Inquiry Made Into "Adverse Publicity"

The State Teachers College Board of Governors, body for Southern Illinois Normal University, held its regular meeting on the Southern campus on Monday, January 24, after having opened a four-day executive session at the Roberts Hotel, at which it conducted an inquiry into the purposes of so-called "adverse publicity" concerning the administration of the University.

The Board recessed on Friday evening, January 24, after having interviewed all of the University's 136 faculty members, members of the Student Council, representatives of The Egyptian, school newspaper, governing body from the Southern Division of the Illinois Education Association, representatives of the Alumni Association, and a number of citizens.

The inquiry was the outcome of a resolution adopted by the Southern Alumni Association Board of Directors, which on December 2, petitioning the Teachers College Board to make an inquiry into the causes of the "adverse publicity."

On October 21, the delegates' assembly of Southern Division of the Illinois Education Association had authorized its president to appoint a committee to call upon University President Chester F. Lay to confer with him concerning the adverse publicity this college is receiving and to report back to the January meeting (of the delegates' assembly)." President Lay issued a statement saying that he would be glad to meet with the committee.

This committee called upon President Lay on November 7, and at the conclusion of the session a statement was issued signed by all members of the committee and the several University representatives present, stating "This Committee did not file any complaints, but some of the current rumors were discussed in a friendly fashion. No conclusions were reached although there was common agreement that careful inquiry into the adverse publicity was needed. Progress was made in clarifying certain issues."

Following the meeting of the Alumni Association Board, President Lay stated that he agreed with the board in asking the State Teachers College Board to conduct a full inquiry into the situation.

At conclusion of the four-day executive session in Carbondale, the Teachers College Board issued a statement to the effect that the hearing would be continued as soon as board members could (Continued on page two)

Homecoming Draws Record Crowd

Homecoming for Southern last November 1-2 attracted one of the largest crowds in the history of this reunion occasion. Rain could not dampen the spirits of the throng of alumni, students and others who attended the Little Theater play on Friday night, the parades, the Southern-Eastern football game, and the Homecoming Dance.

Miss Aliene Kauzarich of Christopher was crowned queen of Homecoming at the dance, with Football Captain Bill Mallinsky of Flora placing the crown on her head.

The queen was preceded by her court—Kathryn Alley of Sparta, Joan Fairbairn of Harvey, Velma McCormick of Johnston City, and Barbara Melvin of DuQuoin, and her two attendants, Elizabeth Bonner of Fairfield and Dorothea Gahan of Flora.

The Little Theater presented the play, "You Can't Take It With You," on Friday night before a near-capacity audience.

First places for house decorations went to Pi Kappa Sigma for Class A and to Tamarack for Class B, while first places for float decorations went to Sigma Sigma Sigma in Class A and to the Baptist Student Foundation for Class B.

Constitution For Alumni Ass'n. Drafted By Board

A proposed constitution for the Southern Alumni Association was considered by the Alumni Board when it met at the Roberts Hotel at Homecoming, Nov. 1-2, Dr. Percival Bailey of Chicago, president, reports.

The board accepted the constitution reported by the constitution committee, with some revisions, and announced that the instrument will be submitted to the membership of the Association for adoption or rejection at the next meeting of the Association, to be held on the campus June 12, at Commencement time.

Dr. Bailey announced that the text of the proposed constitution would be published in the March issue of Southern Alumnus.

NEW FACULTY AND NEW DEPARTMENTS:
WIDER SERVICE:
CHANGE OF NAME

Four and one-half million dollars will be available for Southern for the 1947-49 biennium, a 79 per cent increase over appropriations for the current biennium, if the General Assembly approves this institution's budgetary request.

This greatly increased budget was submitted to the Teachers College Board in October by University President Chester F. Lay, and was approved without change. It is now under consideration by the General Assembly.

If the new budget goes through, it will provide $2,998,145 for faculty and staff salaries, or almost double the $1,597,022 allocated for this purpose in the current budget.

Tentative plans of the University administration call for the addition of 123 new faculty and staff members, including 23 full professors, 34 associate professors, 33 assistant professors, 13 instructors, and 16 faculty assistants.

Among these new appointees would be specialists who would develop training programs in such fields as anthropology, folklore, forestry, geology, photography, recreation, social service work, visual education, clinical psychology, art in laboratory schools, bacteriology, dietetics, farm management, finance, horticulture, institutional management, marketing, mineralogy and mine operations, philosophy, vocational drawing and vocational machine shop.

Some work in many of these subjects has been available, but it is proposed to bring in at least one expert in each of these particular subjects, and in some cases several.

Since the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Colleges of Vocations and Professions are Southern's newest branches, many of the new teaching positions will be in these colleges.

The College of Education, however, is also slated for considerable expansion, with the proposed addition of 17 new staff members, including a full professor, an associate professor, an assistant professor and two faculty assistants in the department of education; an associate professor of high school English, an assistant professor of art in the laboratory schools, an assistant professor of high school commerce, an assistant professor of (Continued on page two)

A radio program produced by Southern last summer, entitled "New Frontiers in Science," has been entered by Radio Station WJPF in the George Foster Peabody Radio Awards competition conducted by the University of Georgia. This program featured Drs. T. W. Abbott, Willard Gersbach and O. B. Young.

Southern has been selected by the U. S. Marine Corps as one of the accredited colleges and universities in which to re-open its officers training program for the Marine Corps Reserve.

Eight Southern faculty members have been appointed to committees this year for the Carbondale Business Men's Association.

Southern Needs $4½ Million Budget

Expansion is also contemplated for existing departments such as art, English, foreign language, journalism, economics, home economics, sociology, Latin-American Studies, and others.

Research will come into new prominence under the new budget, if it is authorized, since it provides for a full-time specialist in anthropological research, a full-time specialist in botanical research, two additions to the Museum staff, and a research fellow for search in regional and other subjects.

"It is our hope that Southern may become the center for the collection of and research on all materials pertaining to the history, culture and folklore, both recent and pre-historic, of this region; and to its mineral, geological, horticultural, and forest resources," President Lay explained.

Expansion of the University's services to Southern Illinois are proposed, through the research activities mentioned above, and in other directions as well. With the addition of new faculty members, more extension classes will be provided off-campus, in new subjects and in new centers.

A full-time director for the Film Service is proposed, to permit expansion of this agency for both on-campus and off-campus use of visual aids; a new Personnel Clinic would be established, and a specialist in remedial speech would be appointed.

On-campus services would be expanded by the proposed appointment of a full-time head librarian, and the University physician for the Health Service, and a full-time director of the physical plant.

"If the General Assembly grants our request for the 1947-48 biennium," President Lay said, "Carbondale and Southern Illinois generally will do their part, we know, and we shall be able to go forward with the new program of university-scale development."

SINU Bill Laid Before Assembly

A bill calling for changing the legal name of Southern Illinois Normal University to Southern Illinois University has been introduced in the General Assembly by Sen. R. G. Crisenberry of Murphysboro.

University President Chester F. Lay hailed this bill as a "welcome one which would legalize a change long overdue."

"The word 'normal' in Southern's name has long been inaccurate," he said, "for it has been many years since Southern was a two-year school, as the word 'normal' implies. We are a full-scale university, so recognized by educational accrediting agencies such as the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the Association of American Colleges. We offer not only degrees in three undergraduate colleges but also in our Graduate School.

"Past efforts to change the name of this institution have unfortunately not been successful, but we all sincerely hope that Senator Crisenberry's bill will meet with the united support of all alumni and other friends of Southern, and will be enacted into law."

Supplemental Money For The Current Year

The Legislature has enacted a bill, which Governor Dwight R. Green has signed, making a supplementary appropriation of $200,000 to Southern for the remainder of the current biennium.

This money does not come from tax money but is appropriated from income which the University has earned during 1945-47.

Passed in the House of Representatives, this appropriation is to be used for educational operations, and the other half for auxiliary enterprises, such as the dormitory, the cafeteria, the bookstore, and student housing.

Supplementary appropriations have been sought by all the higher educational institutions in the State, and in their request for the variations for the 1945-47 biennium have been depleted more rapidly than normal by the unusually heavy enrollments, particularly of student veterans.

NEW INSTRUCTOR

Joseph R. Baxter has been appointed instructor in Latin-American studies at Southern, to succeed Dr. Robert E. McNicoll, associate professor, who resigned early in December to accept a research position with the U. S. Department of State.

Mr. Baxter holds the master of arts degree from Duke University and has completed all of the resid­ ent requirements at Duke for the doctor's degree in Latin-American history.

He has had four year's high school teaching experience, and spent two years teaching in the Army Air Forces historical program and collaborating on the history of the AAF Eastern Flying Command.

Oratorio Hangs Out "SRO" Signs

One of the biggest musical events ever staged in Southern Illinois was the December 15 production of "The Messiah" by the Southern Illinois Oratorio Society on the Southern campus.

This group, a 250-voice choir and a 60-piece orchestra, was organized by Dr. Maurits Kesner, professor of music and chairman of the music department.

Four outstanding professional singers — Camille Anderson, soprano; Alla Zopf Woods, contralto; Curn B. Zytwiski, tenor; and Carl Nelson, bass-baritone — were engaged to sing the solo roles.

The production drew such throngs of music-lovers that hundreds were unable to get inside Shryock Auditorium, and hundreds of others stood through the entire performance. Every seat was filled.

On Monday night following the production in Shryock Auditorium, the entire cast including soloists presented "The Messiah," a second time at West Frankfort, under the direction of Dr. Frank E. Trobaugh, director of the Egyptian Choir Club of West Frankfort. This choir joined in the chorus for both performances, as did other singers and orchestra musicians from many communities of Southern Illinois.

Three University chemistry professors, Drs. J. W. Necker, T. W. Abbott and Kenneth Van Lente, have been asked by their publishers to revise their book, Experimental General Chemistry, published in 1940. The book has been used by more than 100 colleges and universities and have been reproduced by the U. S. Military Academy at West Point to supplement its course in general chemistry.

Later the Board's chairman announced the Board would reconvene in Carbondale February 7 to pursue its inquiry.
Seven Programs Aired Each Week

Southern started a new radio program, "The University Hour," on January 6, over Radio Station WCIL (1200 k.c.) in Carbondale.

This program really consists of five series—one broadcast each day Monday through Friday, from 2:15 to 2:30 o'clock. The schedule includes:

Monday, "Music Is Yours," presenting programs of good music from the students and faculty of the music department.

Tuesday, "Student Newsreat," prepared and presented by students of the journalism department.

Wednesday, "Campus Chatter," featuring a different student organization or activity each week.

Thursday, "The Little Theater," presenting 15-minute radio plays.

Friday, "Southern Comes Calling," introducing University faculty members in informal, informative talks.

A shift in time for one of Southern's other radio programs, "The Southern Hour" over Station WJPF, places this program on the air at 7 p.m., a period which is expected to broaden its listening audience.

"Education Time," a program directed at Southern Illinois public school classrooms, continues over Stations WJPF (1340) and WEQB (1240) each Friday at 2:30 p.m.

Radio activities are under the sponsorship of the University Information Service, but draw on the talent and services of many University faculty members and students: the music department, the speech department, the personnel.

Veterans Move Into New Housing Project

First emergency housing project, to be occupied at any of the state's residential colleges and normal universities, Southern's new veterans apartments were opened January 15 when the first 20 student veterans moved into their family units.

Subsequently 21 other families took possession of their apartments, making a total of 41.

The first 20 apartments were completed and turned over to the University by the contractors and Federal Public Housing Authority on December 30, and 21 others a few days later.

Lack of beds delayed occupancy, and arrangements were made to borrow from Anthony Hall some of the "double-deckers" left over from the dormitory's Army barracks days.

Beds have now been delivered, however, and veterans can move in as rapidly as more apartments are completed by the contractors.

Selection of the applicants to occupy the new apartments was made by the University housing committee on the basis of "points," these points being given on the list in order of their rated needs, length of service, number of children, etc.

Successful applicants were placed on the list in order of their rated needs, and veterans were moved up to take their places.

The apartments are furnished to house a family, including ice boxes, gas ranges, heating unit, beds, chests of drawers, dinette sets, occasional chairs, etc. Some bedrooms are designed with two beds, living room-dining room combined, kitchen alcove, and modern bathroom. Ample closet space is provided.

The election took place at the association's annual meeting in Boston.

"This action was taken on recommendation of the Board of Directors, which makes careful investigation of all applications," Guy E. Snavely, the association's secretary, wrote to President Chester F. Lay.

First spring Southern was accorded university status by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, regional organization of the national accrediting agency, the American Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Conrad White, assistant professor in the agriculture department at Southern, has been elected to membership in the American Society of Animal Production.

The Dean of Men's Office at Southern has been designated by the American Association of Medical Colleges as one of the centers in the United States at which the official professional aptitude tests may be given for pre-admission to medical colleges.

Twenty-two Southern students were given these tests by Dr. Marshall S. Hiskey, acting dean of men, and Mrs. Alice Rector, testing assistant, at the first testing session.

FIRST OCCUPANTS

Elmer Gilley of Harrisburg, a student veteran, and his wife were among the first 20 student veteran families to move into the new housing project at Southern.
Letters Awarded

Lettermen awarded in football were as follows, according to Athletic Director Glenn "Abe" Martin: Joe Franzia of Murphysboro, Galen Davis of Du Quoin, Jim Sexton of Gillespie, Jim Lovin of Benton, Bill Thompson of Mt. Vernon, Vernon Schuster of Murphysboro, Jay Fierro of Murphysboro, Bob Ethridge of Fairfield, Charles Heim of Gillespie, Charles Crouch of Carbondale, Bill Cosgrove of Benton, Orn Osborn of Jackson City, Mich., Charles Mathiew of Eldorado, Sam Milosevich of Zeigler, Leedio Cabutti of Johnston City, Bob Colbert of Flora, John Catlin of Harrisburg, Bill Malinsky of Flora, Dick Seelman, Bob Johnson of Du Quoin, Don Riggs of Fairfield, Ray Ragdale of Carbondale, George Beltz of Marion, Don Creath of Du Quo, Gene Stotlar of Pinckneyville, John Ruzich of Johnston City, Lawrence Calutfetti of Johnston City, and Jack Stephens of West Frankfort.

Cross-Country

Cross-country letters were awarded to Buddy Miller of Carbondale, Marion Hall of Thompsonville, Bill Dorris of Benton, Bob Lunneman of Pinckneyville, Leonard Burden of Herrin, William Keene, Jr. of Carrier Mills, and Glen Hamilton of Pinckneyville.

The football squad received additional honors when four of its members were placed on Western's all-star opponent team. They were Stotlar, Johnson, Cosgrove, and Mitchell.

Basket Ball

When basket ball season rolled around, the local fans were greeted with a double-barrelled shock. The first announcement came from the athletic department stating that Coach Martin was going to turn over the basket ball coaching responsibilities to Lynn C. Holder, a former serviceman who starred for Southern both on the gridiron and the hardwood in the early 1930's.

Holder, married and the father of two children, coached at Lawrenceville high school before he entered the Navy, where he was a physical education instructor.

The second surprise came when it was announced that Gene Stotlar, last year's all-American guard from Pinckneyville, would not be out for basket ball this season due to his taking a pre-medical course that required too much of his time.

Thus, the Maroons, who won the conference championship last year for the first time and also the National Intercollegiate championship, embarked on their training with not one member of last year's squad remaining.

Don Sheffer, star forward of Zeigler, graduated after last season. Stotlar dropped from the team, and the other three members of last year's first five, Sam Milosevich, Leedio Cabutti of Johnston City, and Quentin Stinson of Eldorado, were not out for practice due to leg injuries received in football.

This then was the problem confronting Holder when he took over the reins, not to mention the fact that the Maroons had lost only one home game during the past two seasons.

However, the problem had its bright side. Returning from the service was Johnny Sebastian of Herrin, William Keene, Jr. of Carrier Mills, and Glen Hamilton of Pinckneyville.

The national intercollegiate tournament is another story, though the Maroons were able to get a line on what they will have to face come March 10; when they entered the Christmas holiday tournament in Kansas City, winning their first game from the Colorado Aggies, but dropping the finale to Rockhurst of Kansas City.

According to Martin, who coached the champions last year, it takes a good team plus a lot of luck to win the national championship. This year, Holder has the makings of a good team, but when March 10 comes around, everyone will be waiting to see how the Maroons luck is running.
