All-University Senate Election Today

SIU Trustees Clarify Stand On Expansion

The SIU Board of Trustees yesterday approved a resolution stating the University's position on a subject that has caused considerable controversy recently -- the announcement of plans for the University to expand into portions of the city of Carbondale.

The text of the resolution clarifying the University's views on the matter follows:

"The Board of Trustees is not unmindful of the community of Carbondale's interest in the growth of Southern Illinois University. It believes that in great part this interest is motivated by a desire for continuing improvement in the program of the institution and that only a few persons may be influenced by personal pecuniary motives. It has reason to think that the great majority of Carbondale citizens have a selfless pride in the development of the University, recognize the contributions of the students and staff to Carbondale, and accept the gratitude of the University for Carbondale's contributions to it.

"It is not the intention of the Board to proceed in its planning under a cloak of secrecy. But there must be an orderly process of decision making which by its nature precludes divulgence of confidential information before an appropriate time. To indicate prematurely matters which are under study and which could encourage speculation to the detriment of both the University and the taxpayers of Illinois would, we believe, be unwise. In this respect the responsibility of the Board must, perforce, rest on the common good of all the citizens of Illinois and transcend community considerations.

"To those who have expressed interest in the reasons for the changes in the University's master plan, we should like to note that pres-

SIU To Offer Oxford Plus Travel Program To Students During 1964 Summer Session

Southern Illinois University officials are looking ahead to the summer of 1964 with plans to offer SIU students ten weeks of study and travel in England, Scotland and the European Continent.

Academic work, largely in social sciences, also in modern British literature and the arts, will be done in a four week period at St. Hilda's College, Oxford.

Lecturers will be drawn from the Oxford faculty and from British civic and intellectual leaders.

SIU hopes to take 60 students on this study and travel tour. About 40 students from the Continent are expected to join in the program.

Travel will be by jet planes to and from Europe. There will be two weeks of travel in Scotland and England, including London, before the academic work begins. The last four weeks will be spent touring the Continent.

James Benziger, professor in the SIU Department of English, and William Winter, associate professor in the Department of Government, in charge of the proposed program, say the total cost will be about $1,250, excluding Southern's own tuition and spending money. This will include room, board, transpor-

Polls Open From 8 To 5 To Vote On 4 Senators

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today for electing four Carbondale Campus representatives to the new All-University Student Senate. There are nine candidates for the four positions.

Also to be elected today is a fraternity senator to serve on next year's Student Council. The two candidates on the ballot are James Merz, a

Tom Castor, election commissioner, said polls will be operating at the University Center, Lentz Hall, Small Group Housing, Southern Acres Cafeteria and in front of Old Main. There will also be a temporary polling place set up at Southern Hills from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Castor said voting for fraternity senator will be conducted only at the University Center and Small Group Housing polls.

Students must display a current certificate of registration and plastic ID card in order to vote, Castor said. Valid fee statements will be accepted in lieu of the plastic ID card.

Persons voting for All-University Student Senate representatives are instructed to vote for four candidates.

Murphy, whose biographical information came too late to be included in yesterday's paper, is a member of the Thompson Point Judicial Board and a student representative on the Intercollegiate Athletic Council. An economics major, Murphy is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, and the SIU swimming team.

The Edwardsville Campus will also elect four students to the All-University Student Senate. Members will serve for one year.

High Court Action Will Not Delay Construction

A university spokesman said that the State Supreme Court's action holding up condemnation of 82 acres for the Edwardsville campus "will in no way delay" construction of the campus there.

John Rendleman, general counsel and special assistant to the president, described the court's action as "just a legal maneuver."

"The point on which the actions rests is that a motion of the SIU Board of Trustees to acquire the land was not introduced into the suit."

Rendleman said the landowners contention that the university didn't have the authority to set up a university at Edwardsville is invalid because "the legislature has already appropriated money to build a campus there."

The Madison County Circuit Court had dismissed a landowner challenge of the right of the university to take the land by eminent domain.

However, the state supreme court reversed the circuit court and ordered it to hear evidence on the motion.

Chief Justice Roy Sol-fisburg, who wrote the opinion, said there was nothing showing the university was empowered to take the land or that it was needed for university purposes.

Rendleman explained that introduction of the Board of Trustees motion to acquire the land would satisfy the high courts.

At the time of the original landowners suit in June, 1962, the landowners contended that SIU had already acquired 1,500 acres and did not need the additional acreage for college purposes.

However, University plans are for a 2,600-acre campus. While the landowners objected to the University acquiring the land, they did not object to the amount of damages awarded by a jury for taking the land.

One landowner was allowed $14,000 for 26 1/2 acres of land and another $38,000 for 55 1/2 acres.

University officials have encountered bitter opposition from some of the landowners whose land has been taken for the new campus.

Construction of campus building was delayed earlier over zoning. However, first contracts for buildings were let last month.

Grinnells Have To Dodge War While Visiting Laos

JOHN E. GRINNELL

Vice President And His Wife Tour SIU Installations In Far East

John E. Grinnell, vice president for operations, sat before a large desk and eagerly told of his recent trip which took him halfway around the world on an inspection tour of SIU installations.

"It was a strange and completely fascinating spectacle," said Grinnell with enthusiasm.

The vice president, who was accompanied by his wife, visited Japan, Taiwan, Viet Nam, China, Thailand, India, Istanbul, Greece, Italy, and England on a two-month business and pleasure trip.

"India most typifies the Orient," he said in a low voice. "It is very strange with musicians charming cobras and fakiers climbing ropes. It is probably the country which is least touched with technology."

"The Taj Mahal is simply the most beautiful sight I've ever seen, whether in day light or by moonlight," he added.

Grinnell's prime objective of the trip was to visit overseas programs conducted by Southern under sponsorship of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID).

The United States government, in conjunction with Southern, has groups of contract teams in Viet Nam who act as advisors to that country's educational system. The advisors serve in the elementary and Vocational-Technical fields of education.

The vice president said that the Vietnamese are weakest in materials. "That is, textbooks and audio-visual materials," he added.

When asked if AID is helping to rid Communism, he replied:

"They are aiding as much as anything. Many of the men over there are most influential. Our government and their government think it's a very worthwhile thing."

Grinnell did not think that the influence of Communist propaganda affected the people to a great extent. "The teachers are government employees," he said, "so they (the teachers) do not have much to say. Since there aren't any newspapers in Viet Nam, the people don't know or care about Communism or Democracy."

Probably one of the most interesting highlights for the Grinnells was in Laos.

"We were there in time of the war. It didn't seem like much to us, but the papers played it up big. We didn't see any actual fighting," he added. "We just seemed to be in front or behind it."

On every one of their stopovers the Grinnells were greeted and entertained by parents of foreign students attending SIU.

"We got to see how the people really lived," smiled the vice president. "One of the most interesting things was what the Laotians call a Basi. It's a farewell party they gave us. They would wrap strings around our wrists and wished us safety, health, wealth, luck and farewell."

Referring back to the war in Laos and with a reassuring look, Grinnell said, "No, nothing in Laos alarmed me--except those cowboy airplane landings we had to make."

The Grinnells had to make some short trips over Laos in freight planes which were loaded with oil tanks and pipe and had to land on makeshift strips.

Of course the trip wasn't only business and the Grinnells took advantage of the situation.

"It got up to 116 degrees one day," he said.

Before returning to Carbondale, the Grinnells visited with their son, Alan, who is a post doctoral fellow at University College of London.

Bus To Cardinals' Game Saturday

The Activities Development Center has arranged for a special SIU bus to take students, faculty and staff to a Cardinal baseball game in St. Louis June 1.

The game will be played with the San Francisco Giants.

The bus will leave the University Center at 10:15 a.m. Round-trip fare will be $1.00. This fee must be paid by Friday, May 31, at the Activities Office, according to a spokesman there.

There will be no bus excursion to St. Louis for shopping or sight-seeing this week.

US Farm Terms To Be Taught Foreign Graduate Students In Ag

A special orientation program to acquaint foreign graduate students in agriculture with common terms and phrases used in American agriculture will be conducted here June 17 to August 9.

The program is a cooperative effort of the School of Agriculture, the Graduate School and the Office of Research and Projects.

It will cover practices, terminologies and conditions applying to animal husbandry, crops, soils, dairying, poultry, husbandry, farm management, marketing, credit and other phases of American agriculture, an Agriculture School spokesman said.

It will also provide practical knowledge of livestock, crops, implements, farmsteads and homes on American farms, as well as broad general information on the Agricultural industry of the United States.

According to the spokesman, field trips to farms and markets in the area will supplement classroom work. On such trips students will become acquainted with typical farms as management units, with rural communities and with markets and services available to farmers.

This will be the third year for this program at SIU. In the summer of 1962, fifteen graduate students from Chile, Columbia, Ecuador, Japan and Mexico participated.

These students were supported by the Rockefeller Foundation, the Council of Economic and Cultural Affairs and the U.S. State Department. The Institute of International Education administered grants to students from the latter two organizations.

This year those foreign graduate students taking part in the program may apply for a limited number of $300 scholarships.

Herman M. Haag, professor of agriculture industries, is the director and founder of the project.

The program is a venture in inter-collegiate cooperation. It is part of SIU's overall effort to utilize institutional strengths in support of international programs planned to promote broader inter-cultural understanding and to foster development of the newly emerging countries, the spokesman added.

DZ's Host State Day For Eight Chapters

Delta Zeta sorority recently held State Day hosting eight chapters of Illinois and Missouri.

Approximately 130 members attended representing St. Louis University, Harris Teachers College in St. Louis, University of Illinois, Bradley University, Eastern Illinois University, Western Illinois University, Eureka College, and Southern.

Speaker for the banquet was the Delta Zeta national president, Mrs. R. H. Whitfield of Evanston.

The event was planned by Mrs. Harold Bechman, retiring president of Delta Zeta alumnae chapter, Mrs. Maurine Carlson, alumnae province director, and June Carillon, past president of Southern's chapter of Delta Zeta.

US - Britain To Try New Approach On Nuclear Test Ban

LONDON

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan expressed hope yesterday that he and President Kennedy will be ready in a day or two to make a new approach to Soviet Premier Khrushchev on a nuclear test ban.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Tuesday he and President Kennedy are on the verge of making an important new approach to Soviet Premier Khrushchev for breaking the nuclear test ban deadlock.

The prime minister told the House of Commons that in the next day or so he and the President hope to complete details of their latest letter to the Soviet leader. This correspondence has been under study in London and Washington.

The three world leaders have been engaged in letter writing for some time. Little has come to light about this correspondence except that proposals for nailing down a test ban have been mentioned prominently. It is understood the letters also contain hints of a possible summit conference.

Starts Summer Term:

General Studies Program Begins New System Of Advisement

Beginning summer quarter a new and independent advisement system will be set up for the General Studies program, according to Amos Black, executive assistant of General Studies.

Sometime early in July, the new General Studies advisement center will take up residence in the quarters now occupied by the Economics Department, a yellow house just in front of the present Academic Advisement Center, Black said.

Permanent advisers have not yet been appointed for the General Studies program; however, 11 have been named for the summer quarter.

These are: Eileen Barry, Frank Bell, Martha Clark, Fern DeJarnett, Marvin Johnson, Peter Notaras, William O'Brien, Marjorie Shank, Jean Stehr, Hilda Stein, and Edan Travis.

These advisers, with the exception of Miss Stein, will continue to advise part time for Liberal Arts and Sciences also.

there are three new steps in the system.

1. The student will be listed according to the field in which he is interested. He will be, for example, a General Studies student in Economics or a General Studies student in History. He will be given a copy of a two year curriculum compiled by the department or school which he plans to enter.

If the student can follow this curriculum exactly he will not need to see an adviser each term. He will merely pick up his class cards at the center and have them stamped by a person assigned to this job.

If, however, the student drops a course, fails a subject, or seeks advance standing in a field, he must see an adviser because these are deviations from the planned curriculum. 2. A student who has shown by his high school records and the ACT test scores that he may qualify for advance standing in a field will be given placement tests. These tests will determine at which level of the General Studies program in that field the student should begin.

There is a difference between these advance standing tests and the proficiency exams. The proficiency exams give credit for the courses skipped. The advance standing tests will not. They will lessen a particular student's requirements in that he may not be required to take a 101 course because he has proved himself ready to take 102 or even 103. It will be possible to eliminate up to as many as 30 hours in this way.

3. When a student has accumulated 80 General Studies hours, he may petition for entrance into the college or school of his choice.

There are, according to Black, several students who will be ready to do this for fall quarter. They have, he explained, carried full 16 hour loads for the last four quarters and will carry 16 this summer, making a total of 80 hours. These will be the first students to finish the General Studies program, which was established for summer ent studies of higher education all indicate that tremendous increases of college population will occur in the next decade.

"Within the past two years the estimates for eventual enrollment on the Carbondale campus have increased by 3,000. These increases will require not only facilities for numerous additional undergraduate students but also living and learning room for recently established and developing graduate, professional, and research programs. It was the opinion of the Board and is still its opinion that the University will be called upon to play a major, state-wide role in these latter programs.

"Based on this judgment, it was concluded that sufficient core land area was not available under then current plans properly to meet and discharge the responsibilities of an enlarged graduate, professional, and research program. And yet, to predict now the exact nature of additional programs which Southern Illinois University may be called upon to develop would be presumptuous.

"The Board had hoped that all members of the community had sufficient pride in the past accomplishments of the University and confidence in the manner of performing these accomplishments to preclude wide-spread controversy. But since we now feel that such a statement as this has become necessary, we can only hope that by issuing it we have not in any way reduced the good will of the great majority of Carbondale's citizens or diminished the opportunity for Southern Illinois University to play a major role in the future of higher education in Illinois."

Trustees Invite Foundation To Aid Development

For the investment of $1, the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees today offered to invite the SIU Foundation to a partnership with state and federal agencies to develop a 3,000-acre public recreation area in Southern Illinois.

Before the Foundation, a benevolent corporation organized 21 years ago to handle real estate, trust funds, scholarships and royalties for faculty and inventions, can accept the offer it must have working arrangements made with the federal Area Redevelopment Administration and the Illinois State Department of Conservation.

Today's milestone in Illinois recreational development had its beginning nine years ago when the Truax-Traer Coal Company granted the University approximately 1,000 acres of land in Perry County for research on methods of reclaiming strip mine spoil banks. Utilization studies have been in process ever since and pilot projects undertaken, under the guidance of a team headed by W.D. Klimstra, director of Cooperative Wildlife Research.

When all costs had been repaid, the land would be deeded to the State Department of Conservation.

ROGER ALEXANDER

... READY TO JUMP

First Parachute Jump:

Is It A Bird? Is It A Plane? No, It's An SIU Student

By Roger Alexander

Why does man accept the call to adventure?

I found myself trying to answer that question recently as I stood on a step outside of an airplane circling Southern Illinois at 2,300 feet.

I was ready to make my first parachute jump after an accelerated training program with the SIU Sport Parachute Club.

After packing the parachute myself -- which I could only hope was right--I had strapped it to my body, snugly fastened my helmet under my chin and stood outside a hanger at Southern Illinois airport. Now it was only a matter of minutes.

The jump master loaded two of us into a Cessna 170, which had the door removed, and we were airborne in a few minutes.

After circling the target once, the jump master yelled --to be heard over the sound of the roaring engine and screaming air--"OK, you next"--and pointed to me.

As I climbed from the inside of the plane out to the small step just above the wheel, a number of things flashed through my mind:

"What if the chute doesn't open."

"Will I be calm enough to deploy my reserve chute."

"Why did I decide to do this in the first place."

"Maybe my friends were right. Maybe I was nuts."

Whether or not I was nuts, my mind had not time to draw conclusions.

"Go," yelled the jump master and I automatically pushed away from the plane.

There was a moments sensation of gliding, and then I relaxed from my forced swan

SIU Geographers In State Meeting

Three SIU geographers took part in the program of the Illinois Geographical Society meeting at Illinois State Normal University, Normal, Saturday.

Robert A. Harper, Geography Department chairman, and SIU visiting lecturers, David Fox and Allan Patmore, comprised a panel discussing "Anglo-American Geography: A Comparison of Geography in English and American Schools." Fox and Patmore respectively are University of Manchester and University of Liverpool, England, geographers serving on the SIU faculty this year.

Joseph Velikonja, associate professor of geography, also dive position and I found myself plummeting to earth feet first.

Then came a sharp jerk. I looked up and saw the chute had deployed perfectly, at that time I thought it was one of the most beautiful sights I had ever seen. After I had reached the ground I decided it too was an equally beautiful sight.

While walking back to the target, which I missed by a good 300 yards, I asked myself again why I had decided to jump.

Why did I do it? Well I may never know for sure. But I know that I'll try it again.

34 Biologists

Awarded Grants; Will Study Here

Thirty-four biology teachers from 16 states have been awarded National Science Foundation grants to enable them to study in the summer institute for biology teachers on campus, June 16-August 9, Isaac I. Schechmeister, institute director, announced.

Courses offered include anthropology, botany, microbiology and zoology.

Each recipient will receive a maximum of $75 per week, plus $15 per week allowance for each of his first four dependents and a travel allowance.

The applicants chosen include four from Arkansas, five from Wisconsin, six from Illinois, two each from Florida, Mississippi, New Jersey, Oregon, Pennsylvania, and Tennessee, and one each from California, Delaware, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine and West Virginia.

Six of the recipients are coming back to the institute for the second year, Schechmeister said.

Professional Club Leadership Meeting At SIU June 2
 Two hundred Business and Professional Club leaders from the southern third of the state will gather here at Southern Illinois University June 2 for the annual leadership conference conducted by state officers and committee chairmen.

The Cairo Club is serving as hostess for the conference, according to Mrs. Ann George, assistant supervisor at the University Center, where the meetings will be held. Registration and a coffee hour will begin at 8:15 a.m. After a devotional period at 9:15, group meetings will be held from 9:45 until noon. A general session at which state officers will speak will be held following the luncheon.

Stop For Pedestrians

These Thompson Point residents who use the crossing several times every day give their vote of approval. "Sure we like it," says Jim Greenwood, as Jerry Statkus gives the thumbs up sign. Both live in Bailey Hall.

The "stop for pedestrians" signs at the crosswalk between Thompson Point and the Agriculture Building are a significant contribution to the safety of SIU students.

A potential danger to students crossing the drive has always existed. Too many drivers do not heed the 20 mile per hour speed limit. The danger is especially great at 8 a.m., at noon and in the evening.

The signs stand in the middle of campus drive and require all automobiles to stop when students are attempting to cross the street. They are effective from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Observation reveals that many cars do stop, and many others slow down. But substantial numbers do not stop. Time and the University Police, however, may bring an improvement.

Probers Call Cuba A Real Threat

Exactly what kind of a threat does the Soviet satellite Cuba pose today in the western hemisphere?

This question has been answered in many ways and by many people over the last several months. Cuban exiles and others of private groups have claimed that the threat is great and growing. Government officials, speaking in terms of the isolation of Cuba, have generally tended to minimize the threat.

Recently, Washington received the findings of an official Senate investigating group—the preparedness investigating subcommittee headed by Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.). This group, on which I have the privilege to serve, received testimony in executive session from a large number of witnesses, including John A. McCone, director of the central intelligence agency; Lt. Gen. Joseph P. Carroll, director of the defense intelligence agency; Maj. Gen. Alva R. Fitch, assistant chief of staff for intelligence, United States army; Rear Adm. Vernon L. Lowrance, director of naval intelligence; and Maj. Gen. Robert a Breitweiser, assistant chief of staff for intelligence, air force.

The Senate Group arrived at the unmistakable conclusion that the situation in Cuba poses a formidable threat to this entire part of the world.

Here is the way the subcommittee report summarizes the threat:

"1. Cuba is an advanced soviet base for subversive, revolutionary and agitational activities in the western hemisphere and affords the opportunity to export agents, funds, arms, ammunition, and propaganda throughout Latin America.

"2. Assuming without deciding that all strategic weapons have been withdrawn, there is the ever-present possibility of the stealthy re-introduction of strategic missiles and other offensive weapons, using the forces still in Cuba as camouflage and security for the activity.

"3. Cuba serves as an advanced intelligence base for the U.S.S.R.

"4. The potential exists to establish electronic warfare capabilities based on Cuba.

"5. The vital Panama canal could be the target for sneak raids originating from Cuba.

"6. Potentially, Cuba is a base from which the soviets could interdict our vital air and sea lanes.

"7. Cuba's airfields could serve as recovery air bases for planes launched against the United States from the Soviet Union.

"8. Advanced soviet submarine bases could be established in Cuban ports with little effort.

"9. The continued presence of the soviets in Cuba could require a further reorientation of United States air defenses.

"10. Cuba provides a base for the training of agents from other Latin-American countries in subversive, revolutionary, agitational, and sabotage techniques.

"11. The very presence of the soviets in Cuba affects adversely our nation's image and prestige.

"A consideration of all these matters serves to emphasize the gravity of the threat to our national security which Cuba now represents."

Letter To The Editor:

International Club Rules Broken

With some surprise I read in the "Egyptian" of May 21, 1963 that I was elected as a member at large of the International Relations Club for the coming school year. The fact is that I was not elected but appointed after an election which was conducted in an rather obscure manner. I stated to the Executive Committee at its meeting on May 15, one day after the "election," that I would not accept this position.

By the way, Frank Klingberg, professor of Government, is not the new faculty advisor of the Club. According to the Constitution of the International Relations Club, the faculty advisor is to be nominated by the Executive Committee and then elected by the Club at the next member meeting. The next meeting of the Club is scheduled for May 28.

This illustrates only two out of a large number of violations of the Club's Constitution which its Executive Committee perpetrated during the last school year. These violations show the domination of the Club by a small group of people which were unable to stimulate any participation among the students of the university: the small number of only 22 voters in the last election does not just reflect a lack of interest in international affairs on the side of the students.

After 25 Years Coach Abe Martin Still Gets Excited About Each Game

Normally you would think a baseball coach who had won 235 games and five conference championships in 25 years would be as cool as an astronaut in a spacesuit. But that wouldn't do justice to the way Glenn (Abe) Martin plays the game.

Martin may be an institution at SIU, but he excites each season with the vigor of a yearling coach. Each game is a challenge to his skill.

"I get a thrill putting on the uniform for each game," Martin said, sounding like Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, who is 42 and still playing the game.

At the start of the season this spring Martin regarded it as the toughest he would face. He went out with all the enthusiasm of a youngster playing baseball for the first time.

"We had quite a few problems at the start of the season," Martin said calmly Monday while relaxing in his office following the two victories over Cincinnati.

"Our pitching which I had expected to be a little weak has been our strongest point in recent games."

"We now have won seven straight games and our pitchers have gone the distance in all of them. That is something which I didn't expect but I am extremely happy about," the veteran coach commented.

"Earlier this spring I was disappointed with our infield

SIU Sets New RBI Record

SIU set a new single game runs-batted-in record by driving in 23 runs in its 25-6 baseball victory over Cincinnati Saturday.

The old record was 20 set by the Salukis in 1959 against Barksdale Air Force Base. SIU scored 24 runs in that game.

SIU's total run output against Cincinnati broke the old record of 24 set against Barksdale in 1959.

Four Saluki players drove in four runs apiece in the rout of the Bearcats. Gib Snyder, Jerry Qualls, Dave Harris and pitcher Gene Vincent were the players driving in four runs each for the Salukis.

Mike Pratte drove home three runs with base hits in the game. First baseman Jim Long accounted for two runs-batted-in. John Siebel and Bob Bernstein each drove in a run for the Salukis.

Vincent and Long each collected four hits in the game. Qualls, Bernstein and Pratte hit safely three times each in the win.

Snyder and Siebel reached base safely twice on base hits. Harris doubled for his only hit in the easy Saluki victory.

play," he added, "but it has improved considerably since the start. Perhaps I was spoiled from the outstanding play of our all-conference second basemen Bob Hardscastle and Itchy Jones for the past eight years."

"In the same connection with the infield play I expected more pop flies to drop between the outgoing infielders and the incoming outfielders," he said.

"But that hasn't happened too frequently this spring which pleases him," he continued.

He paused for a while considering the catching of Mike Pratte.

"I expected Pratte to do a good job behind the plate," the coach said, "but he has done better than I expected. He has done an extremely good job handling our young pitchers."

"Whenever I start to take a pitcher out of the game I always check first with Pratte to see if the pitcher still has something on the ball. If Pratte says he has, then I will go along with Pratte," he pointed out.

Major league scouts at SIU games have commented about Martin's patience with pitchers. "I just don't like to bring in a pitcher who is cold when I have a pitcher working a good game," he explained.

"Unless a pitcher is getting hit extremely hard I usually will leave him in," the coach said.

Martin winds up his 25th season of coaching Saturday when SIU travels to Menard State Prison for a single game.

Qualls May Be Second In SIU Sports History To Surpass .400

Jerry Qualls probably will become the second hitter in SIU's baseball history to hit higher than .400 for a season.

He is hitting .422 with only one game left to play. The Salukis play Saturday at Menard State Prison in Chester, Ill.

Dick Dillinger holds the SIU record for the highest batting average. He hit .455 in 1958 with 35 hits in 77 times at bat.

So far this spring Qualls has collected 38 hits in 90 times at bat. Qualls already ranks third among SIU's most productive hitters.

Wally Westbrook holds the hit record of 52 set in 1961.

Duke Sutton, now playing ball with the Houston Colts farm team, is second with 50 hits.

Jim Long is in second place in hitting with a .370 average. Long has hit safely 27 times in 73 appearances at the plate. He is second in home runs with three behind Qualls' six.

John Siebel, Mike Pratte and Ron Landreth are SIU's only other .300 hitters. Siebel is batting .323, Pratte .307 and Landreth .302.

Dave Leonard, SIU captain, moved closer to the 300 mark with a five for 10 double header against Cincinnati. He now is hitting a respectable .295.

Intramural Report:

Advisory Staff Pulls Ahead In Tuesday Bowling League

The see-saw battle for first place took form again in the Tuesday night section of the SIU intramural bowling league as the Advisory Staff once more forged into the lead by virtue of a clean sweep over the Punchekees.

While the erstwhile leader Power House dropped a 3-1 decision to Star Lanes, John Flynn, Ken Friess and Al Lyons collaborated efforts of 566, 551 and 537 series respectively, to spark the front runners attack.

Varsity track came through with a sweep from Felts Wildcat. Varsity track had a three game series total of 2867 pins.

Bill Cornell, Al Gelso and Dave Breckenridge all went over the 500 mark paced by Jack Peters' 570.

The Power House quintet continued their winning ways in the six o'clock Wednesday night league with a four-point sweep over the Flying Pins. Bob Shipnough of the losers topped the scoring with a 541 series.

The Wednesday night Warriors were dethroned as leaders in a whitewash defeat by Freeman Five who have moved into a tie for the league lead with the Screw-balls. The Screwballs also won 4-0 over Green Barn. Felts 214 crew lost a series and saw its lead drop to one point. Felts dropped the series 2 1/2 points to 11 1/2.

The Straw Hatters had a wonderful opportunity to gain on the leaders, instead they were upset 3-1 by the Southern Dormants. Jim Modia of the Straw Hatters took scoring honors in the match with 569 pins.

Continuing their championship drive, the Alkies swept its series with 16-A in the six o'clock Thursday division. Al Unger led with a 552 series.

Century Series and Pin Twisters remained in a tie for second place in their struggle by rolling to a draw.

The Washouts of the nine o'clock Thursday league boosted its lead to five points by virtue of a sweep at the expense of the second place Knockers.

The Southern Illusions missed a clean sweep by dropping the finale to the King Pins.

The Strikers and Mason-Dixon maintained a co-runnerup status by rolling to a draw. Phillip Bigley tossed a 231 game for Mason-Dixon.

JIM LONG

Jim Long Makes Opponents Sad

Opponents now are wishing Jim Long, SIU first baseman, would have stuck to the basketball floor instead of moving into baseball.

Long currently is in second place among the SIU hitters with a .370 average. He trails Jerry Qualls, who is hitting .422.

Long was a standout basketball and baseball player at York High School in Chicago during his junior and senior years.

He almost decided to attend the Merchant Marine Academy but came to SIU instead which makes Glenn Martin happy but opponents sad.

He has been the starting first baseman for the Salukis since he came to school here in 1960.

Long lifted his batting average from .313 to .370 with seven hits in nine times at bat against Cincinnati. He is in second place among SIU hitters in the home run category.

He has three home runs to his credit. Qualls leads with six.

At May Meeting:

Shryock Curtains, Lighting Contracts Let By Trustees

Contracts for supplying new stage curtains and stage lighting for Shryock Auditorium were awarded yesterday by the SIU Board of Trustees during their regular May meeting.

The contract for new curtains and other stage apparatus went to Knoxville Scenic Studios, Inc., Knoxville, Tenn., at a cost of $24,442.

Goldberg and O'Brien Electric, Chicago, received the contract for supplying and installing new stage lighting for a total of $31,548. The bids on the projects were opened last week.

The Board also voted yesterday to reject the one bid received for construction of the $10.5 million University Park Dormitory development and rebid the project.

The project will be re-advertised for bids on June 3 and new bids will be opened July 9.

At the first bid opening,

May 21, J.L. Simmons Co., of Decatur was the only firm submitting a bid. The U.S. Housing and Home Finance Agency, who will purchase half the revenue bonds for the project, requested there be a rebidding since only one bid was received and it was above the estimate.

Also during yesterday's meeting, a contract was awarded to the Trane Company of Peoria to supply an absorption water chiller for the central refrigeration plant at Edwardsville campus at a cost of $225,000.

No award was made on a plumbing contract at Edwardsville campus pending further study of the bids. Bids for high temperature water general equipment for the central heating and refrigeration building were rejected and the project will be re-advertised because specifications need to be changed.

Loan Fund Renamed In Honor Of Lentz

The oldest and largest general student loan fund at SIU was renamed yesterday by the Board of Trustees in honor of the late Dean E. G. Lentz, who originated the fund.

The loan fund, which was started in the late 1930's while Lentz was dean of students, provides small amounts of cash to tide students over emergencies.

Lentz, who was dean of students for many years, died March 24 of this year at the age of 81. He joined the SIU faculty in 1914 and retired in 1952.

Average length of the loans, administered through the Office of Student Affairs, is three months. Interest is charged at the rate of 3 per cent, only for the time the loan is in effect.

Mary Beinfuhr, fund administrator, said students often use loans from the fund to meet tuition payment deadlines and to carry them over to their next student work checks.

New Faculty Appointments Announced By SIU Trustees

The addition of a full professor to both the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses headed a list of faculty appointments approved by the SIU Board of Trustees during a meeting yesterday.

Mrs. Anna Light Smith was named as professor and chairman of the food and nutrition department in the School of Home Economics. She is a native of Pennsylvania, holds a Ph. D. from Pennsylvania State University and has taught at Indiana, Michigan, New York and New Hampshire Universities.

John D. Kendall was named to the Edwardsville Campus staff as a professor in fine arts. He has served as professor at Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio.

Five other continuing appointments for the Carbondale campus were approved by the Board. S. Morris Eames, a native of Silex, Mo., joins the faculty as associate professor of philosophy. Hermann J. Haas, who comes to SIU from the University of South Dakota, was appointed as an associate professor of zoology.

Lawrence A. Bernstein was named as assistant professor of art. Ronald A. Brandon and Harold J. Walter were added as assistant professors of zoology.

The Board approved 18 term appointments, 17 of them at the Carbondale campus.

Those appointed here include Thomas J.D. Fair, lecturer and visiting professor in geography; Henry Stanley Dybas, lecturer and visiting professor at the Pine Hills Research Station; Mrs. Mildred Collins, lecturer in clothing and textiles; Miss Roma Gans, lecturer and visiting professor of elementary education.

Thomas J. DeSuza, lecturer in technical and adult education; Edward Stokes Daniel, supervisor in systems and procedures; Abdul Lateef as assistant instructor in government; Miss Maxine Hinchcliff as research assistant in the Biological Research Laboratory; George Maier as assistant instructor in government; Joel M. Maring as lecturer in anthropology; Miss Philippa M. McIntosh, research assistant in chemistry.

William Simmons, lecturer in psychology; George W. Penrock, lecturer in the Vocational Technical Institute; Benny D. Netzger, assistant instructor in sociology; Robert E. Stefl, assistant supervisor in group housing; Jim Stephenson, lecturer in theater; and Waldo A. Yack, lecturer in technical and adult education.

John Francis McDermott was appointed research professor in the Humanities Division at Edwardsville for the 1963-64 school year.

James Benziger, professor of English, was granted a sabbatical leave from Sept. 25 to Feb. 10, 1964, to write a book.

Twenty-one appointments were approved for the summer session faculty. The summer session begins June 17.

Ten resignations were also accepted by the Board.

Lutherans Hold Final Fling Sunday

The Lutheran Student Association will celebrate the end of the school year with "Final Fling" to be held at Crab Orchard Lake Sunday.

Recreation will include swimming, volley ball and soft ball. A picnic supper will be served at 5:30 p.m.

Transportation will be provided from the University center at 2:45 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling 7-2065 any morning this week.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it.

Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect.
