Council Calls For Study of Coed Evictions

An investigation into the sudden eviction of 32 coeds from Small Group Housing UIll at the end of fall quarter was called for by the Student Council Thursday.

A bill sponsored by Trina Carror, senator from Small Group Housing, stated the girls were moved, with one week's notice, to over assign­ments in Thompson Point, Small Group Housing and off­ campus, after the University decided to use UIll as a new Health Service.

According to the bill, this is a violation of student rights, and the evictions should be justified.

Hawk, who will investigate the action, said there might be justification for the move on the grounds that more stu­dents will be benefited. However, he doesn't feel the University should use such "administrative commando tactics" in these instances.

In other business the Coun­cil heard a report from Pat Mckenney, student body pres­i­dent concerning the general studies students who allegedly aren't allowed to drop courses.

Mckenney, who talked with Administrative assistant of the General Studies program, said the only class general studies students can't drop is a freshman composition. Students had complained they couldn't drop some physical, physical education and mathematics courses, but ac­cording to Mckenney, any student who can prove he doesn't have enough background to pass the course can drop it until he achieves a broader background in the subject.

win of the University of Michigan. The four made the U.S. team by defeating top trampoline performers from all over the nation in a meet here.

The grade they do receive will be a bigger, faster moving performance class period will also be in effect at the Edwardsville campus for the summer quarter.

Under the new summer sys­tem, classes will start at 7:30 a.m., and continue until 4:40, with 10-minute breaks between each period. The schedule will apply to all meetings of classes at SIU.

The summer quarter will open Monday, June 28, and finals are scheduled to end on Saturday, Aug. 29. This will result in a summer session of about 10 weeks, instead of the 12-week classroom that would have been used had the original, four-hour class period been used.

McKeefery emphasized that the overall time spent in classes will be about the same as during the former summer sessions at SIU.

An alternative to the sys­tem, McKeefery said, would have been to have the eight­ week program during the 60-minute class periods, and the regular summer session meeting in the normal 50-minute periods. This would have meant less efficient use of classroom space, he pointed out.

Revue in Blue, Military Ball Will Take SIU Students on 'Aerospace Fantasy'

By Bob Smith

SIU will be treated to an "Aerospace Fantasy" this weekend during the AFFOTC Holiday in Blue.

The fantasy will lift off tonight when the Revue in Blue takes students on a musical trip through the Solar Sys­t tem, beginning at 8 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium. Tickets are still available at the University Center information desk for the Revue.

This year's production, ac­cording to Maj. T. Bruce Beecher, executive director, will be a bigger, faster moving performance than in past years.

The musical journey will begin at the launching pad with "Fly Me to the Moon," the Revue will plan-or-hop as far as Neptune, where the Earthlings will have a chaotic affair with some way out beings in "Neptune Flicker." The journey will come to a fitting musical end "Back in Your Own Backyard."

The Holiday in Blue will take on a more serious atmos­phere Saturday when it presents the formal Military Ball, beginning at 9 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom. Music for the ball, which is the only formal dance on campus each year, will be provided until 12:30 Sunday morning by Charlie Wasserman and his Orchestra of St. Louis.

Tickets for the ball are also still on sale at the University Center Information Desk.

Ladies will be required to wear formal gowns to the ball and men must wear their ROTC uniform with white shirt and black bow tie, the Air Force mess dress or a tuxedo.

The 1963 Military Ball Queen will be named at 11 p.m. at the ball. The Queen was selected by the ROTC cadets from among six candidates.

Saturday Last Day To Drop Course

Saturday is the last day to drop a class without receiv­ing a better grade.

Students who wish to with­draw from a course must see their adviser to obtain a class withdrawal card.

After Saturday students will not be allowed to formally drop a class.

The grade they do receive at the end of the quarter, if they do formally withdraw, will be a "W" grade.

She will be crowned by last year's queen, Kathy Jones. The six candidates, all members of the Angel Flight women's auxiliary to the Arnold Air Society, are as follows:

Al!ette Alexander of Gran­

city, a 19-year-old sophomore majoring in apparel design.

Martha Edmison, a sophomore who was selected "Little Colonel" for the AFFOTC four-state area this year, and will compete for the ROTC Arnold Air Society's National title of "Little General" at the society's national conclave this spring. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta.

Pamela Kidd, a sophomore majoring in elementary educa­tion from Metropolis. She was an attendant at the 1963 Homecoming queen and was recently chosen Miss Wood Hall.

Sidney Ludwig, a freshman from Benton. She was a partic­iipant in the 1964 Freshman Talent Show.

Judy McDonald, a 21-year­ old junior majoring in elementary education from Virginia, Ill.

Velda Smith, a freshman majoring in elementary education from Sandvold.

Overall Time To Stay Same

All summer classes at SIU will be based on 60-minute class periods this year, as in previous years.

The announcement of the change from the 50-minute period was made by William J. McKeefery, dean of academic affairs. The change will apply only to the summer quarter.

"This is planned for the 1963 summer session and possibly future summer sessions. It is being done because we are accommodating to the eight-week program. It is not being considered for other quarters because there isn't the need," Dean McKeefery said.

The change to the 60-minute class period will also be in effect at the Edwardsville campus for the summer quarter.

An alternative to the sys­tem, McKeefery said, would have been to have the eight­ week program during the 60-minute class periods, and the regular summer session meeting in the normal 50-minute periods. This would have meant less efficient use of classroom space, he pointed out.

LEADER - Herbert F. Trotter Jr., chairman of the board of Governors of General Telephone and Electronic Laboratories, Inc., will lead a discussion on Space Age Communications at 5 p.m. today in the University Center Ballroom. Opening sessions of the conference on communications Thursday were called off because Trotter was held up by bad weather.

Four years ago, the Resi- dents' Council was granted the Thompson Point monopoly for the exploitation of student parking spaces. This decision contributed greatly to the growth of the radio station, which continues to thrive and has since become a vital source of information for the student body. Under Student Body President Billy James Hargis, the RHC has chosen to operate on a for-profit basis, with the proceeds going to benefit the Student Body and the University. The RHC is known for its innovative and diverse programming, which includes music, news, and sports. The station's success is a testament to the dedication and hard work of its members, who work tirelessly to ensure that the station remains a valuable resource for the student body.

The Carbondale Manifesto

By Richard J. Brown

During the 2016 presidential campaign, Donald Trump promised to make Carbondale great again. He pledged to revitalize the area, create jobs, and bring back the coal mining industry. Trump's supporters were enthusiastic about his promise, but many residents were skeptical. They knew that the coal mining industry was in decline and that the area needed something new.

The Carbondale Manifesto was a call to action that aimed to attract new businesses and investors to the area. It emphasized the area's natural beauty, strong work ethic, and entrepreneurial spirit. The manifesto also highlighted the area's potential for growth and innovation, and it promised that the new administration would work to create a better future for Carbondale.

The manifesto was widely read and discussed, and it helped to bring about a new wave of investment into the area. Today, Carbondale is a thriving community with new businesses and residential developments.

The Carbondale Manifesto was a turning point for the area, and it demonstrated the power of positive thinking and proactive leadership.
2 Researchers Given Grant To Study Facilities for Aged

Two SIU researchers have undertaken a study of facilities and newspaper use in nonmetropolitan communities of Southern Illinois and prevailing attitudes toward expansion of such facilities.

Sponsored by a $7,500 grant from the Gerontology Division, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the year-long study will be confined to communities with populations of 2,500 to 15,000.

Heading the study are Irving Howards, director of the SIU Public Affairs Research Bureau, and William Simon, instructor in the Department of Sociology. Assistants will be used to gather information.

"We will attempt to gather all the information possible on social, economic and services offered—dependent not only on social, economic and political characteristics, but political characteristics of each community," Howards said. "We want to determine whether such characteristics affect the kinds of services offered."

"We expect to find that services for the aging—and by implication other municipal services—are larger in part upon attitudes of various community leaders."

He said the study is expected to verify whether or not be possible to forecast kinds and nature of municipal services which can be anticipated in communities throughout the United States with similar characteristics, and may lead to a longer, more detailed research project.

Katzenbach Gets Appointment
As U.S. Attorney General

WASHINGTON (AP) - Nicholas Katzenbach, who has been acting head of the Justice Department since last September, was named attorney general Thursday. His nomination was sent to the Senate along with President Johnson's selection of Ramsey Clark, 37, as a son of Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark of Texas, who was an attorney general in the Harry S. Truman administration. Johnson's action ended months of speculation about who would replace Robert F. Kennedy as attorney general, Kennedy resigned last Septem­ber to campaign for the New York Senate seat he won in the November election. Katzenbach, tall and bald­ ing at 43, took over as acting attorney general when Kennedy left. The first public indication that Johnson had about made up his mind came at one of the inaugural balls last week when the President omitted the "acting" in refer­ring to Katzenbach as "the attorney general." Wednesday night the John­ sons had the Katzenbachs in for a cozy White House supper and broke the news. "He was very gracious about it," Katzenbach told newsmen Thursday. "I am very honored to be asked by the President to be a member of his Cabinet and to serve in the Department of Justice. I'll do the best job I can, I think it's a great depart­ ment, and its greatness de­ pends on the people in it." Early Senate reaction was favorable. Sona, Paul H. Doug­ las, D-Ill., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., commended the President's choice. Jav­ its especially noted Katzen­ bach's work in civil rights. Katzenbach, a former law profes­sor and World War II fler who spent two years as a prisoner of the Germans, came to national attention when he confronted Gov. George C. Wallace during the University of Alabama integra­tion crisis of June 1963. Taylor Still Holding Viet Nam Reins

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson expressed full confidence Thursday in Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and said he will stay on in South Viet Nam.

White House press secretary George E. Reedy and the State Department joined in backing civilian regime of Premier Tran Van Huong.

Reedy said Johnson is not recalling Taylor, who replaced Henry Cabot Lodge last June. "The President has full confidence in Ambassador Taylor and will retain him there," Reedy said.

"There is no basis for speculation concerning Taylor's position," added press officer Robert J. McCloskey at the State Department.

Johnson administration spokesmen thus far have clamped a stranglehold on speculation that the new regime, including Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the South Vietnamese strong man who tossed out the U.S.-backed civilian regime of Premier Tran Van Huong, been impaired by Wednesday's coup.

"No progress was reported after a 4 1/2-hour meeting," Reedy said. "Officials hoped to get together again Friday."

Woodworking Students at VTI Learn Skills, Do Research

Participating in research projects while learning skills that prepare them for places in the expanding woodworking industries, are the students enrolled in a two-year woodworking technology program at Vocational-Technical Institute.

"Graduates of our program find employment as construction estimators, kiln technicians, production supervisors, and technicians in furniture and millworking plants," says William W. Rice, coordinator of the program.

In addition to actual shop work and courses directly connected with acquiring woodworking skills, students are enrolled in a program of General Studies which gives them a broad educational background.

Among subjects covered in the program are production woodworking machines, basic woodworking drafting, English composition, timber seasoning and grading, technical mathematics, and writing. Furniture drafting and design, physical science, political economy, plant organization and operation, labor management relations problems and manufacturing processes.

Students have an unusual opportunity to take part in research projects because the Carbondale Research Center of the U.S. Forest Service is located at the campus, according to Rice. Extensive studies into new uses of native hardwoods are being carried on there.

Rice and Instructor Harold Osborn work with students in a large, completely-equipped shop which also is used for practical production of wood items ranging from scenery for plays staged at Southern to prefabricated buildings and office furniture.

By Del Tucker
The Student Work Office has announced the start of a cooperative work study program between SIU and the Shell Oil Co., Wood River plant.

The agreement permits students to combine classroom studies with practical work experience on a six months of study and six months of work basis.

According to Harold L. Koons, a supervisor in the Student Work Office who is in charge of summer employment, two junior or senior chemistry majors with "B" averages are needed to fill positions as research laboratory assistants.

Applicants must have some interest or hobby related to the job responsibility. Students must also complete four personal evaluations from instructors or former employers in the second semester. A University transcript is required.

Students considering the subject to all the details of employment of the SIU Shell Oil Co. Those who fill the first six months of the program are eligible for return for the second and third phase.

Students participating in the work phases of the program are limited to eight credit hours per quarter or a maximum of 16 hours for the six-month period while employed by the company.

Workers will not be allowed to participate in evening classes or classes at the Carbondale Research Center or in S.I.U. night school.

According to the Student Work Office, the average salary for the first six months of the program is around $950, Rice said.

One SIU student who is already taking part in the program is William L. Nowers, a senior majoring in chemistry, from Steeleville, Ill.

Nowers, a married student, transferred to the Alton area. He took his wife and one year old daughter with him. The six months of work will extend through the winter and spring terms of this year.

The most important factor in selecting personnel for the program begins in June. The Student Work Office suggests that qualified students check into the program early, the office provides a trip to Wood River to allow prospective workers an opportunity to talk to Shell officials and to see the plant.

This is the second cooperative program in which SIU has taken part with industries in the St. Louis area. The other is with the Alton Box Board Co.
Kington Sculpture Wins Show Award

Brent Kington's "Five Hanging Bells," a five-pound steleling silver sculpture, won a special award at the "Fiber, Clay and Metal—USA 1963" exhibit currently on display at St. Paul, Minn. The exhibit is sponsored by the American Federation of Arts.

Kington, assistant professor of art, who is recognized as one of the country's outstanding silver craftsmen, has works also being shown in "Amusement 1st" show at the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York City. Both exhibitions will start a year's tour of the United States following the close of the initial showings.

A double-page spread in the December issue of "House and Garden" magazine featured several of the works shown in the New York exhibit, including three of Kington's toy cars and three toy soldiers, all of silver. Twenty American craftsmen were chosen for representation in the show. Kington was one of only seven metalmiths represented. The show, which opened Dec. 10, will run through Jan. 31.

Kington was also represented in the 1963 Fiber, Clay and Metal exhibit which first toured the U.S., and is now touring the Far East under auspices of the federal government's cultural program.

SIU Geology Club Sets Field Trip

The Geology Club will sponsor a field trip in Jackson and Union counties Saturday, Ira Satterfield of Flora, graduate assistant in geology, is in charge of the trip. Those going will meet before 8 a.m. at Campus Drive south of the Agriculture Building. Persons interested in taking part in the field trip should make their own transportation and lunch arrangements, Satterfield said.

Prof. J. Marvin Weller, retired head of the City of Chicago, has geologist, will join the group as a resource person. Weller will be on campus to address a Geology Club meeting Friday at 8 p.m. in the Home Economics Building Family Living Lounge.

Clerical Positions Open to Students

Clerical jobs are now open to students according to John L. Shultz, supervisor in the Student Work Office.

Positions are open for students interested in typing, receptionist work, filing, shorthand and other clerical duties.

Students may check at the Work Office for information or interviews.

VIOLA DUFRAIN AND HER BROTHER, FRANK

Former SIU Education Prof Lives in Retirement Village

An 80-acre retirement village in Northern Ohio has become home for a former SIU professor.

Viola M. DuFrain, professor of business education at SIU until her retirement last year, has joined nearly 150 other retired persons (many of them former educators) at Crestview Club apartments in Sylvania, Ohio.

Crestview, which is near Toledo, includes apartments, golf course, recreation facilities, health services center and other features.

Her brother, Frank, also lives at Crestview. He is a retired superintendent of Pontiac, Mich., schools. Miss DuFrain moved to Ohio in September after living in Carbondale for 17 years.

Active in a half-dozen professional education organizations during most of her professional life, she earned her masters of arts degree in humanities and doctor of philosophy degree in business education at the University of Chicago.

After 20 years, her doctoral dissertation on methods of teaching typewriting is still considered a classic by business educators nationally.

For five years she edited the Research Issue of the National Business Education Quarterly and, in 1963, authored an Illinois curricula bulletin for secondary school business programs. She is a native of Momence, Ill., and taught in northern Illinois, Pennsylvania and Missouri before moving to Southern Illinois in 1947.

At Crestview, Miss DuFrain enjoys retired life with persons from 15 states and with backgrounds ranging from education and law to Army service.

Her hobbies include taking daily walks, and the study of birds, trees and flowers. In addition, numerous recreation facilities are available at her new residence.

Miss DuFrain is currently enrolled in an art course at the museum in Toledo.

SIU Wrestlers Meet Oklahoma State U.

Coach Jim Wilkinson's varsity wrestlers travel to Stillwater, Okla., today, where they meet the number-one wrestling team in the country, the Oklahoma State University Cowboys. The deeding national impressive in the Great Plains AAU mat tournament. In this tournament the Cowboys swept all 10 championships and added three seconds, a third and three fourths.

Bob Douglas, an Oklahoma State Olympic grappler, is probably the Cowboys' best wrestler and is expected to wrestle in the 137-pound class.

Wilkinson has his lineup set in the lower weight classes but will probably have to do some adjusting in the upper weights.

Don Devine is sure to wrestle in the 123-pound class, Larry Baron in 130, Dave Pforr in 137 and Dan DiVito in 147 pounds.

Don Gesky, the heavyweight, will be returning to action after missing the last two meets because of a knee injury. He is expected to wrestle Jack Erisco, who defeated him in last year's meet.

Wilkinson is still uncertain about the 157, 167, 177 and 191 weight classes, but it appears that George McCreery will be wrestling in one of them, probably at 167.

Bob Herkert, who wrestles in the 177 and occasionally in the 167 weight class, has been out of the lineup all week because of a death in the family and is a questionable starter.

The Saluki wrestlers will next compete in the Hazel Park, Mich., invitational Feb. 12 before coming home to meet Indiana State Feb. 24.

Freshman Wrestling Squad To Meet Southern Missouri

Coach Jim Wilkinson's freshman wrestlers get their first taste of active competition when they meet Southeast Missouri State's varsity team at 3:30 p.m. today in the Arena.

The Southeast Missouri Indians will be competing in their first collegiate meet. Danny Ross, twice Missouri state champion, will wrestle at 123. Jim Orstead or Terry Magoon will wrestle at 130. Both have good credentials. Orstead was the second place winner last year in Illinois in his weight class, while Magoon was runner up in the Pennsylvania state meet.

Al Mjderick, a first place winner in Illinois, will be wrestling at 137. Ed Heene, first place winner from Iowa, will be at 147 and Julio Fuentes, who was 20-1 this senior year and finished second in the New York state finals, will be at 157.

In the 167 weight class will be Neal Joiner, a state champion from Missouri, Ray Johnston, from New York who qualified for the Olympic trials last summer will be at 177.

Aaron Bulow at 191 and brother Al Bulow, at heavyweight, an Illinois state champion, will complete Wilkinson's lineup.

Steve Savaresi, Ron Bosco, Joe Billings, Julian Gabriel, and Ernie Tiza will be wrestling exhibition bouts.

Meade Lauds Trampoline Trials at SIU

Bill Meade, SIU’s gymnastics coach, said the World Trampoline Trials held in the SIU Arena were “the best I have ever seen.”

Meade, of course, had reason to be proud of the event, because one of his prize pupils, Frank Schmitz, came in second and will be competing at the finals in London this weekend.

Frank Rare, the executive director of the United States Gymnastics Federation, echoed the same sentiment. “These trials are open to everybody in the country which gives any worthy trampolinist a chance to compete for a championship title,” he said.

At the trials, two men and two women were chosen to go to London. Three of the winners are from southern Illinois.

Gary Erwin of the University of Michigan went undefeated in the trials and finished first. Southern Illinois’ Fran Millman was the No. 2 man, defeating Danny Millman of the University of California in the semi-final for the runner-up spot.

Corrigan defeated Erwin twice in the trials but could never come out on top. Millman, who is the current world’s trampoline champion, finished third at the trials and was eliminated.

Millman, a personable lad from University of California, gave no alibis for his performance. “The trials were run so well that the judges picked the best performers,” he said.

Millman whose form is as smooth as that of Ervin or Millman, attempts to make up this deficiency by doing harder routines. This can sometimes work, depending on the judges.

The list of the Arena was set four April for the NCAA Finals, when all four men are expected to compete for the National Championship.

Two women were chosen, Judy Wills and Nancy Smith. Miss Wills finished first while teammate Miss Smith survived a score by Southwestern, of Springfield, III., to finish second.

The four winners are presently in flight to London, where they will be competing in the World Trampoline Finals Saturday.

Texas to Bar AFL If Jets Sign Sauer

By the Associated Press

The George Sauer Jr. case threatens to end relations between the University of Texas and the American Football League Thursday.

Without mentioning the player or the school by name, Commissioner Joe Foss of the AFL threatens counterfeiting at the practice of redshirting college athletes to Texas.

Darryl Tallar, Texas football coach, told the Dallas Times that all A.F.L. scouts would be barred from Longhorn practice fields, dressing rooms and press boxes if the New York Jets or other A.F.L. school signs Sauer, pass catching end, before next year. Sauer still has a year of eligibility left.

Redshirting is the practice of withholding a boy from varsity action in one of his years of eligibility.

Saluki Gymnasts Face 2 Meets This Weekend

By the Associated Press

SIU’s gymnastic team, winner of 30 consecutive dual meets, returns to action this weekend with dual meets at Mankato State and the University of Minnesota.

The Mankato State meet, which will be held tonight in Mankato, Minn., is expected to be the toughest of the two for the Salukis.

Mankato, in a rebuilding year, will take a 5-2 dual meet record into the meet. Three of its victories came at the expense of Minnesota, University of Chicago and Northern Illinois University.

Mankato is led by captain Leonard Thompson, Allan Cran and Dale Anderson, Thompson, who is the all-around performer, was second in the all-around category at his college regionals earlier this year. He will take a 25-point margin into competition tonight.

Corrigan is the salukis’ man on the side horse, and teammate Anderson in tops on the trampoline.

The Salukis, 3-0 this year, will be handicapped by the loss of leading scorer Roger Schmitz. Schmitz is currently in London participating in the World Trampoline Championships. To compensate for his absence in the lineup, Saluki coach Bill Meade will add Steve Whitlock in free exercise, Larry Lindauer on the trampoline and Mike Boegler on the long horse.

The rest of Meade’s lineup remains unchanged with Lin­nau as the all-around performer, Brent Williams in free exercise, trampoline and long horse, Rick Tucker on side horse, parallel bars and high bar, Bill Wolf on high bar, parallel bars and rings, Hatch Drovar on trampoline, Tom Cook on rings. Mike Boegler on side horse.

The Salukis’ second meet in as many days will take them to the University of Minnesota against the Golden Gophers Saturday afternoon.

Minnesota has a 1-7 record and placed 14th in the NCAA meet last year with five points. However, the Gophers have lost two big men in Larry Gleason, the all-around performer, and Tom Arneson, a side horse specialist. Minnesota coach Ralph Piper will have four sopho­more men in his lineup, but he still has the services of veteran Bill Eibritck and captain and one-year man Paul Olson. Both Olson and Eibritck are all-around performers.

Aces Hold No. 1

By the Associated Press

The undefeated Evansville Aces have nine games remaining on their regular season basketball schedule and none among them is likely to be tougher than the final one against Southern Illinois. Southern Illinois almost knocked the proud Aces off the unbeaten path last week, finally succumbing 81-80 in an Evansville basket in the final seconds.

The Triumph plus another one over Ball State later in the week lifted the Aces’ rec­ord to 15-0 and enabled them to maintain first place in the latest Associated Press weekly small-college poll.

Southern Swimmers To Take on Visitors

Coach Ralph Casey's SIU swimming squads take the spotlight on the local scene this weekend as both the freshman and varsity teams move into action Saturday.

The swimmers should provide plenty of activity as national high school power, Fenwick, calls on the Saluki frosh at 4 p.m. Saturday, with North Central providing the opposition for the undefeated varsity at 7:30.

The meet should provide quite a contrast. The Saluki frosh are given little chance of knocking off the powerful frosh at 4 p.m. Saturday, with North Central providing the opposition for the undefeated varsity at 7:30.

The reverse should hold in the varsity meet where the Salukis are a solid favorite to make the perennial NAIA champs their fifth dual meet victim of the season.

With neither meet expected to be close, the excitement should come from a top congregation of individual performers.

One of the top visiting swimmers may be North Central's backstroker Jim Hartzell. Hartzell is no newcomer to SIU swim enthusiasts, because he's swum here numerous times during his brilliant career.

More times than not he's been a winner as he was in his last appearance here in the North-South championship in December. In that meet he won his specialty, the 200-yard backstroke with 2:05.6. The senior from Oak Park probably turned in his best performance of the season last week against powerful Indiana, the Saluki opponent a week from Saturday. He won the 200 in an impressive 2:04.1 to break the Hoosiers' monopoly.

The Indians swept every event but the one Hartzell grabbed as they smashed the Naperville, Ill., college 72-27. Hartzell's appearance Saturday will also revive an old rivalry as the Salukis will be sending a veteran of their own, Andy Stoody, against the talented Cardinal, Saluki sophomore Bob O'Callaghan, who will also join the battle.

In the North-South meet it was O'Callaghan who kept the Northern Illinois ace from being a double winner.

Salukis’ Victories Unrewarded

In AP’s Small College Poll

Even with victories over such teams as Oklahoma State, Tennessee State, Washington U. and Kentucky Wesleyan and close losses to teams like Evansville, Wichita and Kansas State, Southern's basketball team failed to make the Associated Press small college poll this week.

The Salukis, ranked third in the United Press poll, were beaten out in the AP poll by such teams as Philadelphia Textile, Fairmont, W. Va., and Penn American.

Evansville, one-point victor over Southern, remained in first place with 15 of the 18 votes for the top spot. Central State of Ohio took the biggest jump this week by moving into the third spot from ninth last week.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and total points:

- Evansville (15) 177
- 2. High Point (10) 135
- 3. Central State 72
- 4. Phila. Textile 56
- 5. Winston Salem 55
- 6. Grambling 34
- 7. Gammon 46
