A Welcome From the Dean

As you enter the front door of this law school, there is a quotation carved on a marble slab, "Justice is a human enterprise." At SIUC we try our best to keep the study of law both a human and a humane enterprise. Two years ago I accepted the invitation of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale to become dean of the School of Law. The things I found most attractive about the place are those which I think you will enjoy the most.

Ours is a friendly law school with a strong opportunity for individual achievement. We have one of the two or three best faculty-student ratios of any law school in the country. This means that the law school has an extremely personal feel to it. As you may know, all of our law students are issued a key to the building which means that you can come and go from the building, and more particularly from the library, at any time during the day or night. Furthermore, the small size of the class (we seek to admit one hundred in each of our entering classes), means that you will have your first year classes with a group of approximately 50 other students and that your writing section will be in a group of 15 or 20 students. We have a Distinguished Speakers Program which will interest you, and the school is planning new programs to be offered in cooperation with the University's School of Medicine.

We take great pride in the success of our graduates. We have one of the best bar passage rates in the nation. The placement of our law graduates in firms and with governmental agencies is particularly fine. I know you will be extremely pleased with the many opportunities which the study of law will open for you.

We hope that you will join us at the Southern Illinois University School of Law. I believe you would find our law school a healthy environment in which to tackle the challenge of legal education. I know you will find law school a rewarding experience.

University General Information

History

Southern Illinois University is a senior public university system comprising two diverse institutions—Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville—and serving approximately 33,000 students.

Chartered in 1869, Southern Illinois Normal University served as a teacher-training institution until 1943, when the school was transformed into a university, giving official recognition to the area's demand for diversified training and service. SINU became Southern Illinois University in 1947, and in 1949 began offering off-campus academic courses in the Metropolitan East St. Louis area, an initiative which led to the eventual development of a separate, distinctive institution in Edwardsville.

The mission and scope of Southern Illinois University are highly complex and emphasize a commitment to fine quality in education. As Southern Illinois University has grown and flourished, its constituent universities have developed programs of instruction, research, and public service which have attracted and served students, faculty, and staff not only from the region but from throughout the state of Illinois, the nation, and from overseas as well.

The universities within Southern Illinois University offer a broad range of academic programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master's, doctoral, and professional levels. In addition to the many undergraduate degree programs offered, the system supports more than sixty academic programs which lead to the master's degree and twenty-two which lead to the doctorate. The professional schools are designed to provide first-rank health and legal graduates trained to meet the particular needs of the people of Illinois. Southern Illinois University at Carbondale operates a School of Law in Carbondale and a School of Medicine headquartered in Springfield, the first year of which is offered in Carbondale; Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville operates a school of nursing in Edwardsville and a School of Dental Medicine in Alton. More than 6,000 of the 33,000 students currently enrolled are in graduate and professional programs.

The instructional, research, and service missions of the two universities reflect the needs of the geographic areas in which they are located. The system is also committed to serving state, national, and international needs, a commitment reflected in educational activities located away from the main campuses in communities throughout the state and nation. Countries throughout the world experience this commitment through research and training exchanges and student exchange programs.

Southern Illinois University is governed by a nine-member board of trustees, which sets policy that enables the institutions to carry out established objectives. The chancellor of Southern Illinois University is the chief executive officer of the system and is the primary link between the universities and the Board of Trustees. The university presidents report directly to the chancellor and are responsible for the internal operations of their institutions.

Location

The city of Carbondale is approximately 100 miles southeast of Saint Louis, Missouri, in Jackson County, the western border of which is the Mississippi River. Some of the most rugged and picturesque terrain in Illinois lies south of Carbondale. Sixty miles to the south is the historic confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers; the two rivers form the border of the southern tip of Little Egypt, the name given to the 14 southernmost counties in Illinois. The region immediately surrounding Carbondale is noted for its large peach and apple orchards. Two state parks and four lakes are located within 10 miles of the campus and much of the area is a part of the Shawnee National Forest.

Campus

The University campus, comprising more than 3,290 acres immediately south of the city of Carbondale, includes a 981-acre developed portion with woods and a lake as a site for academic buildings and residence halls. The buildings are located in wooded tracts along two circular shaped campus drives, named for Lincoln and Douglas. Two beautiful features, located near the center of the campus, are a wooded tract preserved in the tradition of native forests of Southern Illinois and several buildings which formed the original campus a century ago.

History

The Southern Illinois University School of Law, Carbondale, Illinois, began instruction in law in the fall of 1973. Hiram H. Lesar, for whom the law building is named, was the founding dean and served until 1980. Dan Hopson served as dean until his death in 1985, at which time Rennard J. Strickland was appointed. The first class graduated in 1976, and there are slightly more than 1,000 alumni.

The school is fully accredited by the American Bar Association and is a member of the Association of American Law Schools.

Twenty-three full-time faculty members are involved in research and publication in addition to their teaching duties. A dynamic, personalized educational environment is the result of a student body of 300 and a faculty/student ratio of 1/13. The group is small enough so that faculty and students can know each other but large enough to justify the variety of courses that should be available in a modern law school. Two visiting professors and six adjunct professors add additional depth to the faculty and curriculum.

Purposes

The main purpose of the School of Law is to train lawyers who will be competent to practice law now and in the future. In addition to specific legal rules, the student must learn analytic skills, research techniques, and the basic legal principles and policies underlying the current applications of those rules. He or she should also learn the basic skills of advocacy, counseling, and negotiation.

The second purpose of the School of Law stems from recognition of the social fact that lawyers are expected to provide a large part of the leadership in a wide spectrum of American life. In general terms this means that lawyers must perform two functions which go beyond rendering competent legal service. They must be prepared to serve in a "watch-dog" capacity with respect to the proper functioning of American institutions, and they must be prepared to participate in "making law."

The second purpose of the school, then, is to assure that the leadership function performed by lawyers is carried out well. For this purpose the lawyer requires not only the whole range of skills and knowledge needed for the practice of law, but also an understanding of our institutions and a sensitivity to potential conflict areas.

The third purpose of the school—which is essential to the fulfillment of the other two—is to instill in its students a proper conception of the professional responsibilities of the lawyer and the organized bar, an understanding of the nature and role of the legal profession, and knowledge and appreciation of the ethical principles by which all lawyers are bound.

Facilities

The Lesar Law Building, dedicated in 1982, is a contemporary structure situated on the western edge of the campus near the lake. The building houses classrooms, student lounges, administrative and faculty offices, and the library, as well as a courtroom and large in-house clinic facilities.

Library

The law library provides all resources needed for research by faculty and students in a superior law school. The new law building includes a 41,000-square-foot library that houses the collection, study spaces, and staff. Services, ranging from expert legal reference to computer-assisted information retrieval, are offered to the law school community.

Law books and law-related information accessible through other media, such as videotapes, audiotapes, microform, or computers, are the core of the law library. The law library holds more than 250,000 volumes—a collection well above the median academic law library size and rich in its variety of titles. This mature library resource includes over 365,000 microform units, the equivalent of close to 104,000 physical books.

Not so easily quantifiable are the library's computer-assisted research systems (LEXIS and Westlaw), and its computer-assisted library technical processes.

Several sophisticated approaches, including a superior card catalog, on-line and conventional indexes, and the interpretive services of law-trained librarians, provide access to the fully-cataloged and classified collection. The library has been a selective federal government depository library since 1978, and an Illinois state depository library since 1982. Government publications are fully integrated into the cataloged collection and available to both the law school community and the public.

The physical features of the law library combine a serene decor with an eminently functional arrangement. Ample seating at both carrels and tables is provided for library users. The library's design includes access and work stations for patrons in wheelchairs. The relationship of library service centers to library users and to the collection is a model for efficient and immediate access to library materials.

The resources of over 1,650,000 volumes in the University library also are readily available to law students, to supplement the strong, well-staffed law school library. A sophisticated interlibrary loan system provides access to materials held in other major research libraries around the country.

Curriculum

FIRST YEAR

The first-year curriculum is required. It differs from the usual first-year law school curriculum in that Legal Writing and Reasoning is taught in small sections by full-time faculty members.

First Semester

Course	Hours
Contracts I	3
Property I	3
Torts I	3
The Legal Profession	3
Legal Research I: Sources and Methodology	1
Legal Writing and Reasoning	2

Second Semester

Course	Hours
Contracts II	3
Property II	3
Torts II	2
Civil Procedure I	3
Criminal Law	3
Legal Argumentation	2

SECOND AND THIRD YEARS

The curriculum for the second and third years remains flexible. Constitutional Law, Legal Research II, the Legal Profession, and the Senior Writing Seminar are the currently required courses. A Senior Writing Seminar requires a paper of the quality of a law journal comment. SIU Law Journal members are not required to take a seminar, since the law journal work is of equivalent rigor.

The School of Law provides J.D. students who have particular interests in either of two areas—environmental law and health care law—with the opportunity to emphasize these areas during their course of study.

Students interested in environmental and natural resources law may concentrate their course work in these areas. The law school offers a variety of courses ranging from a basic environmental law course to a course in mining law. It is possible for a student to earn nearly twenty credit hours in courses related to natural resources.

Students interested in health care law may focus their course work in this area. The law school currently offers a wide and growing range of health care law oriented courses, as well as practical training in the Legal Clinic for the Elderly. Additionally, the student Law and Medicine Society and the Journal of Legal Medicine provide students with valuable opportunities to cultivate their specialized health care law interests.

Microcomputers, which are available to students as part of the curriculum and in clinic work, provide valuable training for the practice of law.

Up to 6 semester hours of credit for course work taken in the Graduate School may be applied, with permission of the deans of both the Graduate School and the School of Law, toward the number of hours required for the J.D. degree and toward the residence semester requirement. A student must earn a grade of B or better in such work for School of Law credit to be given; this letter grade will be reflected on a student's School of Law record, but will not be used to compute the law grade-point average.

The total of course work permitted in each of the areas of clinical law, moot court, and law review may not exceed 6 semester hours each.

A list of second- and third-year courses normally offered during the academic year follows.

Course	Hours	Course	Hours

Summer School

The law school offers a limited summer school program with courses established each year on an ad hoc basis. New students are not admitted in the summer.

Admission

To be admitted as a candidate for the Juris Doctor degree, an applicant must present a bachelor's degree and demonstrate capacity for the study of law by a satisfactory undergraduate record and satisfactory performance on the Law School Admission Test (LSAT). Forms for applying for the LSAT and for admission to the law school may be obtained from the Office of Admissions, School of Law, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Carbondale, Illinois 62901.

The LSAT is administered on a nationwide basis by the Law School Admission Services, Box 2000, Newtown, PA 18940, and is offered on the SIUC campus four times each year. The test administration dates no later than September or December of the applicant's final year of undergraduate study are preferred. LSAT scores which are more than three years old will not be considered by the admissions committee.

Applicants must also register with the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) by completing the form found in the LSAT bulletin of information and returning it to the Law School Admission Services. Applicants must have transcripts sent to LSDAS by the registrar of each college and professional or graduate school attended. Test scores and evaluations of transcripts are reported to applicants and to the law schools they designate. Applicants should indicate on the LSAT/LSDAS matching forms that their scores and evaluations are to be reported to the Southern Illinois University School of Law. It is not necessary that application for admission to the School of Law be made before taking the test or registering with LSDAS.

Applications for admission to the school may be filed any time after September 1, but applicants are strongly encouraged to file their applications prior to February 1. There is a $15.00 application fee.

An applicant who is admitted is required to make a nonrefundable tuition deposit of $100 by April 1, unless accepted later, when several weeks are allowed. This deposit will be credited against the first semester's tuition and fees.

Admissions are made without regard to race, religion, sex, national origin, age, handicap, or other factors prohibited by law. The law school has an active affirmative action program and participates in the Council on Legal Education Opportunity (CLEO) program.

Admission of Handicapped Students

The School of Law maintains a strong commitment to make all services, programs, and activities available to students with disabilities. Our new facility provides access for those in wheelchairs or with limited mobility. Both the campus and the city of Carbondale are accessible to students who use wheelchairs, and to those who are semi-ambulatory, visually handicapped, hearing-impaired, or otherwise disabled. The University Housing Office provides modified housing in the Thompson Point residential area and in the family housing areas.

The law school will gladly help handicapped students make arrangements to meet special needs. Students who seek further information should consult the Admissions Office or the University's Office of Disabled Student Services.

Pre-Law Study

The law school does not require any particular subjects or specific course of study for admission. A broad liberal arts education is better preparation for the study of law than specialized subjects closely related to the law.

As the principal tool of the lawyer is the art of expression, and the importance of the study of English cannot be over-emphasized, the pre-law student should acquire facility in the communication of ideas, both oral and written.

Degree Requirements

A candidate for the Juris Doctor (J.D.) degree must satisfy the entrance requirements, fulfill the residence requirements, and satisfactorily complete a total of 90 semester hours of work for credit, and must pass all required courses. The required courses currently consist of all first year courses, Constitutional Law, Legal Research II, and a Senior Writing Seminar.

RESIDENCE REQUIREMENTS

A candidate must complete six semesters of residence (the last two must be in this School of Law). In order to obtain residence credit for a semester, a candidate must complete a minimum of 12 hours of work and must obtain final credit in a minimum of 10 hours of work. A candidate who either examines in or obtains final credit for fewer than the required minimum hours will be given proportionate (12ths) residence credit. No credit toward residence is given in courses in which a student receives a failing grade.

LIMITATION OF COURSE HOURS

No student may register for more than 16 hours without the consent of the dean. It is advisable for students to devote most of their time to their work in the school. Students who undertake substantial employment outside the school should reduce their course loads.

ATTENDANCE AND WITHDRAWAL

Regular attendance is required of each student. Specific rules regulating attendance and withdrawal are set forth in the law school rules. Copies of the rules are available in the law library.

EXAMINATIONS

A student who has not withdrawn, or been withdrawn, from a course is expected to take the examination for that course at the regularly scheduled time. Unexcused failure to take an examination will result in a failing grade. If failure to take an examination is excused, the student may, with the permission of the dean and the instructor, take the examination after the rest of the class or at the time it is next regularly offered. Withdrawal from a non-required course must be made in accordance with University deadlines.

POOR SCHOLARSHIP RULE

Grades are given in numbers on a scale of 0.0 to 4.0, with 2.0 being the average required for graduation. A student who fails to have a cumulative average of 1.9 at the end of the first year or 2.0 at the end of any other academic year will be dropped from the school for poor scholarship. During the student's senior year a 2.0 average must be obtained in courses taken during that senior year.

A student whose average at the end of the first year is below 1.9 may appeal to the dean, who refers the petition to the Academic Standards Committee to recommend acceptance or denial of a petition for readmission.

SCHOOL OF LAW ACADEMIC RULES

Copies of the academic rules of the law school are available in the law library, and are controlling if in conflict with statements contained in this bulletin.

Honors

The Dean's List is compiled every semester and includes those students in each class who rank in the top 15% of full time students. Those students comprising the top 10% of each class are eligible for nomination to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, a national honorary society.

GRADUATING HONORS

Individuals in the top 3% of a graduating class are awarded Juris Doctor degrees, Summa Cum Laude; the next highest 7% are awarded Juris Doctor degrees, Magna Cum Laude; and those in the next highest 10% are awarded Juris Doctor degrees, Cum Laude.

Tuition and Fees

Tuition and fees in the School of Law are established by the Board of Trustees and are subject to change whenever conditions make changes necessary. Present tuition and fees for regularly enrolled law students (taking 12 or more semester hours) are $925.90 per semester for residents and $2,236.30 per semester for non-residents. Books will cost about $200 per semester.

Financial Aid

The University maintains an Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance which processes student loans and manages other financial aid programs such as federal work-study and veterans' benefits (state and federal). Financial aid requests cannot be processed unless the student has on file a current ACT Family Financial Statement. (The office will not accept GAPS FAS.) The office will not accept loan applications for the 1988-89 academic year prior to May 1, 1988. For more specific information, students should contact the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, Woody Hall, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Carbondale, IL 62901 (618/453-4334).

Although the School of Law has limited resources for financial aid at its disposal, there are available through the school:

1. A significant number of research assistantships awarded to members of the second- and third-year classes primarily on a merit basis. Assistantships provide a tuition waiver and a modest monthly salary. Approximately one-third of the upperclass students have assistantship appointments.
2. A limited number of work opportunities in the law library and in the administrative offices of the school.
3. A limited number of cash grants.
4. A limited number of tuition-remission scholarships awarded on an academic basis to first-year students and on a financial-need basis to second- and third-year students.
5. A limited number of fellowships available to minority students with demonstrated financial need.
6. A limited fund for emergency short-term loans.

Specific instructions for applying for financial aid are mailed during the spring to entering students.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS

Current scholarships, honors, and awards are:

James O. Monroe Award

Max Turner Memorial Scholarship Award

Hiram H. and Rosalee Lesar Scholarship Award

W. Philo Gilbert Memorial Scholarship Award

Edgar O. and Bonnie Zimmer Law Scholarship Fund

Cheney and Pirages Award

Client Service Award

John S. Rendleman Award

Lincoln's Inn

Order of Barristers

Illinois Bar Foundation Research Fellows

Journal of Legal Medicine Award

Antitrust Award

American Bar Association Section of Urban, State, and Local Government Award

Bureau of National Affairs Law Week Award

Natural Resources Law Award

Prentice-Hall Tax Award

West Publishing Company Awards

Lawyers Co-op Publishing Company Awards

There are also state and national essay competitions on legal subjects, and scholarships are available to law students at any school from a variety of organizations. Information about these opportunities is available in the law school.

Housing

University on-campus housing is available for 4,771 single students and 576 married students. Two newly-remodeled residence halls across the street from the law school are reserved for law student single-room occupancy, and several apartments in married student housing are reserved for law students. Off-campus housing is readily available. Inquiries concerning other on-campus or off-campus housing may be obtained from University Housing, Washington Square, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Carbondale, Illinois 62901.

Honor Code

Preparation for law must encourage individual integrity as well as an understanding of law. The School of Law has adopted its own comprehensive ethics and disciplinary code. The high regard for ethical conduct at SIUC is reflected in the unique practice of giving each law student a key to the building and library. Copies of the code will be sent to applicants on request and are available in the law library.

Clinical Program

The school operates an extensive, in-house legal aid clinic. It also offers a limited externship program. The clinic provides selected students with a number of internships and research assistantships. Other students may obtain credit. Clients include the elderly in thirteen southern Illinois counties and the inmates of three state and one federal prison. Students also work with the Land of Lincoln program for indigent persons, with state's attorney's offices, and with public defender and appellate public defender programs. There is an unusual opportunity for variety in the clinic experience. For instance, an Illinois Supreme Court rule enables third-year clinic students to practice in court as long as they are accompanied by a licensed attorney. Clinic credit may not be given before a student's fifth semester. The total hours obtainable are limited.

Law Journal

The Southern Illinois University Law Journal, published quarterly, is a scholarly legal journal which publishes articles and shorter student work on the law and law-related topics. Published materials include articles written by law students, law professors, judges, and other members of the legal profession. The journal is managed and edited by an editorial board made up of third-year law students. Members of the editorial board are elected from those second-year students who have successfully completed the journal's writing program. The writing program involves second-year students in an intensive program of legal research, writing and analysis under the direction of the editorial board. Participation by second-year students in the journal's writing program is determined on both an invitational and a competitive basis open to all students in good standing.

The Journal of Legal Medicine, the official quarterly publication of the American College of Legal Medicine, presents, on a regular basis, articles written by students at Southern Illinois University School of Law. This arrangement is designed to allow law students who have special interests in law and medicine to pursue those interests through scholarly research and publication.

Legal Argumentation

The legal argumentation program is a comprehensive one. It provides a required experience in appellate practice in the first year. This is followed by an opportunity to participate in regional and national competitions, including the ABA-sponsored National Appellate Advocacy and Client Counseling Competitions, the Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition, the National Trial Competition, and the National and ABA Moot Court Competitions. SIUC teams have enjoyed great success in these competitions. Law school teams won, in 1985 and 1986, the national American Bar Association Moot Court Competition and the regional rounds of the Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition. The school's team members were medalists at the 1986 National Moot Court Team Competition.

Concurrent Degree Programs

The School of Law, in cooperation with the Graduate School, offers concurrent J.D. and master's degrees in business administration, public affairs, and accountancy. A student must be enrolled in both the graduate program and the law school. The master's programs ordinarily require 30 hours of study, while the law degree requires 90 hours. When the master's and J.D. degrees are pursued concurrently, a significant reduction in the total number of hours required to earn both degrees is achieved. Details of the concurrent degree programs are available from the law school registrar, Norma Brown. Students should make their interest in the concurrent degree program known to the registrar after the completion of the first year of law school study.

Student Organizations

The student body has drafted and adopted a constitution and by-laws for the Student Bar Association of which every regular law school student is a member. The association functions primarily through officers and committees elected by the membership at large and plays an integral role in the operation and governance of the law school. The students who serve as representatives to the faculty meetings are elected by the students, and those who serve on the various faculty committees are appointed by the dean from a list submitted by the Student Bar Association.

Other student organizations are Phi Alpha Delta, Phi Delta Phi, the Donald F. McHenry International Law Society, the Women's Law Forum, the National Lawyers Guild, the Black American Law Students Association, the Law and Medicine Society, the Christian Legal Society, and law student divisions of the Illinois State Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

Placement Services

A full range of placement services is offered to students and alumni including current job listings, on-campus interviews with prospective employers, and resume assistance. Students are encouraged to begin career planning early in their law school years and to seek summer and part-time legal employment experience. The placement office staff will make every effort to help students identify and pursue employment opportunities.

The School of Law is firmly committed to a policy against discrimination in employment based on sex, race, religion, age, handicap, or national origin, and it expects that all employers who use the placement services will make certain that no such discrimination occurs.

Statistics gathered on the Class of 1986 in February 1987 indicated that 84% of the 93 class members were employed. Sixty-three percent held positions in private practice and 27% were working for federal, state, or local government offices. There were fifty-nine responses to a salary question. Salaries reported ranged from $18,000 to $42,000, with the median at $24,000. Seventy-four percent of the employed graduates had located in Illinois; Missouri had eight percent of the employed graduates.
