Bill to revise constitution defeated by S-Senate; free press supported

By Larry A. Glowacki Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Student Senate Wednesday night defeated a bill calling for a con-stitutional convention designed to revise the current Student Government constitution and bylaws.

In other action, the senate unanimously passed a resolution to send a letter to both the Daily Egyptian and the administration "defending free speech and the press as well as ostracizing the administration for attempting to interfere with and subvert tempting to interfere with and subvert constitutional rights."

The resolution was passed in response to a recent memo to the DE editorial page editor from the managing editor (faculty advisor) which limited criticism of the SIU administration.

The constitutional convention bill, submitted by Rick Weldon, west side non-dorm senator, called for the convention to be held during summer quar-

Weldon's bill cited two crucial issues requiring interpretations of the con-stitution and bylaws in regard to the Student Government election and allocation of fees According to the Interpretations of the Student Goverament constitution and bylaws are difficult and varied due to the "complex obscurity inherent within said, con stitution and bylaws," the bill states.

The senate also defeated a move for immediate consideration of another Weldon bill calling for a referendum of the student body on activity fee allocations for the 1973-74 school year.

The action, in effect, killed the bill.

The bill, which calls for the referendum to be held this Friday (May 25) will now not be considered again until next Wednesday (May 30).

According to the bill, the referendum would have asked three questions:

-Do you think the student activity should be eliminated?

Do you feel the student activity fee should be allocated by duly elected student representatives exclusively?

-Do you feel activity fees should be allocated by a joint board of students and SIU administra ors? The third question is in reference to Weldon's opposition to the Joint Fee Allocations Board (JFAB) which is currently allocating student fees for the 1973-74 school year. The JFAB, established by Dean of Students George Mace, is a com-bination of the II-member Student Fee Allocations Board (SFAB), and the five member Finance committee.

The SFAB is comprised of five un-dergraduate students, two graduate students, two faculty, and two ad-ministrative representatives.

In other action, the senate accepted the formal election commission report on the results of the April 25 Student Government election and seated 14 new senators.

The senate also heard first readings of two constitutional amendments dealing with changes in the duties of the Student Government Activities Council (SGAC) chairman and the updating of the functions of the SGAC.

Jennie Lucas, SGAC chairman, said the amendments were designed to clear up discrepancies between the Student Government constitution and the SGAC constitution.

Dey, 64, in public education for 41 years and at SIU for 27 years, said he and his wife decided they should take some time and enjoy themselves.

"If we're going to enjoy life, we figured we'd better do it now." he said. Dey said he expects to complete the formal paperwork for retirement within the next few days. No replacement has yet been named, he said.

Dean of Continuing Education since the division was renamed in 1972, Dey became Dean of University Extension in 1983. He first came to the University as an executive assistant in 1946 and became director of Extension and Adult Education and director of University Extension in 1951. Average prof's salary at SIU ranks in lower fifth of nation

By Marcia Bullard Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The average salary for a full professor at SIU rates in the lower fifth of comparable institutions in the U.S. for a full

Most comparable with SIU are Northern Illinois University and the University of Illinois. All three institutions are public and rated in Category I as offering doctoral programs

For full professors, the average salary is $21,700 at SIU; $22,600 at NIU and $24,400 at the U of I. NIU is ranked in the 40th percentile and the U of I in the 60th percentile.

For associate professors, the average salary is $17,200 at SIU; $18,200 at NIU and $17,700 at the U of I.

Assistant professors make an average of $14,500 at SIU; $14,300 at NIU and $14,700 at U of I, while instructors average a nine-month salary of $11,400 at SIU, $10,500 at NIU and $11,700 at U of I.

While SIU is not up to par salary-wise with universities in the same category it is more comparable to universities in the next category below it. Category IIIA includes institutions awarding master's degrees but not doctorates.

In Illinois, those institutions in Category IIIA which have a salary rating similar to SIU are Western Illinois University, Eastern Illinois University and Illinois State University and Park ISI and WIII pay full professore Both ISU and WIU pay full professors exactly the same average amount as SIU and Eastern's salaries are $300

The University of Chicago and North-The University of Chicago and North-western University, both private, Category I institutions, pay con-siderably more than public univer-sities. Northwestern professors average $27,900 per nine-month period and University of Chicago professors average $28,800.

Illinois compares unfavorably with neighboring states who are not as rich, according to the report. Winn pointed out that full professors at Indiana University at Bloomington make $24,800 per year. It is also a Category I institution. Salaries for other ranks are associate professors, $18,100; assistant professors, $15,300; and instructors,

The range for associate professors goes from $21,500 to $11,000 with the median between $14,500 and $15,500. For assistant professors, the range is from $16,000 to $8,500 with a median of $12,500.

Doernhoefer called some of the worst damage to levees that inflicted by a temporary confluence of the Mississippi with the Missouri at Portage Des Sloux, about seven miles above the permanent convergence of the two rivers.

"The Missouri is 12 feet higher than the Mississippi at that point, and the flow from the Missouri was responsible for heavy damage," he said.

A spokesman for the American Red Cross said the organization had expended $425,000 for flood relief, including $250,000 in the St. Louis area. Salvation Army expenditure for the feeding of flood workers and victims was placed at $100,000. The organization served about 10,000 persons a day at canteens and other outlets, a spokesman said.

Congressmen file suits against defense secretary

SAN FRANCISCO — Two California congressmen filed separate suits Wednesday in U.S. District Court seeking to halt U.S. combat operations in Cambodia in the absence of congressional authorization.

Democratic Reps. Fortney H. Slark Jr. and Ron Dellums filed the suits against the secretaries of defense, Air Force and Navy.

Their suits asked the court to declare that engaging in combat operations in Cambodia violates the section of the U.S. Constitution which states that Congress has the right to decide whether the United States will fight a war which is neither the immediate repulsion of an attack nor a grave emergency during which Congress can not act.

Hammond leaves July 1

Productive future seen for SIU

University administration is a matter of style to Edward Hammond, associate dean of students, yet he fashions a productive future for SU after he leaves July 1.

e 29-year-old Hammond used his of administration-student relations to case student unrest relations to ease student unrest in unrest in unmanths following the closing of SIU in May, 1970. He has resigned to accept the post of vice president for student affairs at Seton Hall University, a private college in South Orange, New Jessey.

"My style of administration is different than the style of the current SIU administration, "Hammond said in an interview Wednesday. "Not saying that one style is right and one style is wrong - it's just a difference.

Hammond said he believes that the students and the SIU adiamistration had the same end-goals in mind when he was involved with both from 1970 to 1972. He added that his duties have in-volved more the administrative end of University-student relations since a

"A lack of understanding" on the student's part was the basis for much of it e student unrest in the past three years, Hammond said. "Students weren't given all the facts or all the in-formation that they needed to make decisions. There seems to be a feeling on a number of campuses that the less that students and faculty know about that students and faculty know about certain issues, the better off."

Hammond's style of administration-student relations is keeping the faculty, students and University community as completly informed as possible as to is going on.

'I believe that the better educated the community members are, the bet-ter type of decisions they can make in leaves the door quan for distortion of the facts, he said. BU President David Derge is often the victim of distortion Hammond said. He added that somethings about Derge are based of translatent information.

"But at the same time," Hamm said, "I wonder if everything is be done to educate the community a what the truth is."

Hammond was hired as assistant to the chanceller for student relations and associate does of student services in June, 1920. He was later named assistant does of students. Former SIU President Robert G. Layer then changed Hammond's title to assistant to the president for student relations.

He helped formulate the Interim Policy on Demonstrations which was written following the demonstrations of May, 1979. During the disturbances of May, 1972 Hammond also served as liaison between the administration and

The disturbances that he dealt with were the result of a "tri-polar" situation, Hammond said, "One part was the rather intense emotional feeling that surrounded the war in Viet-nam," he said.

"Second was the strong perceptual shock that students felt following the Kent State killings," he said. "The fact that students had the opportunity to watch other students getting shot for apparently no reason was a conapparently no reason tributing factor."

The third contributing factor in student unrest was the environment at SIU in 1970, Hammond said. Frustration toward the SIU administration, the issues surrounding the million dollar University House and similar issues facilitated, demonstrations among a large group of students, he added.

Hammond said that many students were pulled into distrubances that they really didn't want to get involved in.

"One of the phenomenon that exists on a college campus is that as students experience demonstrations, they are more reluctant to get involved in it a second time," Hammond said. The experience of seeing windows broken by people for no good reason and other persons' rights infringed upon causes this reluctance, he said.

The result was better student response to administrative efforts to cope with the gripes, Hammond said. This is the situation Hammond said he has seen develop at SIU after 1970.

Hammond said be regrets leaving SIU. The University has much potential in the coming years, he added. He said he has, been particularly pleased with working with the faculty at SIU.

Hammond said Seton Hall University is an excellent match for his style of running student affairs. "Seton Hall is a running student attairs. "Seton stail is a very open university community. The history of the institution and current ad-ministration very much meshes with my idea of total education and total availability of information to all mem-bers of the community."

Energy - a crisis

With only six per cent of the world's population, we consume almost a third of all the energy used in the world. Per capita, we use more electricity and fuel than any other people, and even these energy needs are expected to double from what they were in 1970 about a dozen years from now Increased industrialization has led to a soaring demand for energy, and we are finally face to face with the problem of our demand outstripping our available supplies. supplies.
President Nixon, in a message to Congress on April

President Nixon, in a message to Congress on April 18, said we are facing an energy challenge which, if unchecked, could become a genuine energy crisis. "But that crisis can and should be averted, for we have the capacity and the resources to meet our energy needs if only we take the proper steps..."

Nixon stated.

Nixon stated.

But what are these "proper steps", and just who and what will be stepped on in the process? Nixon's proposals include ending the nation's fourteen-yeard old quota system on oil imports as well as the regulation of prices on natural gas to give the industry an incentive to explore new reserves. He wants to triple the amount of Federal lands available for oil and gas exploitation, with tax reductions that wants to triple the amount of Federal lands available for oil and gas exploitation, with tax reductions that would let companies write off some production and drilling costs. In addition, Nixon suggested that the Clean Air Act be eased to allow the burning of 155 million tons of high-sulfur coal.

This general hands-off approach by the Administration is probably just what the big companies have been hoping for. Some even suspect that the whole gasoline-fuel-oil shortage situation is just a way for them to get higher prices from the public and to drive the independent cut-rate gasoline dealers of business. Since these dealers must depend on the to drive the independent cut-rate gasoline dealers out of business. Since these dealers must depend on the big corporations for their supply, one senator estimates that the whole independent sector of the petroleum industry will be wiped out by Aug. 15. With no competition, then, the biggest companies will control what's available and dictate prices. It isn't surprising, therefore, that the big oil companies have been promoting the energy crists in their advertising, expressing concern but asking for "tim-advertising, expressing concern, but asking for "un-derstanding and support," like one Sun Oil booklet does. This gives them the opportunity to criticize en-vironmental laws they're forced to observe, and to justify higher fuel prices and looser government con

The scientific community and environmentalists alike are disappointed in Nixon's proposals. The President refused to spend any more funds on energy research and development, saying that they would produce diminishing returns. Even one White House energy expert disagreed, saying, "I don't believe, personally, that there are absolutely no places where we could spend more money and not get useful results."

Environmentalists fear that Nixon's expansion of Environmentalists fear that Nixon's expansion of our coal resources as the highest national priority will mean mile after mile of land ravaged by stripminers. But energy suppliers favor this, as well as relaxing pollution laws. It seems far more reasonable to look for more efficient ways of using the energy we already have before destroying the environment, and, if prices must go up, why not spend the increased revenue, on environmental research?

the increased revenue on environmental research?

Hopefully, Congress will turn down Nixon's proposals and introduce other bills which will not create new problems as it solves the present ones. Senator Jackson, for example, is expected to propose Senator Jackson, for example, is expected to propose a bill which would establish a 10-year research program into non-nuclear energy sources such as shale and gasified coal. Senator Thomas Eagleton has proposed an ammedment to the Economic Stabilization Act which would force major companies to share available oil and gas supplies with the independents. Perhaps there will also be a bill allowing extensive strip mining only if the strippers hear the cost of predaining caysaged land. As any bear the cost of reclaiming ravaged land. At any rate, pressure from the public will hopefully lead Congress to take positive action to meet the energy crisis, in comparison to Nixon's inadequate measures.

Dear Amtrak. . .

To the Daily Egyptian

An open letter to the president of Amtrak Railroad, Mr. Roger Lewis

If have been a student at the university in Carbon-dale, Ill., since the Spring of 1972. I have also been wondering since then, why the price of the train fare woodering since then, why the price of the train fare from Carbondale to Chicago is so high. I think it is an unfair and cruel advantage you have taken over the university students to burden them with such an outrageous cost let alone terrible service.

Many of us have been victims of such small, but unfortunate incidents on the train, such as, arriving three to four hours late on the Sunday night train when we have had to be at eight o'clock classes the next morning, and suffering 110 degree temperatures.

next morning, and suffering 110 degree temperatures when the air conditioning broke down. Granted, these incidents are unfortunate, but must they be constant?

I ask you Mr. Lewis, what improvement in the notorious Amtrak service warranted the recent fare increase? If your answer is repairs, Mr. Lewis, your fares should be going down, not up? We, the students, should not be forced to pay such a high price to keep your trains on their tracks!

Just print the facts

To the Daily Egyptian

Recently I found a hand-out purportedly published by the Polish-American Freedom Fighters which bore the headline, "Jews Kill 65 Americans, Israel Sinks American Ship, 65 Americans Dead." The paper goes on to claim that Israeli planes sank an American Liberty ship and nothing was done about it. This grammatically, typographically, and informationally impoverished work is so gross in its distortions and so blatant in its anti-Semitism that I feel compelled to air the facts in order to expose this bit of tripe for what it is; a rank collection of misir-formation and bigotry aimed at the gullible, naive, and historically ignorant.

Fact 1- An American reconnaisance ship, the USS Liberty, was accidently attacked by Israeli planes during the 1967 war. It did not sink.

Fact 2- The Liberty was operating 15 miles off the Sinai coast, far from the main body of the U.S. fleet. This may be reason enough for tense Israeli pilots to mistake the ship for a disguised Egyptian antitary vessel monitoring Israeli communications.
Fact 3- The death toll was 31, not 65. Fact 4- The hand-outs asks "Will Israel continue to kill Americans and the USA de nothing?" The fact is, Israel apploxized immediately and paid reparations to the families of those killed. Also, in that the incident took piace 6 years ago and hasn't been repeated. I feel its safe to assume that the Israelis are not going to make a habit of this. The hand-out suggests that you write to President Nixon for the facts. Wouldn't it have been better if these "freedom fighters" just printed the facts.

'Homosexuality . . . is'

To the Daily Egyptian:
Having noticed an increasing number of "gav liberation" posters around campus, I feel compelled to offer the following comments.

Let's quit hiding our heads in the sand and recognize homosexuality for what it really is—a sickness. All these efforts to glamorize, publicize, legalize or whatever, can never after the fact that homosexuality is a perversion and contrary to every law of nature.

legalize or wnatever, can never anter me ract mas homosexuality is a perversion and contrary to every law of nature.

Our society seems to be developing a more tolerant attitude towards "gay" individuals. As a Christian, I must confess that I have mixed feelings on this point. Knowing that Christ loves all men and that He gave Himself for all as a supreme demonstration of God's love, I find it impossible to condemnthesepeople. The Bible clearly shows that God loves the sinner but hates the sin that is committed. To all my Christian brothers and sisters I say that this is the attitude with which we should regard all individuals no matter what their offenses toward God. This is not to say that we should encourage homosexuality, but rather, that we should love the person as Christ does while hating the sickness which is in control.

Gay persons need love and understanding. They need help. They do not need evouragement from the "gay libbers" to continue to violate their God given conscience. They need to be reminded "Lat although man may one day accept homosexuality, God never will. I Corintians $2.3, 10 states clearly that the homosexual, among others, will not enter the kingdom of God. All of us can rejoice in the sure knowledge that God loves us and He is ready to forgive, no matter what our condition. If Corintians $1.7 tell us that "If any men be in Christ, he is a new creature. Old things are passed away; behold all things are become new."

Computer science proposal presented to Faculty Senate

By Rich Lorenz Dully Egyptian Staff Writer,

The Paculty Senate Tuesday received, but did not act, on a proposal calling for the establishment of an undergraduate major in computer science.

The program proposal asks for the program to be implemented at the beginning of the 1974 fall semester. In addition, the senate held a 50-minute question and answer session with T. Richard Mager, vice president for development and services, concerning University fund raising.

According to the computer science proposal, "the main object of the proposed program is to provide appropriate educational op-

Home Ec dean sums up consumer protection laws

By Jan Tranchita Delty Egyptian Staff Writer

Most speakers have a few tricks up their sleeves to keep the attention of the audience.

But Thomas Brooks, dean of the School of Home Economics, calls, himself a "frustrated magician" because consumer protection laws have taken away his gimmicks for keeping an aidience attentive.

"People can't be asked to guess the weight of a bar of soap or a tube of toothpaste anymore." Brooks said Wednesday. Truth is packaging laws have been passed to require that particular information on product labels, Brooks said.

Even manufacturers of aerosol spray cans are required, to warm consumers about flammability so that the old match and hair spray trick may not surprise anyone, he added. Brooks spoke at the Division of Continuing Education Lunch and Learn presentation in the Student

But all these old tricks "serve to illustrate the consumer's dilemma." Brooks said. "The con-sumer has to bear the burden of knowledge about products."

Consumers have to know about pricing, guarantees, safety durability and hoards of other qualities for each product, Brooks said. The 'ole of consumer is characterized by a "caviat emptor" or "consumer beware" philosophy. Brooks added.

But with the increase in consumer protection laws and groups, the role is shifting to "caviat benditor" or "seller beware," with the responis sinting to caviat bendior or 'seiler beware," with the respon-sibility of product information resting on the shoulders of the manufacturer. Brooks said.

The first federal mention of con-sumer rights was midde in a speech by the late President/John Kennedy, Prooks said. He spelled out four consumer rights—the right to be safe, to be informed, the right to have a choice and to be heard.

Safety "The rights of the con-sumer are not included in the Bill of Rights," Brooks said "But Ken-nedy based his qualifications for those rights on previous laws passed

The problem of safety probably has always been higher than other consumer priorities." Brooks said. "Safety is a critical right to a consumer and something that plays an important part in his decision to purchase a particular product, he simmer has the right to choose between several similar products.

—Being heard. Consumer councils and advisory groups for state and federal officials have guaranteed the right of "consumers to be heard in the highest parts of the government," when dealing with consumer protection, Brooks said. The days of consumers getting the bad end of the marketing deal, are coning to a halt, with increased publicity of the need for consumer protection. Brooks said. Several laws now are pending which would improve the consumer's stance in a fight against industry, he added.

A ball which would allow class action suits against manufacturers by visor. Brooks summed up the consumer protection situation.

'If American industry continues to show contempt for the consumer, it will reap contempt from the consumer And from Congress, in-dustry will reap statutes which could be the most spectacular case of statutory reap in history."

Consultant to present report on SIU vocational programs

A consultant's recommendations for the future organization of vocational education programs. at SIU are expected to be received by the office of Executive Vice President and Provost Willis Malone "within a matter of days." Assistant Provost John Balter said Tuesday that the consultant, who made the study of the status of SIU's vocational education pragram under a $65,000 grant from the Illinois Department of Vocational Education, is now preparing a final Education, is now preparing a final report. He said the report is the cesult of about two years of in-vestigating the vocational education situation at the University.

The units involved—Occupational Education, Agriculture Education, Home Economics Education, Home Economics Education and Secretarial and Business Education—are how pretty well scattered in a variety of schools and colleges, "Baker said, He said the availability of the state grant allowed outside consultants to be brought in to study the situation. Baker said proposals for improving the organization of the vocational education program have ranged from the establishment of a separate College of Careers to floor-porating the four programs into the College of Education or forming institutes or centers for the different areas. He said Malone's office would want to see the final report set for implementing whatever decision is finally reached, Baker said.

"It depends on how big the task is," he said. If it is just a simple reorganization, it could be completed by the beginning of the new academic year in September. But a more complex change would take longer. Baker said.

He emphasized that the consultant's report would contain recommendations, only, and no immediate decisions would be made on the basis of the consultant's report by itself.

WIDB changes to affect 10 of 12 staff positions

By Alfan Friedm Student Writer

Ten of the 12 department heads at WIDB will be leaving their present positions in June, according to newly appointed general manager Jim Rohr; a junior majoring in radio-TV from Aurora.

Students graduating and others desiring to work in different areas of broadcasting have resulted in a major management changeover at the student radio station, Rohr said.

"I'm anticipating a more retaxed atmosphere next year," Rohr said in commenting on his new position. "There's not going to be a void bet-ween offices and studios," he said. He is hoping for more internal com-munication between management and staff

In the past, many department heads at WIDB sat behind a desk in heads at WIDB sat behind a desk in an office all day and had little ob-portunity to experience the problems of the radio statum's daily operation, Rohr said. This will be changed next year because the management will be more involved in the on-air sound of the station, spending more time in the studios, according to Rohr

Rohr told of some changes plan-ned for WIDB next year.

We're thinking of beginning our progressive rock programs at 7 pm and continuing through 4 am., he said. Currently, the station programs contemporary music from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. progressive rock from 10 p.m. bit 4 s.m. and tubble music to study 4 s.m. and tubble music to study 5. a m, and lighter music to study by from 4 a.m to 7 a m

The network affiliation will enable WIDB reporters to spend more time covering local news events, he ad-

Rohr, who served as public relations director for WIDS this year, replaced Joel Preston, who resigned as general manager for "personal business reasons."

Other management changes in-clude the appointment of Keith Weinman, a junior from Walkerton, ind., as program director. Weinman succeeds Sam Glick, who has taken a position at another area radio station.

The position of Public Service Manager has been filled by Dennis Lyle, a sophomore majoring in R-TV from Long Grove. Lyle replaces Robbie Davis who will graduate in August.

Todd Cave, a sophomore from Elm Grove, Wis. majoring in R-TV, will remain as WIDB music director. The production coordinator position left vacant by the resignation of Dave Silver, will be filled by Gary Goldblatt, a junior majoring in R-TV from Evanston.

Ronna Davis, a sophomore from Park Forest, remains as off manager, Ann Kalomas,

The incident led to the closing of the schools in Little Rock during the 1858-1859 school year. It was at this time that Roberts moved to Los Angeles. The schools in Little Rock were opened the following year to both black and white students. However, six of the nine original black students had moved elsewhere to go to school.

"The legal repercussions were very significant," Roberts saud. He related how this was the first real test of the decision that schools must be integrated. It was highly experimental, according to Roberts, and many black citizens were alraid of what the results might be. "The pressure was greater on my on the fifth floor of Morris Library.

Besides these unusual items, you can find all kinds of flat maps, relief maps, atlases and, of course, globes. As a matter of fact, there are about 150,000 different kinds of maps, including 42,000 aerial photographs of Southern Illinois and 1,000 atlases. Mrs. Jean Ray, map librarian, said.

"And people don't realize that they can check some of these maps out. Most of the geological survey maps, some of the relief maps, the globes and atlases can be checked out for two weeks," Mrs. Ray said. Some of the maps are even given

This library is what is called a depositery library, Mrs. Ray said.

"Many government agencies deposit maps here for public access at no cost to the library. We get them from the U.S. Geological Survey, the Army Topographic Command, the State Department of Transportation and others," she said.

Mrs. Ray also said that she writes Mrs. Ray also said that she writes to about 1,000 oil companies each spring for the road maps they produce and to many state tourism agencies for their maps. City maps are also received from various chambers of commerce in the state, she added. The maps given away are those such as of Shawnee National Forest, the carapus, and many recreational areas in the vicinity. Mrs. Ray said.

many recreational areas in the vicinity, Mrs. Ray said. The map room contains topographical quadrangles of every surveyed and mapped section of land in the country, Mrs. Ray said. A topographical quadrangle is a map of a small section of land, showing the terrain and structures on the land. Many rare items are also easily accessible to anyone wishing to look at them, but are not usually allowed out of the library, Mrs. Ray said.

"We have maps made as far back as 1580 showing the old drawings of the North American continent. They were donated to us several years ago," she said. These maps are kept in a locked cabinet and can not be taken out of the library.

Another rare item is an atlas printed in 1876 of every county in Illinois. Final examination schedule

The 1973 Spring Quarter examination schedule attempts to avoid examination conflicts by providing separate examination periods for Treesday-Thursday lecture classes. Some questions might develop for which answers can be provided at this time.

Classes that meet loager than one hour on Tuesday and Thursday, such as four quarter hour classes, should use the examination period established for the earlier of the hours. (For example, a class meeting from 8:00 to 9:50 on Tuesday and Thursday would hold its examination at 6:00 p.m., Thursday, least 7.).

June 7.)

2. Some classes meeting only on Tuesday and Thursday may not use a lecture instructional technique but do hold final examinations. For example, a laboratiory or seminar type class may meet on Tuesday and Thursday from 3.00 to 4:50. Such a class would have its examination at 10:10 a.m. on Saturday.

June 2.

3. The space scheduling section of the Office of Admissions and Records will forward to departments information relative to the location for examinations for those classes that cannot hold their examinations in their regularly scheduled rooms because of a space conflict. This will be done sufficiently in advance of the final examination week to provide sufficient notice for all

The following points are also pertinent relative to the final examination schedule

1 One and two credit hour courses have their examinations during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the formal final examination week.

2. A student who finds he has more than three examinations on one day may petition, and a student who has two examinations scheduled at one time should petition his academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that a student may decide to miss his scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for a student whose petition has been approved by his dean

3 A student who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination Information relative to the proper grade to be given a student who misses a final examination and is not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph will be found in the mimeographed memorandum forwarded to members of the instructional staff at the time they receive the final grade listing for the recording of grades.

4. A special note needs to be made relative to examinations.

ng sections for those classes which have been granted a special time for examining all sections. As some students at tending at right may not be able to attend the special examination period scheduled for the daytime, each department involved will have to arrange special examination periods for such students. This problem involves those night students who are fully employed during the day and who are taking night courses because it is the only time they are able to do so

Nuxhall still pitching out pride

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joe Nuxhall was a 15-year-old junior high student when he made his major league debut for the Cincinnati Reds almost 30 years ago.

Now his son Kim, 18, heads for his second season in the Reds' farm genter as a pitcher and takes along some fatheriy advice "Keep your nords".

Nuxhall, a parrel-chested 245 pounder who turns 45 in July, was a fuzzy-faced "scared-to-death kie" when he faced the St. Louis Cardinals in relief in 1944. Baseball had never exposed a younger player to ave up five runs and had two wild itches." recalls Nuxhall. "They eat us something like 18-0 or 18-1."

His pride took a pounding but Nuzhail wasn't ready to give it up, though it took seven years in the minors before his next call came to join the Reds

"I told Kirn last year when he went to the Reds' rookie league, it wasn't going to be an easy road.

But if you work hard and take pride in yourself, that's important," said Nuxhall, who hasn't strayed far from the Reds' patching

The Persian Eagles will defend their intramural volleyball crown at 8:30 p. m. Thursday in the SIU Arena against either Dirty-Dinkersaus or Sigma Tau Gamma.

Those latter two teams met in a semifinal match Wednesday evening but results were not available at press time.

The finals will be a best two-out-of-three game set.

Gophers lug tradition to playoffs

By Stan Kosinski Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Dominance in the sport of baseball has been a tradition at SIU since 1966, selected as one of the best District 4 ams seven of the last eight years. But dominance is also the tradition of Minnesota.

Since 1956, the Gophers have played in nine District 4 playoffs. Of these, Minnesota captured three district crowns and remarkably went on to win Minnesota was the No. 1 team in nation in 1966, 1960 and 1964.

SIU, on the other hand, met the test of SIU, on the other hand, met the test of the districts three of its previous six ap-pearances but never brought the national crown back to Carbondale. In 1968 and 1971, the Salukits placed second to, Southern California in the College World Series. Even though Minnesota has seen ac-tion in the playoffs many times, head

tion in the playoffs many times, head coach Dick Siebert still reacts to the honor as a child does on his first roller coaster ride

I'm tickled to death that we're in the playoffs," the 26-year veteran at Min-nesota said during a telephone inter-view Wednesday.

The road the Gopher mentor-and his squad had to travel this season was rugged and his enthusiasm seems

"Michigan (the Big Ten university that finished second in the conference) was in the race until the last day," Siebert said. "The Wolverines had outstanding pitching and a ballclub ballclub."

The first team Minnesota will face
Thursday, May 31 is the Mid-America Conference champion. At the present time. Miami of Ohio, 28-6, leads the race over Ohio University. 28-8.
However, a three-game series Friday and Saturday between these rivals may decide which one will join SIU. Min-nesota and Marshall in the tournament.

Ohio needs to win two of three games to win the title outright. If Miami wins only one game, there will be a playoff

"I don't care which of the two teams we face," Siebert said. "I don't know anything about the clubs."

He added that since the weekend con-tests are hosted by Miami, it has a home advantage over Ohio that will be difficult to overcome.

"We've come along late in the season," Siebert, whose squad has a 26-14-2 record, said. "But we are a well balanced team, even though we lost a lot of players.

But the losses don't mean inex-perience, he added. The ballplayers on the team now are predominently seniors that waited for last year's mem-bers to graduate, he explained. Two losses coach Siebert showed con-cern for were in leftfield and centerfield. Both regulars unidentified by Siebert, are suffering broken bones— one of the hand and the other the foot. Commenting on which of the four teams should have an advantage in the playoffs, Siebert said, "One of the Mid-

America entries."
The Gophers, Thundering Herd and the Salukis will be idle for at least two weeks before the playoffs begin, Siebert said. The two Mid-America teams are still playing collegiate competition and intrasquad scrimmages, plained. Two disadvantages Minnesota will face are the absence of the aluminum and designated hitter rule.

Both are exclusively used by the Big Ten in college and university ranks The playoffs and World Series will not either one

"Our players have used the aluminum bat all season and our pit-chers have not batted all year," he said. 'The aluminum bat and designated hitter are the upcoming thing, but it does not help us out now.' Siebert added the new rules will definately be followed by all major conferences and independents in the country next year.

try next year.
Siebert and Danny Lithwhiler,
Minhiman State, made baseball coach at Michigan State, made the recommendation for these changes to the NCAA committee.

As an experiment, the NCAA decided last December to allow the Big Ten these changes.

Like SIU, Minnesota requested to Like SIU, Minnesota requested to host the playoffs.

"I'm glad to be in the playoffs. I have a lot of respect for SIU and 'Itchy.' SIU has a good playing field.
"We couldn't beat you on our field (when Minnesota hosted the tournamen.)—maybe we can on yours," Siebert said.

Mile relay combo in tune for California

By Jim Broon Daily Expetian Sports Writer

What's in a word?

Deleting the last letter of a California city isn't the best method of describing the thoughts of Lew Hartrog as he travels west this weekend.

The California Releys, held Friday and Saturday at Modeste, is annually touted as the most prestigious track and field get-together in the nation on the basis of times and distances.

But Hartrog, Southern Illinois track coach, doesn't sound the least "modest" when speaking of his mile relay team's potential at the Relays.

Six Saluki tracksters have been invited to Modesto—Gerald Smith, Lonnie Brown, Eddie Sutton, Terry Erickson, Joe Laws and Bill Hancock.

In addition, six others—Mike Bernard, Gerry Craig, John St. John, Phil Robins, Wayne Carmody and Stan Patterson—will compose Southern's "miniteam" representation at the Central Collegiate Championships (CCC) in East Lansing, Mich.

The mile-relay team will be led off by Smith, followed by Brown, Sutton and anchored by Erickson. That same quartet raced to a 3:08.3 clocking and fourth place finish in the 1972 NCAA outdoor championships at Eugene, Ore.

Hartzog thinks that time, along with the four year old school record of 3:08.5, could be shattered at Modesto if all four Salukis can run to their petential.

"I think they can get down to the 3:08. could or championships and Tuesday after-

"I think they can get down to the 3:06 range," Hartzog said Tuesday afternoon in his office. "I know it's easy to say but the boys can do it."

say but the boys can do it."

The mile-relay team was chosen to compete at Modesto this weekend not only on the basis of a high national finish a year earlier by two freshmen (Erown and Smith) and two sophomores (Erickson and Sutton). It defeated Louisiana State and Alabama, a couple of perennial track powers, in the LSU Invitational at Baton Rouge on Southern's spring trip in March.

Swim coach Essick off to Harvard

Ray Essick, SIU swimming coach for the past seven years, has accepted a similar position at Harvard University in Cambridge, Mass. Essick, 39, replaces Don Gambril, who has been named swimming coach

The opportunity to coach at Harvard was one couldn't pass up," Essick said. "Harvard has one of the up-and said. Harvard has one of the up-ain-coning swim programs on the east coast. Gambril pumped new blood into the program, and it will be quite a challenge for me to continue to make Harvard a dominant factor in the Ivy

At SIU, Essick compiled an overall 38-20 dual meet record. In sev seasons he produced 16 individu NCAA All-Americas and five All-America relay teams.

His Saluki teams have consistently placed in the top 20 each year at the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships. In addition, his teams won titles in In addition, his teams won titles in the following championships: Southern Intercollegiates (1969, 70 and 72); Rimois State Relays (1968, 69, 70 and 71); and Oklahoma Invitational (1971). In 1972 Essick was named the NCAA District Four Coach of the Year. "Ray Essick is one of the nation's top swimming coaches," SIU Athletic Director Doug Weaver said. "He has brought SIU swimming to a position of inational prominence and at the same time made a positive impact on swim-ming and young men and women in the community and Southern Illinois area.

'His contribution to Southern Illinois "His contribution to southern minious University has been significant in 'eaching as well as coaching," Weaver added. "The athletic department is ap-preciative of Coach Essick's consistent loyalty and dedication and we wish him well in his new position at Harvard."

Born in Murphysboro, Essick received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Illinois where he lettered in swim-ming and track as an undergraduate.

Before coming to SIU in 1966, Essick was head swimming coach at New Trier West Township High School from 1965-66. Before that, he was the assistant swim coach at New Trier East which won the state title five times in the seven years Essick was there.

In addition, Essick also was head each of the New Trier and Lake Forest
