnson Calls Saturn Rocket 'Giant Step Forward for U.S.'

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson hailed the successful launching of the Saturn super rocket Wednesday as a "giant step forward for the United States space effort."

Johnson watched the launching on a television set in his office and later issued a statement saying this country has now "proved we have the capability of putting great payloads into space."

The Saturn 1 super rocket propelled the world's heaviest satellite into orbit and presumably vaulted the United States over Russia in the race for space rocket supremacy.

The mighty rocket, 164 feet tall and weighing 562 tons, flooded its launching pad with a rush of flame and set a thunderous shock wave rolling across Cape Kennedy as it blasted off at 10:25 a.m., Carbondale time, on its first full-scale test flight.

Slightly more than 10 minutes later, the Saturn 1--its second stage live for the first time--injected into orbit a mammoth 84-foot-long satellite weighing 37,700 pounds, nearly three times heavier than the Soviet heavy-weight champions of space.

The satellite is little more than a mass of metal and sand with a radio tracking beacon. But its presence in the sky demonstrates U.S. capability for the future and the nation's

Greek Cypriots Ask U.N. Force To Keep Peace

LONDON--Greek Cypriots indicated Wednesday that they want a United Nations force to keep peace on the Mediterranean island and not the NATO contingent Britain has been trying to muster.

Zenon Rossides, Cyprus' delegate to the United Nations, told Secretary - General U Thant in New York Tuesday a U.N. peace - keeping force would be acceptable on his territory.

American and British diplomats strove to keep the lid on tempers in Athens, Ankara and Nicosia as signs mounted that U.S. troops might soon be assigned to help keep Turkish and Greek Cypriots from each other's throats.

The London Daily Sketch reported that U.S. 6th Fleet ships with combat Marines aboard had been ordered to "within striking distance of Cyprus as fears of a Turkish invasion swept the island."

Tape Network Five Years Old

The SIU Radio Tape Network, now in its fifth year, is one of the largest in the United States, according to its director, Fred Criminger.

The network, sponsored by Area Services, is engineered by faculty members, students and area laymen, Criminger said.

In April of 1961, the network had 13 programs a week placed on five area radio stations. It now covers 28 stations in five states, airing more than 100 programs a week.

The network charges nothing for the programs, and they are carried without advertising by the radio stations.

SIU produces eight programs: "Forum," "The Southern Illinois Farm Reporter," "Southern Illinois Business Bulletin," "Page Two," "Challenges in Thought," "Report from Springfield," "Fact or Falacy," and "The Story and the Song."

Hell-for-Leather Coach

Shroyer Gets 'All' From Men, Tougher Football Promised

By Alan Goldfarb
He's been called SIU's new tough guy.

You'd never know it by talking to this big hulk of a man, but he's tough on a football field. He gets 120 percent out of football players when they can only give 100. He'll make you run 40 wind-sprints when the book says you should run only 20.

The "he" that we're talking about is Don Shroyer, new head football coach at Southern. Tony Chamblin, who played under Shroyer at Milliken College, wrote a column about his former coach in the Evansville Courier and said, "Move over Bear Bryant and Charlie Bradshaw, Southern Illinois has hired Don Shroyer. The Salukis named him football coach last week and wait till they see what they have."

Shroyer is a good coach and one of the toughest in the country, according to Chamblin's column.

"Shroyer's the kind of guy who, if he slapped you on the back, you'd cough blood for a week," he wrote.

You'd never know by talking to Shroyer that he is a hard guy. But on a football field he's all business.

But that's what he's here for—football—and it's football he aims to play here at Southern. He knows southern Illinois and aims to start a strong recruiting program in the area. Of course it's a little early for Shroyer to know what he's going after because he is not yet completely familiar with Southern's offense.

But he should have a good idea by Feb. 1. He's back home with his wife and children now, but he'll be eating, sleeping and drinking films as much as possible. Of course there will be some changes in the Saluki offensive machine next year, but in the main, Shroyer will stick to the wide-open, pro-type offense that was initiated by Carmen Piccone this year.

The biggest change will be in the terminology—in the play patterns. Shroyer talks of using flanker backs and flex ends—whatever that is. But come spring drills, Saluki ballplayers will have their work cut out for them.

Chamblin asked Shroyer if he has changed his "hell-for-leather" policy after two years under Wally Lemm of the Cardinals. Shroyer replied quite emphatically, "Not on your life. There's only one way to play football. If anything, I've probably gotten a little mearer."

The Courier columnist asked Shroyer what his plans

SIU's 1963 Payroll Totaled Nearly $17 Million

Handling of Funds Involves Computer, Auditing System

By Jack Rechten

"SIU payroll control and supervision is one of the most important functions of our office," according to Personnel Director Gene Turner.

In 1963, Turner and Payroll Supervisor Charles Monroe controlled the payment of $16,984,007.46 to SIU faculty, staff, civil service and student employees. From this gross amount, $2,156,149.11 was deducted in withholding tax.

"Although we now have on file in our office 11,394 withholding tax forms for the year 1963, this does not mean that we have this many people on our University payroll," Monroe declared. "This simply means that there were that many W-2 forms prepared; it's conceivable that a single individual could have as many as four separate forms in our files, particularly part-time student employees who change employment throughout the academic year," Monroe added.

The personnel office controls the payment of two separate and distinct types of payrolls: "State" and "local and restricted accounts." Turner said that "though both types are of great importance to us, about 95 per cent of the payroll funds are directly attributable to state tax money."

Local and restricted accounts are monies that have been made available through special grants of individuals, industry, humanitarian foundations or the federal government. "All monies in these accounts fall directly under our supervision," Turner said. "Even the checks are printed on campus."

"An intricate system of accounting checks and measures is essential where such large sums of the people's tax money are concerned," Turner said. "It's imperative that all totals check completely before pay checks are released to any SIU employee."

Women's Basketball Tournament Slated

The Women's Recreational Association has set up a schedule of intramural basketball games for this year's House Tournament.

Fourteen teams are entered in this year's tournament. The teams are arranged by living areas and will be competing in three leagues.

The tournament is set up on the basis of intra-league competition with the top team from each league playing in the semifinals.

The eliminations begin Feb. 3 and end with the crowning of the House Tournament champion on Feb. 23.

Group Will Attend Design Conference

The Midwest Chapter of the National Society of Interior Designers will meet in Chicago Feb. 14-16.

The SIU Student Chapter will leave for this meeting on the night of Feb. 14. Members will return the following Sunday.

The SIU Student Chapter will tour furniture factories, furniture showrooms, the Merchandise Mart and apartments displaying interior design work in Marina City.

process of getting paid is preparation of a payroll voucher. This voucher is "programmed into a computer, showing the employee's name, occupation, pay scale, deductions, and other pertinent information. After all information has been authenticated, the voucher is forwarded to the president of the University and then to the chairman of the Board of Trustees for their signatures," Turner said.

The payroll vouchers are then forwarded to the auditor of public accounts in Springfield. "There, our information is checked against their master file. If we are in accord, state payroll checks are prepared automatically and forwarded to the state treasurer for signature," Turner continued.

The state treasurer then forwards the checks to the SIU Internal Auditing Department, where the checks are cross-referenced with original payroll vouchers, Turner said. If the checks balance, they are approved for distribution and sent to the payroll section of the Personnel Office for this purpose.

"Since we are completely in charge of local and restricted accounts, it's imperative that payment of these funds be continually but randomly audited," said Turner. The Internal Auditing Department does this by spot checking particular accounts without prewarning.

In most cases, the person receiving the check must appear in person to claim it when a spontaneous audit occurs.
