Salukis Play in NCAA

by Tom Simons
Sports Information Director

SIU basketball reached a new level 1976-77 as the Salukis' coach by Paul Lambert gained the NCAA Division I championship tournament for the first time ever.

The Salukis earned the berth in the Midwest Regional after a 21-6 regular season that saw them tie New Mexico State for the Missouri Valley Conference championship, then draw a bye to the Valley finals (because of two regular-season wins over the Aggies) where they defeated West Texas State, 82-69, for the NCAA bid.

SIU opened NCAA play March 12, at the Omaha Civic Auditorium against the University of Arizona where 35 points from senior guard Mike Glenn and a host from the lane with three seconds left by sophomore forward Gary Wilson were enough to ensure an 81-77 victory over the Wildcats. From there, it was on to The Myriad in Oklahoma City and a March 17 date with ACC runnerup Wake Forest. The Saluki-Deacon battle was a wide-open, back-and-forth affair that saw five ties and 17 lead changes in the second half alone. However, the Deacons broke the final tie to take a 71-69 lead with 4:18 left, then, after the Salukis couldn't score, went into the "four corners" offense. Wake Forest upped its lead to 75-69 and went on to win, 86-81, hitting nine of 10 free throws and four layups in the last 4:18.

Despite the disappointing ending, the season was an extremely satisfying one for Lambert, the Salukis and their faithful – a total of nearly 2,000 fans followed them to Wichita, Oklahoma City the last three weeks of the season.

"I told the kids after the game that no matter how bitter it was to lose to Wake Forest that they had absolutely nothing to be ashamed of," Lambert said in the week after the season-ending loss. "I told them that only eight teams in the whole country made it farther than we did, and seven of them were going to end their seasons the same way we did – only one is allowed to grab the golden ring. I've never been prouder of a group of players."

The Salukis entered the 1976-77 season as a slight Valley underdog to defending champion Wichita State, then got off to a rocky conference start and were 3-3 after a 91-88 double-overtime loss at Wichita (then 5-2). However, Southern came back to win five of its last six conference games (nine of its last 10 overall in regular season) to hand Lambert his first 20-win year.

SIU entered the regular-season finale against Drake needing a homecourt win over the Bulldogs to earn the title-tie with New Mexico State. They got it in convincing fashion, 89-61, on regional television.

The next week at Wichita, the Salukis needed the win over West Texas (ineligible for NCAA play because of probation) to give the Valley its most-attractive entry possible.

Outgoing senior Mike Glenn for consensus all-MV pick the second straight year and honorable mention All-American choice by both AP and UPI went out as a true champion.

Alumnus
Changes

The Alumnus has undergone a facelift. Beginning with this issue, the Alumnus has been changed from a magazine to a tabloid newspaper to give a broader coverage of SIU news, features, campus activities and alumni news.

It will continue to be published (bi-monthly) six issues a year.

The news will be more current because a later printing deadline will be possible with the newspaper.

In March and September, the Alumnus will be sent to all SIU alumni. This replaces the four Alumni News which was discontinued in February 1976.

In changing the format, the Alumni Association will be able to save on the rising paper costs and postage and printing costs. In essence, this also will help avoid an increase in membership costs.

If you have any ideas for future stories — or ways to improve the Alumnus, please send them to the editor. All suggestions or criticisms will be appreciated.

If you are not currently a member, join now by using the application blank in this issue.

President Warren W. Brandt meets with some of the SIU alumni in Taiwan. Taiwan was one of the stops on Brandt's trip. He also visited Taipei, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong and Thailand. Brandt was awarded an honorary Doctor of Science degree Jan. 19, at the Hanyang University in Seoul, Korea. In 1971, an SIU volunteer student organization collected more than 4,000 books for Hanyang's library and classrooms. SIU and the Korean school have also engaged in informal exchanges of academic journals and information through individual departments and faculty members. The Brandts were told by many of the alumni that they thought of "Carbondale as their second home."

University Foundation
Gets Nearly One Million

Nearly one million dollars in donations has been given to the Southern Illinois University-Carbondale's Living Endowment Program in the first six months of this fiscal year.

As of Dec. 31, 1976, $830,230 in donations was received by the Foundation, a corporate unit which channels funds to various University departments and programs. Of that amount, $246,578 was in cash and another $583,651 was in gifts of kind such as laboratory equipment, books, art prints or helicopters, J.C. Garavalia, development director, said.

Of the current total, about $116,300 came from 1,517 individuals through the annual giving campaign. About 835 alumni contributed $22,000, Garavalia said.

Of the donations received this year, $101,511 was distributed to specific University departments. And $83,651 worth of gifts in kind were dispersed throughout the University. Student loans, awards and scholarship funds received $98,450; various other programs and activities received $39,406, unrestricted funds totaled $7,210.

Annual Telefunds are currently being conducted in populated Alumni areas to raise additional funds.

Homecoming
Oct. 1, 1977
Three Named to SIU Board

Gov. James Thompson has appointed a former SIU student — and the current national president of PTA to the SIU Board of Trustees. He also reappointed two current members.

The new member, Carol Kimmel ex ’37 of Rock Island, will replace Willis Moore of Carbondale. Harris Rowe of Jacksonville and William Norwood ’39 of Elks Grove were reappointed to six-year terms.

Mrs. Kimmel, a Republican, is a native of Dongola. She attended summer school at SIU-C in 1935, 1936 and 1937, but graduated from Bethel Women’s College in Hopkinsville, Ky., with a degree in music.

Currently, she is the national president of PTA, taking office in 1975. In the past, Mrs. Kimmel has been active in 25 board, committee and commissions dealing with education. She was a consultant to Model Cities Program in Rock Island. She also was on committees that helped draft Illinois’ Master Plan for Higher Education.

At present, she is a member of the National Task Force on Alcoholism Prevention, the National Institute on Alcohol and Alcohol Abuse, the National Science Foundation’s subcommittees in School Problems Commission Study in Educational Governance and the Joint Sponsorship of the Education Commission of the States.

From 1956 until 1963, Mrs. Kimmel was a lobbyist for the Illinois PTA. She was state president in 1966. She promoted Illinois’ higher education bond issue in 1969 and received a University of Illinois commendation for “outstanding service rendered in public education” for her efforts.

Rowe, 53, an insurance company executive, has been a member of the board of trustees since 1971. Rowe, a Republican, has been secretary of the board since 1973. In 1975, he was elected vice-chairman and re-elected in 1976.

Norwood, 41, formerly of Centralia, is the third black to serve on the board of trustees. He is a pilot with United Airlines.

At SIU, Norwood was the first black to quarterback a Saluki football team from 1956 until 1958 under Coach Al Kawai. He was named honorable All-American by a Peoria newspaper in 1958. In 1955, Norwood became the first black to be a pilot with United Airlines and the second black to fly with a major airline.

Board officers elected Feb. 10 include: Rowe as chairman; Ivan A. Elliott, Jr., of Carmi, vice-chairman; and Margaret Blackshear of Madison, secretary. Other trustees are: Wayne Heberer of Belleville, A.D. Van Meter, Jr., of Springfield, and Robert N. Seely of Carbondale and Muhammad Abdel Aziz of Edwardsville, both student members.

Kenney Heads Conservation

David T. Kenney, ’47, MSED ’48, was appointed director of the Illinois Dept. of Conservation Feb. 2 by Gov. James Thompson.

The 54-year-old Kenney, a Carbondale native, has been on the SIU-C faculty since 1951, shortly after he completed his Ph.D. degree from the University of Illinois.

Kenney, a political science professor at SIU-C, had been director of the Public Affairs Research Bureau, been assistant dean of the graduate school from 1951 to 1964 and acting dean of the graduate school from 1964-65.

Although this is Kenney’s first full-time government post, he is no newcomer to the workings of state government. He is the author of a widely used textbook titled, “Basic Illinois Government: A Systematic Explanation.” He was a delegate to the 1970 Illinois Constitutional Convention. He is a member of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission and the Governor’s Commission on Mental Retardation.

Kenney has been active in the SIU-C Alumni Association. He served as president of the Jackson County Club from 1965 to 1966 and was the vice-president of the Alumni Association from 1963 until 1966. He has been a member of the Alumni Legislative Council from 1955 until the present.

He was named “Most Popular Faculty Member” in 1960 by SIU-C students. In 1958, Kenney was the president of the Carbondale Lions Club.

His outdoor interests range from fishing to horseback riding. He is a member of such groups as the Crab Orchard Sportsman’s Association and the American Britanny Club.

Kenney said Illinois’ current budgetary problems preclude any “major projects by the Dept. of Conservation for one to two years.”

“IT’s too early for me to have any plans so far as changes in the department or departmental programs are concerned,” Kenney said.

He said the multiple-use policies instituted on many public-owned lands throughout Illinois under former Gov. Daniel Walker “provide for more equitable land use in terms of meeting everyone’s recreational needs.”

$3,000 Grant in Home Ec

A $3,000 grant is being offered to an SIU graduate who wants to work on a doctoral degree in one of the Home Economics fields at SIU.

The Letitia Walsh Scholarship is awarded annually to an SIU graduate or a person who currently is an SIU Home Economics faculty member and who is qualified to pursue a doctoral degree in Home Economics.

The deadline for application is May 31, 1977. Announcement of the award will be made June 30, 1977. For further information contact Dr. Dorothy M. Keenan, Chairman, Room 131, Home Economics Building, SIU, Carbondale, Illinois 62901 or telephone (618) 453-2354.

Letitia Walsh was a visiting professor in home economics to SIU in 1963.

Association Congratulates SIU Alumni Elected to Illinois Legislature

The Alumni Association extends congratulations to the following graduates and former students who were elected to the Illinois House and Senate posts in the November 1976 elections:

Illinois House of Representatives: 7th District, Robert C. Pechous ’63, a Democrat from Berwyn; 9th District, William F. Mahar ’74, a Republican incumbent from Homewood and Terry A. Steezy ’71, a Democrat from Tinley Park; 55th District, Dwight P. Friedrich ex ’32, a Republican incumbent from Centralia; 58th District, Vincent A. Birchler ’45, M.A. ’52, a Democrat incumbent from Chester; and 59th District, Robert C. "Bob" Winchester ex ’67, a Republican from Rosiclare.

Illinois Senate: 59th District, Gene Johns ’54, a Democrat incumbent from Marion.

The Association invites all other alumni who were elected to a public office to write to the Alumni Services, Faner Hall, SIU, Carbondale.
Tuition Hike Approved

A $96-per-year tuition increase for both undergraduate and graduate students was approved March 10 by the SIU Board of Trustees.

The increase, which would become effective next fall, still has to be okayed by the Illinois Legislature and by Gov. James Thompson. It would raise the annual tuition to $524 for two semesters.

SIU thus became the fourth and last senior system in Illinois to approve tuition hikes in line with recommendations by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE). The IBHE has made additional revenue a keystone of next year's university budgets.

"I think it goes without saying that this vote is one we've been dreading," said Board of Trustees Chairman Harris Row, "but we want to make it clear to the Board of Higher Education that we do not intend to be pushed this way in succeeding years. We strongly resist; it is our reading of the statutes that governing boards have the perogative to set tuitions."

In January, the IBHE recommended that tuition should go up to $95 a year for undergraduates and $120 for graduate students.

SIU President Warren W. Brandt said he is "philosophically opposed" to tuition increases, but that the potential loss of $1.8 million (if the IBHE's recommendations weren't followed) "would have a serious effect on the quality of education we offer the students we serve."

If approved, the tuition increase will be the first at SIU since 1972.

SIU Graduate James Jeffers Named Illinois DVR Director

James S. Jeffers '69 was named director of the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) Jan. 24, by Gov. James R. Thompson. A former assistant to Illinois governor Richard B. Ogilvie, Jeffers is returning to Illinois from Washington, D.C., where he has been executive director of the federal government's Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board.

Jeffers worked in Springfield during 1972-73, as Ogilvie's liaison person with DVR. In 1973, he went to Washington as a special assistant to the administrator of the Social and Rehabilitation Service in the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare. In that position he had primary responsibility of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

Jeffers' public service career began as a research assistant in the Illinois Legislative Council. Then, he was selected a Ford Foundation Fellow and served as a legislative staff intern during the 77th Illinois General Assembly.

When the Illinois State Capitol was renovated to make it accessible for handicapped people, Jeffers participated in the design. He then began a state-wide program of architectural accessibility.

Jeffers earned a bachelor's degree in political science and worked as a graduate research assistant in the Public Affairs Research Bureau until 1971 at SIU-C.

He received the William S. Pollock Award at an outstanding legislative staff intern for 1970-71; was named "Rehabilitant of the Year" by the West Virginia Department of Rehabilitation in 1972 and received a Distinguished Service Award from the Illinois Congress of the Physically Handicapped in 1974.

Jeffers, 30, is a native of West Virginia who has been confined to a wheelchair since he was injured in a car accident when he was 15. He is paralyzed below the waist.

Robert R. Saltzman

Saltzman Appointed

Robert R. Saltzman, 24, recently was named assistant director for the Alumni Services.

Saltzman, of Quincy, Mass., is currently a graduate student at SIU in higher education. He is a Cornell University graduate with a bachelor's degree in government.

Among his chief duties, Saltzman will work to enhance and familiarize the image of the Alumni Association with the students now on campus through cooperative programs of mutual interest to students, alumni and the University.

He will coordinate and further develop the school and college alumni constituent societies and encourage the development of professional programs both on and off campus. Also, he will act as a liaison between the Association and the Student Government Activities Council for such activities as homecoming, new student orientation and graduation receptions.

Since August 1975, Saltzman has been a graduate assistant at the SIU Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance. Also, he has had internships with Student Activities, Office of Admissions and Records, the Student Center, University Housing, Office of Student Life and the Alumni Office.

Group Term Life Considered

A group term life insurance program may be available to SIU Alumni Association members.

In response to alumni interest, the Alumni Board of Directors has established an insurance committee to investigate the possibility of starting a group term life insurance program.

The committee, chaired by Roger Gray '64, president of the Alumni Association, is studying the alternatives available in providing a high quality, low cost plan as another member service.

Alumni Consider

Members of the Alumni Association can now begin considering candidates for the Great Teacher and Alumni Achievement Awards.

Again this year, a living member of the faculty -- either active or retired -- will be honored for outstanding teaching. The Great Teacher ballot will be mailed to you later this spring.

In completing the ballot, please list three Great Teachers choices in order of preference. Keep in mind that the Great Teacher Award is bestowed in tribute to classroom teaching excellence.

Another award, the Alumni Achievement Award has been presented in two categories since 1968. The categories include one for professional achievement and the other for outstanding service to the University or Association.

Achievement Awards nominations should be sent to the Alumni Office. The Achievement Awards and the Great Teacher Award will be presented at Homecoming 1977, October 1.

Rouhandeh Gets Alumni Grant

Haasan Rouhandeh recently was awarded a $5,000 research grant by the SIU Alumni Association to study bovine leukemia.

This is the third research project funded by the Association from monies designated for research donated to Alumni Telefunds and the Living Endowment Fund.

The project will be conducted under the SIU Cooperative Research in Molecular and Cancer Viology. Rouhandeh is the director of the project.

Rouhandeh, through his research, hopes to contribute a better understanding of the molecular biology of the bovine leukemia virus (BLV) which appears to be a prototype of a new family of leukemia viruses.

The SIU study will concentrate on the existence of a viral agent in milk, testing Southern Illinois cattle.

It's Tough Getting a Good Job, but Career Center Sure Helps!

Peggy Cochrane 78 wants a job after she graduates next month from Southern Illinois University. She doesn't want just any job, but one that pays well. And she wants to expect? Miss Cochrane, a native of In business administration, uses the talents of her master's degree to aid her in her job search. She has learned different interviewing strategies. She is getting special help from the Career Planning and Placement Center (CPPC).

Before the learned the specifics of job searching, Miss Cochrane took two classes sponsored by the CPPC. They helped her organize her goals. This experience added some career counseling helped ready her for job searching, she said.

Of course Miss Cochrane is not alone in her search for the right job. More and more students are turning to the center each year as the job market gets tighter. CPPC Director Harvey Ideus said.

On the average, about 3,400 students register each year at the CPPC for help. During the 1975-76 school year, the center contacted about 3,400 students, Ideus said.

He said a contact might just be a phone call or a seminar concerning what is available at the CPPC before they graduate. About 70 percent of the students registering each year find jobs. Ideus said.

Student knowledge is needed every trick or experience to get that job he wants, Ideus said.

Another service the placement counselor provides students and alumni is job bulletin services. The bulletin services are available at request to any graduate, student, or employer, Ideus said.

To create the bulletin, send a self-stamped envelope for every set of job listing in the Placement Center. The bulletin is published weekly.

The third CPC division is the testing unit headed by Harley Bradshaw. The unit administers national tests such as the GRE, CLER, MCAT. The unit also administers proficiency exams developed by academic departments and the administration of individual placement tests referred by academic counselors.

In addition, the testing unit administers tests for professional license.

During 1975-76 about 13,128 students were seen for a total of 5,079 services. About 70 percent of the students registered from 90 to 60 minutes, Ideus said.

The second unit, career placement, is a multi-employment agency, which charges no fee. Each student and alumni job after graduation. This unit also teaches the student how to get out of college gracefully. A student who leaves SIU without a job has not learned to use the campus resources.

In order to help students, the CPPC is divided into four units. The units are: career counseling, placement, testing and cooperative education. Altogether, 23 programs are offered through the four units.

Career counseling helps the student to ask "Who am I? What do I want? How am I going to get it? What am I going to do when I do get it? and where am I going?"

The counseling unit, headed by Diane Timms, assists students in answering questions by assessing their interests, attitudes, achievements and values related to career development.

The placement unit also arranges interviews with prospective employers. During 1975-76, 136 recruiters held 950 interviews with 1,136 students. Ideus said.

Another service the placement center provides students and alumni is to help them learn about employers. The bulletin services are available at request to any graduate, student, or employer, Ideus said.

The employing outlook for this year's graduates looks bright. Harvey Ideus, director of the Career Planning and Placement Center (CPPC), said.

"For the outlook looks very positive but the worse winter and the change in the national administration (the election of a new president), the opponents are preparing for the spring and fall of 1976. "

Because of the bad weather this winter many job recruiters canceled appointments, Ideus said. Those are companies that normally come to campus two or three times a year. This year they only make one or two visits.

This year's Edition Report reported that 25 percent of the companies responding said they would increase their hiring; 20 percent per cent said their needs for bachelor's degree graduates.

Men Gymnasts Earn NCAA Spot

Coach Bill Meade’s gymnasts battled injuries and one of the toughest schedules ever drawn to finish 7-5 in duals, but still qualified as a team to the NCAA championships at Tempe, Ariz., March 31-April 2. The Salukis earned their 16th NCAA berth in the last 18 years with a 418.05 score and a first-place finish in the Swimmers, the Saluki gymnasts were also very young, listing only three seniors on the 17-man roster. Of those seniors, though, pommel horse specialist Tony Hanson finished seventh in the NCAA last year, and averaged a solid 9.28 with a season high of 9.36 to rank as a top contender for the national championship in that event. “I was very pleased with the way this season has gone,” Meade said before the NCAA’s. “We missed some key people, with injuries, but we still managed to qualify for the national meet. If we can hit our routines, I think we can finish as high as fifth this year. Every year, we try to keep everybody healthy, we could go even higher.” Besides Hanson, four other Salukis qualified for the NCAA’s as individuals — meaning they are eligible for individual medals at Tempe. Juniors Kim Wall and Steve Davis both qualified on the horizontal bar, while Kevin Munn qualified on the parallel bars and Dave Schiebel joins Hanson in the pommel horse competition.

Swimmers Break SIU Records

The Saluki swimmers, competing for the last time in Pulliam Pool before moving to the new Co-Recration Building next year, had their best season ever, compiling a 5-3 dual record with the losses coming against three national powerhouses — Southern Methodist, Wisconsin, and Indiana. The Salukis, coached by Bob Steele, broke nearly every SIU record and qualified a record 10 individuals in 15 events and three relay teams for the NCAA championships at Cleveland, Ohio, March 24-26. Of those 15 entries, 12 were underclassmen and 11 were freshmen and sophomores. “We’re probably still a little too young to finish high this year, but with a little luck and a lot of hard work, there’s a definite possibility that we can move up in the next couple of years,” Steele says. The new team members among the qualifiers are Mike Salerno (100- and 200-yard backstroke) and Dave Swenson (1,650 freestyle). The underclassmen are Steve Jack (100 breaststroke), Bryan Gadeken (500 freestyle), and Greg Porter (400 individual medley, 100 and 200 butterfly), Pat Lobby (50 freestyle), Bob Samples (50 freestyle), Dean Ehrenstein (100 and 200 backstroke), Jorge Jaramillo (200 butterfly), and Gary Mastey (three-meter diving). The relay teams qualifying were the 400 freestyle, 400 medley, and 800 freestyle.

Indoor Track Wins Valley

SIU’s indoor track team romped to its second-straight Valley title, easily outpointing runner-up West Texas State, 98-64, at Columbia, Mo., Feb. 27-28. At the conference’s best meets (records were broken in nine of 16 events), Coach Lew Hartzog’s thinlineal won six championships. Winners were: Hunter, pole vault; Scott Dorsey, 600; Earl Bigelow, 440; Mike Bisase, 880; Andy Roberts in the 60-yard intermediate hurdles and the mile relay team of Steve Lively, Bisase, Dorsey, and Bigelow. The Salukis got off to a fast start on the meet’s first night when Hunter won his 17-1 vault, tied his own school record, and led an SIU sweep of the first four places in that event. All four Saluki vaulters — the others were Tim Johnson (16-6) and Clay DeMattei and Mark Conard (both 16-4) — cleared 16 feet. Track and Field News, said SIU was probably the first school to have four vaulters clear 16 feet in the one event. Two weeks later six individuals and the mile relay team participated in the NCAA indoor meet at Detroit, Mich., (the largest SIU contingent ever), and came home with three-place finishes from Hunter (17-1 for the fourth time in the indoor season) and long jumper Rick Rock (25-1/4). During the indoor season, those three school records were set. In addition to Hunter’s in the pole vault, Roberts ran a 6.9-second time in the 60-yard intermediates, and Rock turned in a 25-1/4-foot jump. Jumper Ed Kijewski jumped 6-10 to tie the SIU freshman record. The Salukis had gone outdoors for one season of writing and won a five-team meet at Northeast Louisiana by more than 100 points. Highlighting the Saluki romp was Bob Roggy, who threw the javelin 267-6 to break his Saluki school record by 26 feet and easily clear last year’s Olympic qualifying standard of 260 feet.

Itchy Needs Six Baseball Wins

The Saluki baseball team got off to a good start winning their first four games, and were 6-2 after a 7-5 win over Massachusetts at Miami, Fla., March 22. The Salukis were scheduled to play four more games in Florida before returning to Cardinal for the home opener against Greenville at Abe Martin Field on March 25. After the first eight games, Coach Richard “Itchy” Jones, with a 272-72-3 career record, needed only six more wins to become SIU’s all-time winningest baseball coach. The Saluki’s home field namesake, Abe Martin, compiled a 277-154-2 record from 1947 to 1965. With seven of the top nine hitters back from last year’s 39-14-1 team that finished second only to the national champions, the Salukis are eligible for individual and the mile relay team qualified a team with a .355 Team Mark, the Salukis appear capable of making another strong run at the College World Series. In addition to the returning firepower, a more experienced defense and a nearly intact pitching staff returns. “We lost some key people from last year’s team, we’ve had some question marks in a few places, but if the returning players can continue to improve and show consistency, and some of the new players can perform the way we think they can, I think we can play with anyone in this part of the country,” Jones says. “You start every season hoping to make it to the College World Series, but to do that, you have to make it to a regional tournament first…”

Wrestlers Have Tough Season

The Saluki wrestlers fought even more injuries than the gymnasts this season, but couldn’t overcome them in finishing 4-18 against a very tough dual schedule that included six of the nation’s top 10 teams. Clyde Ruffin, who was being counted on to lead the SIU grapplers in 1976-77, missed a good portion of the year with a back injury. He still came back to win the 150-pound weight class at the NCAA Central qualifying tournament to earn SIU’s only spot in the national championships at Norman, Okla., March 17-19. At the NCAA’s, Ruffin was defeated Kevin Griffin of Massachusetts, 15-4, in the first round, but dropped a second-round decision to fifth-seeded Bruce Kinseth of Iowa, 14-13. When Kinseth lost in the quarterfinals, Ruffin was out of the tournament and finished the year with a 16-5-2 record.

Spring Football Practice Starts

Spring football got underway at McAndrew Stadium Monday, March 28, as a second-year head coach Rey Dempsey and his staff greeted some 75 aspirants, including 21 lettermen from last year’s 7-4 team. Dempsey’s main goals this spring are to try to rebuild offensive and defensive lines that were badly depleted by graduation. The Salukis will work out four times a week for five weeks, culminating at 1:30 p.m. April 30 by the annual Spring Game at McAndrew Stadium.

Sayers Named to Hall of Fame

SIU men’s athletic director Gale Sayers will be the youngest man ever inducted into Pro Football Hall of Fame July 30 at ceremonies in Canton, Oh.

Sayers earned a second honor when the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame in New York, N.Y., selected him to be one of its 1977 inductees at ceremonies in New York Dec. 14.

He was nominated to Pro Hall of Fame by a brief, but brilliant career with the Chicago Bears.

In seven years in the NFL, he rushed for 4,936 yards, caught 122 passes for 1,307 yards, averaged 36.6 on kickoff returns and 14.0 on punts, scored 55 touchdowns himself, and passed for one more.

As a rookie, he set an NFL record with 22 touchdowns (broken two years ago by O.J. Simpson) and tied Ernie Nevers’ ancient mark of six TDs in one game. Those were the first of eight league records broken or tied by “Magic.”

Those accomplishments came after an outstanding career at the University of Kansas from 1962 to 1964 — a career that earned him his second Hall of Fame award.

Playing for the Jayhawks, the “Kansas Kid” had a career total of 2,675 yards and scored 20 touchdowns in earning all-America honors as a junior and senior.

Sayers became SIU’s AD last July 15, succeeding Doug Weaver.

Golf Team Plays Nine Tourneys

Coach Jim Barrett completes his first year as SIU golf coach this spring after succeeding Lynn Holden last fall. He guided the Salukis to a second-place finish in the Mid-American Classic and third place in the SIU-Edwardsville Invitational last fall. SIU is scheduled to play in eight tournaments this spring, culminating with the Missouri Valley Conference championships at Wichita, Kan., May 16-18. Jim Brown carried a 73.8 average last fall and is capable of lowering that average to 72 this spring. If Brown can accomplish that and the rest of a young squad (the only other senior is Jay Venable) can improve as much as Barrett feels they can, the Salukis could win their first Valley title.
Women's Gymnastic Team Wins AIAW Regional

The SIU women's gymnastic team won the Region Five title championship at the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) regional held March 4-5 at Carbondale.

The SIU team, which has never lost a regional championship, tallied 142.75 points. Indiana State came in second at 140.35 followed by Michigan State with 140.20 and Kent State at 138.40.

The SIU victory advanced the Saluki women to the AIAW championships. In addition, his 30 Saluki women to the AIAW championships have won 10 national titles in the years, the Saluki women gymnasts have won 10 national titles in the season total to 609 (21.0 ppg), hitting 52 of 77 from the field for a sizzling 68 percent — nearly all from the 15-to-25 foot range.

Seven of this year's top nine scorers and rebounders return, led by junior-to-be-Hubson (12.9 ppg) and Richard Ford (10.9 ppg), a pair of forwards who grabbed 417 rebounds between them this year. The other returning starter is freshman guard Wayne Abrams, who led the team in assists with 117. The other top returners who will face a Valley schedule beefed up by the addition of new players in the Illinois state tournament held at Eastern Illinois University. Diane Sandlin represented SIU at the AIAW tournament March 3-5, advancing two rounds before being eliminated.
