Fun for Everyone at Little Grassy Camp

September, 1963

Southern Alumnus
Before Legends and Lore of Southern Illinois was even off the press, requests for several hundred copies had been received at SIU Area Services from California, Indiana, Missouri, Washington, Florida, Washington, D.C., as well as from all quarters of Illinois.

"This book is my bequest to southern Illinois," stated the historian-author, John Allen '22-2, who is "Mr. Southern Illinois" to legions of readers and friends. For the past 10 years he has been telling the people of southern Illinois about themselves—about their region, its history and its folkways. And today they are richer in the knowledge of their area because of the devotion of this man to his native place.

It was 10 years ago that the first of his sketches, "It Happened in Southern Illinois," appeared to open the series that has become a popular weekly feature in the newspapers of the area. Each number of the series depicted a single item of interest—a town, a building, an enterprise, a personage, an event, a custom. Now a collection of these sketches has been brought together in a book to make permanent a body of significant local history and cultural lore.

Irving Dilliard, former editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch editorial page, writes at length in his foreword about the life of John Allen and his family which helped qualify him as an especially competent historian on this part of the state.

An everlasting curiosity about things and places and people keeps this white-haired, energetic man a young, young person. He was born in 1887 in a log cabin in Hamilton County and has a store of memories the envy of many. He was a Marine in World War I. He was a trainer of horses, a sparring partner for Gene Tunney, a construction worker, a sociology student at the University of London. Despite his many and varied experiences and his wide travels, his love for his southern Illinois never wavered a moment.

John Allen's families were from Virginia by way of Tennessee and Kentucky. Both of his grandfathers served with the North in the Civil War. He inherited his love for ballads and folksongs from his mother.

Mr. Allen's teaching career spanned 27 years, starting right after graduation from the eighth grade at Hard-scrabble. He later became a principal, then a superintendent.

In 1938 he went to work for the SIU Museum under a WPA project. In 1942 he joined the University staff, first with the Museum, then with the Information Service. He retired in 1956 but still has a desk in the Information Service office, where he writes his column and continues his many interests and projects.

In between he takes off to explore and learn—like going down to the West Indies, where he helped tape songs and stories for the Library of Congress, or down the Mississippi aboard a barge, or off with his trailer. He is equally good at writing and talking. He has been president of the Illinois State Historical Society, the Illinois Folklore Society, and the Southern Illinois Arts and Crafts Guild.

This is the 10th year SIU has conducted camp for physically handicapped children—the fifth summer at Little Grassy Lake. Here these children learn self-sufficiency—and have all the fun of outdoor living, too.

Camp director is Farrell Flatt '62, Sesser. The Department of Recreation and Outdoor Recreation conducts the program which includes nine distinct programs to fit the various needs of the groups of campers.

Six weeks of camping are provided those needing speech and hearing therapy, which they receive from University and State of Illinois specialists. Other handicapped children attend during three two-week sessions.

The campers, ranging in age from seven to 17, have cookouts, campouts, horseback riding, nature and conservation studies, hayrides, archery, and camp craft sessions. A big treat is getting in the water at the beach.

They also get practical therapy, such as practicing to get themselves from wheelchair to auto, from auto to wheelchair, from wheelchair to stool, and to feed and dress themselves.

Long-Awaited Moment

Ground Breaking at Edwardsville

Three years of planning by President D. W. Morris, the University staff, and architects—to design a new campus that would house functionally all of the complex activities of a university, but to accomplish it so that the space could be changed as the curriculum changed and could be gracefully expanded from the initial 5,000 students to the projected enrollment of 18,000—three years of planning were culminated May 2 with groundbreaking ceremonies at the Edwardsville Campus.

On hand to help President Morris turn over the first shovelfuls of dirt were University officials, local and state government leaders, representatives of the Fruin-Colnon Company of St. Louis which will build the first two buildings, designer Gyo Obata of the architecture firm of Hellmuth, Obata and Kassabaum, as well as leaders in labor, industry, and business of Madison-St. Clair counties area.

The two buildings to be erected at the campus central academic area are a general classroom building and the library (to be named the Lovejoy Memorial Library in honor of the abolitionist editor of the Alton Observer killed in 1838 by a mob attacking his printing press). Cost of the buildings, scheduled for completion by September, 1964, is $6.7 million.

Caisson drilling began late in June for the two buildings with excavation work on the basements of each continuing in conjunction with the drilling operations.

At the groundbreaking ceremonies President Morris used a silver shovel presented to him by F. C. Ahrens, vice president, building and industrial division, Fruin-Colnon Company. “As the University program continues to advance knowledge and learning, it will serve increasingly to be a real force for good and the betterment of society,” the president stated.

Second person to wield a shovel was Bernice Goedde, East St. Louis, vice president of the Southwestern Illinois Council for Higher Education, which spearheaded the first concerted move to establish a university campus in the two-county area.

Fruin-Colnon also received the contract for the general construction job of the science laboratory building on the Edwardsville Campus. Their bid was $2,573,850, not including an attached faculty office wing on which construction has been postponed.

Buildings Named

Five buildings have received names in official action by the Board of Trustees. Of special interest to writers and announcers was exchange of the mouth-filling designation, Physical Education-Military Training Building, for the new name “SIU Arena,” shortest in the entire building directory. The structure, to be completed next year, will seat in excess of 10,000 persons.

Following recommendations of a faculty committee, the education building to be completed this fall will be called the “Wham Education Building,” in honor of the late George D. Wham, faculty member from 1906 to 1938 and father of John Page Wham ’22-2, Centralia, president of the SIU Board of Trustees.

Auditorium in the education building will be “Davis Auditorium,” named for Gen. Robert W. Davis, who was chairman of the Board of Trustees when Southern achieved university status.

University School, educational research laboratory and training institution for new teachers, has been renamed “Pulliam Hall,” in honor of the late Roscoe Pulliam, president of the University from 1935 to 1944. The training school was occupied in 1951.

The new residence hall complex, located east of the I.C. tracks in the former Dowdell barracks area, will be known as “University Park Residence Halls.” It will feature a 17-story residence tower and three triad four-story units. The Board of Trustees in its July meeting awarded a contract for construction of the halls to the J. L. Simmons Company of Decatur, which submitted a bid for $5,623,215. The project is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1965.

The library building on the Edwardsville Campus will be the “Lovejoy Memorial Library” to honor Elijah P. Lovejoy, Alton abolitionist and martyr to the principles of freedom of the press. Students from the East St. Louis and Alton Residence Centers, the Alton-Wood River Federation of Labor, and the Madison County Board of Supervisors previously had suggested the library be named in honor of Harold W. See, SIU research professor and former vice president in charge of the two centers.

Centennial Observance

Southern’s approaching centennial will be observed during a Centennial Period starting March 9, 1969, and extending through July 2, 1974. Southern Illinois Normal University was chartered in 1869 and classes were begun in 1874.

A committee headed by T. W. Abbott, dean emeritus of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, has been named to plan the five-year program of lectures, art exhibits, research and writing to commemorate the anniversary. Assisting him are Vera L. Peacock, chairman, Department of Foreign Languages; Col. A. R. MacMilan, director, Transportation Institute; Gerald J. T. Runkle, chief academic adviser, East St. Louis Center; Robert Odaniell, executive director, SIU Alumni Association; and Kenneth R. Miller, executive director, SIU Foundation.

New Department Chairmen

The fall quarter will find five new department chairmen in office.

Succeeding William B. Schneider, chairman of the Department of English for 16 years, is Bruce Harkness, who comes from the University of Illinois, where he was assistant chairman. He has a doctoral degree from the University of Chicago and is author of two books on William Conrad. Professor Schneider will be eligible for retirement at the end of the 1963-64 academic year.

Dennis L. Trueblood, coordinator of the College Student Personnel Graduate Studies Program, now is chairman of the Department of Guidance, replacing Eugene D. Fitzpatrick, who will continue to teach. Professor Trueblood was associate professor of guidance from 1957 to 1960 and more recently was in the Department of Higher Education.

Two new department chairmen—or rather, chairwomen—have been named in the School of Home Economics. Rose Padgett, native of Bradford, England, is chairman of the Department of Clothing and Textiles. She joined the faculty a year ago after high school and junior college level teaching in England, exchange teaching in West Virginia, and acquiring graduate degrees from the University of Tennessee and Purdue University.
In charge of the Department of Food and Nutrition is Mrs. Anna Light Smith, former head of home economics at the University of New Hampshire. She is a specialist in institution management and dietetics, having worked in hospitals in Pennsylvania, Indiana and Michigan.

Mrs. Margaret T. Shay, former chairman of the nursing department at Marshall University, Huntington, W. Va., is the new chairman of the Department of Nursing, which will be transferred to the Edwardsville Campus. She replaces Virginia H. Harrison, who remains on the Carbondale Campus as coordinator of pre-clinical nursing.

Nursing to Edwardsville

Effective with the spring quarter in 1964, advanced work in the nursing program will be transferred to the Edwardsville Campus. The department was organized at Carbondale in 1955. St. Louis area general and special hospitals will be used in advanced phases of the program, rather than Chicago institutions.

The change is necessary because the University of Illinois program, in which Southern has participated for various phases, has become too large to accommodate SIU students for their academic year in Chicago.

Preparations for the changeover will start this fall. Southern has two programs in nursing, one for registered nurses who wish to attain a bachelor of science degree and one for students who wish to earn both the degree and professional licensure (RN).

Students may take the general studies courses, required of all SIU students, at either the Carbondale or Edwardsville campus. However, all students will complete their academic work and clinical experience in East St. Louis and St. Louis. They will be assigned to Christian Welfare and St. Mary’s Hospitals in East St. Louis for general medical, surgical, obstetric, and pediatric experience. Public health and psychiatric experience will be gained through work with the East Side Health District and Renard, in the Barnes Hospital group of Washington University Medical Center in St. Louis.

SIU Foundation Gives First Award

First annual recognition award was presented by the SIU Foundation at its meeting in June to Edward V. Miles, Jr. ’19-2, ’29, first treasurer of the Foundation. He held that post from 1942 to 1957. Mr. Miles for 28 years served as SIU business manager and although now retired is called upon from time to time for special tasks by the University.

Foundation officers were reelected for 1963-64—President Charles Mayfield ’39, Bloomington; Vice President Aubrey Holmes ’35, Springfield; Treasurer Robert L. Gallegly ’39, Carbondale; Assistant Treasurer C. Eugene Peebles, Edwardsville; Secretary Lois Hickok Nelson ’44, Carbondale; Assistant Secretary Warren Stokey ’50, Edwardsville; and Executive Director Kenneth R. Miller, Carbondale.

Four new directors were named to three-year terms—Dean T. W. Abbott, Carbondale; Floyd P. Bracy, ex ’16, Herrin; R. G. Crisenberry, Murphysboro; and Mrs. Richard Feeley, Yorkville. G. Wallace Rich ’50, Cobden, was elected to a one-year term to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Martin Van Brown ’23-2, ’25, Carbondale.

Summer Seminar at Oxford

A 10-week program next summer of study at Oxford University and travel in Great Britain and on the Continent is being offered by SIU. The graduate and undergraduate program in the social sciences and English will be given during a one-month residency at one of the Oxford colleges. The itinerary for travel during the remainder of the program is exciting and extensive.

The SIU group will fly from St. Louis to Prestwick, Scotland, during the third week of June, 1964. Twelve days of touring Britain will take members to Edinburgh, Scottish Highlands, Lock Lomond, the poets’ Lake District, ancient York, Cambridge, with four days in London and environs.

For the next four weeks the student-travellers will live... in St. Hilda’s College at Oxford (where they will be joined by students from the Commonwealth and the Continent). Lectures and discussion will cover all aspects of modern British life—government, social problems, economic activity, education, literature and the arts.

After finishing the seminar, the group will go to Holland, thence to Berlin, after which they will travel by motorcoach to Munich, Salzburg, through the Austrian Alps to Italy and the Mediterranean, visiting Venice, Florence, Rome, Assisi, the Italian and French Rivieras, then north to Geneva, Switzerland, and a grand finale in Paris. The group returns to the States from Paris.

Undergraduates will receive nine hours of credit in general studies or in work towards a major in the social sciences or English. Graduate credit also will be given. After undergraduate and graduate students are accepted, alumni will be given an opportunity to sign up for the program—if they qualify as students and register at least six months before the trip. If accepted, the alumni must attend orientation sessions at either the Carbondale or Edwardsville campuses.

Cost of the entire program is around $1,250 exclusive of tuition and spending money. Write immediately for details to—SIU-Oxford Summer Program, 110 Anthony Hall, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. Application forms are due October 15.

Earn and Learn Program

This fall SIU launches a work-study plan in cartography in conjunction with headquarters of the Aeronautical Chart and Information Center in St. Louis. With alternate periods of work at ACIC and study at the Edwardsville Campus, students will work and learn for two quarters at the center, then enroll for professional education for two quarters on campus.

In class the student will study geography leading to a specialization in cartography. Upon completion of the program he will receive a bachelor of arts degree. The center will offer jobs to qualified graduates.

John W. Snaden, of the Social Sciences Division, is coordinator of the SIU-ACIC work-study plan. He points out that the field of cartography is one of the most challenging today. “The problems of landing men on the moon, orbiting astronauts, and guiding missiles to targets thousands of miles away represent routine assignments. In addition, aeronautical charts, navigational maps and aids, highway maps, soils maps and a myriad of others, indicate the opportunities in this expanding field.”

First Dean of International Students

First dean of international students at SIU is a longtime friend of students from other lands on the Southern campus. He is Willis G. Swartz, dean of the Graduate School since its formation in the mid-1940's and member of the faculty since 1930, when he came here to head the Department of Political Science and Economics. He developed an interest in foreign students in his government classes and is largely credited for Southern becoming a midwestern center of attraction for them. He and Mrs. Swartz know alumni all around the world.

Through his long-time association with these students, he has come to know and understand their basic problems—adjustment to a new culture, inadequate proficiency in written and oral English, and, with many, lack of financial resources.

Dean Swartz is assisted by Mrs. Mary Wakeland, foreign student adviser. International students numbered 240 in the spring term.

C. Addison Hickman, who occupies the Vandeveer Chair of Economics in the SIU School of Business, has been named to a one-year term as dean of the Graduate School. He has been chairman of the faculty committee charged with making recommendations on reorganization of the Graduate School. A committee is searching for a permanent dean.
Out of the Past

Southern’s First (Official) Homecoming

In response to a request for information about the first official homecoming at Southern in 1922, Edward J. Zeiler ’23-2, Milwaukee, Wis., “king” of that first homecoming, wrote the following letter—

Yes, I do remember the first homecoming at S.I.N.U. in 1922, but I am certain memory plays some tricks with details.

The Class of ’23 under the leadership of Paul Chance, our basketball star, was an energetic body of students. I believe the literary societies, Socratic and Zetetic, started this, but everyone joined in. Coach McAndrew, his manager Ray Hamilton and his top stars, among them Hamilton, McIlrath, Hale, and Dunn, all encouraged us.

It was no surprise to have the popular beauty, Mary Van Sickle, chosen as queen, but certainly my election as king was a surprise to me. The Sigma Alpha Pi boys gave me solid support. The royal coach was a hired, nondescript horse and buckboard from “across the tracks.” The costumes were strictly hobo.

A large flag carried by senior girls led the parade beginning at the New Hundley Hotel and winding through the downtown section and ending on the football field.

The McAndrew boys won from the arch rival Cape. Slats Valentine led the cheering as only Slats could. It was a big day and a most successful one. The three-day celebration began on Thursday and lasted through Saturday. It included hospitality and reunion programs for Socratic and Zetetic societies and many other campus groups. A variety show held in the Shryock Auditorium was precedent breaking in its daring and informality.

The Class of ’23 consisting of two hundred and ten was the largest class to graduate from the old junior college program up to that date. Nine students graduated with B.E. degrees, the second full four-year class.

Mr. Zeiler, who wrote the letter above, has been with the Whitefish Bay Public Schools at Milwaukee for 31 years, 19 as an elementary principal and 12 as superintendent of schools. He has a bachelor’s and a master’s degree from the University of Chicago. The Zeilers have one son.
Eugene Graves

Named Director of Economic Development

On August 1 Eugene H. Graves '54 became executive director of the Illinois Board of Economic Development, one year to the day that he had been appointed director of Industrial and Community Development in the office of the board. His office is in Springfield.

Mr. Graves is on leave as coordinator for the Community Development Department on the Edwardsville Campus.

A former teacher in Marissa, he later became a labor relations representative with the Ford Motor Company in St. Louis. He joined the SIU staff as a community consultant in 1958 and the following year was named coordinator of the East St. Louis Community Development program.

Mr. Graves served with the Air Force from 1946 to 1949 and was discharged with the rank of staff sergeant. He now holds an officer's commission in the Air Force Reserve.

He is married to the former Norma J. Jackson, ex '53, of East St. Louis. They have three sons and a daughter.

SEPTEMBER, 1963

Tune In October 13

SIU on G.E. College Bowl

Alumni the country over are invited to tune in on NBC-TV October 13 and see SIU students match wits on the nationally televised General Electric College Bowl.

Alumni living in or visiting the New York area are invited to write for tickets to attend the program and cheer for the Salukis. Write right away to Tickets GE College Bowl, NBC, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York.

Buren Robbins, SIU director of Broadcasting Service, made the initial request that Southern be considered for participation in the program. After acceptance, preliminary meetings of faculty and staff members were held and the selection of students began in February. Students were asked to apply, then screening of over 200 candidates started with written and oral examinations.

During May and June 16 teams competed on a series of programs on WSUI-TV, patterned after the GE program. The field of contestants has been narrowed to 24. More testing this fall will decide the final selection of the varsity team.

Winning team receives $1,500 in scholarship money for their university and can compete up to five times on consecutive programs. Runner up receives $500.

The program on October 13—in color—will begin at 5:30 Eastern Daylight Time.

Two Cicada Broods This Year

Scientists at SIU have been studying an event which occurred this year for the first time since George Washington was a lad. And man may be traveling far into outer space before it happens again.

For the first time since 1742, one of the two largest broods of the 13-year cicada appeared last spring at the same time as a large brood of the 17-year cicada. Scientists say the two broods will not emerge simultaneously again until 2184.

A major comparative study of the two, supported by a three-year $47,400 grant from the National Science Foundation, has been underway at the Pine Hills Field Station under the charge of Monte Lloyd, assistant professor of zoology at the University of California, Los Angeles, and Henry S. Dybas, associate curator of the Chicago Natural History Museum's insect division.

Among other things the two men hope to discover is whether the two broods may have cross-mated and, if so, whether such mating will produce fertile off-spring and how long it will take them to mature.

Professor Lloyd described the Pine Hills station as ideally situated to serve as a base for the study. The 13-year brood ranges up the Mississippi Valley into southern Illinois, while the brood of 17-year cicadas is spread over much of southeast Iowa.

The emergence of the cicadas, often called "locusts," presents serious problems to farmers and others. They swarm into fruit trees and menace other plant life.

The cicada study at Southern is expected to answer many questions about the insects themselves and possible controlling factors. The two men plan to return to Pine Hills during the next two summers for on-site study.
Alumni Association News

At the Legislative Council meeting on Alumni Day June 8, extensive revisions of the Alumni Association's constitution and by-laws were presented after careful study by the association's board of directors.

These revisions included using the association's articles of incorporation as the constitution and consolidating the constitution and by-laws into a new set of by-laws; expanding the board from 12 to 16; limiting membership of a member of the board to two successive terms; placing general voting rights in the council; extending term of office of council members from two to five years and conducting class elections at the class reunion each fifth year; discontinuing the endowment committee and delegating responsibilities for the funds to the board; creating a president-elect and retaining two vice-presidents; creating a nominating committee for board vacancies with nominations also being made by the council.

Elected as officers of the board on Alumni Day were President William Bracy '49, Herrin, and Treasurer Bill Hudgens '48, Carbondale. The board held a special meeting June 22 to complete election of a slate of officers for 1963-64 and to name four new members under the revised by-laws.

Elected were President-Elect Walter B. Young, Jr., ex '47, Carmi; Vice President Bert Casper '25-2, '27, Cobden; Vice President David T. Kenney '47, M.S. '48, Carbondale; and Secretary Elizabeth Harris Lewis '32, Carbondale.

Named to serve on the Board of Directors until July, 1964, were Dr. Jack Barrow '49, St. Louis physician and son of Mrs. James W. Barrow (Lucy Patten '98-2) and the late Dr. Barrow '98-2; Maurice Clark '38, M.S. '53, superintendent of schools at Western Springs; E. E. Miller '39, Lake Bluff, supervisory industrial property officer with Federal Civil Service, Chicago; and Roger Spear '48, Carbondale, field assistant, Equitable Life Assurance Society.

J. Robert Odaniell '51 was reappointed executive director. He joined the staff as field representative in 1951, while still a student, became acting director in 1952, and director in 1954.

Mr. Odaniell, elected chairman-elect of District V of the American Alumni Council last winter, is chairman of the district's annual conference in Chicago December 1-4. District V is comprised of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. AAC is an organization of professional alumni officials.

A “more exciting” football team will be representing Southern this fall when Coach Carmen Piccone’s Salukis face the most ambitious schedule in university history.

The Salukis, who are slated to meet Bowling Green, Louisville, Tulsa, Toledo, North Texas State, Fort Campbell, and Northern Michigan in a 10-game card, will “offer more excitement for the fans,” according to Piccone who already has announced plans for a new offense.

Although fairly certain of this, due to a pro-type system he introduced during spring drills, Piccone, nevertheless, is somewhat pessimistic concerning Southern’s chances of improving on last year’s 4-6 record.

“We lost six games to six good clubs last year and feel that we learned something in every one of them,” Piccone said. “As a result of that alone, we should be better this season, but whether or not our record will show it is something else.”

For the second straight year since withdrawing from the Intercollegiate Athletic Association Conference in 1961, Southern’s schedule will be hepped up. Louisville, Tulsa, and Toledo are all rugged newcomers while Bowling Green, North Texas State, Fort Campbell, and Northern Michigan accounted for four Saluki losses last fall.

Available when drills opened September 1 were 25 lettermen, including Jim Minton, Mitchell Krawczyk, Dave Mullane, Charles Warren, Carl Kimbrel and Harry Bobbitt, all of whom were key performers last season.

From tackle-to-tackle the Salukis appear to be well fortified but are admittedly weak at the end positions and have more than one question mark in the backfield. The discovery of a dependable and consistent quarterback would ease Piccone’s chief backfield problem and he feels he has a good group to select from in Dave Harris, Christopher; Jim Hart, Morton Grove; Doug Mougey, Rittman, O., and Norm Meyers, St. Louis.

Warren, a former Centralia prep star, and Kimbrel, of Peoria, are expected to share ball-carrying duties with transfer Rich Weber. Another newcomer, Percy Manning, has all the earmarks of becoming a favorite with Southern fans and Bobbitt already has his own Carbondale roots who remember his successful days at Community High School.

The complete schedule:

- September 21, at Evansville, 8 p.m.; September 28, Bowling Green, 8 p.m.; October 5, at Louisville, 8 p.m.;
- October 12, Lincoln University, 8 p.m.;
- October 19 (Homecoming), Northern Michigan, 1:30 p.m.;
- November 2, at Tulsa, 1:30 p.m.;
- November 9, North Dakota State, 8 p.m.;
- November 16, at Toledo, 8 p.m.;
- November 23, at North Texas State, 2 p.m.

For the second time in the past four years Southern’s varsity letter-winners have selected a gymnast as the most outstanding athlete of the year.

Recipient of the coveted title for the 1962-63 school year is Rusty Mitchell, a kingpin of Coach Bill Meade’s classy gymnastics team, which for the third straight season finished runnerup in the NCAA championship meet and extended its dual meet victories to 18 in a row.

The former West Covina, Calif., prep star accounted for 29 of Southern’s 73 points in the national meet, placing second in tumbling, third in free exercise, fifth in all-around competition, and eighth on both the long horse and parallel bars.

In dual meet competition Mitchell collected 139 points while leading his teammates to successive wins over Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan State, Mankato State, Ball State, and University of Illinois’ Navy Pier. Fred Orlofsky, a former winner of SIU’s most outstanding athlete award, was third in the gymnastic team’s final scoring with 93 points behind Dennis Wolf’s 106.

Only a junior, Mitchell will be the fifth winner of the Henry Hinkley award (which coincides with the outstanding athlete title) to have a shot at becoming the first to win two years in a row.

Norbert Rumpel, a swimmer from Schweinfurt, Germany, and national record-holder during his second year at SIU in 1959, bowed to Orlofsky, who had won the National AAU title as a freshman. Ray Padovan, another swimmer who established a pair of NCAA marks during his sophomore year, claimed the award in 1961, but was replaced by NCAA half-mile champ Jim Dupree last season. Dupree ran into eligibility problems this season and was unable to compete in intercollegiate meets.

Although gaining a rather decisive nod over his nearest opponent in the election which was conducted this summer, Mitchell was pushed early by wrestler Larry Kristoff and track star Brian Turner. They finished second and third, respectively, with a host of others also being named.

Kristoff won the National AAU heavyweight title this spring while Turner established a new SIU two-mile record of 8:51.7 while winning at the Drake Relays and later lowered it to 8:46 placing third at the Cal Relays.
Little Grassy: SIU’s Helping Hand

There are no stairways at SIU’s Little Grassy Camp II—only rampways—for every one of the summer campers is handicapped in some way.

Some have cerebral palsy. Some are blind, some are the victims of polio, some have muscular dystrophy. Others have speech or hearing difficulties or brain injuries.

Located on a 1,900-acre tract of land 10 miles south-southeast of the Carbondale Campus, Little Grassy Camp II can be characterized by its sandstone buildings, its natural setting, and its proximity to Little Grassy Lake.

Nearly all funds to finance the camp come from organizations outside the University. SIU provides the instructional program and camp maintenance.

During the six-week camping season, campers undertake activities similar to those offered at any other summer camp.

Although the camp has no written objective, the objective which seems most apparent to the visitor is that the camp offers handicapped children an opportunity to have an enjoyable summer camp experience—just like other kids.

This it does well.
Playing hide-and-seek.
Swimming.
Flirting with the counselors.
Settling down to camp routine.
Relaxing.
And sawing firewood.
Counselor leads camper back to his room.

Everyone rides the merry-go-round.

Doing It the Hard Way

Seven years of night school is not an easy way to get a college degree, but Ronald L. Henson '63, Alton, did it with an assist from the tuition aid program at Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, of East Alton, where he is employed.

Mr. Henson graduated June 14 with a major in business management.

Determined to complete his education and improve his position with the company, he started night classes at the SIU Alton Center in 1957. His employers and his wife encouraged him to continue work for a degree. Adding incentive were two small youngsters in the family.

"There isn't much fun in going to college the way I did it," Mr. Henson said. "It's all work and no play. But I met some grand people who were in the same situation." He finds that his education, including such courses as marketing, business management, business law, accounting and corporate finance, are more useful to him now than if he had completed his school work before starting his working career.

The Class of 1963

More news about the newest members of the Alumni Family, reporting where they are and what they are doing.

In memory of their mother, Mrs. John L. Pyatt (Eldora A. Wham, 2), who died in Pinckneyville in 1947, a copy of the Quarter Centennial Anniversary Souvenir of the Southern Illinois State Normal University was presented to the SIU Alumni Association recently by her three children—Raymond Pyatt '17-2, Hobart, Ind.; Mrs. Claude E. Vick (Mary Margaret Pyatt '20-2), Springfield; and Maurice J. Pyatt '22-2, Pinckneyville. The book was published by the Alumni Association in 1899.

From Mrs. Frank L. Moss (Sarah Curtis, 2), Paris, class representative on the Alumni Legislative Council, comes this letter, "I read with great pleasure of the good things that have come to SIU and of the great progress in the field of education. I have many fine memories of the students and faculty of Old Main.

"I would greatly enjoy attending the 70th Anniversary of my graduation, but in August, 1960, I joined the wheelchair brigade, otherwise I am in excellent health and with my family close by, friends, television, radio, I find life pleasant and very interesting with all that is happening in the world today.

"July first I will be hostess in my home for a picnic supper for my family and guests to celebrate my 94th birthday. Why be old before your time? This has turned out to be quite a 'chatty' letter. Best wishes for Commencement Week. I'll be there in spirit."

1903

From Marissa Sanford E. Ballard, 2, came to Alumni Day to attend his 60th class reunion. He was accompanied by his grandson, Sandy Triftenbach. A spry young man of 87, he also had attended his 50th and 55th reunions. Mr. Ballard is a retired postal clerk. Before taking up with the U.S. mail business, he had been a high school principal in Marissa, Collinsville, and Litchfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer D. Etherton, LeRoy, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary January 8. Before moving to LeRoy in 1915, they lived in southern Illinois, where Mr. Etherton was a postal clerk on the Illinois Central Railroad Company and later principal of Shawneetown High School. They engaged in general farming and fruit growing at LeRoy. During the past 30 years they have also been interested in rehabilitation of farms. Their 10th project is a tract of land near Gifford in Champaign County. Their present home, completed in 1950, was designed by them and built under their supervision. The lumber was timber cut on the old Etherton farm in southern Illinois, sent to Cairo for milling, and then to LeRoy. They also designed much of their furniture. The Ethertons have six children, 19 grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Clarence E. Atis, 2, Des Moines, la., spent last winter in McAllen, Tex., which he usually does each winter. He left home in a snowstorm and despite his 93 years, drove the 1,401 miles to McAllen. There he belonged to the Tourist Club, played in three card tournaments a week, and enjoyed many other activities. A former school superintendent in White Hall and Pana, in central Illinois, he still does not wear glasses. Mr. Avis is looking forward to the 60th reunion of the class next June.

Judge Fred L. Wham, ex, Centralia, sent his regrets at not being able to attend Alumni Day in June. He had been in Chicago for a month in the spring, sitting in the U.S. District Court, then had to go to Florida because of the illness of his sister.

1906

Mrs. Alfred N. Church (Edith Wilson, 2) lives in Camden, S.C. She has not been back to the campus since her graduation.

Mrs. Colton Wanslee (Maud Appel, 2) left Anna in 1910 to teach in Arizona and has lived there ever since. A former president of the Illinois Society of Arizona, she resides in Phoenix. She has a daughter. A sister, Mrs. Alma Appel O'Hara '14-2, lives in Fresno, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Barth, ex (Lydia A. Stein, ex) live in Cisne. He is president of the Mt. Erie State Bank in nearby Mt. Erie.

The granddaughter of J. Marshall Peer, 2, Palos Park, enters Southern this fall. Mr. Peer, former principal at Eldorado and science teacher at Hyde Park High School in Chicago, retired after 44 years of teaching. He has four daughters, Ruby, Hazel, Helen, and Frieda.

Ray M. Watson, 2, Miami, Fla., did not attend the Golden Reunion of the class on Alumni Day, preferring to retain his memories of his classmates as they were in the spring of 1913—"young, vibrant, eager, ambitious and full of the zest for life. You may say this is unrealistic, and so it is, but dreams are something to hold onto."

Mr. Watson taught school at Pinckneyville that first year after graduation, then in the fall of 1914 entered the University of Illinois, intending to make teaching his vocation. In the spring of 1917 he entered the first Officer's Training School and went off to war to "make the world safe for democracy. Thinking I had accomplished the first Officer's Training School and went to war to "make the world safe for democracy." Mr. Watson, you may say this is unrealistic, and so it is, but dreams are something to hold onto."

From Glendale, Calif., Mrs. Arthur G. Pence (Winifred M. Cruse, 2) wrote, "I wish it were possible to attend the 45th anniversary gathering of the Class of '18. I'm wondering how many will be there. At present my husband, who is retired, and I are living in a cooperative garden court in Glendale. We have a son and daughter, both married, and five grandchildren who are still in school or of preschool age, all living near us so we can enjoy them. I have been serving as an elementary school noon aide during the lunch period and playground time. I enjoy this work very much as I like children. I have been asked to return next year."

William C. (Shorty) Watkins, 2, wrote from Woodlawn, "I am still farming even if I have slowed down some since 1918. I am not planning to attend the reunion but would enjoy seeing those that do attend. I have only been in Carbondale once or twice since I left in June 1918. In a way, I guess I am a hermit as I seldom go to gatherings."

Deepest sympathies are extended to Mrs. J. M. Tchoukaleff (Atanaska Evanoff, ex), Alton, whose husband passed away September 13, 1962.

Southern Sketches

Southern's oldest and largest general student loan fund administered by the University has been renamed in honor of its originator, the late Dean E. G. Lentz, to memorialize the man who was dean of students for many years and received the title, "University Professor." He died March 24 at the age of 81. The loan fund was started in the late 1930's to provide small amounts of cash to tide students over emergencies. Average term of loans is three months; interest is charged only for the time the loan is in effect, at the rate of three per cent. Minimum interest charge is five cents.

Governor Otto Kerner has reappointed Kenneth L. Davis, Harrisburg, and Harold R. Fischer, Granite City, to six-year terms on the Board of Trustees.
