Housing 'Over Full' On Campus

University housing has residents running out its basements and lounges, with a thousand more eager to rush in should vacancies arise.

On-campus living quarters are filled 100.25 per cent, according to a weekly report from the housing office. Twenty-four students are presently living in overflow facilities. Another 334 students are residing in temporary living quarters.

Overflow facilities include the basements of two Thompson Point residence halls, which house 10 male residents. Six students are living in overflow quarters in men's small group housing, while eight are overassigned at Southern Acres Residence Halls.

Temporary facilities, which currently provide living space for more than 300 students, include Southern Acres Cooperatives, Southern Acres Residence Halls, and six converted lounges in Woody Hall.

The lounges were converted into rooms five years ago. Four girls are assigned to each lounge. At present there are three vacancies.

All facilities for married students are filled, totaling 368 students. These include Southern Hills, Southern Acres Apartments and the Trailer Court.

Fred Dakak, assistant to the coordinator of housing, said the reason for vacancies when so many people are on the waiting list, is that many are off-campus students who under contract and aren't able to get released until the end of the term.

He added that students living in overflow facilities probably will be accommodated within the next two weeks, since some students will drop out of school and leave vacancies in university housing.

Bus to Evansville, Tickets Available

The SIU Spirit Council will sponsor a bus to the SIU-Evansville basketball game on Feb. 8. There will be a $1 charge to cover transportation costs.

A block of 50 tickets to the game at $1.50 a ticket is being held for students taking the bus.

Anyone wishing to take the bus may pay his dollar and sign up at the Student Activities Office in the University Center. The deadline for signing up is Tuesday.

Gus Bode...

Gus says it is bad enough to have Saturday classes at all, but he thinks the administration is rubbing it in a bit by scheduling five Saturdays in February.

TURNABOUT - Cadet First Lieutenant Charles Shoot takes orders from a civilian in a turnabout situation in Wheeler Hall. Actually the order he's taking from Bill Caldwell is for corsages for the Military Ball Saturday night.

Angel Flight, ROTC to Stage 'Blue Revue' at 8 Tonight

"Revue in Blue" will be the main attraction on campus tonight.

Slated to begin at 8 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium, the musical comedy program will be presented by approximately 150 members of both the Angel Flight and the AFROTC.

General theme of this year's annual program will be the description of a typical year at Southern, complete with humorous sketches, songs and dances. Charles Lishon wrote and directed the skits.

Rachael Colhoun will direct the singing Angelaires and Charles Taylor will conduct the Singing Squadron. Valerie Page organized the dances to be presented by the Angelettes. Also appearing in the show will be the Honor Guard and Drill Team.

Student cochairmen of the "Revue in Blue" are Rachael Colhoun and Harry Beadle. ROTC officers supervising the show are Capt. Harold Maxwell and Capt. Robert Propst.

Some tickets are still unsold and may be purchased, in three different price ranges, at the University Center Information Desk. Capt. Maxwell said he expects to see a full house tonight.

ROTC cadets and Angel Flight members have been preparing for this annual show since the beginning of fall term.

Glen Daum's All Stars will provide music for the ROTC program.

Proceeds of the "Revue in Blue" will be used to offset costs of the formal ROTC Military Ball which is scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the University Center Ballroom. Airmen of Note, the official Air Force danceband, will play at the ball. Tickets for this formal affair are sold for $3 a couple at the University Center Information Desk.

Baptist Students Sponsor Banquet

More than 200 students are expected to attend the annual International Banquet slated for Saturday at the University Baptist Church, 700 S. Oakland St.

William J. McKeefery, dean of academic affairs, will be master of ceremonies at the banquet which is sponsored by the Baptist Student Union.

After the buffet dinner which will begin at 6:30 p.m., a musical program will be presented by students. Those planning to entertain are Whakyung Chai of Korea; piano solo; Lance Lumsden of Jamaica; cello; Sissophane Sirimanatham of Laos; vocal solo; Ma Thanh Son of Viet Nam; harmonica solo; Charles Harris of Texas; dramatic reading. There will be a Korean quartet too.

Charles Gray, director of the Baptist Student Union, said some of the dishes to be served at the banquet will be prepared by foreign students.

Prior to the "International Pentathlon," there will be a 6 p.m. reception for the students in the church.

Student Officials Pleased By Action on Referendum

Student government officials, pleased at the outcome of Wednesday's Health Center-Co-Recreation Building referendum, were preparing to pass the matter on to the University administration for further action.

The Student Council was expected to act favorably on the issue Thursday night and to vote to forward the students' mandate to the Office of Student Affairs for transmission through University channels.

The vote on the Health Center building was approved by two-thirds of the 2,187 students who cast ballots. Passage of this measure will raise student fees $4 next fall quarter, and $8 per quarter beginning in the fall of 1966, if approved by the Board of Trustees.

The voting was much closer for the proposed Co-Recreation Building. It was approved by 52 per cent of those casting ballots. The second plan of this proposal was passed. Under this plan the fees will be raised $2 per quarter beginning in the fall of 1965 and $4 per quarter beginning in the fall of 1967.

As to action to be taken by the Student Council, David Davis, out-in-town senator, commented, "The council will pass both resolutions tonight, and then they will be forwarded to the Office of Student Affairs for transmission through the proper university channels."

"The Student Council hopes the administration will take action as soon as possible on the measures so that the fees can be put to use beginning in the fall of 1964," he added.

"Part of the Health Center should be done during the year 1965-66," he said, "and construction on the Co-Recreation Center should start some time in 1967-68."

Student of Week, Laurie Brown, Is Major in Special Education

Nineteen-year-old Laurie Brown is the new Student of the Week.

A sophomore planning to major in special education, Miss Brown was named recently by the Office of Student Affairs and the Activities Development Center.

She is a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. During her two years at Southern, Miss Brown has been the "Greek Goddess" of Greek Week, a member of the Student Council polling committee, secretary of the University Center Programming Board, secretary of her class, recipient of the outstanding freshman woman in activities award, finalist for the Military Ball queen, an honorary member of Angel Flight and a fall leadership camp leader. Miss Brown hopes to work on the waterfront staff of SIU's Little Grassy Lake camps this summer.

Mother of 3 to Tax Skills

Broadway Star Naomi Riordan Sees Role Here as Challenge

The foyer of the Southern Playhouse was bustling with activity and in the midst of this pandemonium stood a pleasant and attractive little actress named Naomi Riordan.

Dressed in green slacks, blouse and loafers, Miss Riordan appeared to be a graduate student, a working wife—anything but a New York actress with dozens of stage and television credits.

Miss Riordan is on campus to appear with the student cast in the Southern Players' production "Good Woman of Setzuan." Her eyes light up defiantly when anyone mentions one of her earliest achievements—Queen of the Tournament of Roses.

"People may think you have to be beautiful to win such an honor," she said, "But it really was my poise."

Then gently removing her tongue from her cheek, she laughed and said, "Now let's talk about the theater."

Miss Riordan looks upon her current role as an over-generous prostitute in the SIU production as a real challenge. It not only gives her a chance to tax her acting skills, because it is a demanding role, but it gives her an opportunity to set an example—be a teacher, so to speak—for the student actors.

As for her fellow troupers, Miss Riordan said she found them "adept, friendly and helpful."

"These people can act for their own enjoyment and satisfaction since their jobs are not hanging in the balance," she said. And then as an after thought, she added, "By that I mean that their careers and reputations aren't at stake as a professional's might be in a Broadway show that flopped."

Miss Riordan has appeared in Broadway productions, including "Country Girl," and in numerous television plays and commercials.

"It was while playing in 'Country Girl' that I met and married my husband," she said.

When she isn't appearing on television or the stage, she plays an even more demanding role as mother to three ram-bunctious sons.

Miss Riordan glanced at her watch and realized that as the character, she plays in "Good Woman," she was being overgenerous again, this time with her time.

She hurried off to rehearsal, lost in the bustle of students moving through the small lobby of the playhouse.

Student to Play Piano Recital

SIU's Music Department will present pianist Frances Frostick in a student recital at 8 p.m. Feb. 3 in Shryock Auditorium.

Mrs. Frostick will perform Beethoven's "Sonata quasi una Fantasia," Debussy's "La plus que lente" and Ravel's Sonatine for Piano.

A native of Palos Park, Mrs. Frostick is giving this recital in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Music Education.

TWO-FACED—Naomi Riordan demonstrates how she will look in the two roles she will portray in "The Good Woman of Setzuan" which is slated for presentation at the Southern Playhouse Feb. 7-9.

Nelson Cites Improvement, Sees New Role for Sororities

John Nelson, supervisor of Small Group Housing, said Tuesday night that SIU sororities are accepting the challenge of providing leadership.

Nelson told the City Pan-hellenic Council that sorority leadership has to be developed within the organization and projected onto the campus, and in most cases the groups are doing this.

He said the sororities are running their houses satisfactorily from the standpoints of discipline and finance. Nelson said there were few ad-houses.

"It's a matter of making a sorority house a hall that is different from a residence hall, that has more to offer than a residence hall," Nelson said.

He said the sororities made academic progress last quarter, as evidenced by their overall 3.6 grade point average, and he would like to see them broaden their horizons in cultural activities.

His topic was "The Image of Sororities."

Museum Curator Will Talk About New Ireland Sculpture

Painted sculptures of northern New Ireland will be discussed in an illustrated lecture at SIU Feb. 6, under the joint sponsorship of the anthropology and art departments.

The speaker will be Phillip H. Lewis, curator of primitive art at the Chicago Natural History Museum, who spent 1953-54 living with the New Irelanders to study their unusual art.

After 75 years of contact with western culture, their art still plays a very active and necessary part in the lives of the people, according to Lewis. New Ireland is in the trusteeship of New Guinea.

The Lewis lecture will be presented at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Morris Library.

Ranger 6 Spacecraft Rocketing to Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. -- The Ranger 6 rocketed toward the moon on a photographic mission and successfully cleared early hurdles Thursday on the planned 66-hour flight.

An Atlas-Agena rocket, 102 feet tall and weighing 150 tons, blazed away from Cape Kennedy at 10:49 a.m. EST to start the 804-pound gold-and-silver-plated craft on its lunar journey.

(Later, from Pasadena, Calif., the Jet Propulsion Laboratory reported that Ranger 6 was on a course that would miss the moon by 600 miles, but which could be corrected so it would take pictures as planned. It was to be corrected at midnight last night.)

Ranger 6's assignment is to streak 230,187 miles to the moon, take more than 3,000 pictures of the lunar surface and relay them to earth in a furious ten-minute burst of activity.

If all goes well, Ranger 6 will cover 230,187 miles in 66 hours.

OAS Council's Panama Talks Planned Today

WASHINGTON--The Council of the Organization of American States meets today on the U.S.-Panamanian dispute over the Panama Canal.

The United States said it had no objections to an OAS probe of the facts of the dispute.

Negotiations conducted by the Inter-American Peace Committee, an arm of the OAS, collapsed Wednesday night and Panama, charging U.S. aggression, called on the OAS to set up an emergency meeting of hemisphere's foreign ministers.

The OAS council will meet at 4 p.m. today on the Panamanian request, the OAS reported.

Tax Bill Debate Begins in Senate

WASHINGTON--The Senate opened debate on the $11.6-billion tax cut bill Thursday with Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., explaining why he believed it should not be adopted. Byrd, in the leadoff speech, said nothing would please him more than to support tax reduction but that the bill should not be passed in the face of continuing federal deficits.

Administration forces, however, were confident they had 80 or more votes for the measure out of the 100 senators. They look for final action late next week.

Byrd is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which held hearings on and revamped the bill passed by the House.

'Russia' Battle Cry Of Congo Raiders

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo--A 43-year-old American missionary said here Congolese terrorists shouted "Russia" and "Moscow" as they beat up a party of U.S. Baptists in a lonely mission in Kwilu Province.

The report of Browning, of the Highland Park Baptist Church in Chattanooga, Tenn., coincided with others that the terrorists, led by former Education Minister Pierre Mulele, 34, have been given Communist indoctrination. Mulele's men have been making systematic attacks on missions in Kwilu.

When the terrorists attacked Kintsha, said Browning, "They said their chiefs had showed them pictures of the wonderful things the Russians have done in places where they have taken over."

Two Space Stations Orbed, Reds Say

MOSCOW--The Soviet Union launched two scientific space stations into orbit with a single rocket, Thursday, the Tass agency reported.

Tass said Elektron I was separated from the carrier rocket and placed in orbit while the engine of the launch vehicle was in its final stage.

The carrier rocket then continued gathering speed, the official news agency said, and inserted Elektron II into a different orbit.

The news agency said the purpose of the two space stations "is the simultaneous studying of internal and external belts of the earth and other physical phenomenon."

South Vietnam Army General Establishes Virtual Dictatorship

SAIGON, Viet Nam--Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, a 37-year-old army corps commander, became a virtual dictator of South Viet Nam Thursday in a swift, bloodless coup.

He pledged to "smash the Communists and the traitors who advocate neutralism."

Three more championships were decided in the ninth Winter Olympics Games. The United States is still without a medal.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: DON LIEBERS

Recognize the man below? You may have seen him on your campus. You see, Don Liebers (M.B.A., 1960) represents Michigan Bell on many college campuses—Don's a Staff Supervisor in the College Employment Section.

Don earned this important promotion after demonstrating his ability in both line and staff jobs. On one, as an Accountant in Comptroller's Operations, he revised the Revenue Accounting Department Instruction for billing directory advertising—a major contribution.

Seeing what he could do, Michigan Bell next put Don in charge of the 71 Data Processing people who, among other duties, issue the company's entire monthly payroll!

Again Don proved himself, and again his reward was a promotion—this time a full-level jump to Staff Supervisor.

Don Liebers, like many young men, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

The Serious Ev-reem

I saw light
the day hell was born
under a football field
at Chicago U.
I am confused
and I am bitter.

My pains began with the "american way," my ego-ideal was murdered in Dallas.

No one ever taught me
meekness,
only fear.
I have inspected the Defense Program
and hated my country.

I am supposed to take
The Torch...
What do I do with it?

I am an individual...
my pants bear no pleats.
I am enamoured of truth,
I read the Readers' Digest.

Solomon said wisdom
walks the streets crying.
I have seen sad drunks.
I do not understand.

I got introduced to sex early,
I am still searching for love.
I hunger with fear.

I am the original American

Congress has said:

Humanity will have to watch

Faculty Recital

Last Sunday's concert deserves superlatives. Mrs. Spurbek presented a lovely choice of works in addition to a lovely interpretation of them. The first piece was a very early Vitali Chaconne. There were many moments of great strength and quality; however, the in between moments were a bit shaky due to the obvious nervousness of the performer. The second piece was the Beethoven Sonata in C Minor. Beautiful, beautiful, just beautiful! I smiled and squirmed in my seat and laughed and felt like crying and revelled in the sheer delights of well-performed Beethoven. The last work was the Faure Sonata in A Major. Mrs. Spurbek was overheard after the concert telling a friend how much she enjoys this piece. The real beauty is that she transferred her personal liking so easily and so obviously to her interpretation. I have one criticism -- it has nothing whatsoever to do with Mrs. Spurbek. The audience had the ignorance and audacity to applaud between movements in each composition. More credit is due Mrs. Spurbek for her ability to maintain her mood, poise and concentration in the face of the most exasperating circumstances. meg Perhaps if the Administration plugged up one of its ears, the echo would stop.

It is a shame the bench to which we have elected the President is so low.

A Fable

In the beginning, there were two species: The White Rats and The Black Rats. And it came to pass, in time, that the White Rats were more than the Black Rats. When this was discovered by the census, a decree was sent out for a meeting to be held of The Grand Council of White Rats. There it was decided that WAR was the only answer:

Defeat them; destroy them.

So a great battle took place and, because the White Rats were more than the Black Rats, they defeated and wholly destroyed them. But, Alas! it was a Pyrrhic victory.

In the new beginning, there were two species: The Long-tailed White Rats and The Short-tailed White Rats. And it came to pass, in time, that the Long-tailed White Rats were more than the Short-tailed White Rats. When this was discovered by the census, a decree was sent out for a meeting to be held of The Grand Council of Long-tailed White Rats. There it was decided that WAR was the only answer:

So a great battle took place and, because the Long-tailed White Rats were more than the Short-tailed White Rats, they defeated and wholly destroyed them. But, Alas again! it was a Pyrrhic victory.

When the dust and debris of destruction settled, there were but two Long-tailed White Rats remaining: one was a male and one was a female. So they mated, and conceived, and waited, and bided their time until The Great Day, The Day of Days, The Birth Day. (Selah)

So it arrived, The Great Day, The Day of Days, The Birth Day. (Selah) And the Long-tailed Female White Rat Wife gave to her Long-tailed Male White Rat Husband, a baby: a tiny, perfect, Black Rat Baby.

Letters to ka

Bravo:

My hat is off to you Miss Goldfeather, (unfortunately you are spared the romantic bit by my lack of one). If the implication of complete freedom is proved to be true, then the proverbial power of the female of the species is proven out.

To begin the rash of irresponsible comments that it will be expected that you will print, let me add my part. After being trampled in the horde of class-changing students in the Home Ec Building for the last four years, I did not even think that such an abortion could or would be repeated in any way, shape or form. But, I failed to reckon with the cunning of those so-called aesthetically pleasing people of the group known as architects. I am not usually so opposed to these people as I see a great functional need for them in such areas as taste-mongering, wholesale-grocerying, and bricklaying, but, when they make or design a building for great numbers of people with stair cases that are hardly wide enough for two people at a time and then hide them at that, my ire is awakened and my typewriter finger begins to jiggle convulsively.

Perhaps when or if this is brought to the attention of the Student Council and they finish giving it to different committees, they might fire off a stern warning to the architects of the other buildings that are to be built threatening hanging so some effects of consideration may be brought about in these future buildings.

Joseph Duffy

(Ed. note: Miss Goldfeather is also the Senator from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. She introduced a bill to the Council last week offering a temporary solution to the existing problem. It was sent to committee due to the amount of discussion and disagreement at the Council table that it elicited. Verdammt. No further comment.)

Reflections on More Moore

Bill Moore has shown us that we, as students and as Americans, have the right to peaceful protest. But, sometimes, protest can be a dangerous thing, and it can slide out of one's hands and into the hands of others whose motives are entirely different.

Bill started the movement against compulsory ROTC last October when his letter to The Egyptian, voicing discontent with compulsory ROTC, was answered by a rather sharp reply from Wheeler Hall. It was then that I decided to write this.

Some people laughed, some cursed, but all noticed--including Ed Clark, president of the Student Peace Union. He immediately contacted Bill, and the Committee to Abolish Compulsory ROTC was formed.

Officially, SPU isn't supporting CACR, but it seems that the bulk of the support for CACR is coming from SPU. The question comes to mind, is the CACR really representing the majority of the students? Or has it fallen into the hands of a few who

We, the Students...

It has probably been noted by many individuals that SIU is a growing concern, at least, physically speaking -- an increasing student body, a growing faculty, an expanding building program, thousands upon thousands of trees, a multitude of "stable" rocks, and a pond.

"But, indeed," say others, "it would be a shame to leave it at this, for a university is, in its true sense, more than a complex of physical factors. Rather it is a center for the free interaction of students and faculty to exchange ideas, to move from the past by creating the future, hopefully with progress in the offing."

Hence for SIU to grow, it must evidence more than such materialistic accoutrements as were previously mentioned. Yet, from the hollow halls of Old Main to the bustle of the University Center or the somewhat more elusive Plan A House, I have neither seen nor heard much of that intellectual curiosity indicative of growth. Even more disturbing (and it is disturbing) than this lack of intellectual curiosity are the underlying reasons for its existence.

As a student body we seem to lack the spark and vitality of life itself. We appear not happy nor socially concerned nor politically aware. We lack not only commitment to the various and sundry causes (socialism, democracy, integration, academic freedom, in loco parentis, peace, etc.), but, also we lack a commitment to being students. That is, we, the students do not share a comradeship, an esprit de corps, a pride in being who we are. And, by so doing, we have robbed ourselves of the very seed of tradition, of growth, of commitment -- we have robbed ourselves of dignity. Once this dignity is gone, so it is that we are gone to a stagnant, listless mass. The battle is not lost; it is only misdirected.

I think that we as students should take pride in being students, even more important, take pride in being students of SIU. And then will we begin to grow; and then will we have an esprit de corps; and then will we have what we lack, what we feel is not here. The ivy of Harvard is ours for the making. It is such a simple thing; it is such a basic thing; but, it is then the most difficult to achieve.

Rave on, Rathbone!

Screwing my courage to the sticking place, I sallied forth to the white tomb to see the resuscitation of a former idol. It was a pleasant surprise to find that there was a dance left in the old boy yet. Beginning with some intimate reminiscences that I fear were beyond the synapses of response in the referents of much of the youthful house (Don't tell me that Errol Flynn is still around -- even on the late, late, late show!) but charming! Rathbone moved easily and humorously into a wide variety of moods. Ranging through modern (McGee) near past (Browning) and far past (Shakespeare), he wooed a warm house into repeated expressions of delight. In part two, I took a small nap, please let me extend my apologies; this was due solely to my extreme fatigue and neither Mr. Rathbone nor his choice of program should be held in any way accountable. What I did hear of part two was pure ham and pure gold -- Let me not to the marriage of such "goodies" imply impediment. I'd really like to see him do King Lear. I'll bet he could do it.

SIU Shoots for Sixth 100-Plus Performance

There are only eight teams in the nation which have gone over the century mark five times or more this year—including Southern's high scoring cagers.

But scoring 100 points or more probably isn't the immediate concern of Coach Jack Hartman—it's to win, of course. He and his high-flying Salukis go after victory number 10 tonight and sixth in a row against little MacMurray College in the Men's Gym at 8.

SIU turned in another 100-point performance Wednesday night against Culver-Stockton and it marked the third straight game in which the Salukis have turned the trick.

The Salukis might have another good opportunity to score 100 points against the Highlanders, who show only a 4-8 season's record. However, the Jacksonville, Ill., quintet might be up for the game on the strength of a victory over Western Illinois Tuesday night.

The Highlanders are a junior-laden outfit with one senior in the starting lineup. The lone senior is the Highlanders' tallest man, 6-5 Chuck Mau. Mau is backed up by two 6-4 forwards, Harry Matheny and Denny Beard.

At guard are 5-9 Dave Bucher and 6-2 Jim Hargrave, the latter, a product of Carbondale Community.

Hartman made one change in Wednesday night's lineup and he will probably go with that same contingent. Reserve Randy Goin, an obscure 6-2 sophomore forward when the season opened, earned his first starting assignment of the year against the Wildcats Wednesday.

Goin enjoyed a creditable season last year as a freshman but didn't figure too prominently in Hartman's plans this year. However, Goin has proved to be a pleasant surprise and Hartman now feels Goin definitely has a future in the college cage ranks.

"He's a little too small for the front line," Hartman said, "but has exceptional jumping ability, is a fine shooter and rates as one of our most dependable players."

Goin has proved out his coach's praises and has hit for 86 points with only 12 coming in the Culver-Stockton game. He has hit on 50 per cent of his shots.

Goin probably will get the nod again tonight over Duane Warning, who led the Salukis coming off the bench with 16 points. Joe Ramsey will be at the other front-line position.

Paul Henry and Eldon Bigham will be in backcourt with Lloyd Stovall at center. The Salukis will end their current home stand tonight.

Southern's freshman team, which scored a record 122 points Wednesday night, will play Evansville frosh in the prelim at 5:45 p.m.

Saluki Swimmers to Meet Evansville Aces in Indiana

SIU's undefeated swimming team travels to the Hoosier state this Saturday to meet the Aces of Evansville College.

Coach Ralph Casey's squad, impressive 52-41 victors over Nebraska in their last outing, carry an unblemished 3-0 dual meet record into the meet and are heavily favored to defeat the young Aces.

Paced by veterans Jack Schiltz, Darrell Green and Ted Petras and sophomores Thom McAnaney and Dave Winfield, the Saluki swimmers have captured 26 of 33 individual events and have set a number

Meade Takes SIU Gymnasts To Memphis

Southern's undefeated gymnastics squad will be idle until next Friday when the Salukis travel to Ball State at Muncie, Ind.

SIU's last dual meet was on Jan. 24 against Mankato State but coach Bill Meade intends to keep his boys working and in shape for the remainder of the schedule.

Meade will take his contingent down south tomorrow to Memphis, Tenn., for an exhibition and a clinic. The clinic, which the Salukis participated in last year is sponsored for the promotion of gymnastics among high school students.

Language Is Cold War Weapon
For Reds, Anthropologist Says

Language is a strategic weapon in the cold war and it is one that the Communists are using most effectively in underdeveloped nations, according to an SIU anthropologist.

"Russia is beaming propaganda broadcasts regularly in hundreds of languages, even such as Quechua and Aymara, dialects of two tiny inland Indian tribes of Peru," said Joel Marvyl Maring, a linguistic specialist who has made an intensive study of Southeast Asian culture and particularly the many languages of the Philippines.

Maring is one of the specialists the U.S. government has been training to help close the "Language gap" in American relations with other lands. For the past three years he taught English as a foreign language to foreign students at Indiana University and served as language researcher in the Languages of the World archives at that institution.

"Lack of a common language within the emerging new countries is not only a handicap to us in our relations with these countries," Maring said, "but is also proving to be a major obstacle in their own development."

"In India, for example, with its scores of languages and dialects, Nehru cannot communicate directly with a majority of his 400 million constituents."

"Indonesia is comparable in size to the United States and has almost as great natural resources," Maring said. "It has a population of 90 million people, yet there are 13 major languages spoken in the country. Three of them have more than a million speakers each, nine are spoken by more than two million people and still another has about a million speakers."

In contrast to these lands of many languages, Maring said, China for centuries has had a common written language.

"The vast country has more than a dozen major spoken languages," he said, "yet the Chinese written language is composed of symbols which are understood by all who can read. The same symbol always stands for the same object or the same idea, and although the spoken word used when that symbol is pronounced may have a different sound in different languages, the written ideograph is the same and is commonly understood."

"That's the frightening thing about Red China," he said. "There are 700 million people all united under one written language—an effective force for propaganda and communication."

Maring has prepared a Bisayan-English dictionary for a large language group of the central Philippines and has done extensive language research on Pangasinan, another Filipino language.

A native of Waterloo, Iowa, Maring was graduated from Wartburg College, majoring in English. He is nearing completion of the doctor of philosophy degree in anthropology at Indiana, specializing in cultural anthropology and linguistics.

His wife, Ester Gayo Maring, a native of the Philippines, is also an anthropologist and is specializing in folklore and ethical and legal systems for the doctor's degree at Indiana.

CAGE CONFERENCE—George Lubelt, freshman basketball coach, confers with two of his top players on strategy for tonight's game. They are Roger Bechtold (kneeling) and Dave Renn.

Clash of Old Rivals

Frosh Cagers Meet
Evansville Tonight

An old rivalry will flare up again tonight when Coach George Lubelt's freshmen meet Evansville College's frosh in the preliminary game to the SIU-MacMurray College varsity match.

The feud is a renewal of prep basketball competition. The key figures involved are Southern's Dave Renn and Roger Bechtold, who last year led the Belleville Maroons to a fine season, and Evansville's Ron Johnson and Herb Williams, former stars at Centralia.

The pair from Evansville will be seeking revenge for the upset loss they suffered at the hands of Belleville in Centralia holiday tournament in 1962. Johnson and Williams, who have been outstanding in early season play at Evansville, sparked the Orphans to the runner-up spot in the state finals that year.

Renn and Bechtold have been used regularly at SIU, but have been overshadowed by Walt Frazier, a 6-4 guard from Atlanta, Ga., and Clarence Smith, a lanky 6-4 forward from Zion.

Frazier, whom Lubelt described prior to the start of the season as one of the finest basketball prospects at SIU in recent years, is the team's leading scorer with an average of better than 20 points a game. The hot-shooting guard put in his best performance of the season Saturday night in a losing effort against Murray State when he pumped in 37 points.

Smith, who was just recently promoted to the starting lineup, has justified that promotion by scoring 33, 24, and 20 points for the Salukis in the last three games. He is now second in scoring behind Frazier who has tossed in 144 points. Renn holds down third place in the scoring race with 97, followed by Ray Krapf, Edwardsville, with 66, Ralph Johnson, Trenton, 64, and Bechtold's 44.

The high-scoring frosh have averaged more than 80 points a game in piling up a 5-2 record.
