Homecoming Queen Will Be Crowned

‘Madwoman’ Opens Today At Playhouse

The Southern Players will open their Homecoming production of Jean Giraudoux’s “Madwoman,” at 8 p.m. today in the Playhouse.

Jean Giraudoux’s comedy will be produced during an eight-night run under the direction of Edith Harrington, instructor in theater.

The director describes the play as wildly extravagant and libelous, but also as a conflict between modern enterprise and genteel irrationality.

The irrationality is shown in the madwoman, Countess Aurolia, played by Charlotte Owens, who resolves the conflict by imprisoning the board of directors of an oil combine in a seer.

Tickets are on sale in the box office of the Playhouse from 10 to 11 a.m. and 3 to 4 p.m. daily and at 7 p.m. on performance nights.

Lights Will Spell Neely’s Greetings

Coeds in Neely Hall will light up the night with a salute to Homecoming starting at 9:30 p.m. today.

More than 40 girls living in rooms from the 10th to the 17th floor will take part in the Homecoming event.

All the lights in the rooms on those floors in the wings facing McAndrew Stadium will be turned off at 9:30 p.m., and on signal, lights will be turned on to spell out “SIU Homecoming '65, University Park, We Appreciate You.”

Coordinators for the project are Margaret McKeone, Gail Michelsen, Victoria Flynn and Virginia Evers.

WHO IS THE LUCKY ONE? — One of these five coeds will be crowned 1965 Homecoming queen tonight in Shryock Auditorium. The winner’s name has been a tightly guarded secret since the campus election two weeks ago. In the foreground are Eileen F. Brockway (left) and Susan King. In the rear are (left to right) Janice K. Ockerby, Lavona J. Shea, and Jacquelyn A. Carlson.

Evidence Called ‘Weak’

Cyclist’s Death Case Could Be Presented To Grand Jury, State’s Attorney Explains

The fatal accident case in which Floyd Crawshaw, former Jackson County coroner was involved, could be brought before the grand jury for action in December, according to Richard R. Richman, Jackson County state’s attorney.

Richman told the Daily Egyptian Wednesday that additional evidence concerning the case could be found, he could present it to the grand jury when it convenes in December.

At present, Richman hasn’t made up his mind what he is going to do about the case. He said he would hate to waste the grand jury’s time and the county’s money on the abridge of evidence that now exist.

It is a weak case at present, he said, and if he wanted to present it to the grand jury, he would have to be able to prove to all 12 members that there is a case of criminal offense.

Crawshaw appeared Tuesday before Magistrate Robert Schwart in Jackson County Circuit Court and was fined $100 and $5 costs after being found guilty of a charge of causing the death of a street accident in which an SIU student was killed. He had pleaded innocent.

The fatal injured student was Duane Antrim, an SIU junior who was riding a motorcycle that was struck from behind. The cycle was knocked into the path of an oncoming car. Antrim died of a fractured skull.

Richman said he thought there should have been more evidence presented in the coroner’s jury action last week.

There were three cars behind the vehicle which Antrim was knocked in front of, Richman said.

The state’s attorney said he would like to hear the views of the coroner and drivers of the first and second cars behind the scene of the accident.

The driver of the car which struck the youth, Elliot R. Vick, 24, of Oak Lawn, declined to testify about the accident.

Vick probably did not testify because of possible advice from his insurance company, Richman said.

"Any witnesses to the accident, and the drivers of the cars immediately behind the accident, should come forward and notify me," Richman stated.

"I don’t even know who was driving the car," Richman said.

For Crawshaw’s own good, he should be cleared or convicted of the rumor that he is going around town about the accident, Richman said.

Asked what he thought about the fine imposed upon Crawshaw, Richman said he had no comment.

Crawshaw was also asked why there was a discrepancy of 30 minutes in the time first reported that Crawshaw turned himself in at the police station.

Richman said he didn’t have any comment, however, he did say that “Not infrequently this is done to avoid additional publicity.”

SIU's Three-Year-Old Work-Study Program Designed to Give Practical Look at Business

SIU students are taking part in a work-study program planned to give participants a practical look at the business world. The program has been in effect three years and now has about 90 participants, according to Bruno W. Bierman, supervisor of Southern's student work program. Students alternate a term's full-time study with full-time work the next.

Its primary objective is to provide an educational work experience for the student, usually through a job related to his academic career. One student called it "the most valuable experience of my college career."

SIU started the program with Alton Box Co., but has similar projects involving Shell Oil Co., Falstaff Brewing Corp., Montgomery Ward, Jewel Tea Co., California Packing Co., Green Giant Corp., Adolphus-Champion and the Illinois Department of Public Aid.

"Although students are paid regular wages by the companies, this is not intended as a means to make to finance an education, but as an educational experience in itself," Bierman stated.

Typical of students participating in the work-study program is Jerry C. tilewell of Herrin and Thomas B. Crone of Wyoming. Tilewell is a senior majoring in personnel management, and Crone is a senior majoring in industrial technology and design.

They are now giving short talks and participating in question-and-answer sessions before campus organizations about their experiences at Alton Box Co., a carton and container manufacturer. Tilewell has worked at the company's main plant for one term, and Crone has worked his two terms.

"Tilewell spent the summer term working as a quality control inspector. He will spend the winter term working in either personnel or marketing. He is particularly enthusiastic about the prospect, because he plans to work in that field after graduation. Crone plans to go on to graduate school after receiving his bachelor's degree, because of his experience at Alton, he plans to go into some branch of the paper industry. His two terms there have been spent in product control and marketing research. I learned more about business and its functions than I could have in school, especially in learning to work with people and getting along with them," he said.

VII Enrollment Is Up 30%

Enrollment at SIU's Vocational-Technical Institute jumped 30 percent this fall, Registrar Robert A. McGrath said.

This term, 1,367 students are enrolled at VII. Last fall quarter, the figure was 1,047.

Interest in technical subjects and the successful placement of graduates from VII's 20 major programs were cited by Dean Ernest J. Simon of the Division of Technical and Adult Education as reasons for the increased enrollment.

In addition to technical studies, students are enrolled in the General Education program, which provides a broad educational background.

Special enrollment gains were made in the new data processing course, with an increase from 63 last year to 92 this fall; 103 in architecture, which had 26 last fall; printing, with 29 students now as opposed to 10 in 1963; secretarial courses, which increased from 128 to 164, and dental hygiene, which went from 47 to 56 students.

The mortuary science curriculum, started in the fall 1964 term with 20 students, had 38 enrolled this year.

Another Side to the ‘One-Sided’ Argument

As a social science student, I must respond to Peter Malone’s letter of Oct. 21. The gist of Mr. Malone’s argument is that this is the time for all good men to come to the aid of "your American Way of Life" by not allowing "one-sided rallies to be given on our campus."

As an American I am obligated to oppose Mr. Malone’s use of quotation marks around the words "democratic pretense" and "debate," which gives the impression that the Vietnam peace teach-in was killed by SDS as such. Naively, naively, Mr. Malone! You must question what others say! Don’t quote your opponents word for word!

Mr. Malone’s condemnation of the one-sidedness of the teach-in is founded on Dr. Elwitt’s letter pointed out by Mr. Malone, which uses of quotation marks around the words "spokesmen," "political rallies," or "propaganda," which are least visible if they do not have "open" access to the area.

Worse than that are those who must also condemn those who allowed this farce to be held—their names are in part as well as the students, the editors, the student government, and the school administration. In light of this I have tried to demonstrate above, the pro- fessor, student government, and school administration should instead be applauded for any international or forum conveying ideas—ideas. Only then can ideas be subject to analysis, criticism, and acceptance.

With tongue in cheek, Mr. Malone, I commend your one-sided letter.

David A. Wilson

Cold No’s From the Kennel

Like many people who write vituperative letters to the editor, Holly Williams has jumped to conclusions on too many occasions. She has learned from her early General Studies courses that one cannot generalize from a small number of examples, particularly if one draws conclusions from incomplete information.

She cannot malign an institution for allowing any instrument or forum conveying ideas—ideas. Only then can ideas be subject to analysis, criticism, and acceptance.

With tongue in cheek, Mr. Malone, I commend your one-sided letter.

G.O.P. Teams Up on Birchites

WASHINGTON — The Democrats are not above taking advantage from the anti-extremism speeches of Goldwater and his fellows. But there is no question as to who would be nominated. It was all over before it started.

At the moment Goldwater could have sent down word to pass the anti-extremism resolution that Gov. Hatfield (R.-Or.), had Jawed the way for by linking the Birchites with the Kissinger and the Communists. He could have caused the conspiracy to come up at its insults to Gov. Rockefeller (R.-N.Y.), Senators J. J. Javits (R.-N.Y.), former Secretary of State Henry, and so many others.

No extremism was so saddle riding high.

And, There’s Good Reason

The reason Goldwater & Co. is turning thumbs down is not as plain as the nose on your face. One well-known example is that of the Xenians and the Birchers of the Anti-Communist, a local political party. These were successful in getting the votes of a separate political party.

Mis Williams needs further evidence of the Human Society’s activities, should like to report that this week it picked up three injured dogs, took them to a veterinarian for examination, and tried to find their owners. In each case, precise and full information about the location was relayed to the Humane Society. This is the usual procedure, but Miss Williams simply didn’t bother to find out the usual procedure before she wrote her letter.
David L. Jones has joined the faculty of the Department of Geography as an assistant professor. Before coming to SIU, Jones worked with the Traveler's Research Center, Inc. While there he held the dual positions of assistant to the director of the environmental sciences department and senior research associate.

Prior to that, Jones was on the faculty of Michigan, Fisk University and Pennsylvania State University. In the summer of 1959, he served as visiting professor of meteorology at the University of North Dakota.

Jones received his bachelor's degree in astronomy and physics in 1941 from Carleton College. He received his master's degree in meteorology from Pennsylvania State University in 1953, and in 1960 received his doctorate from the same university.

He is a member of the American Meteorological Society, the American Geophysical Union, the Operations Research Society of America, the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Scientific Research Society of America.

Between 1956 and 1961 he was awarded three research grants. A three-year National Institute of Health grant was given him for the study of water quality control of the Great Lakes. He received a National Science Foundation grant to develop meteorological instruction. National Aeronautics and Space Administration also awarded him a contract to study the convective transfer processes based on satellite photographs.

Jones has written a number of technical articles. They include: "An analysis of Simultaneous Errors in Predicting Various Pairs of Forecast Parameters," "Applications of Data Collected Along Shore to Conditions in Lake Erie," and "Air Traffic Control, Its Functions and Weather Sensitivity."

Jones is married and has three children. He was born in Sapporo, Japan, but considers the "entire United States" his home town.
Viêt Cong Attack Two Marine Air Bases

SAIGON, South Viet Nam—Viêt Cong mortar and infiltration squads attacked two U.S. Marine airfields simultaneously shortly before midnight Wednesday at Da Nang and Chu Lai, 52 miles apart on the South China Sea.

A Marine spokesman said two helicopters were destroyed at Da Nang and that probably two A4 Skyhawk jet attack bombers were destroyed at Chu Lai.

The tactics evidently were similar to those used previously by the Red guerrillas against American installations at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, and at Bien Hoa, an airbase 12 miles northeast of this city.

Mortar crews fired shells from distant emplacements while other men moved up in an effort to place explosives by hand.

The Da Nang target in this case was not the main field, but one across the Da Nang River, where 40 Marine helicopters were based.

A Marine jet fighter-bomber group and some helicopters are based at Chu Lai, south of Da Nang, with some officers and U.S. warplanes wrecked a heavy guerrilla assault Wednesday on a ranger camp only 20 miles northeast of Saigon.

American troops were out in force against the fleeing guerrillas defending the camp in the Plei Me and Qui Nhon sectors of the Song Han River, where fighting was intense.

A U.S. military spokesman said defensive fire and bombing by U.S. Air Force planes and helicopters were based at Chu Lai.

The casualties were light among the camp’s U.S. advisers, the South Vietnamese among the guerrillas. All the Americans hit were said to have returned to duty after treatment.

The war in the midlands and the coastal plains of the Saigom, Cavalry, Airmobile Division and the 101st Airborne Division was in action.

The cavalry landed at Plei Me, 210 miles northeast of Saigon, to take a hard hand in mopping up Viet Cong who had besieged the Plei Me special forces camp for a week.

In the jungle south of the camp, the Americans found Viet Cong outposts abandoned, in one case in such haste that ammunition and clothing were left behind.

Eighty miles to the east, U.S. Army helicopter-borne troops of the 101st into the Song Am River basin to run a gauntlet of guerrillas menacing approaches to Qui Nhon, a near-photostatic report, the Viet Cong bullets pulleed 11 of the helicopters during the raid.

Gateway Arch Topping Scheduled for Today

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Ironworkers, whose union leader was killed in a train crash, will place the keystone today in the 630-foot gateway arch, the nation’s tallest monument.

The National Park Service ran a safety check on the gleaming arch Tuesday after the union business agent, Robert F. Nimmer, refused to let his 60 men climb the arch as usual, saying it was structurally unsafe.

Nimmer obtained a written statement from the service that his men were not in great danger before allowing them to work. He was assured that the crucial keystone operation would not take place if the wind is high or if it rains.

Placing of the 10-ton keystone climaxes 30 years of planning and three years of construction of the huge stainless steel arch on the west bank of the Mississippi River.

The arch commemorates the Gateway to the West, the point where Lewis and Clark started to the Pacific, the jumping off place for the westward trains that conquered the American West a century ago.

The young man stopped the car and was told by the friend the Krem was dead.

Beringer ran into nearby woods, pulled off his tie and shot himself in the head.

Group Seeking Funds for Reds

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The chairman of the Committee to Aid the Vietnamese said Wednesday his group is selling Viet Cong postage stamps and lapel pins to raise money to support the Communist effort in Viet Nam.

Stanley Nadel, 21, a senior at the University of Michigan, said the college group has raised about $70 so far.

Last summer, Nadel said, he personally delivered medical supplies worth $100 to the Viet Cong. He said the money was raised through contributions taken on the university campus.

He said he assumed the supplies were distributed in villages devastated by American and South Vietnamese bombing raids.

Nadel said he is not a Communist, nor are any of the 35-member committee he heads.

"I don't think that is even an issue. I think the issue is what the United States is doing to the Vietnamese, what we stand to gain and what we stand to lose," he said.

GI Fasting

For Transfer

To Viet Nam

WORMS, Germany (AP)—A 205-pound U.S. Army private says he wants so badly to be transferred to Viet Nam that he has begun a hunger strike in hope of speeding the paperwork.

Pvt. Robert J. Palmeri, 23, of Queens, N.Y., a draftee who only has been in the service for half a year, explained he felt the call to Viet Nam "because I am an American soldier."

Palmeri began his hunger strike Tuesday with the aim of calling attention of the "higher ups" to his request to serve any place in South Viet Nam "where I am useful."

He said he was not sure yet how long he would go on limiting himself to water.

The husky 6-footer expressed bitterness in an interview against American student demonstrations protesting U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war.

"I resent very much what is happening stateside," he said.

An Army spokesman said transfer requests are sent up through the chain of command to the Department of the Army in Washington and this process can take up to three months.

Red Cross to Collect Blood at Universities

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department said Tuesday it has asked the American Red Cross to collect blood offered by students at colleges and universities throughout the United States as a gesture of support for U.S. efforts in Viet Nam.

The Defense Department also announced as the New York World—Telegram reported that an antidraft group is putting on a drive to send blood, first aid supplies and money to the Communist Viet Cong in Viet Nam.

The Defense Department appeared anxious to call attention to the collegian gesture of support. That collected blood would remain in the United States.

Announcement as the New York World—Telegram reported that an antidraft group is putting on a drive to send blood, first aid supplies and money to the Communist Viet Cong in Viet Nam.

The Defense Department, however, appears to believe that the blood, first aid supplies and money will be used by the Viet Cong in Viet Nam.

The first collections will take place early next month on the University of Illinois campus where 2,000 volunteer donors have been found, the Pentagon said.

The Brazilian government abrogates Sections of Constitutional Law

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The Brazilian government declared itself almost dictatorial powers Wednesday after leftist Congress blocked the president's internal security program.

"We need tranquility for the nation's economic development," President Juscelino Kubitscheck said the people on television after an institutional act overriding parts of the constitution was issued.

The act abolished political parties, empowered Castello Branco to declare a state of siege and to rule by decree over 180 days, enlarged the supreme court, gave military courts broad powers, and provided for indirect election of the president by Congress.

Government Prof Named for Study

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Jack Laskoff, professor in the SIU government department, was one of five persons appointed by Gov. Otto Kerner to a commission to study the organization of state government Wednesday.

"There are no emergency requirements for blood in Viet Nam from the United States at the present time," the Pentagon said.

"The Department of Defense cannot use the blood for current requirements within the United States.

The first collections will take place early next month on the University of Illinois campus where 2,000 volunteer donors have been found, the Pentagon said.

"I don't think that is even an issue. I think the issue is what the United States is doing to the Vietnamese, what we stand to gain and what we stand to lose," he said.

Violin Prodigy From Hungary

To Perform at SIU Saturday

��一Sergiu Luca, a young Hungarian musician, who learned to play the violin from his gypsy when he was 4 years old, will be the guest soloist with the SIU Symphony Orchestra at a concert Saturday. Luca is currently studying at the Curtis Institute of Music as a scholarship student of the American-Israel Cultural Fund.

Earlier this year he played with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra in televised Young Peoples Concert, "Tribute to Sibelius."

After the SIU concert Luca will go to Finland to participate in the Sibelius centennial competition.

At the age of 13, Luca was admitted to the London Conservatory to study under Max Holst for four years. He became the youngest student ever accepted in the master class in violin at Berne Conservatory, Switzerland, and gave concerts in England, France, Switzerland and Germany before he was brought to the United States in 1961 as a protege of Isaac Stern.

Luca will play the Jean Sibelius Concerto in D minor, Op. 47 for violin and orchestra at the SIU concert.

Aging 'Tendencios' Catch Up With Overzealous Gym Coach Bill Meade's bid at making a gymnastics comeback at age 40 was foiled Tuesday morning when a round-off back handspring sent him to Doctors Hospital with a torn achilles tendon.
Meade, who has coached Southern's men's gymnastics team for the last eight years, was demonstrating the feat to the students in his "Gymnastics Methods" class.
"The injury is quite prevalent among gymnastics coaches," said Meade.
"George Sypula (the Michigan State coach) has torn both his. You might call it an occupational hazard. I have always tried to be careful, but I guess I got a little carried away with my own teaching."
According to Meade, the accident occurs when a performer isn't sufficiently warmed up or if a coach returns a certain age.
The achilles' is a strong tendon formed by united tendons of the large muscle in the calf of the leg and inserted into the bone of the heel.
Robert Spackman, team trainer, said the operation is generally successful and predicted that Meade would be able to leave the hospital in four or five days.
"He'll probably have a cast on his foot for about four weeks and then will probably need an additional three weeks to get the range of motion and proper circulation back in the foot," said Spackman.
Meade, who is expected to have surgery this morning, hopes to resume his teaching and coaching duties by the first of the week.
The injury came at an unfortunate time for Meade since he was busy getting his boys in shape for the coming season.
"I'll be back out there in a day or two," warned the coach.
"But from here on out I'll do my teaching by conversation instead of by demonstration."
Forecast: Footballs Will Rain in Salukiland, Possibly Followed by Hurricane Devastation

Hurricane Tulsa, the storm that has devastated cities throughout the Midwest and South, will level its destructive force at Carbondale Saturday.

The occasion is an annual one—Homecoming. Although the event is the same, the characters aren’t. This is the first time Southern has played Tulsa on Homecoming.

The defensive unit last year when Jerry Rhome was eclipsing one-Football Shopping Center.

In Tulsa’s first six games this year, Anderson has extended his war to four games left to pick up the single-game line, which is two days prior to publication, except for Tuesday’s paper, which is noon Friday.

station, and that which was given in court.
Richman said he asked Police Chief Jack Hazel that question in court and Hazel replied that he denied making the statement that Crawshaw arrived at the station an hour after the accident, Hazel said he didn't know where that information came from.
During the inquest a week ago, employees of the Carbondale Elks Club and the Five O'Clock Club, cocktail lounge in the Holiday Inn, both testiified that they had served beer to Crawshaw the day of the accident.
Crawshaw was quoted by Hazel as saying he didn't run from the accident. However, he did acknowledge his car hit the cycle.

Program Changes Explained
As Time-Consuming Process

By Rose Anastino

What happens to a program change?
Most students are aware of the times they must stand in line, and to make a program change. But not many realize the work involved for each change.
During the first three days of fall central registration there were 1,200 appointments given for each program change. These figures don't include the many appointments that were made the following week.
Since none of the changes is made by machine, one person must work approximately 20 minutes on each change. This process includes distributing copies of the change, senting the student, the instructor, the advisor's office, and the Student Work Office.
The change is returned to sectioning where the proper copies of the change, including the change. The term is over all program registrations where the proper changes are meet jon and judy instructor

Jon and Judy no longer live in Carbondale, but they will always be fondly remembered. Jon got his mas.-mat last June and then moved to another university. There is a couple who think ahead.
After they got married they bought a mobile home (only $295 down and $60 a month). They lived in it and loved it for two years. But when Jon graduated he lost this wish kid dream. He paid his moving expenses with enough left for a down payment on another mobile home.

Paluch Raps Crawshaw Case

Carbondale Student Body
President George Paluch
Wednesday called the verdict in the case of Floyd Crawshaw, former Jackson County coroner charged with driving the accident, "pretty cheap."

Dwayne Antrim, an SIU student, was killed in the accident and Robert Nelson, an SIU student, suffered fractures of both legs and his left arm. Crawshaw was fined $100 and $5 costs Tuesday by Magistrate Robert Schwartz in Jackson County Circuit Court.

Paluch issued a plea for students or townpeople who witnessed the accident or saw Crawshaw shortly before the accident to contact Richard Richman, Jackson County state's attorney, in Murphysboro.
Richman is scheduled to meet with student government officials today at 11 a.m. in the student government office in the University Center.
