Trustees Approve Contract For Two Buildings

The University Board of Trustees approved the contracts for the construction of a service shops building and architect's contracts for the plans for a new life science building at their regular meeting Dec. 19.

Holabird, Root and Burgee of Chicago were authorized to draw plans and specifications for the new life science building, $51,561.

This firm was also designated to prepare plans and specifications for two additional units to the training school now under construction—a cafeteria and a covered passage.

Architectural contracts for tunnels to the new library and to the new life science building were awarded to Conner, Townsend and Associates of Chicago.

Extension and Placements Separated

Board action authorized the separation of the extension and placements service to provide for continued expansion of both divisions.

Raymond H. Dey, who has been serving as director of both divisions, will now direct the Division of Extension and Adult Education.

Appointment of Roye Bryant, field representative, as director of the Placements Service was approved.

Further expansion is expected now that each of these services has a full-time director. Both the Placements and the Extension divisions have concentrated on the field of education in the past, but now they must broaden their programs to include the liberal arts and vocational fields.

Appointments Granted

Further Board action included the appointment of Dr. Carl Nelson Reilly as associate professor of physiology and director of the University Health Service.

Any of you who did not get your souvenir copy of Southern's Diamond Jubilee brochure during Homecoming may get one by dropping a card or letter to Professor E. G. Lentz, chairman of the Diamond Jubilee Committee.

Appointment of Dr. Harold M. Kaplan as acting chairman of the department of physiology, Dr. J. Cary Davis as acting chairman of the foreign language department, and Miss Frances Phillips as acting chairman of the health education department.

Acceptance of resignations of Dr. Howard E. Bosley, as associate professor of education, and Mrs. Gladys R. Clark, as instructor in mathematics. Dr. Bosley has accepted a position in the Salisbury State Teachers College, Maryland, while Mrs. Clark has accepted a position in the public schools of Normandy, Mo.

SETS GOAL TO IMPROVE EDUCATION STANDARDS

An Educational Council of 100, composed of educators and laymen representing each of the 31 Southern Illinois counties, held its organization meeting here on the campus Dec. 2.

Purpose of the Council, organization of which has been planned by University educators and public school administrators, is to provide ways by which the efforts of the University, the common schools, and lay leaders may be more closely unified in improving educational standards in Southern Illinois.

Murphy Man Elected President

Dr. William Mohlenbrock, Murphysboro eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, who was elected president of the Council, said that within a year the Council hoped "to do a lot" to advance the total educational program of the various units of the educational system in this area.

Dr. Mohlenbrock and the other officers were elected by a unanimous vote. Mrs. E. H. Schaller of Waterloo and Melvin C. Lockard of Cobden were chosen as vice-presidents. Goebel Patton, West Frankfort superintendent of schools, was elected secretary.

A six-member executive committee composed of Dr. D. W. Morris, president of Southern, Lyman Bunting of Eiery, J. F. Karber of Eiery, Ray Hay of Granite City, Morris Kugler of Okawville, and Ben Burbeld of Carmi was selected.

In his address, Dr. Morris outlined education as a cycle or circle starting with the nursery school or kindergarten, moving on through the grade schools, the high schools and the University. Dr. Morris explained that one purpose of the Council of 100 should be to enlarge the scope and embrace the effectiveness of the whole circle.

Dr. Morris suggested that the Council attack the educational problems with a cooperative analysis of those problems; develop short-term technical terminal courses at the University to supplement the vocational work afforded by the high schools; and develop a cooperative means to fill in the gaps in schools of the area which cannot afford to carry on programs of sufficient scope for their pupils.

In connection with the last point, he cited that in some areas high school bands are limited to a dozen students because the pupils are financially unable to buy instruments.

"It seems to me if some group such as this Council could form an 'instrument pool' to lend instruments to pupils who need and want them but who cannot afford to buy them, it would be a wonderful thing."

Another suggestion made for Council activity was proposed by Harold T. Wolfe of Belleville, who suggested the establishment of an independent research foundation to develop new and improved uses of the soil of Southern Illinois. He said he believed 100 interested citizens could be found who would contribute $100 a year for such a purpose.

SPECIAL SESSION CALLED DURING HOMECOMING

A special meeting of the University Alumni Association Board was called Saturday, Oct. 22, to elect three new members to the Board.

The meeting was called by vice-president Clyde Brooks, M. D., who presided in the absence of W. W. Vandevene, who was unable to be here because of Illness.

John Leonad East, Robert Browne, and Troy Hawkins were appointed to replace Dr. Leo Brown, O. W. Lyerla, and Guy Glason, all of whom have resigned from the Alumni Board to assume their duties on the University Board of Trustees.

Robert Browne

Dr. Browne, who is now dean of Extension, dean of summer Session and professor of education at the University of Illinois, is the son of Professor George M. Browne, former head of the chemistry department here at Southern.

Born in Oshkosh, Wisconsin, he moved to Carbondale at the age of nine and entered the Training School. In 1913 he was graduated from the two-year college course and received the Bachelor of Education degree in 1918 after a brief interim of teaching in a private school in North Carolina. He holds the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees from the University of Illinois.

After serving as superintendent of schools in Pittsfield and Casey, he joined the faculty at the U. of I. where he has been since 1929.

Mrs. Browne is the former Frances Fowler of Marion, a member of the '17 class at Southern. She is also a graduate of the U. of I.

The Brownes have two sons, both of whom are graduates of the U. of I. Robert, Jr., is now a mechanical engineer with the Electromotive Division of General Motors; and Mervin is a graduate student in chemistry at the University of Iowa.

Dr. Browne is a member of numerous professional and educational organizations, and author of several articles and book reviews. He has also written some workbooks on the economic history of the United States.

He is listed in Who's Who in America and Leaders in Education.

He is state director of the Illinois Association for the Crippled; president of the Urbana Free Library Board; and a director of the Illinois Library Association. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the University Foundation, as well as a new member of the Alumni Board.

John L. East

John Leonard East, known to old friends and classmates as "Bunnie," is chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Cook County, the world's largest county.

A native of Lenzburg, Mr. East attended the public schools of Cotelverville and entered Southern in 1906. He left school in 1910 before completing the work for the bachelor's degree.

His wife, the former Josephine Youngblood of Carbondale, is now deceased. They have five children, all living in Chicago except Mrs. Thomas Reynolds who lives in Hinckdale.

Mr. East has been living in Chicago since 1917 and for the past 22 years has been Republican Committee of the Hyde Park- Woodlawn District there. He is also chairman of the executive committee of the Republican County Chairman's Association of Illinois.

Troy Hawkins

Troy Hawkins, vice president of Hawkins' Million Dollar Hen, Inc., is the third member of the Board.

A member of the class of '18, he is a native of Mt. Vernon.

During the First World War, Mr. Brown was injured in France, but later returned to his work. He is a member of the Board.
The untimely death of Dr. John Alford Stevenson on August 31, 1949, brought to a close the career of a man who stands high in the "eyes of the world" as an educator, a financial administrator and as an untiring public servant.

A memorial brochure containing a large number of personal testimonial tributes has been published by the Penn Mutual Insurance Company, so that those friends outside the Company might have an opportunity to read them.

Of the many tributes to Dr. Stevenson, late president of Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company and revered alumnus of the class of 1903, we have made a small representative selection from the ones sent to Mrs. Stevenson and to the Company, which they have so kindly granted us permission to reprint.

TRIBUTES

Although it was in the insurance business that John A. Stevenson received nationwide recognition, Philadelphia will remember him best for his tireless efforts on behalf of civic and educational institutions. No city can have too many citizens of his type, and in his death Philadelphia suffers a distinct loss.

When he said several years ago that what we needed today were "leaders who can think as men of action and act as men of thought," he was drawing as accurate a picture of himself as any that could be drawn. And he was at the same time, laying out a blueprint of success for anyone who would care to follow it.

—Olney (Illinois) Mail.

The life story of this great educator, author and business leader should be made available to young America so that none of the gains from so rich a service is lost.

—The School Executive.

JOHN A. STEVENSON

He listened to what I had to say. He spoke to all and passed the time of day.

Trying to include everyone
For fear he would seem to shun
The unimportant—now the voice is still;
'Twas strong, resonant — never again will
I hear the thought of clear precision
Marching to the masterful decision.

But still there's much for us to do,
Our mission to fulfill, our faith renew
So maybe that was not the end
For you, inspiring leader—friend!

—E. Paul Huttinger.

Condolences

I learn with great regret of the passing of my friend John Stevenson. He was a devoted American citizen. Words are wholly futile but you will know that all your many friends grieve with you over this irreparable loss.

—Herbert Hoover

May I, on behalf of the United Nations, to the service of which your husband was a faithful contributor, convey our deepest sympathy in your great loss.

—Trygve Lie, Secretary General, United Nations

He was a wonderful man, and one of the most public-spirited men that has been within the reach of my acquaintance. His going was a tremendous loss to the Commonwealth, and a great personal loss to me.

—James H. Duff, Governor of Pennsylvania

All of us who were associated with your husband in his work for the Hoover Commission were extremely fond of him and had great respect for his ability and his devotion to the public interest.

—Robert L. L. McCormick, Washington, D. C.

Distressed to read the news of your distinguished husband's death. As President of Peabody College I shall miss him as an able Trustee but even more as a personal friend of rare attractiveness and unselfishness.

—Henry Hill, President, George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn.

It was a real shock to me yesterday to read of John's death. Over the years I have worked closely with him on his books and it was always a pleasure to be associated with him. He was a grand person and my real regret has been in not seeing much of him recently.

—Frank S. MacGregor, President, Harper Brothers

John Stevenson was an outstanding statesman in his insurance work and his many public activities. His intelligent, humanitarian interests pointed the way for others to follow. We will miss him keenly in this community and in education as well as in his own insurance field. I mourn a true friend.

—Harold E. Stassen, President, University of Pennsylvania

We all knew that there was something different about "Stevie" (John A. Stevenson) as he was popularly called by his classmates, but we didn't know what it was. Years later we found out. He was a pioneer. We should have "tumbled" to that fact when he demonstrated wireless telegraphy on a piece of home-made apparatus at our graduation exercises. Then he went on to blaze new trails in the fields of education and business administration that made him a national benefactor.

Alumni Director Named To Little Hoover Commission

At the request of the “Little Hoover Commission,” Dr. Orville Alexander will conduct one of the major investigations in the Commission’s survey of state government in Illinois.

Dr. Alexander, professor of government and director of Alumni Services, will continue to teach one course during the current term, and will continue to supervise alumni work here at Southern.

As one of six project directors for the survey, Dr. Alexander will spend the first month familiarizing himself with laws and other background materials concerning operation of state field offices. After that, he will visit as many as possible of the several hundred offices to study their operational procedures.

Dr. Alexander, who has been on the Southern faculty since 1938, has come to be recognized as an outstanding authority on state government. From August 1944 to March 1946, he was on leave of absence from the University to serve first as assistant director, then as acting director of research for the Illinois Legislative Council.

“We at the University are proud to know that one of our faculty members is pre-eminent enough in his field to merit such an assignment, and we are confident that his investigations and recommendations will be thorough and sound,” University President D. W. Morris declared.

The Commission to Study State Government was established by the 66th General Assembly at the request of Governor Adlai Stevenson. By law, the commission was created “to make a survey of the entire structure of state government and of the organizations, functions and interrelationships of all units thereof, including advisory and non-executive bodies.”

Dr. Alexander, a native of Marion, is a graduate of Southern, and holds the master’s and doctor’s degrees in political science from the State University of Iowa. He was the highest ranking student in both his undergraduate and graduate classes.

Southern Successful on Eastern Tour

Maroons Hold 8-2 Record In Non-League Play

Contrary to the old adage of "go west, young man," Coach Lynn Holder took his basketeers east during the Christmas vacation in search of fame and fortune on the hardwood.

The contingent departed by rail on December 17 for the long trek to Oneonta, New York, to open the eastern jaunt against a formidable Hartwick College quintet. The Maroons ran roughshod over Hartwick by the score of 60 to 47.

Following the initial contest at Oneonta, the Southerners moved on to Albany for a clash with the famed Siena College five, currently ranked as one of the top teams in the country. Siena entered the contest unbeaten in seven games with an average of 63 points per game compared with the opposition's mere 33. A year ago Siena ranked second to Oklahoma A. & M. as a defensive unit. The Maroons met defeat for the first time on the tour against Siena, 46 to 49.

Next on the agenda was Cortland College, located in Cortland, New York. Really hitting their stride in this tilt, the Holdermen moved to an impressive 88 to 54 win over the Cortiandites.

Before returning to Carbondale, the Maroons stopped off in Detroit to tangle with the Wayne University Tartars and emerged victorious in the final game of the tour with a rousing 42 to 35 victory over Wayne.

The Southern cagers ended the holiday season with an exhibition bout in Flora with Millikin University, which resulted in a 69 to 65 victory for Southern in a double over-time playoff.

Pre-Holiday Season

Four victories in five starts was the record of the Southern basketers before their journey to the East.

Beginning his fourth season as Maroon mentor, Lynn Holder took his cagers to Kirksville, Mo., for their initial tilt and won handily 69 to 43, with Tom Millikin, Pinckneyville, pouring in 22 points to pace the scoring parade.

Southeastern Louisiana furnished the opposition for the Holdermen in their home debut and the Maroons were rude hosts as they turned back the touring Lions 63 to 54, as Jack Long, Flora, flipped.

Maroons End Blaze of Glory

Southern closed its gridiron campaign in a blaze of glory following seven consecutive defeats. The Maroons rang up impressive wins in their final two contests.

The finale, a 41 to 14 win over Indiana State, was a Shriner's charity game played for benefit of the Shriners' hospital for Crippled Children in St. Louis. A parade that included 17 school bands from Southern Illinois and the Shriners from Almad Temple in full regalia preceded the encounter which was viewed by more than 5,000 fans.

Grippers Honored

At the conclusion of the season, the Maroons elected Captain Jim Lovin as the team's most valuable player for the second consecutive year and Coach Martin issued letters to 24 grippers.

Five Southern gridders were honored on the 1949 edition of the I. I. A. C. All-Star football team selected annually by the coaches and sports writers of the respective league members.

MARTIN NAMED PRESIDENT OF I.I.A.C.

Glenn "Abe" Martin, Southern athletic director, was named president of the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference at the League's annual meeting held recently in Chicago.

The big topic of the meeting was the possible expansion of the I. I. A. C. to include either eight or ten schools.

Possible newcomers considered are Indiana State of Terre Haute; Ball State, Muncie, Ind.; Michigan Normal, Ypsilanti; and Quincy College, Quincy.

Captain Jim Lovin, Benton, was named to a tackle post on the first team and Bob Colborn, pass catcher deluxe from Flora, was also honored as an end on the first eleven.

Don Riggs, junior full-back of Fairfield; Don Cross, junior guard from Christopher; and Warren Littleford, junior tackle from Vandalia, all received honorable mention.

For Lovin, it was the fourth straight season that he has been a member of the mythical eleven, and it marked the third appearance of Colborn's name on the roster.

Southern Celebrates A Birthday

The welcome mat was spread for alumni and friends, October 20-22, for a three-day celebration of Southern's 75th birthday. Highlighted with reunions, banquets, house decorations, floats, a bonfire, a football game, a play and a dance, the Diamond Jubilee Homecoming was the biggest success in Southern's Homecoming history.

University President D. W. Morris cut the cake at the reunion banquet ushering in the anniversary commemoration on Thursday, Oct. 20.

Some 300 alumni attended the send-off banquet and went en mass to the reunion program and the coronation of the Diamond Jubilee queen which followed.

The Zetetic, Socratic, and Kappa Phi Kappa societies met on Friday and revived memories of student days.

House decoration honors went to Chi Delta Chi, and the Industrial Education Club walked off with the float award.

The Maroons lost 26-13 to Eastern, and the Freddie Martin concert and dance were a sell-out.

With the climax of the '49 Homecoming, a festive chapter in Southern's history is closed.
