Jose Greco and Nana Lorca dance some fiery steps at 1 p.m. Thursday in the Arena as they attempted to show the Convocation audience what Spanish dancing is really like. Greco had provided the audience with a brief history and explanation for each dance, because as he explained people have many illusions about Spanish dancing. Miss Lorca on the left demonstrates a dance which originated in one of the regions of Spain during the 18th century "Golden Era." Greco on the right looks on admiringly while he keeps time with her. ## Bus schedule set, Monday start doubtful

By Daryl Stephenson
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Whether SIU will be able to resume bus service by Monday as planned is very much in doubt, George Patterson, supervisor at Auxiliary and Service Enterprises, said Thursday.

Patterson said the contractor for the bus service, Kelly Transit Co. of Paducah, Ky., had not yet sent a representative to SIU to sign a contract and discuss plans for implementation of the service.

Plans for partial resumption of the Saluki Bus Service were disclosed Wednesday by George Camille, student body president. The bus service, operated on contract by West Bus Service of Carbondale, was curtailed last January because it was losing money and all but one route was dropped in March. No bus service has been provided on campus this quarter.

Kelly Transit Co. had submitted the low bid of 82 cents a mile Tuesday, according to the Purchasing Office.

As soon as the contract is signed, Patterson said, the buses will be ready to start running.

The bus service, when it resumes, will have two buses furnished by Kelly Transit Co., Patterson said.

The bus routes will be green and blue, Patterson said, which is little change from last year's routes.

Each bus will make three runs a day, beginning at 7 a.m., 12 p.m. and 5 p.m. at the Student Center, Monday through Friday, Patterson said. There will be no night runs.

The blue route bus will make its first stop at Illinois Avenue and Main Street at six minutes after the hour. From there it will proceed north on Illinois to Oak Street, east to Marion Street, north to Larch Street, east to Wall Street, south to College Street, west to University Avenue, south to Campus Drive and arrive at the Student Center at 35 minutes after the hour.

Board retains Chicago attorney to examine annexation proposal

By David L. Mahsman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A Chicago attorney has been appointed to study a proposal for partial annexation of the SIU campus into the city of Carbondale and will be at SIU next Wednesday to confer with city, campus and university officials. The Board of Trustees announced Thursday.

The attorney is R. Marlin Smith, of the firm Ross, Hardies, O'Keefe, Babcock and Parsons which specializes in questions. Although the hiring of Smith was announced Thursday, he was provided with documents pertaining to the annexation proposal Oct. 20.

The Board decided to retain a consulting attorney to study the proposal, which was submitted by SIU President Robert G. Lyster, at its Oct. 15 meeting in Carbondale. At that meeting, Trustee Ivan A. Elliott Jr., Carmi, said he discussed the question by telephone with Trustee William Allen.

Bloomington, who was not at the meeting. Elliott said Allen suggested contacting a Chicago attorney recommended by an acquaintance of Allen, but would not reveal the name of the attorney at that time.

Elliott said Thursday, however, that "several Board members" conducted an investigation to find a good attorney who deals in annexation questions. He added that Smith and his firm were "checked out," and both were found to be well-qualified.

No officials on campus Thursday seemed to know what Smith would be paid for his services.

Chief of Board Staff James Brown said that he has not been informed of the fee, but that C. Richard Grunty, Board legal counsel, knows what it is, since he and campus legal counsel Richard Mager were involved in contacting Smith. Both Grunty and Mager were out of town Thursday, and could not be reached for comment.

Lyster also said that he does not know Smith's fee, and added that he was "taken aback" to learn that the chief of board staff does not know what the fee will be.

Elliott said Thursday that although he has been informed of Smith's fee, he did not have the figures available Thursday. He added, however, that Smith will be paid on a "customary" time-fee.

AAUP committee backs Canut case resolution

By Richard Lorenz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Executive Committee of the SIU chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) has endorsed the Faculty Council's resolution concerning the Marisa Canut-Amoros resignation case.

According to a letter written by Robert Harrell, president of the local chapter of AAUP, the resolution was passed unanimously.

The Faculty Council resolution "recommends that Ms. Canut-Amoros and the SIU administration resume negotiations in an attempt to arrive at mutually agreeable conditions under which her services can be continued."

The recommendation is based on three conclusions: first, that Ms. Canut-Amoros has proven her scholarship and that the administration has not challenged her execution of her assigned duties; second, that it was because Ms. Canut-Amoros was a source of irritation that the administration interpreted her resignation as termination of her contract; and third she intended to resign only from the School of Engineering and Technology, not the University.

Harrell said the resolution has not been presented to a full meeting of the AAUP. He said the executive committee action was taken to support the Faculty Council action.

When asked her reaction to the AAUP move, Ms. Canut-Amoros said, "It was not a unanimous vote. Charles Stalon and William Hardenbergh abstained." Stalon and Hardenbergh have previous involvement in the case. According to Ms. Canut-Amoros, Stalon, who was then AAUP chapter president,

Student workers union sets organizational meeting time

By Sue Roll
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

From now on students may have a say in what happens to their hours, wages and working conditions.

This is the purpose behind the student workers union which will hold an organizational meeting from 3-5 p.m. Sunday in the Activity Rooms at the Student Center.

Diene Oltman, student senator and chairman of the health and welfare committee, emphasized that the union is to be completely separate from student government rather than just another one of its agencies. "If later the group decides it wants recognition, it can apply for it," she said.

The union will be a place where students can go with any complaints about work on or off campus, Miss Oltman said.

"The need for something like this has been shown in the past," she said. "Now with the cutback in students' work hours and wages, there's no place for them to go. The Ombudsmen take care of general problems, but they don't have time to take care of this. And they don't know much about it to begin with," she continued.

The union will try to get help from people qualified to know about student work and the rights of the workers, said Miss Oltman. The advice and cooperation of some administrators and faculty may be asked, she said.

Miss Oltman said information about the union had been distributed at some offices employing student workers and the response was very enthusiastic.

"We've seen quite a lot of support as of now, especially because of the cut in hours," she said.

The meeting Sunday will be organizational, probably to form an organization committee to draw up a constitution and get general views from students on what they want from a workers' union, she said.

Expansion halt needed

President Robert G. Lauer recently pointed to SIU's new medical school as a prime cause of budgetary problems at the University this year. Lauer claimed that Illinois had set the medical school as a high state priority without providing additional funding for SIU.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) has asked all state universities for a list of low priority programs that could be cut to make funding available for new programs.

It is widely believed that a person who spreads himself too thin does not do justice to any of his activities or endeavors. The same could be said to be true of the University.

The University has a limited number of resources. It must operate on a fixed budget and must function with a certain number of administrators, faculty and staff. Spreading these resources over an increasing number of programs can only serve to weaken the University.

Financing of new programs such as the medical school and law school will necessitate cutting back established programs, as is recognized by the IBHE.

in its request for priority listings. Would it not be better to further develop the programs we now have into highly productive operations? It is hard to see that an increased number of programs which can only function at a level of mediocrity due to limited resources are more worthwhile than a lesser number of well-developed programs.

Some argue that a medical school, law school and other new programs will bring added prestige to SIU and will enhance its academic image. Could not the same end be accomplished by strengthening the many fine undergraduate departments we now have on campus?

Let new programs be developed on a campus that is ready for expansion. SIU still has much need for time, money and energy to be expended on its existing programs. Let the University develop the their highest potentials the programs now offered at SIU. Then let expansion take place on a solid base of quality undergraduate education.

Disposable gold beer cans

By Arthur Hoppe
Chronicle Features

Every American heart must surely be beating more proudly today after the steadfast stand our leaders have been taking in defending our gold.

Despite extreme pressures from the other 117 members of the International Monetary Fund, we have stalwartly refused to raise the price of our gold from its traditional $35 an ounce.

A few ignorant laymen may feel our leaders are making a mistake. After all, we still have close to 10,000 tons of gold buried away in Fort Knox.

"Why not jack up the price to $39.95 or $42.50 with Green Stamps," the ignorant laymen will say, "and really stick these stupid foreigners?"

Such suggestions show an appalling lack of knowledge of international monetary affairs. For ever since Mr. Nixon announced his New Economic Plan, it's been illegal for us to sell our gold to either Americans or foreigners for any amount of dollars.

Thus it would be a terrible mistake to increase the number of dollars a person would have to pay for the gold we won't sell him. As it is now, we have more than $10 billion worth in Fort Knox. If we increased the price only ten per cent, we'd have more than $11 billion. This, it's plain to see, would give us an entire another billion dollars worth of gold that we don't know what to do with.

That we don't know what to do with the 10,000 tons we've got is obvious. We can't sell it and we certainly can't give it away. It's Government property. You can't give away Government property.

On the other hand, keeping it entails a tremendous waste. Have you ever seen Fort Knox? Think of all those guards and machine guns and police dogs and electronic devices on vigil around the clock preventing thieves from stealing this stuff we don't know what to do with.

True, gold is good for filling teeth. But 10,000 tons is roughly 320 million ounces. And you can fill 30 teeth with an ounce. So we have enough gold on hand to fill 9.6 billion teeth. This is not only more cavities than we've got; it's more teeth than we've got.

It should come as no surprise, then, to learn that most forward-looking economists now feel we should throw our gold away. If you merely consider the expense of keeping it, this makes sense. But there are two drawbacks.

For one thing, when you think of all the sweat and callouses and toil that went into digging it up out of the ground so that we could rebury it under the ground, throwing it away seems a shame. Secondly, say what you will about gold, it isn't biologically degradable. Scattering 20 million pounds of it around the countryside is going to create an awful mess.

But this suggests the solution: disposable gold plates and no-return gold beer cans.

The increasing use of paper plates is a drain on our timber resources. Manufacturing aluminum can requires vast amounts of hydroelectric power, which in turn means damming our wild rivers.

Thus we see that disposable gold plates and no-return gold beer cans would be a giant ecological advance—particularly if we can convince housewives to turn them in for recycling rather than throwing them away.

So let's stop going around with long faces, saying our 10,000 tons of gold isn't good for anything.

I hope this clears up any confusion you may have had about the international monetary system. Meanwhile, if you have any paper dollars in your pocket, keep the faith.

Straw men

To the Daily Egyptian

Straw-men are convenient. They take care of one's own frustrations, and the jousts with straw-men leave an afterglow of satisfaction. This is the same kind of satisfaction one gets while flogging dead horses. Professor Stauber should have known this.

Imperialism is dead, and scholarly integrity is increasingly identified with a section of academe who seemed to believe that only they have seen the light. The high-flown ideological opposition to the Vietnam Center has now degenerated into petty Anti-Jacobinism. escalation of war. On the home front, those elements who wanted to share power and change policy by surgery brought this institution to near-bankruptcy.

The other day at a Diwali festival, the assembled Indian Moslems and Indian Christians were told that it was a Hindu festival and brought the full impact of Hindu chauvinism nearer home. Mr. Jnan Bhat-tacharya should have attacked this imperialism which contributed more to the misery of the East Pakistani refugee than the steadily-decreasing American aid.

Patriotism and the flag

To the Daily Egyptian

Aside from appearing highly qualified, patriotic American, veteran ex-sergeant in special forces, member of the proud counter intelligence corps, college graduate, member of the educational psychology research bureau; member of the department of guidance and educational psychology, Mr. Hruza seems to know a lot about Americans.

He knows that good Americans display the flag properly and that good Americans are angered by improper displays of the flag.

Mr. Hruza also seems to enjoy generalizing. He seems to feel that a properly flown flag is significant of a good American. That is the humorous part of his letter.

Mr. Hruza, how you display the flag is no measure of a good American.

There are things going on in this country today under this flag that are not good. That are dangerous. That are potentially explosive.

Does a properly displayed flag not fly over every county, city and state penal institution? This same flag flies over many big business establishments as they dump pollutants into our water and air and dump money into the hands of corrupt politicians who sit in their offices under property displayed flags.

This same flag flies properly in Vietnam where the taking of human life and the maiming of men, women and children is considered everyday business.

Perhaps Mr. Hruza, we should worry less about how we display the flag and more about what's going on underneath it.

More on flag charges

To the Daily Egyptian:

In answer to the article which appeared in Friday's issue, pertaining to the improper flag display charges set against Jim Veltri, we are writing this letter to express our extreme aggravation toward Jimmie R. Coonts, and the Jackson County Circuit Court system. We feel that any individual who has spent "11 months in combat in Vietnam where he was wounded three times and won the Silver Star," and who was "discharged with a 35 per cent disability for wounds in his right leg," and who has had the gross misfortune to have killed three "enemy soldiers" and who after all that still cares enough for the flag as to want to display it for decorative reasons across the ceiling of his van, should in all good rights, have the privilege to do so.

As students of this University and citizens of this country, it angers us to find out such facts about one member of the Security Police force. We hate to think that Coonts is typical of the Security Police, in that he appears to be a closed-minded individual who has the nerve to claim that he is in the field of police work to protect the people.

We have no doubts as to why he was not available for comments.

Jews and Christ

To the Daily Egyptian

We confess to being intrigued by Mr. Allen Landerman's letter to the Daily Egyptian about Jews being unable to believe "in Christ as God." Mr. Landerman's letter faulted another Jew, who in acknowledging Jesus Christ as Messiah and Deity, found Christ to be the fulfillment of his Judaism rather than the negation of it.

We find the letter intriguing because as we read it, it is the Jewish Old Testament that poses the rhetorical question, "Who has established all the ends of the earth? What is his name, and what is his son's name, if you can tell?" (Proverbs 30:4). It was the Hebrew prophet Isaiah who proclaimed that, "...Unto us a child is born called, the Mighty God, the everlasting Father." (Isaiah 9:6). So the idea of God taking on the form of a man, is not exactly alien to Jewish theology. Mr. Landerman is right, however, in maintaining the unity of God.

But in Christ we find ourselves confronted with far greater conception of the Divine Unity than finite man can cope with. That God can be three persons yet one God is a mystery even to Christians. Yet Biblical evidence (Old and New Testaments) forces us to submit to this antinomy. Christ's claim to be both Deity and Messiah validated by his documented deeds, words and miracles, lead us to regard Jesus as more than "Just an ordinary person."

Finally, Mr. Landerman wrote that "to state that the Jew needs Christ is also fallacious." This is interesting because we find again that it is the Jewish scriptures which call for animal sacrifices for atonements for sin (Leviticus 17:11). Yet since the destruction of the temple in Jerusalem in 70 A.D. by Roman legionnaires, no such sacrifice has been offered.

It is the classical Christian position that the perfect God-Man, Jesus Christ, died as the ultimate sacrifice for an atonement for the sins of those who would accept it. Does the Jew then, or anybody else, need Christ?

This is a problem that some of us in a group called Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship would like to talk about with anyone who can make it to room D, Student Center, any Friday night at 7 p.m.

"Paleolithic dorms"

To the Daily Egyptian

Wow! Gee! How progressive can the SIU Residence Halls get? Thompson Point now has one (one?) "experimental" coed dormitory. Congratulations would have been in order if such an experiment were conducted about five years ago. Dormitories are certainly more livable and educational on a coed basis. It would be much more encouraging if a large number of SIU Residence Hall areas had already been converted to permanent coed living areas.

With such an innovative Administration at work, even the wheel may soon be invented in Southern Illinois. Oh well, who needs the wheel when we already have fire? Meanwhile, back to your paleolithic dormitories, campus residents.

Radio comment

To the Daily Egyptian

I would like to make a few comments on Joseph Friend's letter of Oct. 15. As one of my radio and television professors said, "He (Mr. Friend) is talking about you." "You" being the students of the radio and television department. In many ways what Mr. Friend had to say made a lot of sense in theory, but trying to put it into practical use is a different story.

"The quality of announcing is lower than one expects from a university station," writes Mr. Friend. I agree with him in some respects when obvious words are mispronounced. He must realize that for many students, classical music is not their strong point. Very few have knowledge of classical music enough to put their hearts and souls into the programs. Those that do understand classical music are so few in number that programs far outnumber students.

Another point I would like to make to Mr. Friend is that these announcers are students. If they were so great at announcing, they would not be at SIU and WSIU, but rather at a commercial station.

Something else that Mr. Friend must understand is that every time he turns his radio to WSIU he is stepping into a classroom. Radio and television majors are placed on the air so that they will learn what radio is all about. No classroom in the world can take the place of experience on the air. Instead of constructive criticism, listeners should also encourage announcers. Students receive enough constructive criticism in the classrooms.

The next point is the "light humorous patter of the students charged with announcing." A favorite phrase in the radio and television department is, "If you don't have anything to say, don't say it." This is a good rule of thumb—as far as you can throw it. How is a student supposed to know if his light humor is successful unless he tries it out on his audience? If anything, a student should speak more, not less, to familiarize himself with his ad lib abilities—a must in commercial radio.

On his third point, "poor-to-mediocre music, largely tinpan alley," I can only say amen. This is not to say that WSIU should go all popular, rather they should update the way their programs are presented. Just as commercial radio can improve in twenty years, so must public radio.

I would also like to correct Mr. Friend's address book. Letters of constructive criticism regarding WSIU should be sent to Broadcasting Service, Communications Building, not the Daily Egyptian.

In closing, I can only say that I think the radio and television department is the best in the country. I am proud to be in the department, and I am proud to have been one of those "beginning radio announcers." The only advice that I can give to Mr. Friend is to keep listening to WSIU as he has in the past. What he will be hearing is students learning what radio and television is all about. And learning is what education is all about.

Movie cancellation

To the Daily Egyptian:

Over the weekend, Thompson Point Activities Council was to sponsor the showing of "2001: A Space Odyssey" in Lentz Hall. Admission was to be free to Thompson Point residents, and 75 cents to all other students and faculty members. It was the hope of the council that if the experiment, by which first rate films could be shown on campus regularly, was a success, all students, especially those who are unable to pay the price of local theaters or are otherwise unable to get to a theater, could still see these currently popular movies at reduced prices. The Point circulated posters and ran an ad in the Daily Egyptian, publishing the event. Thompson Point was trying to do a service for the students.

However, a certain theater in Carbondale seemed to have scheduled the same film to play in a few weeks, and was upset when reading of the Point's showing in the paper. Of course their monetary reward must not be imposed upon by such a group activity. They took to the telephone lines and no less than two hours before the scheduled showing at the Point Friday night, succeeded in trapping everyone involved either legally or socially into halting the showing to protect their own interests—a profit. Few will argue with the fact that although a theater's prime interest should be entertainment, its owner is always looking out for the all powerful cash register which governs all.

Now it seems that a recent issue of popular concurrence has been the "trouble in the streets" earlier this fall. It was blamed on "not having enough activities on campus" for the students. Thompson Point scheduled four showings, each expected to attract well over 200 individuals. Of course if this CINEMA, which I will not name, would rather have the SALUKIS out on the streets during the weekend evenings, this is their prerogative. I just wonder if they would be met with agreement by the other Carbondale merchants.

Thus, no film was shown at the Point Friday and Saturday nights. Where the students went after they came to the Point and were met with the fact that the film had been cancelled is unknown. Only the fact remained that many unhappy individuals left, angered by the fact that a local theater owner put his monetary reward before the entertainment of the populus and the satisfaction of a group trying to do something for the students.

Opinion & Commentary

EDITORIALS—The Daily Egyptian encourages the free flow of current issues through editorials and letters on these pages. Editorials—labeled Opinion—are written and signed by members of the student news staff and by students enrolled in journalism courses and represent opinions of the authors only.

LETTERS—Readers are invited to express their opinions in letters which must be signed with name, classification and major or faculty rank, address and telephone number. Letters should be typewritten and free length should not exceed 250 words. Letter writers should respect the generally accepted standards of good taste and are expected to make their points in terms of issues rather than personalities. Acceptance for publication will depend on limitations of space and the timeliness and relevance of the material. Unsigned letters will not be accepted, and authorship of all letters must be verified by the Daily Egyptian. It is the responsibility of the Daily Egyptian to determine content of the opinion pages. Other materials on pages four and five include editorials and articles reprinted from other publications, syndicated columns and articles, and interpretive or opinion articles authorized locally.

Faculty, students make informal contacts

By Pat Nussman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Most of the faculty at SEU have no idea—or have forgotten what it is like to live in a dorm, to register for classes or to stand in line to pick up books.

Likewise, a lot of the students have no idea what faculty members are like without their coats and ties. In other words, says Julia Muller, coordinator of Student Services, there is a feeling on this campus that there is a large division between faculty and students.

And that, she said, is where the new University Associate Program is designed to make a difference.

In this new effort, faculty members volunteer to participate in informal contact with students through physical units within residence halls—such as floors or an entire dorm.

What the faculty members do varies. The University Associates board purposely did not make suggestions for activities—the program is meant to be unstructured, Ms. Muller said.

"One University Associate plays football with his kids," she said, "a lot of the rest would never even consider it."

Another group is planning an overnight camp-out. Common activities are lectures, concerts, dinners, picnics, having speakers in or just rapping, said Ms. Muller.

Some students use the program as a way to find out more about the way the system works, she said.

A few of the faculty view it as an ombudsman—something that really shocked triggerers of the scheme, she said, since most of them considered the program as something a little less formal.

Ideally, University Associates should see students once a week or so, but it varies, according to Ms. Muller.

The program was tried experimentally over summer quarter, Ms. Muller said, and the advisory board decided if there was any success at all, it would be tried in the fall.

Ms. Muller said that she is really encouraged by the feedback this fall—she said she considers it a worthwhile, exciting program.

"It is an excellent way to get to know more about students individually," she said.

According to Ms. Muller, the board chooses associates both by asking for volunteers and by asking students for the names of people they want for associates.

The program she said, is meant to be a learning experience for both sides, with a sugar-coating to make it more palatable.

"I have great hopes for the University Associates Program," Ms. Muller commented. However, she said, she does not consider it a universal problem-solver.

"If every University Associate is friends with 5 or 10 people," she said, "it is a lot more than has ever been done before."

Scorpio and Schlitz Malt Liquor.
They both come on bold.

No one can resist the forceful, dynamic personality of Scorpio. No one (not even Scorpio) can resist the dynamic, good taste of Schlitz Malt Liquor, bearing the sign of Taurus the Bull.

Scorpio, you are the sexiest, most magnetic sign in the Zodiac, but you may tend to shun the world and live secretly. However, if you show any sign of welcome, people flock to your door. So call a few Pisces and Cancer friends and show them a real sign of welcome. Taurus the Bull.

Your piercing Scorpio eyes will tell you, Schlitz Malt Liquor is not to be taken lightly. It's decidedly different from beer. True, you're cagey enough to know that Taurus comes on bold. But look out, if may surprise even you.

Nobody makes malt liquor like Schlitz. Nobody.

Pre-professional students to meet

An open meeting for pre-professional students, especially pre-medical and pre-dental, is scheduled for 4 p.m. Nov. 9 in the Morris Library Auditorium, according to Mrs. Ella Stibitz, Liberal Arts and Science advisor.

Deane Doolen, associate director of admissions for the University of Illinois Medical School will speak.

Doolen will give information concerning admission to the University of Illinois professional health care oriented schools and answer questions on related matters.

A limited number of fifteen minute appointments with Doolen are available between the hours 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. Nov. 9 and between 9 a.m. and 12 p.m. Nov. 10.

Students wanting to sign up for an appointment should come to the Liberal Arts and Science advisement office, second floor Woody Hall.

Sensors may sign up for the appointments Nov. 1. Other students may sign up beginning Nov. 4.

International Relations Club to sponsor party

A UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund) party, sponsored by the International Relations Club, Student Activities and student government will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Sunday.

The party, featuring a band, refreshments and a pumpkin carving contest (contestants must bring their own pocket knives), will be held in Ballrooms B and C of the Student Center.

A 50 cent donation will be taken at the door. The donations will go to UNICEF.

Texas cops to learn profanity in Spanish

EL PASO, Tex. (CNS) — Texas is spending $75,000 in a grant to teach policemen in El Paso to recognize profanity in Spanish.

At the end of their instruction the officers should be able to talk in Spanish about parking summonses, accidents, riots, crowds, parades, bars, and baby deliveries in addition to recognizing abusive language.

Grads seek office in GSC and on University Senate

The election for Graduate Student Council officers, executive committee positions and University Senate seats will be at 5 p.m. Friday in the Meeting Room of Student Center.

At present, there are 24 candidates to fill the 11 positions. William Edwards, speech, and David Clark, administration of justice, are the contenders for president. John Holmes, speech; Fred Hafferty, sociology; and Wayne Riley, educational administration and foundations, are candidates for vice president. The lone candidate for treasurer is Claudia McKenzie, educational administration and foundations. Jerry Caruba, philosophy, and Chris Jensen, English, are the contenders for secretary.

Elections will also be held to fill the two at-large positions on the executive committee of the GSC. The executive committee is composed of the officers and the two at-large members. Those who have been nominated for the at-large positions are James Heary, guidance and educational psychology; Majorie Freeman, home economics; Gregg Nunn, rehabilitation; Daniel Harrison, economics; and Charles Newing, zoology.

In addition to these candidates, all officer candidates will be listed as candidates for the executive committee. The vote on the officers will take place prior to the vote on the executive committee members. Those who are elected officers will have their names removed from the executive committee ballot. A vote will then be taken on the executive committee members. It is possible that a defeated candidate for an office could be elected an at-large member of the executive committee.

An election will also be held to determine who will represent the GSC in the five positions the council has on the U-Senate. Those who have been nominated are Tony Catanesi, economics; Pat Engrasser, sociology; Jim Roberts, philosophy; Pat Templemyer, physical education; Mike Coleman, art; Morris Newman, guidance and educational psychology; Nick Astor, administration of justice; Lewis Jacks, anthropology; Dave Thomas, speech; Cheryl Stoner, English; and Dave Andrews, electronic science. Thomas is presently a representative of the GSC on the Senate. Catanesi now is serving as Pete Nellius' proxy on the Senate.

SIU may refuse to submit priorities list to state

SIU administrators are still uncertain as to how the University will respond to the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) request regarding program priorities. James Brown, chief of board staff said Thursday.

The IBHE request calls for state universities to draw up lists of non-priority programs in their colleges, schools and departments to total 15 per cent of their total budgets.

These lists are to provide a basis for making further budget cuts if necessary. Low priority programs may also be cut to provide funds for new programs.

Brown and the two campus presidents met this week to discuss the IBHE directive. Both presidents are finalizing statements concerning their campuses which Brown said he should receive early next week.

High court nominee has a small fortune

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court nominee Lewis F. Powell Jr. holds stock worth nearly a half-million dollars in six corporations of which he is a director.

Three of these corporations paid Powell's law firm nearly $400,000 in legal fees during 1970.

This material, compiled from corporate proxy statements filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, illustrates the financial stature of Powell, a 64-year-old lawyer from Richmond, Va.

Powell will soon be submitting his own detailed financial statement to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which will conduct confirmation hearings for him and William H. Rehnquist, both of whom were nominated last Thursday by President Nixon.

He has indicated he would put his holdings into a blind trust or take whatever other action the judiciary committee might require. He said in a newspaper interview that he would do "whatever is necessary and proper" to eliminate potential conflicts of interest and resign directorships with commercial connections.

Based on midweek stock prices, the six holdings in corporations of which he is a director were worth $452,732. The largest segment was 6,200 shares worth $181,425 in the Ethyl Corp., a Richmond-based firm which is the principal supplier of the controversial lead-based additive used in some gasolines.

Powell holds 4,175 shares worth $301,244 in Commonwealth Natural Gas and 1,600 shares worth $97,600 in Philip Morris, the cigarette manufacturer.

President Robert G. Lyster said no decision had been made whether separate replies or a joint response would be made by each of the campuses to the IBHE.

"What we've been working on involves a lengthy statement of position on the IBHE request, especially my position and the entire campus's position on the whole approach to this by the IBHE staff," he said.

Lyster said his statement would incorporate the positions of the University Senate and Faculty Council who have both criticized the priority directive.

Regarding the economic pinch caused by the burgeoning cost of establishing the medical school, Lyster said he intends to make clear his opinion that medical education is a statewide financial obligation and not simply SIU's responsibility.

Lyster said he had not decided whether or not a priority list would be included in his statement. Several other state universities, mainly the University of Illinois, have refused to comply with the IBHE request.

U-Senate announces meeting plans

The nomination and selection of officers will be the main topic of the University Senate meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the Mississippi Room of the Student Center.

It is expected that a new president, vice president and secretary will be selected. Currently, William Simeone, professor in English; David Erlanson, graduate student in English; and David Kenney, professor in government, are serving as officers. According to the by-laws of the Senate, no member is eligible to serve more than two consecutive terms in the same office.

Nominations for the officers will be made by the Senate members prior to Monday's vote. The officers will then be elected by a written ballot.

In addition to the election of officers, the Senate will hear reports from three committees and each constituency will hold a caucus to select its member to the Executive Committee.

Clarence Dougherty, chairman of the ad hoc Committee on Arrangements, will recommend to the Senate that meetings be held at 7 p.m., the first Monday of each month, in the most desirable classroom, probably in Neckers. This recommendation is the result of a poll that was taken to determine when and where meetings should be held.

William Lewis, chairman of the Governance Committee, will present a bill which would incorporate the present Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics in the governance system as a standing committee. The Governance Committee will not ask to have the bill adopted.

E. Earle Stibitz, chairman of the Internal Affairs Committee, will thank the administration for their efforts to restore some of the library hours. The addition of 10 hours to the weekly number of library hours followed a meeting with President Robert G. Lyster and Ralph McCoy, dean of library affairs. At that meeting, Lyster agreed to restore sufficient student wage funds to enable the library to remain open the additional hours. Stibitz is also expected to have a statement dealing with the criticism leveled at Expro.

The final part of the meeting will deal with the caucus of all the constituencies to select members of the Executive Committee. Currently, William Simeone, David Erlanson, Gola Waters, George Camille, Robert McGrath and Donald Gladson are on the committee.

Prior to the meeting, a dinner will be held at 6 p.m. in the Mississippi Room of the Student Center.

House drops part of ethics code bill

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House tipped from the proposed Landberg Ethics Code Thursday a provision to bar lawmakers from holding two public payroll jobs at once.

Backers of the code sized up the move as a victory for Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago. The Landberg Code is Republican-sponsored and is regarded by some observers as a possible plus for that party in 1972 state elections. Democrats have their own ethics code pending in the Senate.

In the second day of major debate on ethics, the House took up 20 proposed revisions of the code and approved four of them.

Police chief gives Halloween warning

Sunday is Halloween, and the Carbondale Police Department is recommending that "trick or treating" take place that night only.

Police Chief Joe Dakin has issued suggestions for Carbondale children and their parents to follow "to help all of our citizens enjoy a safe Halloween." According to Dakin:

—Parents and children should be aware of the 11 p.m. Sunday curfew. Any person under the age of 18 is liable for curfew violation.

—Very young children should be accompanied by a parent or guardian while trick or treating.

—Masks and other apparel should be inspected to insure that vision is not obscured.

—Candles should never be near flammable material.

—All trick or treaters should carry flashlights or wear reflective clothing to make them visible to motorists.

—If a citizen believes that suspicious activity is occurring in his neighborhood, police should be contacted immediately.

—Motorists should be aware of the danger to children on Halloween, and exercise extreme caution while driving.

Dakin said that the police department is ready to assist with any questions and problems concerning Halloween activities. The police telephone number is 549-2121.

Agnew's political future up to Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he wants President Nixon to decide "in a cold, hard, practical political way" whether to keep him on the Republican ticket in 1972.

He said the only basis for that decision should be what is best for the effort to re-elect the President.

Agnew said in an interview that he has not talked to Nixon about his political future, and is exerting no pressure to preserve his place on the ticket.

"I want him to make this decision based on the practicalities of the situation, without feeling any sympathy for whatever my situation might be," Agnew said. "It's got to be done in a cold, hard, practical way because the big thing is to get him re-elected."

"I don't think he can make the decision now," the vice president said. "It's just too early. Things change in this business and we don't know what he's going to be looking at early next year."

Agnew indicated he could foresee political trouble with some Republican party regulars if Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, a Democrat, were promoted to run for vice president.

There has been speculation that Connally might be chosen to replace Agnew.

Agnew was asked whether there would be protests from lifelong Republican workers, who jealously guard GOP patronage, if a Democrat wound up on the 1972 ticket.

He did not answer directly, but said he was surprised the problem had not occurred to more political observers.

"Look at the trouble John Lindsay is having being really seriously regarded among the party professionals," he said.

Lindsay, the mayor of New York, switched from Republican to Democrat and has launched an exploratory presidential campaign.

Agnew said he does not believe that criticism of the administration by some conservatives, among them editor William F. Buckley Jr., was spurred by speculation that he might not be renominated in 1972.

"I don't think it has anything to do with any individual or with me as an individual being on the ticket," he said.

Buckley and some other conservative editors and organizers announced on July 26 that they were suspending support of the administration primarily to protest Nixon's foreign policy and his planned trip to China.

Communists ignore Saigon prisoner trade proposal

PARIS (AP) — American peace negotiator William J. Porter invited Hanoi and the Viet Cong Thursday to respond to the Saigon government's decision to liberate nearly 3,000 Viet Cong prisoners by freeing some of the American and South Vietnamese prisoners in their hands.

The second-string Communist negotiators at the 134th session of the Paris peace talks ignored Porter's proposal and denounced the Saigon government action as an "impudent maneuver" made exclusively for propaganda purposes.

Porter was the only top-ranking negotiator taking part in the three-hour session. South Vietnam's Pham Dang Lam was reported suffering from influenza, while Hanoi's Xuan Thuy and the Viet Cong's Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh have been absent from the deadlocked talks for several weeks.

The acting head of the Saigon delegation, Nguyen Xuan Phong, formally notified the Communist representatives of his government's decision to free 2,500 Viet Cong prisoners, including 2,320 defectors who have accepted government cash grants and volunteered to work for the Chieu Hoi—open arms—program.

Porter said the proposed prisoner release was the largest of the Vietnam war.

Most of the meeting was devoted to repetitive bickering over President Nixon's Vietnamization program. The Viet Cong's Nguyen Van Tien said Vietnamization was Nixon's attempt to "impose neocolonialist domination on the South Vietnamese population."

Porter replied that Vietnamization "is and will remain an effective barrier against your attempts to take over South Vietnam by force."

Health facility opens Monday

Robert Waldron, Health Service administrator, announced Thursday that a Minor Care Clinic will open Monday in the former Marion Street Apartments building, 204 E. Stoker, east of the Washington Square complex.

Two registered nurses will be on duty from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at the new health facility which is designed to provide advice and medication of a non-prescription nature to "walk-in patients."

Waldron said no appointments will be necessary at the Minor Care Clinic.

The clinic, for which two apartments were renovated, has two fully equipped clinical examination rooms, a reception area, rest area and rest rooms.

Waldron said the Health Service at Small Group Housing will continue to operate on an appointment basis and without charge in the medical services which have been offered there.

The purpose of the Minor Care Clinic is to make medical services more accessible to the large number of students needing this level of care," Waldron said. "Very toxic or acute ill patients should continue to seek treatment at the central Health Service."

Waldron said that if a patient requires transfer by ambulance from the Minor Care Clinic to the main clinic, a $2.50 fee will be charged.

The new clinic will be open only during the week and will be closed on weekends, during breaks and during summer quarter, according to present plans.

Jury acquits IBI 'agent'

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Donald Clark, 32, of Champaign was found innocent Thursday by a Circuit Court jury of charges he impersonated an Illinois Bureau of Investigation agent.

Clark was arrested last May after he allegedly told a gas-station atten-dent he was an agent of the IBI. Mitchell Ware, a former director of the IBI, testified that Clark was a "special employee" of the IBI. Ware explained that special employees are not members or agents of the organization, but they occasionally work for the IBI without pay.

was one of the people who advised her when she was removed from her position. Hardenbergh was a member of the Faculty Council panel which drew up a report on the case.

"The local chapter of the AAUP said it would wait until the Faculty Council passed a resolution before it (the AAUP) would take action," said Ms. Canut-Amoros. "To me, it seems like a waste."

Ms. Canut-Amoros lost her position July 16 when the Board of Trustees accepted her resignation. She has argued that she never intended to resign from the University. She also claims the University has discriminated against her because of her sex by denying her a summer position and by paying a lower salary than her male associates.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare, (HEW) has investigated the case. According to Ms. Canut-Amoros, Donald Scott, director of the Chicago Civil Rights Office, handled the investigation. She said that Scott finished his investigation Sept. 22.

A letter from John Hodgdon, regional director of HEW, dealing with the Scott investigation was expected to be in administration hands by Oct. 27, she said. Scott, who was supposed to deliver the letter, has not appeared; neither has the letter.

Ms. Canut-Amoros said she has a copy of the Scott report, but cannot release it until the administration receives its copy.

"The report may be associated with the total investigation of SIU," Ms. Canut-Amoros said. That investigation deals with over 100 cases of alleged sex discrimination by the University.

Romania to endow course

NEW YORK (CNS) — The Romanian government is to endow a course in Southeast European studies at Columbia University here, the first professorship endowed by a Communist country at the university since 1954.

It will be named after Nicolae Iorga, statesman and historian, who died in 1940.

Architect says only current solution for parking is monorail

By Pat Wasserman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The much-discussed proposal for a campus monorail system is currently the only practical solution to the growing SIU parking problem, Architect John Loneragan reported to the Student Senate Wednesday.

The transit system, which Loneragan envisions as serving the entire campus, is only one of three plans proposed in a parking study commissioned by SIU. But Loneragan said that it is probably the only one that will work.

The parking package presented to the Senate is one which is designed to accommodate 18,000 to 19,000 cars in a large off-campus lot which will be connected to central campus by the monorail.

Loneragan suggested that the transit system also be used to transport students between buildings in the central campus.

The system, as it is proposed, will circle the central campus every four minutes, stopping six times along the way.

Loneragan said the monorail will pass directly through the buildings—passengers will probably disembark on the second floor of each building.

Monorail stations on the edge of campus will connect with bus systems to take students to living areas, he said.

The proposed system would cost about $5 million to $7 million to build and would take 18 years for the University to pay for it, he said.

Another proposed system is to bus students to the campus, but Loneragan said this was impractical.

Traffic and pedestrians would block the buses, he said, and throw the system off schedule. In other universities, students stopped using bus systems, he said, because they couldn't keep the schedules.

Another plan is to move the present parking areas into a more condensed area close to campus.

Loneragan said planners can only come up with a maximum of 12,000 spaces and that many of these parking lots could be replaced by buildings in the near future.

There just wouldn't be enough land for the entire parking package, he said.

The last plan Loneragan discarded is one calling for many-storied parking garages. These would cost $37 million to build.

Loneragan said it would be impossible to park enough cars without blocking a number of other cars in the garage thereby causing delays.

Moreover, he said, elaborate exit ramps would be needed and even with those, there would be tremendous congestion in the campus loop.

The decision on which system to be used is one that the students and faculty will have to make, Loneragan said, since they will have to foot the bill.

Free Clinic meets to chart future; more professional help needed

The Carbondale Free Clinic is holding a Board of Directors meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at 104 E. Jackson, according to Liz Dziak, free clinic representative.

The Board will discuss medical reports, status of the clinic and the need for more professional help.

The general public is invited to attend and offer any suggestions which might improve the operations of the clinic. Miss Dziak said members of the community could also get a good idea of what the Free Clinic is now.

Student Center stages weekend Halloween fete

A full weekend of Halloween festivities is scheduled for the Student Center, Bob Saieg, student activities consultant, said Thursday.

A Halloween party will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Ballrooms. Horror movies will be shown in Ballrooms B and C, Saieg said.

Gentle Thunder and Mathias will play at a dance set for 7:30 p.m. Friday in Ballroom D. The Aleph Society will also remain open at that time, Saieg said.

Admission to the Friday night events is free for those wearing Halloween costumes, 50 cents for others.

Horror movies will also be shown in the Ballrooms Saturday and Sunday nights, Saieg said.

Art students set sale Saturday

The Art Students League will hold a sale of art, clothing and food between 1 and 5 p.m. Saturday on the lawn northeast of the Home Economics Building.

A similar sale was held last weekend and was relatively successful, Gretchen Brown, a league spokesman, said Thursday.

Students are urged to bring any works of art which they have produced, as well as food and clothing they wish to sell, Miss Brown said.

In case of rain, the sale will be moved to Allyn 202, she said.

Greco, Lorca bring Spanish flare to Convocation

By Sue Miller
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

José Greco and Nana Lorca brought a little Spanish flare to the SIU Arena Thursday, at 1 p.m. before members of the Convocation audience.

Greco began by explaining the history of Spanish dance and before each number he explained the type of dance he and or Miss Lorca would be doing. This technique was very effective, since most SIU students are not adequately briefed in the art of Spanish dancing.

As the show progressed it became apparent that Greco had talent that the audiences hadn't expected. Audience response to the two dancers was always high and the audience commented in an astonished tone.

The agility and rhythm certainly fulfilled his earlier comments on Spanish dance. Greco had told the audience that there were three kinds of dance in the world. The European leg movement, the Oriental arm movements and the African muscle movements. He said that the Spanish dance is the only one that combines all three.

Greco said Spanish dance was never intended to be universal. "We wanted our dance to be something only our people could identify with, and it is," he said.

Greco demonstrated some elements of rhythm and said, "Rhythm to the Spanish dancer is as essential as drinking water is to the human body."

Apparently both Greco and Lorca have mastered their rhythm lessons quite well, or at least they appear to have from the demonstrations.

The two Spanish dancers were accompanied at the piano by Roger whole performance. However, as a whole, all four gave excellent performances.

At one point while both Greco and Miss Lorca were changing their costumes, audience disturbances reached a peak. Not only were the 1:40 p.m. students leaving and causing their usual commotion, but cat calls and loud talking began.

Admittedly, the classical music that Machado the pianist was playing was probably too refined for those members of the audience to handle, but there were students who did want to hear the piece.

However, members of the audience that did appreciate the number probably made up for those who weren't interested, with the loud applause they gave when Machado had finished.

The finale was definitely worth the time spent on the costume change, as Miss Lorca's costume was an elaborate orange gown with a long train. Greco had made the comment that "Spanish women don't need hot pants to be seductive." There was hardly any need for Greco to make that statement since the male members of the audience seemed to appreciate Nana Lorca's fine female qualities right from the start.

When the pair had finished the flamenco dance, which Greco had promised would include all the things he had presented, the audience gave them a standing ovation for several minutes, showing how much the show had been enjoyed.

Student Government sponsored a coffee hour following the show at Furr Auditorium.

VTI beats SIU in job race

By Chuck Hatcher
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Nationwide figures indicate that graduates from career schools are finding jobs more easily than those with four-year degrees.

These figures also show that enrollment in career schools is not coming down as is that of four-year institutions. A rosier picture of these trends is shown by SIU's Vocational-Technical Institute.

According to the University News Service, about 40 per cent of 1971 graduates with four-year degrees still haven't found work in their fields. These figures come from the U.S. Office of Education.

85 per cent of those with less than a bachelor's degree in college-level occupational—or vocational—technical fields have found jobs in their fields.

The 1971 VTI graduates bettered this picture with virtually all 446 presently at work or pursuing a planned educational program.

Further, while enrollment figures have dropped more than six per cent in Illinois universities since last year, VTI's enrollment is down less than one per cent.

VTI Dean Arden Pratt predicts that the trend will continue because of a better job situation for those with associate degrees.

"The trend to career education is going to show an even sharper increase," Pratt says. "Most jobs opening in the next decade will require post-secondary training, but not a four-year degree."

"That fact of life, along with the economics of paying for a college education, will cause an influx of young people who want to get into a program that will prepare them to go to work and get their act so that they can get started making a living," Pratt said.

The only university-connected school of its type in the state, VTI offers associate degree programs in 22 fields ranging from aviation technology to mortuary science.

Quality in instruction, equipment and reputation has been cited as the reason why students chose VTI over other schools offering the same programs.

As do other occupational schools, VTI measures its degree of effectiveness by the number of its graduates who are successful in the job market.

A few department heads at VTI give this picture for graduates in their occupational fields:

Don Hertz, supervisor of the program in mortuary science and funeral services, reported that each of his 18 graduates this year received three job offers.

Supervisor of automotive technology, L.D. Willey, says he "could place five or ten people for every one of the 40 graduates this year."

For electronics technology graduates, salaries are up about $100 a month for an average of $735, according to supervisor Paul Caldwell.

As Willey and Hertz reported,

Caldwell said each of his 26 graduates with associate degrees had more than one job offer. Half of these, however, chose to go on for a four-year degree, he said.

All 52 graduates of aviation technology found jobs, even though there is an influx of returning service-trained veterans into an industry that is shoring up its belt a bit.

Faculty members in commercial art, dental hygiene, business and secretarial programs, corrections and law enforcement gave similar reports about their 1971 graduates.

Illinois Senate beats county election proposal

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Senate Thursday fell six votes short of ordering that election of county-board members be consolidated with election of state and national officers.

For Republicans downstate who won, the action was a successful defense of their party bastions in local-government politics.

The vote was 39 favorable, with 35 needed for passage and immediate effectiveness in 84 reapportioned downstate counties.

Without the legislation, board members will be nominated in a primary Feb. 8.

basis, probably the standard fee charged by the firm.

Elliott said that Carbondale Mayor Neil Eckert was contacted in the choice of attorney, and that he agreed to Smith. Smith's firm has worked under contract to the city in the past, but is not currently involved in city matters. Elliott said that Smith has never personally worked for Carbondale, and added that he was retained, not his firm.

Smith has arranged to meet with City Manager William Schmidt, City Attorney Ren Briggs, Loyer and Loyer's staff Wednesday morning. He will have lunch with the City Council, then tour the proposed area of annexation (east of Highway 51) with Mager and Grunz.

At 4 p.m. Wednesday, Smith is to confer with Trustees Martin Van Brown, Carbondale, and Earl E. Walker, Harrisburg, two members of an ad hoc Board committee appointed Oct. 15 to further study annexation. A third member of the committee, Trustee Harris Rowe, Jacksonville, will not be in Carbondale Wednesday.

According to Chief of Staff Brown, it is expected that Smith will not complete his report for several days following his visit to Carbondale. He said it is too early to tell if any changes will be made in the annexation proposal as a result of Smith's study.

The bus will then leave the Student Center at 38 minutes after the hour, go to Evergreen Terrace and return to the Student Center at 46 minutes after the hour.

The green route bus will also make its first stop at Illinois and Main Streets at six minutes after the hour. From there it will proceed north to Sycamore Street, west to Michaels Street, north to Willow Street, east to Springer Street, south to Oak Street, east to Poplar Street, south to Campus Drive and arrive at the Student Center at 27 minutes after the hour.

The green route bus will then leave the Student Center at 29 minutes after the hour, go to Southern Hills, the Quadrangles and Wilson Hall and return to the Student Center at 46 minutes after the hour.

Patterson said that copies of the new schedules will be available as soon as the bus service gets under way. Students may pick up their copies at that time at the information desk in the Student Center and on the buses. Patterson said.

Tacklers... beware of Bob O'Neal

By Ernie Schwels
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

If you were a kid living on St. Vincent Street in St. Louis, there was a wide choice of ways to spend your time: either shoot marbles, climb trees and play all the other neat kids games or play football for Roosevelt High School.

Bob O'Neal lived on St. Vincent Street and he chose football—apparently a wise decision. In fact, so did the majority of kids on his block.

"I'd say that about half the kids on the street played football for Roosevelt," O'Neal said.

That was a few years back though, probably before O'Neal reached his 5-8, 180-pound proportions that have helped him impress everyone in the freshman program—including assistant coach Jim McKay.

"He might not have the greatest speed in the world," McKay said, "but he is a great hitter. Bob is the kind of runner who likes to punish defensive people.

"He has good quickness and is very fast out of his stance," McKay said.

O'Neal turns the 40-yard dash in "about 4.9 to 4.6," which isn't going to let him run away from many tacklers, but he uses his strength to run over the ones that get in his way.

That's just what he did in SIU's first game of the season at Indiana State. O'Neal took a handoff from quarterback Kevin O'Boyle on an attempted two-point conversion. He got the two points all right carrying two Sycamores over the goal line with him.

"My coach pushed weight lifting when we were in high school," O'Neal said. "He was the kind of guy who loved strength."

It was a good thing too because you might say Roosevelt had a running game. "I think we passed the ball only eight times my entire senior year," he recalled.

There was a good reason for the lack of an aerial attack. They were always handing the ball to O'Neal. In his senior year he gained over 1,800 yards while carrying the ball 40 times a game. His best single effort was 248.

Starting a college career with those statistics, one might think that O'Neal's running style is pretty well set—not so. When arriving at SIU's freshman camp, coach Bob Ledbetter and his staff decided to change his stance.

"In high school I didn't have a quick start, but when I came down here they changed my start position to a lefties stance.

O'Neal has put his new found speed to good use in the two games the frosh have played, carrying the ball 27 times for 95 yards.

Those figures could very well have been higher if it hadn't been for some lingering foot and arch problems that have plagued him since the early days of training camp.

When asked about the injuries, O'Neal plays them down as "not having too much effect on my running. But it does hurt my cutting."

Ledbetter has a different view of the problem. "Injuries are bound to slow you down," the freshman coach said. "But Bob gets so fired up he forgets about them."

Another problem cropped up early this week in practice. This time it was O'Neal's knee. X-rays were taken but according to Ledbetter, O'Neal should be able to play in SIU's Nov. 8 contest with Western Illinois.

O'Neal sat icing the sore knee in the training room Wednesday, when someone asked him if he thought he'd be ready for the next game.

"Yeah," he said. "I'll be ready. Ready for us to win another ballgame."

Road Runners crown six

Richard Bracy and Craig Carlson took top honors at the recent Southern Illinois Road Runners Club classification runs.

Bracy won the open five-mile race with a time of 20:30, while Steve Melling and Richard Thurston followed in second and third places respectively.

Carlson was victorious in the two-mile run for men with a finishing time of 10:50. Sam Kornhauser was runnerup, while Bruce DeVantier finished in third place.

There was a three-way tie for first in the women's two-mile race. Crossing the wire at 17:45 were Becky Benedict, Pat Hinton and Paula Walters.

Buffy Beattie captured first in the one-mile run for women. Her time of 10 minutes flat beat out Barbara Ackerman who finished the course in 10:40.

Ticket guidelines are clarified

SIU athletic ticket manager Naoma Kinney says that apparently there is some confusion surrounding the number of season basketball tickets that can be purchased by a student bearing an SIU athletic pass, an SIU I.D. card and full paid fee statement.

Gymnasium to be closed

The University School Gymnasium will be closed from 6 p.m. until midnight Saturday. The pool, weight room and activity room will remain open.

According to the guidelines established, one ticket may be purchased with a set of the previously mentioned cards, Ms. Kinney said.

If a student wished to purchase two, three or the limit per student of four tickets, he must have the corresponding number of cards.

Frosh slate adds Western

The SIU freshman football team got some good news Wednesday when Western Illinois University was added to the Salukis' schedule.

Southern will square off against the Leathernecks at 2 p.m. Nov. 8 in McAndrew Stadium for its only "home game" of the season.

Prior to the announcement of the game with Western, the freshman coaching staff was afraid they'd have to wait until Nov. 15 against Tennessee for their next taste of action.

In the original schedule SIU was to play Murray State at McAndrew Stadium, but the Racers were forced to cancel out due to a number of injuries forcing some players to play with the varsity.

Series breakdown shows effort against Akron Zips

Here is a series-by-series breakdown of the Saluki defensive and offensive performance against Akron University in a 43-21 losing effort last Saturday night.

SIU DEFENSE

1. Akron marched 75 yards in eight plays before kicking a 25-yard field goal.
2. After one first down, the Zips were forced to punt.
3. Reggie Halls recovered an Akron fumble.
4. Akron punted after a first down passing.
5. Eric Schoch threw a 50-yard touchdown pass, Akron marching 75 yards in four plays.
6. Schoch threw his second touchdown pass as Akron went 60 yards in six plays, getting three first downs.
7. The Zips punted after one series of downs.
8. Ernie Calhoun scored from one-yard out, clematising a 71-yard drive on which the Zips recorded four first downs.
9. Akron recovered an SIU fumble and marched 35 yards for a touchdown, Schoch passing for his third touchdown.
10. Calvin Pierce ran 27 yards for the Zips' fifth touchdown as Akron went 67 yards in nine plays, notching two first downs.
11. Schoch was short on a fourth and one attempt from the Southern 30.
12. Mike Hutton's pass was intercepted by Carroll at the Saluki 38-yard line.
13. Hutton fumble was recovered by Craig Erikson at the Saluki 16.
14. Akron had possession at Saluki 21 as game ended.

SIU OFFENSE

1. Salukis marched 62 yards, getting four first downs, and George Loukas scored from one-yard out.
2. Russ Haley punted after one series.
3. Loukas scored his second touchdown, a three-yard run, as the Salukis drove 41 yards in seven plays.
4. Haley punted after one series.
5. Phil Jeff took Loukas' halfback pass 71 yards for Southern's third touchdown.
6. Haley punted after Salukis recorded one first down.
7. Southern had possession at own 25 as half ended.
8. Haley punted after one series.
9. SIU fumbled at its 35.
10. Haley punted after two SIU first downs.
11. Brad Pincost's first down pass at midfield was intercepted and returned 50 yards for a touchdown.
12. Haley punted after one series.
13. Pincost sustained his second interception after one first down.
14. Haley punted after one series.
15. Haley punted after one series.

Coach Towers is a gambling man

hearts out, fighting all the way. But it seems everything they did was wrong.

"Akron was a better team than we were that day," Towers admitted. "But I'm not altogether sure they were that much better. I would have liked to play them at home on a dry field."

History aside, the Salukis must forget Akron and oil the offensive machinery by sticking with top-line personnel.

Before SIU lost its final three 1970 games, the first team offense played just briefly the two previous weekends against Illinois State, a 45-24 win, and Bradley, a 69-3 slaughter.

"Sometimes this hurts you," Towers said. "Against Bradley last year, all the damn defense didn't play at all the whole second half. Looking at it in retrospect, I'm not sure that was a good idea."

"Of course, you hate to have all your top kids in there and then get somebody hurt. But as your schedule gets tougher, you've got to get tougher."

Salukis, Illini meet in Saturday match

By Ken Stewart
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The cross country version of the Illinois Intercollegiate gets underway Saturday morning in Champaign and the Salukis have a chance of upsetting Illinois, who has dominated the big state meet since it began four years ago. That is if Southern can find a fifth man.

That man is needed to finish up near the top with other Southern runners Dave Hill, Ken Nalder, Jack St. John and Gerry Craig.

Coach Lew Hartzog hopes Carl McPherson, Jeff Bayles or Al Stanczak can move in and fill the shoes. To fill them may mean an upset win at Champaign.

"I feel that everybody's ready," said Hartzog Thursday after his team went through light workouts. "We just have a long wait until Saturday morning."

Not only does the Salukis have a chance of upsetting Illinois at the meet after a slow early season start and 4-4 dual meet record, but Illinois' Lee Labadie may be stopped from taking his third straight individual title.

Hill, a light weight runner from Canada, who has broken course records in the Salukis' last four dual outings, may well set a fifth straight at the relatively flat five-mile grind at the Savoy Golf Course, upsetting LaBadie as well.

"Hill is in awfully good shape," said Hartzog of Hill who has run five miles in 26:23.5 on the hilly Midland Hills course south of Carbondale.

Hartzog added that a stiff wind Saturday will keep anybody from breaking the old record on the Illini course.

Besides LaBadie, Hill's stiff competition is expected to Rich Gross of Illinois and Wayne Saunders, an Englishman from Illinois' Circle Campus, who won the Illinois Collegiate outdoor steeple chase title last year in track at McAndrew Stadium last year.

Illinois State, Eastern Illinois and North Central are also expected to be challengers in the meet. Illinois State lost to Southern in dual competition earlier this season.

Risks caught foes loafing

Towers is a gambler

By Mike Klein
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Dick Towers is a gambler. And like all gamblers, he wants to be a winner. It's the only way to go.

Gambles have provided the Saluki football team with many points, not always in victory, but nevertheless, they've caught the enemy loafing.

Towers' latest risk occurred last Saturday night at Akron, an unpleasant evening for the Salukis. They lost, 43-21.

But Southern Illinois commanded the early momentum and held a 14-3 second quarter lead. The Zips put a touchdown on the board to make it a five-point game, 14-9. Then Towers unleashed a previously once-used halfback pass.

George Loukas took Brad Pancost's handoff, rolled out and hit Phil Jett with a 71-yard touchdown pass. That made it a 21-9 game, after Mike Stone's conversion kick. Then the roof fell in.

It was a good gamble that paid premium dividends. But alone, gambles don't win football games. The halfback pass couldn't pull Southern Illinois to victory at Akron because the rushing attack broke down.

SIU gained just 50 yards on the ground, its lowest total of the year. "I have to take a lot of responsibility for our inability to run the ball because I think certain plays were better than the ones I sent in," Towers said, adding the Salukis should have optioned more often.

"Akron is a good defensive football team and not only that, it's slick up there," Towers said. "That was as tough a field as I've seen for anybody to run on. In our films, people are slipping all over, theirs and ours."

Akron rushed 276 yards with seven long gainers totaling 177 yards. But they also had problems, averaging two yards on the remaining 49 carries.

To say our offense wasn't very good is right," Towers said. "But as far as saying it was a disaster, that's not right. We got 21 points as quick as I've ever seen."

"I've been around some ballclubs that quit playing but not at Akron," Towers said. "Our kids played their

Second Thoughts

sports writer

Around Paul Lambert there is an optimism that hard work results in a great pot of gold hitting you in the head.

And that pot might look something like an NCAA basketball trophy, a nice piece of metal to keep free of dust.

Unfortunately, hardly anybody who sits behind a typewriter seems interested in recording Southern Illinois basketball's path to glory.

SIU is mentioned just briefly in many 1971-72 collegiate basketball magazines. Street and Smith, the Bible of basketball magazines, picked SIU second behind Northern Illinois in the second Midwestern Conference race.

More mention is given to Northern's Jim Bradley, who has never played one varsity minute, than Greg Starrick, the nation's No. 1 free throw shooter and No. 43 scorer last season.

Only L. C. gone

Starrick is half of "an excellent guard combination" in the Street and Smith article. But Bradley is "the finest sophomore in the Midwest and perhaps beyond...could play any position...the answer to virtually all the Huskies' problems."

Okay, Bradley is a tremendous basketball player; even Lambert agrees with that. And an extra year spent thinking his way to academic eligibility should help Bradley's basketball ability. But they thought Leo Durocher could win a pennant. So why all the hoop-la?

Lambert's cagers are a better ballclub than the one paragraph it got from Street and Smith. All but L.C. Brasfield are back from a team that finished 14th in major college total offense, averaging 80.5 points.

But Lambert isn't concerned how pre-season publicity, or a lack of it, will affect his team of thinking by post-season tournament people.

"I think ratings serve more of a psychological function than anything else," he said. "The teams that have them use them for incentive."

"And the people that don't are in the same situation. It's something you strive for. In this game as any other, you strive for recognition among your peers," he said.

"It should give our ballclub an incentive to prove we can play with people."

Tougher in 72-73

Southern Illinois should have enough to impress the tourney.

With seven seniors and lesser name opponents including Sul Ross State, Wisconsin-Milwaukee and South Florida, it's not far-fetched to gaze at the NIT or even the NCAA tourneys, and the last opportunity for a while.

Next winter, Lambert must mold a few holdovers and many newcomers into a force that can withstand Southern's toughest schedule ever.

Besides eight league games, assuming the Midwestern Conference hasn't choked to death, the 1972-73 Salukis will face: Evansville twice, Missouri, Detroit twice, Wichita, Creighton twice, St. Louis, Butler and Weber State.

The Salukis are also entered in the Arkansas Razorback Classic after Christmas, 1972, and the New Mexico State Tournament before the holidays.

And Lambert has talked with Marquette, Yale and San Jose State about possible dates. He'd love to play in the Chicago Stadium or Madison Square Garden.

It's a schedule that will provide headaches. And a good reason to point at the jackpot in 1971-72.
