Southern Sets Up Research Program

LAWSON SUCCEEDS FAIR AS EDUCATION DEAN
A new dean has been appointed for the College of Education at Southern Illinois University, to succeed Dr. Eugene R. Fair, who has resigned to go to Germany for educational administrative work with the U. S. Army, University President Chester F. Lay has announced.

Dr. Douglas E. Lawson, who has been a member of the Southern faculty since 1935, but who has been on leave of absence since last summer to serve as principal of the Punahou School in Honolulu, said to be the world's largest private elementary school.

NEW DEAN

New Director For Dormitory; Barber Changes Duties
Miss J. Minette Barber, director of Anthony Hall since 1936, has asked to be relieved of dormitory duties because of the ill health of her mother. She is remaining with the faculty, however, as assistant professor of English and is working with the Dean of Women's office counseling women students.

Present and former residents of the dormitory sent a message of regret at Miss Barber's departure to the president, and expressed their appreciation for her help and guidance.

Miss Maxine Vogeley, holder of two bachelor's degrees from the University of Cincinnati and a master's degree in personnel work from Columbia University, succeeds Miss Barber as dormitory director. Miss Vogeley, though young, has had broad experience. She has taught in the public schools of Ohio, was secretary in a student dean's office at Cornell, served as foreign service clerk for the State Department in Bucharest, Rumania, worked as translator and cryptographer for the FBI, and has served as assistant in the student counseling program at Cornell.

Temporary Buildings Accepted To Add To Campus Space
Five temporary buildings have been accepted by the University from the Federal Works Agency to be used as additional classroom, library and office space. Three of these structures, located on Chautauqua Street, will be used as classroom buildings, one is an addition to Wheeler Library, and the other is an office building on Harwood Street.

The library addition has been occupied since the first of December. The office building will be ready for occupancy soon, since both of these structures are to be serviced by heating and utility facilities from the main campus lines. Occupancy of the classroom buildings must be deferred until a boiler room, additional grading, sidewalks, and utility facilities are constructed.

Music Department Elected to National Association
National recognition for the music department at Southern Illinois University has come from the National Association of Schools of Music, University President Chester F. Lay has announced.

The association, which held its annual meeting in Boston during the Christmas holidays, has elected the University music department to associate membership, following a two-day inspection by an association committee.

The music department has been reorganized during the past year and a half by Dr. Maurits Kesnar, professor and department chairman, and Dr. Henry J. Rehn, dean of the College of Vocations and Professions. Dr. Kesnar came to Southern in the fall of 1946 from Augustana College and has had wide experience as a professional musician and conductor.

As an aid to Southern Illinois women's clubs, the University Extension Service is sponsoring a new series of radio programs featuring talks on various aspects of the United Nations by members of the government faculty. Starting January 8, a broadcast is being given each Monday at 1:30 p.m. over Station WCIL, Carbondale.

Winter term enrollment of 2,718 exceeds the 2,589 enrolled for the winter term last year, and is approximately two and one third times the 1,141 students who were in school for the winter term two years ago.

Alumni Help Celebrate New University Status at University

In a three day celebration, October 23-25, Southern Illinois University welcomed home thousands of former students and gave public recognition to its new university status.

Dr. John Dale Roach, director of the Division of Higher Education, U. S. Office of Education, was guest speaker for the occasion, speaking on "Higher Education for Modern Needs" at the opening program of the three-day ceremonies.

His address, given before a packed house in Shryock Auditorium on Thursday evening, was followed by the coronation of Miss Joan Fairbairn of Harvey, as 1947 Homecoming Queen.

Saturday at noon, University President Chester F. Lay was host at luncheon honoring members of the General Assembly, state officials, and others who assisted Southern in obtaining passage of its change-of-name legislation. These dignitaries were also guests at the Southern-Northern football game Saturday afternoon.

A second "University Recognition" ceremony was planned to take place during the half at the game, but was cancelled because of rain. Copies of President Lay's intended remarks, and the reply of State Director of Registration and Education Frank G. Thompson, who officially represented Governor Dwight H. Green, follow:

State Lays Foundation
For Greater University
—Director Thompson

"President Lay, members of the Teachers College Board faculty and students of Southern Illinois University, members of the Illinois General Assembly and friends. It is indeed a pleasure to be given the opportunity to say a few words on this occasion. The Governor of this state has been so gracious in his assistance. He has been so kind in his encouragement. It is my privilege to assist in authorizing the expansion of the activities of this university, keeping always on the basis of this university teacher, President Lay, members of the General Assembly and friends.

As Chairman of the Teachers College Board, it has been my privilege to assist in authorizing the expansion of the activities of this university, keeping always on the basis of this university teacher, President Lay, members of the General Assembly and friends.

WANTED:
10,000 New Members

At the Homecoming meeting of the officers and directors of the Southern Alumni Association plans were made for an extensive campaign to increase membership in the Association. An individual appeal, signed by the officers of the Association will go to each of the approximately 10,000 persons receiving the Southern Alumnus, and it is expected that a large number will be willing to aid the Association through their membership dues of $2.00 annually. It has been several years since a campaign on this scale has been carried out.

In order to aid in the campaign the Alumni Board authorized Dr. Orville Alexander, Director of Alumni Services, to serve for one year as assistant secretary-treasurer of the Association.

The Board also offered support and encouragement to a student group interested in the erection of a student union building.

A committee consisting of Dr. Leo J. Brown, Vice President of the Association, Dr. Orville Alexander, Director of Alumni Services, and Mr. W. G. Clise, emeritus faculty member, was appointed to confer with University administrative heads concerning the status of the building program at Southern and to make recommendations to the Association as to ways by which the Association can further Southern's expansion program.

QUEEN JOAN

Joan Fairbairn of Harvey, who was crowned queen of Southern's 1947 Homecoming. A senior, Miss Fairbairn is president of the Student Council.
Marshall Clark, assistant professor of agriculture and former professional soils consultant, declares that the so-called "worn-out" land in Southern Illinois can be reclaimed and made profitable if the individual owners will follow one of the many excellent programs of soil conservation now under way.

Students in the soils class of the University agriculture department made first-hand observations of the "grassland farming" project of the University of Illinois at Dixon Springs and the results of 30 years' application of erosion control to small fruit farming on Leo Stadelbacher's farm near Cobden.

On the Dixon Springs project, the students were shown reclaimed pasture land that had netted returns as high as $46 per acre from beef and $28 from sheep-grazing. This 5,500-acre project has been under way since 1933 and has restored to pasturage several other farms which have been operated under sound conservation practices, including the Valley Blacklock farm near Verrigenes, and the John Cerney farm near Cobden.

Dr. W. C. Bicknell, professor and chairman of the industrial education department at Southern Illinois Normal University, was elected a member of the Industrial Arts Conference.

The conference is limited to 65 members who must be chairman of the education or industrial art departments of one of the colleges or universities in 20 states in the Mississippi Valley.

The University was host to a Kindergarten-Primary Conference on Nov. 21-22, with the campus branch of the Association for Childhood Education in charge of arrangements.

Miss Neith Headley, Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota, was guest lecturer and consultant on the problems of kindergarten organization. Miss Louise Gross from Southeast Missouri State College, Missouri State president of the Association for Childhood Education, spoke on "Organizing A. C. E. Branches."

Mrs. Jessie M. Fair, formerly assistant in the Child Welfare Research Station, State University of Iowa, and Miss Tina Goodwin, assistant professor and first grade supervisor at the Allyn Training School analyzed personality problems of the child.

Illinois is literally the "heart" of the country, a calculation of the national center of population made by a class in economic statistics at the University, taught by Dr. Lewis A. Maverick, professor and department chairman, shows. The 1946 population center of the country, based on Bureau of Census figures, lies in the southern part of Jasper county, a little east of the small towns of Liberty and Boos. This is a slight shift from the 1940 center which was located between Vincennes and Terre Haute, Ind., but represents a great jump from the 1790 center at Ballimore, Ind., and the 1850 center at Bistrom, Ill.

The University is cooperating in a statewide study of curriculum revision of the Illinois secondary school program. A steering committee of Raymond H. Dey, director of the Extension and Placement Services; Dr. Claude J. Dykhouse, associate professor of education; Dr. E. R. Fair, dean of the College of Education (now resigned); Dilla Hall, acting principal of University High School; and Fount G. Warren, chairman of the department of education, made preliminary investigations and recommended the University's participation. This committee will di-both Europe and the United States.

A new professional degree of Bachelor of Music has been esblished in the College of Vocations and Professions, and the teacher-education degree, Bachelor of Science in Education with a major in music, in the College of Education, has been strengthened.

During the recent inspection,

every student majoring in music

performed for the NASM committee, and the courses of study for the two degrees were carefully studied.

Southern is the only state school in Illinois besides the University of Southern Illinois, which has been admitted to membership in the association, although a number of private and professional institutions or conservatories are members.

"This is another step in Southern's march toward the development of an outstanding university for Southern Illinois," Dr. Lay said, "and we are gratified that our music curriculum has reached such high standards of this rating agency in the field of professional music education.

Both Drs. Kosnar and Dean

Reedy have my warmest congratulations for successfully achieving such a record in so short a time.

"Music is a luxury that is available to everybody, and I will coninue to support to the fullest all means of providing good music for our students and in our area."

The newly organized Carbondale Civic Choruses, representing the University with a cash donation of approximately $300 as a contribution to help support Homecoming, were carried out by a 100-member chorus, a number equal to Carbondale civic groups including Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lions Club, Businessmen's Association, Rotary, Elks, Junior Chamber of Commerce and Junior Women's Chamber of Commerce. A half dozen Southern Illinois high school bands participated in the parade, in addition to the University band.

Choral selections were furnished by a 200-voice chorus, composed of church choir singers from all over Southern Illinois together with the University Mixed Chorus, directed by Floyd W. Wakeland, associate professor of music.

Several additions to the faculty at Southern Illinois this past year have been shared with the alumni by working with public high schools selected as experimental centers. The six-state supported colleges and universities, the State Department of Public Instruction, the Illinois Secondary School Principals Association, and other institutions, agencies and individuals are expected to participate in the study.

"The Messiah," under the direction of Dr. Max McCorkissick, chairman of the music department, was presented Dec. 14 for the second consecutive year at Southern by the Southern Illinois Oratorio Society, Miss Kate Moe, assistant professor of music, made her first public appearance as a singer since she joined the United States Chamber Orchestra and the leading contralto role. Other soloists in the Handel oratorio were Thomas W. Williams, Dr. of the voice faculty, tenor; James W. McEnery, soloist at the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel, University of Chicago, bass-baritone; and Miss Camille Anderson, noted concert and opera and oratorio artist, soprano. Miss Anderson sang the soprano lead in last year's production of "Water Music.
