LECTURE NOTES

BY

JOHN DEWEY

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

FIELD COURSESANTHROPOLOGY

An anthropological field session in Durango, Mexico, will be offered during the summer session, June 16 to August 8. Students may register for as few as four quarter hours and not more than twelve quarter hours' credit in Sociology (Anthropology) 341, 342, and 422. Enrollment is limited to fifteen.

Students will participate in archaeological and ethnographical field research. They will live in camp, near Durango City, and will take an active part in the location and excavation of archaeological sites along the eastern flanks of the Sierra Madre Occidental. Some students will devote their time to study of the culture of the Tarahumara and Tepehuan Indians and contemporary Ladino culture. In addition to course work, involving both lectures and field work, there will be week-end field trips to large ruins in Zacatecas and to Mazatlan on the Pacific coast.

Student expenses, in addition to tuition, are estimated at $200 or less for the entire session, including transportation.

Interested students should consult --

Dr. J. Charles Kelley

GEOGRAPHY

Geography 452, Field Course-Eastern United States and Tennessee Valley Area, will be offered by the Department of Geography at the close of the regular summer session. Students taking the tour must be in Carbondale by August 8. The tour will leave the campus August 9 and will return August 30. The course will carry five quarter hours of residence credit, and will be open to juniors, seniors, and graduate students who have had at least the introductory course in geography. Within six weeks after the tour is ended, each student working for credit must submit an acceptable report. The tour will include meetings of the International Geographical Congress in Washington, D. C.

The fee for the course has been set at $160 and will include registration fee, bus transportation, lodging, insurance, study materials, and tuition. Meals, laundry service, side trips, and other expenses are not included. A deposit of $50.00 is required for admission to the class and may be made any time after March 1. The balance of $110.00 is due not later than July 10.

Anyone interested in the tour should write--

Dr. Floyd F. Cunningham, Chairman
Department of Geography and Geology

SPANISH

The Department of Foreign Languages is offering a field course, Spanish 360, Study-Tour of Mexico. The course will begin with summer registration, June 16. The students will leave the campus June 28 and will return August 3. The course will end August 8. It will carry eight quarter hours of credit and will be open to Spanish majors and minors, or others who have advanced standing in Spanish.

The first two weeks will be spent on the campus, and will consist of lectures on the history and customs, the art and culture of the country, as well as of drill upon useful phrases. The group will travel by cars to Mexico City, which will serve as headquarters for four weeks.

The fee for the tour has been tentatively set at $170 and will include transportation, lodging, guide service, and such minor border fees as tourists cards. Meals are not included.

Anyone interested in taking this tour should write directly for reservation or information to the director of the tour--

Dr. J. Cary Davis
Department of Foreign Languages

CAMPING WORKSHOP

The Departments of Physical Education for Men and for Women will offer workshops in camping education, during the regular summer session, beginning June 16. Students may receive up to eight quarter hours of credit. The camp will be held at the Little Grassy Lake Recreational Area. The course will include supervision of students from the participating high schools.

For information, write the Department of Physical Education for Men or the Department of Physical Education for Women.

SHORT COURSES

The Department of Home Economics is again offering a summer series of skill courses. Each will include eight hours of class work per day.

Home Economics 128-Clothing Construction. June 16 to 21. Credit 0 to 1½ hours. A course offering opportunity to discuss, observe demonstrations of, and practice the new short cut methods of clothing construction. Each student to provide her own materials.

Home Economics 142-Home Nursing. June 23 to 28. Credit 0 to 1½ hours. The standard Red Cross Home Nursing Course. A Red Cross Certificate will be given.

Home Economics 252-Pattern and Clothing Alteration. July 7 to 12. Credit 0 to 1½ hours. To improve techniques in pattern and clothing alteration through discussion, demonstration, and laboratory work on these.

Enrollment is limited. The fee for each course is $3.75. It will be necessary to pre-register for all of these classes in order to secure materials. For information, write to--

Dr. Eileen E. Quigley, Chairman
Department of Home Economics

REGISTRATION PROCEDURE

All undergraduate students not previously assigned to advisers will report first to the Student Affairs Office. Graduate students should report to the Dean of the Graduate School.

ACADEMIC LOAD, COURSE NUMBERS, AND CREDITS

The normal student load for the eight-weeks' session is ten to twelve quarter hours. A student with special needs, by permission of the dean of his college or the Dean of the Graduate School, may take a maximum of fourteen quarter hours.

Each class period is seventy-five minutes in length. The schedule of periods for the summer follows.
