Retirement Doesn't Stop Frank Evans

by Charles C. Feirich

Retirement certainly has not curtailed any of H. Frank Evans’ activities — not in the least.

In fact, Evans may even be busier. A Carbondale native, Evans ’34 now lives in a 60-year-old log cabin in Polebridge, Mont., just across the north fork of the Flathead River near Glacier National Park.

For more than 20 years, he taught zoology and biology at North Idaho College at Coeur D’Alene, Idaho. Sometime along this period, Evans acquired a picturesque 160-acre homestead at Polebridge which he calls Panorama Ranch.

It was a coronary that changed Evans’ teaching career. After a year’s sabbatical at the ranch, he decided to retire.

Just as Evans was about to settle into his new abode, he heard about an antique log cabin in Glacier National Park that the Park Service was going to burn.

Persuading the Park Service to give it to him, Evans dismantled the cabin and moved it to Polebridge. A new roof and some other work would make it habitable.

His latest remodeling projects include a native stone fireplace built from the living room, up through the second floor bedroom: a bathroom on the first floor and a library on the second floor of his cabin.

The bathtub is tin and of an ancient early mail order catalogue ... and is a thing of beauty.

There’s another log cabin north of Evans’ home. It’s a rental cabin or guest cabin depending on whether the occupants are paying rent. It has an unusual swimming pool built with native rocks. Of course, it hasn’t been used in years, but Evans is trying to remedy that too.

To eat, Evans raises everything — what he doesn’t need, he gives to neighbors. A greenhouse makes it possible for him to raise more food than the short growing season in Montana would normally allow.

Periodically, he makes trips to the Pacific Coast to get clams. Recently, he canned 42 pounds, enough to fill 36 pints and last until he can make a return trip.

An active member of the Flathead County Planning Commission, Evans participates in all environmental and ecological issues in the area.

For an example, the Forest Service decided to abandon several miles of telephone line. Evans worried about the elk and maybe getting tangled in the wire. So, he took it upon himself to roll up the wire.

In addition to his other activities, Evans still has some time to write a weekly column in the Hungry Horse News published in Columbia Falls.

But Evans’ pride and joy is a 1923 Model T Ford which he rebuilt. He is toying with the idea of driving the Ford from northern Montana to his 50th class reunion at SIU in 1984. You all will have to come to see if he makes it.

There are already enough projects in the planning stages to keep Evans occupied until he is well past 100 years-old. But as he is, he is happy and thinks retirement is wonderful.

You can write him at the Panorama Ranch, Polebridge, Mont. 59928.

Editor’s note: Charles C. Feirich ex ’28 is well-known to SIU alumni. Feirich served in the Korean War and until 1966 as a field representative in President Delyte W. Morris’ office; from 1966 until 1970, he was assistant to Morris and from 1970 until 1973, a field representative for the SIU Outdoor Laboratory (now Touch of Nature).
Welcome 1977 Graduates!

To All Members of the Class of 1977:

It is a pleasure to have you joining the ranks of over 70,000 graduates of Southern Illinois University.

The SIU Alumni Association offers a University graduate a variety of programs and benefits. For instance, there are over 44 club areas all over the world. More clubs are being added everyday.

The Association offers you both moral and material support. The organization cooperates with the admissions and records office by recommending outstanding students and with placement services by helping graduates and former students find employment.

The Association also sponsors numerous scholarships and sustains an emergency loan fund for students in financial need.

There are also alumni constituent societies for the graduate to share professional interests with their colleagues and former classmates.

The Alumnus is published six times a year. Each issue will inform you about the University what the alumni are doing, what is happening at SIU, and an update on the alumni association's activities.

Sincerely yours,
Robert Odaniell
executive Director
SIU Alumni Association

Law Tenure Appeals Denied

An appeal by four SIU law school faculty members who were denied promotions earlier this year was rejected June 9 by SIU's Board of Trustees.

The trustees voted 5 to 2 to affirm an earlier decision by SIU Vice President for Academic Affairs and Research Frank Horton.

The four, Donald W. Garner, T. Richard Mager, Taylor Mattis, and Andrew Onejeme, had been recommended for promotion by Hiram H. Lesar, dean of the Law School.

The main reason cited by Horton for his denial was that the four has not published enough scholarly material to meet University-wide standards for promotions.

Following an initial appeal of Horton's decision to SIU President Warren W. Brandt (which was denied), the law school group brought their appeal to the board at its May meeting. The board deadlocked 3-3 on the question.

Student Government has faced many difficulties in the past, most of which has been internally generated.

This year, I believe marks dramatic changes in the capability of student government to respond to student needs and concerns.

The key mechanism to achieving this goal will be the professional attitude of the staff, student senators and executives within student government.

By being responsible about each person's job and conscientious about student issues, we should be able to raise the awareness level of student government and its respectability. We have already gone a way toward achieving this goal.

There are, as always, critical issues which demand attention. Among these will be the possible increase in fees for the SIU Health Service; connecting student-teacher evaluations with the tenure-promotion process; and developing revised policies for the use of the Co-Recreation building for students, alumni and staff.

These and other issues will receive attention from student government this year.

Already this summer, our office has made considerable impact in several areas. This includes:

- Competitive efforts to review the involvement of the University in the Southern Illinois MEG unit (an understandable drug enforcement unit).

- A report to the Carbondale City Council on bar sanitation conditions on Southern Illinois Avenue. This effort resulted in a city crackdown designed to clean-up conditions which were in non-compliance with city codes.

An effort to obtain notices at course registration at SIU and at the Bursar's Office that certain fees are refundable. This program will begin this fall with signs being posted in the Bursar office.

- An effort to establish a used book flea market. Currently, it is in the planning stage and very likely will occur January of 1978.

- Issuing a bank survey which compiles information on savings and checking account charges at the Carbondale banking institutions.

- Coordinating state student lobby efforts and participation in a statewide student convention in Springfield this winter.

While many other issues have been addressed this should indicate that we are trying to be productive. I am looking forward to a good year for student government. I invite you, the alumni of SIU, to comment on our progress or suggest other avenues of inquiry or action to follow.

Best wishes,

Dennis L. Adamczyk '75

The SIU Board of Trustees voted in July to continue its position of waiting for enabling legislation by the Illinois General Assembly before taking any steps toward allowing faculty collective bargaining on campus.

In an eight-to-one vote of the Board's earlier decision to wait for enabling legislation.

The SIU Board of Trustees voted in July to continue its position of waiting for enabling legislation by the Illinois General Assembly before taking any steps toward allowing faculty collective bargaining on campus.

The motion to allow collective bargaining was to reverse the Board's earlier decision to wait for enabling legislation.

The vote climaxed a two-and-one-half-hour public discussion of collecting bargaining with opinions expressed by 17 representatives of organizations, constituency representatives, students, administrators and the University presidents from both SIU campuses.

Of the 17 speakers outside of the Board trustees, nine spoke in opposition to collective bargaining or to the consideration of collective bargaining before enabling legislation to be provided.

Since the winter of 1973, SIU has been without a yearbook. That is when, the Obelisk ceased publication after 60 years.

This year's book, Obelisk II, contains 300 pages and over 1,600 of them were ordered, Julia Muller, fiscal officer said.

The yearbook was discontinued due to slumping sales and decreased student interest.

Herrera Gone But Salukis Have Talent

by Tom Simons
Sports Information Director

When coach Roy Dempsey's 1976 SIU football team turned in a 7-4 record, the team was considered a success. However, both the Salukis and their fans were disappointed that the team could have been better. Dempsey himself acknowledged the team's potential and its failure to realize it.

While there are apparently no quality backs returning to defense last year, but was bothered by middle guard Lawrence Boyd (5-11, 195), a difficult to replace. Middle guard and two-year letterman Kevin House (5-11, 160) also has star qualities and, with wingback Dave Callahan (6-1, 220), could move in, as could sophomore Dave Callahan (6-1, 220), who still has a lot of experience. Dempsey has a little more depth here than on the offensive line, but freshmen may end up playing important roles.

Senior linebacker Dan Brown started to come into his own last year, leading the Salukis in total tackles (133) and interceptions (four, one of which was a 27-yard TD against Indiana State). The 6-1, 225-pounder was still one of the most-improved Salukis this spring and will be a top contender for regional and national honors this fall and should figure in next spring's NFL draft.

The spot opposite Brown is still up in the air entering fall practice, with neither sophomore Joe Barwinski (6-0, 225) nor senior Billy Hafid (6-1, 215) showing marked dominance in the spring. However, both are talented, as is Brown's likely backup, sophomore Jim Robinson (5-11, 215). The secondary also appears sound, but depth may prove to be a problem.

Returning football lettermen are: first row (l to R): Dave Short, Bob Collins, Marty DeVolder, Oyd Craddock and Ron Geels. Second two-year letterman, and junior college transfer Jack Niedbalski (6-2, 210) emerged in the spring as the top defensive ends, but sophomore Mike Schlosser (6-2, 200) had a good spring and may challenge. Sophomore Dan Giallou (5-11, 245) and junior Curt Underwood (6-3, 270) give the Salukis depth at the tackles, but lack experience. Lettermen Mike McArthur (6-2, 220) could move in, as could sophomore Dave Callahan (6-1, 220), who still has an untested quantity after missing most of last spring with a broken arm. Dempsey has a little more depth here than on the offensive line, but freshmen may end up playing important roles.

Spotlighting
Saluki Women

Sports

The women's intercollegiate athletic program has a full slate of events this fall.

Five sports will be in action from mid-September until later November. The sports are: tennis, golf, cross country, field hockey and volleyball.

Showing steady improvement over the past few years, the Saluki golf team will have a good shot at making the state championship.

The tennis team, runner-up in the state last season, should be able to capture the elusive IAIWA title. Judy Auld is the coach.

Sue Briggs will return to defend her state singles title and lead the Salukis as the number one singles player.

Also returning are: Marsha Bladel, Sue Cslipy, Mauri Kohler, Thea Breite and Carol Foss. Looking for their second consecutive IAIWA title, the Saluki cross country team should be able to continue its dominance over other Illinois schools.

Leading the cross country squad are: Jean Ohly, Peggy Evans, Linda Snovak, Cindy Ruester, Trish Grandis and Cathy Ciarella.

SIU Women Have Full Slate

Added to this year's schedule is a regional meet Nov. 5 at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where the Saluki runners should do well against teams from Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

This year's squad is coached by Claudia Blackman.

Defending state IAIWA champs, the SIU field hockey team, coached by Julie Illner, will try to improve on a 12-3 record.

While the team will be just as tough as last season, the Salukis have an additional advantage as they will host the state IAIWA championship Nov. 4 and 5.

Leading the Saluki attack will be Helen Meyer, holder of all SIU scoring records; along with Judy Seger, Chris Emon, Pat Matrecci, Kethy Vondrasek, Mo Allmendinger and Karen Roberts.
Board members whose terms expire are (r-l) Pat Mudd, David Elders, Eugene Payton. Mudd and Payton are eligible to serve another four-year term and have been nominated for one. Elders has served two consecutive terms.

Three Nominated For Board Terms

Three alumni have been nominated by the Alumni Association Board of Director's nominating committee for expiring board member terms.

The three nominated are: Grant Henry '69, M.S. '70 of East Moline, Ill.; Pat Cook Hunsaker '57, M.S. '60 of Belleville, Ill.; and Sally G. Movers ex '47 of Paducah, Ky. for four-year terms.

Henry is the director of Minority Student Affairs at Augustana College in Rock Island, Ill. Mrs. Hunsaker is the coordinator of English as a Second Language at the Belleville Area College. Mrs. Movers is the owner-operator of Ohio Valley Service in Paducah, Ky.

Five board terms expire in September. They are David Elders '50, owner-operator of Ohio Valley Service in Paducah, Ky., and Sally G. Movers ex '47 of Paducah, Ky.

Elders is David Elders '50, Robert Hunsaker '57, M.S. '60; Pat Mudd '55; Eugene Payton '38 and Ted Taylor '44.

Payton and Mudd were asked to retain their seats for another term by the Alumni Board of Directors at their Aug. 13th meeting.

Elder of Petersburg, Ill. and Taylor of Washington, D.C. have served the limit of two consecutive, four-year terms and are ineligible for re-election at this time.

This year's nominating committee was chaired by Keith Sanders '61, M.S. '62, president-elect of the Alumni Association. Committee members included: Jack Murphy '54, M.S. '57, Ph.D. '71 and the Rev. Jack Adams '53.

The slate will be presented for approval to the Legislative Council at 9 a.m. Oct. 1 in the Student Center Auditorium.

Nominations may be made from the floor at that time.

Any graduate or former student is eligible for consideration.

Not more than two members of the Board of Directors may be from the same graduating class.

The current board is listed on page three.

Lettermen to Meet

The annual meeting of the SIU Lettermen's Club will be Oct. 1 at the Holiday Inn in Carbondale following the homecoming game.

Any athlete who has lettered in an SIU sport is eligible to become a member.

Dues are $25. Members joining now will receive a plaque indicating the sport and year of participation.

Also, the new member is given the option of receiving two free tickets for either all home football games or all home basketball games, Seymour Bryson, Lettermen's Club president, said.

This year, the Lettermen's Club hopes to increase its membership, to initiate an SIU Sports Hall of Fame, and to select an outstanding lettermen for an achievement award.

Nominees for the achievement award in business, professional or other fields should be sent by Sept. 23 to Seymour Bryson, SIU, Rehab. Institute, Carbondale, Ill. 62901.

Other Lettermen board members include: Charles Warren, Charlie Goss, Dick Henley, John Cherry, Terry Rohlfing and Glen Storme.

Brown, Collins Named to Preseason All-MCV Squad

Two Saluki football players have been named to the all-Missouri Valley Conference preseason team selected by the Valley's sports information directors.

The two were seniors Dan Brown, a linebacker from Webster Groves, Mo., and Bob Collins, quarterback from Oak Park, Ill.

The 6-1, 225 pound Brown led the Salukis in tackles last year with 133 (including a team-high 84 assists) and in interceptions with four—one of which he returned 27 yards for a touchdown against Indiana State.

Collins, a cool 5'10, 180 pounds former walkon, started seven games in last year's 7-4 season, completing 36 of 67 passes for 549 yards, with eight interceptions and four TDs.

Cross Country Team Could Dominate MVC

Coach Lew Hartzog's Saluki cross country team set the pace for SIU's dominance of Missouri Valley Conference athletics last year when it ended Wichita State's four-year dominance of the conference meet.

The Salukis topped the Shockers, 44-48, at Peoria, Ill., but with two of last year's five gone, they'll have a tough time repeating in this year's meet at Canyon, Tex., on Nov. 5.

Returning to Hartzog's heralded roster are Mike Sawyer (third in the Valley last year), Paul Craig (sixth) and Mike Ziasek (12th). Gone are Jerry George (eighth) and Pat Cook (15th). George has used all four years of his cross country eligibility, but will be able to compete second semester in indoor and outdoor track.

“Our strong points are the three returnees,” Hartzog says, “but we didn't recruit any distance runners as such. With just one-and-a-half scholarships to give out, we couldn't afford to with Sawyer, Craig and George coming back next spring.

“Because of that, we'll have to depend on four walkon freshmen and returning squadmen for the other two positions,” the veteran coach continues.

“We'll rank low the caliber of last year — not by much, but a little. But you never know, sometimes kids just pop up and run.”

The 1977 Saluki cross country schedule:

Nov. 5 — Missouri Valley Conference at Canyon, Tex. Nov. 12 — NCAA District 5 at Des Moines, Iowa. Nov. 21 — NCAA championships at Spokane, Wash.

AGRICULTURE

The Board of Governors of the Agriculture Society met in the Student Center July 11 to plan Agriculture alumni activities for the 1977 Homecoming and to plan for the Society's annual meeting in February.

The Society, chartered July 10, 1977, was formally organized on Feb. 25, 1977, just prior to the All-Ag Banquet.

The Board of Governors elected the following: Harold Kuehn '51, president; Claude Nattier '74, vice president; Darrell Behrendt '62, secretary.

Other board members include: Louis Aldag '73; Jerry Clutes '63, P.E., Cross '84, Don Gunpiff '74, Mark Ken '66, Terry Light '71, Ronald Schubert '59; student representative; and Charles Hinners, Walter Wills and Gilbert Kroening.

The annual Ag meeting will be Feb. 25, 1978; the All-Ag Banquet is Feb. 24, 1978. Plan to be with us and participate in the development of the Alumnus section.

BUSINESS

The SIU Business Constituent Society held its second meeting Aug. 4 at the Holiday Inn in Marion.

The following officers were elected to serve for the 1977-78 term: Norbert Bartosik '72, president; John Covington '72 and Lee Boy Brandt '78, vice presidents; Justyn Hinders '92, secretary; and Charles Rosenberger '53, treasurer.

Other members elected to the Board of Governors are: William Moorman '77 and James Scouras '64, 3 year terms; Dwight Lembertas '66 M.S. 70, 2 year term; Mark Wassen, a 1 year term; Michelle Courtney, MBA representative and Laura Marshall, undergraduate representative. Also serving on the Board of Governors are James R. Moore, immediate past president and John Darling, dean.

Harold Ducas '65, past president, will continue to be an active member of our society.

The steering committee also is planning an organizational meeting to adopt a constitution, bylaws, and to elect officers.

All SIU alumni are encouraged to participate and suggestions will be welcome.

The College of Science was chartered June 1977. A steering committee was formed.

Board of Governors and society officers will be elected at that time as well as the adoption of bylaws. The charter will be officially presented at the annual meeting.

A steering committee is being developed and an organizational meeting will be held. If you are not currently a member of the Alumni Association use the application form to join.

The Society includes: publishing of a College of Science newsletter, providing opportunities for alumni to meet at professional meetings and seeking the opinions of alumni, among other activities.

The Society welcomes all alumni interested in biology, chemistry, geology, microbiology, physics, physiology or zoology.

The temporary society chairman is Professor Robert Molender, Rt. 1, Southern Bank Drive, Carbondale, Ill. 62901.

A Luncheon for the Alumni Association will be held the morning of Homecoming, Oct. 1.
