A New Service

Alumni Association Offers Insurance

Dear Alumni,

We feel that one of the most important functions of any organization is service. For an Alumni Association such as ours, it is through these services that we hope to keep our alumni informed, active, and interested in SIU.

Alumni services are pointed in many different directions — this bi-monthly Alumni publication, geographic area clubs, college and school professional groups, class reunions, Homecoming activities, family camping program, employment assistance, group travel programs, awards programs (Great Teacher and Alumni Achievement), Student Alumni Board, student scholarships and loans, use of campus facilities, and many others.

As announced previously, a new service is being introduced this month after over a year of study by an alumni committee and approval by your Board of Directors. It is an Alumni Association sponsored group term life insurance plan specially designed with you in mind. Graduates and former students are eligible to participate in what your Association believes provides a great opportunity for supplemental protection to your present insurance program at very attractive rates. A first mailing is being sent to you this month; possibly, you will have received it already.

We proudly invite you to participate. You may purchase $10,000 to $50,000 that may be continued through age 69, plus your choice of $5,000 or $10,000 for your spouse and up to $2,500 for each of your unmarried dependent children (ages 14 days to 23 years). Also, a special Guaranteed Acceptance Provision allows eligible graduates and former students age 44 or under to apply for $10,000 at the same group rates.

Neither the University nor the Alumni Association incurs any expense in providing this program to you. All costs are borne by the administrator, Association Consultants, Inc., and the insurance company, Bankers Security Life Insurance Society.

There will be no salesman call — your only contact will be by mail.

We hope you will take advantage of this meaningful new service, and we look forward to continuing to serve you and SIU.

Sincerely,

Keith R. Sanders

Research Might Change Coal Conversion

Aided by a $40,000 research grant from the Federal Energy Research and Development Administration, two SIU researchers hope to find new catalysts to revolutionize the coal conversion processes.

The professors, William Brower, an engineer, and Gerard V. Smith, a chemist, have teamed to find catalysts which could increase the efficiency and lower the cost of coal liquefaction and gasification.

Those processes — which convert coal to liquid and gaseous forms — yield energy byproducts which could someday replace petroleum.

New STC Building Is 70% Complete

In spite of winter blizzards that dropped a near-record 16 inches of snow on the SIU campus during January and February, the school's single major construction project now under way should be finished on time.

It's a new $6.1 million classroom and laboratory building for SIU's School of Technical Careers, slated to open in August.

Some construction time has been lost by the bad weather, but the three-story, 8,400-square-foot building is nearly 70 percent complete, Jack Moore, SIU physical plant architectural superintendent, said.

The exterior is nearly completed and the interior partitions are being put up, Moore said. Painting, carpeting, tile and light fixture work and the installation of the elevator will follow.

Programs moving from STC's old Southern Acres campus near Carbondale onto the new campus building include: mortuary science, dental laboratory technology, dental hygiene, electronics, secretarial and office specialties, multi-medial services and nursing.

Another 50,000-square-foot home is planned for STC's "hard technologies" and law enforcement programs, but for now they'll be at the old campus. Those include: photographic and audiovisual technology, commercial graphics, building construction, tool manufacturing and automotive technologies, and law enforcement and correctional services.

The January Alumnus pictured Altgeld Hall on its cover with a comment about the mild winter Carbondale was having. Two days after the tabloid was published, Carbondale received over 12 inches of snow. And for the first time in SIU's history, school was closed for three days due to the weather, Jan. 17-18 and Jan. 25. As you can see from this scene, the winter was hardly mild. SIU Board of Trustees: Harris Rowe, chairman; Ivan A. Elliott, Jr., vice-chairman; Margaret Blackshear, secretary; Members: Wayne Heberer, Carol Kimmel, William Norwood, A.D. Van Meter, Jr.; Student Members: Elizabeth Byrnes, Carbondale; James M. Grandone, Edwardsville; President of SIU-Carbondale: Warren W. Brandt.

Rowe Elected Chairman

Harris Rowe, an insurance executive from Jacksonville, Ill., was re-elected chairman of the SIU Board of Trustees Feb. 9. He is the chief executive officer of the Central National Life Insurance Co., and has been a member of the board since 1971 and was first elected chairman in 1977. SIU alumnum William R. Norwood '59 of Elk Grove Village was elected vice-chairman. He is the first black to be elected to a board office and one of three blacks ever to serve on the board.

A member of the board since 1974, Norwood, who is a senior pilot for United Airlines, replaced Carmi attorney Ivan A. Elliott, Jr., who did not seek re-election.

Madison Trustee Margaret Blackshear was unanimously re-elected secretary.

SIU alumnum Carol Kimmel ex '37 of Rock Island, and Wayne Heberer, a Belleville-area pork producer, were elected to serve on the board's three-member executive committee. As chairman, Rowe automatically serves.

SIU Trains Refugees

With the aid of over $125,000 in grants, a team of SIU instructors is teaching Southern Illinois Indochinese refugees the basic skills needed to integrate into American society.

The program's goal is to increase the refugees' language skills to the degree where they can function and get jobs.

That's why the program, started last November as a part of SIU's Evaluation and Developmental Center, was created. The Center is part of the University's Rehabilitation Institute.

Many of the estimated 130 Indochinese refugees in Southern Illinois wash dishes or bus tables; a few others are on welfare.

"My main objective," he said, "is to develop students' vocabularies and conversational skills."

There are about 10 similar programs in Illinois, but the SIU project is unique because it was put together by drawing from various funding sources.

Part of the funds, $56,803, comes from the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare through the Illinois Office of Education.

The Illinois Farmer's Union added $30,000 and program authorities are anticipating a $50,688 grant from the governor's Office on Manpower and Human Development.

The Illinois Dept. of Public Aid provides financial assistance to refugees who place their children in child care facilities while they attend school.

Civil Service Votes For Unionization

Over 611 SIU civil service employees voted Feb. 2, to be represented in collective bargaining by the Civil Service Bargaining Organization, an affiliate of the Illinois Education Association.

Thirty-five of 55 civil service job classifications chose the union. The election actually was 55 separate elections, with employees voting only on whether workers in their job classifications should be unionized or not.

Secretary-stenographers and secretaries-transcribers were the largest group to vote in favor of unionization. The two classifications make up about 50 percent of the employees who will be represented.

The largest classification voting against the union was cashiers. They total about 15 to 20 on the SIU campus.

Prior to the election, SIU negotiated contracts with 11 unions covering about 550 workers.

Another Illinois Dept. of Labor election will be held in March or April to consider additional civil service classifications for unionization.

SIU Scholars Hope to Write Vietnamese/English Dictionary

Two SIU scholars have launched a three-year project to write the first English-Vietnamese dictionary ever printed in the United States.

With the help of a $97,101 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, linguistics professors Dinh-Hoa Nguyen and Charles Parish hope to produce the largest Vietnamese-English, English-Vietnamese dictionary ever published.

"The dictionary will contain an abundance of illustrative examples, a glossary of technical terms and a number of other features not heretofore included in other dictionaries," Nguyen said.

It also will feature contemporary Communist terminology.

The dictionary, which will probably contain more than 40,000 entries, should be extremely helpful to the over 200,000 Vietnamese refugees now living in the United States, Nguyen said.

During the next three years, the two professors will contact scholars and research material at several American universities and the Library of Congress plus reviewing Vietnamese publications to accumulate material.

In addition, the National Endowment for Humanities has offered to match additional funds the project receives from other organizations which could mean as much as $97,000.

Want a Job Change?

Jan has been a housewife for five years and now she wants to enter the job market. Jim has a degree in journalism, but has been a mail clerk for three years and is bored.

To alleviate these frustrations, the SIU Career Planning and Placement Center (CPPC) in cooperation with the Alumni Association is offering a job search workshop April 29 in the Chicago area.

"Fishing, Slavery and Parchutes," a workshop designed to help persons take advantage of the "hidden" job market will be presented from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at DuPage College, DuPage, Ill.

The workshop is based upon the principles set forth in a bestseller by Richard Bolles called, "What Color is Your Parachute?" The book is hailed by the critics as the "best job-hunt book" ever written.

According to Bolles, who believes that most workers change careers three to five times in their lifetimes, the three qualities necessary for career advancement are resourcefulness, initiative and action.

Paul Henry, workshop coordinator, said, "It is a rather new approach to job hunting which places the responsibility with the job seeker. We try to make persons aware of the type of skills they have and the ones they'll need to utilize."

Workshop participants will receive an awareness training for job interviews and they will learn how to conduct field surveys to locate companies that correspond with the employment surroundings that the person is seeking.

In addition, the workshop will give tips on interviewing techniques, resume writing, role playing and the rationale of an active job search.

Enrollment is limited to a first-come, first-served basis. A notice of the event will be sent out to all Chicago area alumni. But in order to be able to accommodate all interested persons, it is imperative to register immediately.

On a separate piece of paper, list your name and address, your college major and the year you graduated. List your current position or your desired position.

Send this information to Paul Henry, CPPC, Woody Hall, SIU Carbondale, Ill. 62901.

A nominal fee will be listed in the notice to the Chicago area alumni. For additional information, you can call the CPPC at 618-536-2096 or call the Association at 618-453-2408.

Ag School Gets Grant

SIU's School of Agriculture has received a $33,302 grant to help upgrade Illinois secondary and post-secondary education programs in agriculture.

The grant from the Illinois Dept. of Adult, Vocational and Technical Education calls for the development of new program standards for Illinois high school and community college agriculture programs.

Marching Salukis Need New Uniforms

Their uniforms are almost threadbare.

For 17 years, the Marching Salukis have used the same band uniforms.

The Homburgs are worn, the pants are faded and the famous tuxedos have been altered and fixed to fit many different sizes in the 100 to 120 member band.

Mike Hanes, the director of the Marching Salukis, realizes it is time for new uniforms. However, there is one problem - money.

To outfit the entire band, it would cost about $20,000 or a little over $100 per uniform and Hanes doesn't know where he is going to get the money.

In the past, the band was able to get some financial assistance from student activities funds, but this is no longer possible.

So Hanes is publicizing the band's plight to try to collect enough money for the new uniforms.

A normal life expectancy of a band uniform is 10 years, but most universities change uniforms more frequently, he said.

Hanes has been hesitant to change the Salukis' apparel due to its popularity.

It was in 1961 that the Marching Salukis broke tradition and changed from the accepted military-type band uniform to a more modernistic-flashy appearance.

We really broke away from the masses when we changed to the tuxedo-type uniform. That was a total departure from the mode.

Traditionally bands had and were wearing military uniforms and playing military flavored music. We wanted to play more popular tunes and felt the accepted uniforms of the day would clash with jazz. We made the switch and many others followed," Hanes said.

Well-known for their arrangement of the "National Anthem," the rousing and inspiring music of the Marching Salukis has captured many SIU audiences.

And too, for 13 consecutive years, the band has appeared at one St. Louis Cardinal's home game and played this year at a Chicago Bears' game.

Hanes wants to preserve the tuxedo image. The proposed uniform includes a tuxedo-type jacket with a knotted lapel instead of the current shoulder lapel. The lapel will be outlined with black and white piping.

We still want to be distinctive, but we wanted to update the image a little," Hanes said.

If you wish to make a donation to help the Marching Salukis get new uniforms, fill out the coupon below.

Early Fall Admission Sought

In order for freshmen and transfer students to get a headstart on housing, financial aid and preferred majors, it is necessary for them to apply as soon as possible for fall semester admission.

Interested individuals must gain admission to SIU before they can be considered for University housing or financial aid, Jerre Pfaff, associate director of admissions and records, said.

To qualify, freshmen must rank in the upper half of their graduating class and obtain an American College Test (ACT) score of 16 or a composite Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) score of 720.

Approximately 2,170 students, slightly more than 11 and a half percent of the total undergraduate population were posted to the fall semester academic dean's list.

An ACT score of 19 or an SAT score of 800 will qualify freshmen applicants regardless of their class rank.

Freshmen interested in a two-year degree at the School of Technical Careers must score 16 on the ACT and 720 on the SAT or rank in the upper two-thirds of their graduating class.

An overall C average can qualify transfer students. But, transfer students with less than 26 semester hours must meet requirements for beginning freshmen.

Admissions information is available by calling (618) 453-3831. In Illinois, call toll free: 800-642-3531.

Eleven Percent Make Dean's List

Approximately 2,170 students, slightly more than 11 and a half percent of the total undergraduate population were posted to the fall semester academic dean's list.

Different criteria are required by SIU's schools and colleges for students who compile grade point averages meeting exceptional performance standards.

The average overall grade point for the total student body including undergraduates and graduates for fall 1977 was 2.71, according to Lewis Robinson, statistician for Admission and Records.
SIU Plans for I-A Status

SIU has informed the NCAA that it wants to qualify for I-A football status. Gale Sayers, athletic director, said the official notification that SIU would opt for I-A status was mailed March 9 by SIU President Warren Brandt and mailed to the NCAA headquarters in Shawnee Mission, Kan.

SIU can qualify for the I-A football status under the "Ivy League" plan where schools sponsor 12 intercollegiate sports and play 60 percent of its schedule against I-A foes deemed I-A football schools.

Currently, SIU sponsors only 11 sports and must add an additional sport. Sayers said some of the sports being considered are: volleyball, soccer, waterpolo and fencing.

The rest of the Missouri Valley teams -- Indiana State, Tulsa, New Mexico State, Wichita State, Drake and West Texas State, have also applied for the I-A status.

LeFevre Optimistic Over Tough Schedule

Entering his 21st year at the helm of SIU's tennis team, Coach Dick LeFevre will have his hands full. He's lost two starters off last year's Missouri Valley championship team and faces one of the toughest schedules ever.

Even though LeFevre faces such teams as Georgia, Louisiana State University, and Florida, he is optimistic. "I feel that the returning veterans, augmented by two freshmen, will have developed sufficiently to be competitive," he said.

Leading the Saluki netmen will be Jeff Lubner, a 5-9 junior who will move up to the No. 1 singles position with the loss of Mel Ampon who graduated. Lubner will be teamed with Neville Kennerley at the No. 1 doubles spot with high hopes of a NCAA qualification in mind. Kennerley will be at the No. 2 spot in singles with fellow Saluki Bob Anthony. Sam Dean, Mark High, Jose Lizardo and Boaz Nikritun rounding out the squad.

Women's Basketball

Team Gets At-Large Bid

The SIU women's basketball team played as an at-large team in the AIAW Midwest Regional March 10-12 at East Lansing, Mich.

Although the Salukis were defeated 66-63 March 4 by Illinois State in the title game of the state tournament, it appeared that they would not be going to the regional.

However, Coach Cindy Scott received the at-large bid March 5. The Salukis played Michigan State at 8 p.m. March 10. MSU, the host team, posted a 21-6 slate and was second-seeded in the tourney.

The other teams to play were: West Virginia, Wisconsin, Illinois State, Wisconsin-LaCrosse and Indiana State.

The game was played at press time. Full details will be in the May Alumnus.

Women Swimmers Finish Fourth

It was Little David versus Goliath from the beginning and even more so toward the end.

With only seven swimmers and three divers, Southern Illinois was the Little David of women's intercollegiate swimming in 1977-78.

They faced one Goliath after another in the form of 15-member opposition teams, and laced their share before running out of stones in the Illinois Women's State Swimming and Diving Championships in Chicago.

In early dual meet competition, SIU hurled senior co-captain Mindy McCurdy, sophomore Mary Jane Sheets, freshman Heidi Einbroad and diver Julia Warner to bring down big name foes like Illinois State and Missouri.

Little David's stones found their mark again and SIU captured its own Saluki Invitational and netted a third place finish in the prestigious Indiana Invitational.

They swam against McCurdy Sheets, Einbroad and Warner -- their AIAW National qualifiers -- for one last attack at the AIAW State meet. The talented foursome came through, bagging seven individual championships.

SIU junior Anne Gutsick subbed for diver Warner and the Saluki crew blasted a new State record in the 400-medley relay with a 4:06.56 time.

Saluki sophomore Teri Winking got in on the State slugfest and struck a few blows of her own, copping top honors in both 50-backstroke and 100-individual medley.

All totaled, SIU scored ten first places at the State. But in the end, SIU tumbled to a fourth place finish in the State team standings behind two-time titlist Illinois (751), Illinois State (686) and Northwestern (654).

Proposed plans for an 18-hole golf course to be built on campus were announced in the January Alumnus. Shown above is a schematic diagram depicting the proposed golf course's design. The course would be laid out south and west of SIU's campus lake. McLafferty and Reservoir Road are planned as the west and south boundaries. The tip of the northermost fairway would skirt the "back door" entrance to Small Group Housing. Nested in the corner of the course north of Evergreen Terrae would be a 10-acre lake. SIU would lease the 250 acre course to Dick Heath of Evansville, Ind., who will build the course. He also plans to build a clubhouse-lodge on a privately-owned plot within the course. No tax money is involved and the course would be open to the public.

Spotlighting Saluki Sports

Grapplers Post

5-15 Mark

The grapplers compiled a disappointing 5-15 record this season, but a very young and inexperienced Saluki team got some impressive performances from several wrestlers.

Junior John Gross (142) went 20-11-1, senior Dale Eggert (142) went 16-14, and junior Tom Vizzi (190) compiled a 10-16-1 record. Their records might have been better if the wrestlers hadn't wrestled out of their weight class.

Those four could well be factors in the upcoming NCAA meet to be held at the Air Force Academy in late March, and the national finals in Maryland.

Gymnasts Hope to Regain Title

By Mitch Parkinson
Women's Sports Information Director

SIU Coach Herb Vogel has his women's gymnastics team on a vigorous timetable. With the clock wound and running down fast, the big hand could point to SIU's fourth AIAW National Championship.

Since January, the Salukis have been refining high risk stunts which could help the gymnasts regain the American intercollegiate crown.

The Salukis have a personal score to settle with Clarion College. Clarion has pre-empted SIU as the top women's intercollegiate gymnastics power. They did it by halting the Salukis' national title string at two (1974, 1975), and by winning AIAW team titles of their own the past two years.

SIU, years to be on schedule for the Nationals but first comes a date at the Midwest Regionals. The Salukis, who have never lost a regional title will be out to keep that winning streak intact at Ohio State University March 10-11.

The Salukis completed a 15-5 regular season and successfully defended their AIAW State title.

SIU All-Americans Linda Nelson and Cindy Moran, overcame bouts of the flu to take the top two individual spots in the State at Rock Island, Ill., recently. Nelson, a Louisville, Ky., junior, took first in the All-Around competition, edging sophomore Moran in total scoring 34.4 to 34.2.

The two SIU stalwarts got star-studded State assistance from a couple of Saluki youngsters. Freshman Ellen Barrett pulled down a 9.35 mark to lead a SIU vaulting sweep, while Maureen Hennessey tied for first place in uneven bars and second in vaulting.

Vogel feels both Moran and Nelson have a good chance to finish among the top ten individual performers at the Nationals March 29-31.

"Both girls appear to be peaking at just the right time, and they'll be going for broke in the days ahead. We've added more high risk skills to both girls' routines in vaulting, bars and beam," explains Vogel who has compiled a 16-5-15 record in his 15 years at the SIU gymnastics helm.

As for SIU's team chances at the Nationals, Vogel expresses cautious optimism.

"We've got quality kids but with all our inexperience we may be two to three years away from another AIAW National title. If we are to be in serious contention in Seattle, each and every girl must give us a maximum effort and her best performance."

For the Second Consecutive Year

Jones Hopes to Return to World Series

Richard "Itchy" Jones heads into his ninth year at the Saluki baseball helm with hopes of guiding his squad to it's second straight College World Series appearance.

SIU comes off a 41-12 season that saw them finish third in the CWS. The Salukis return four starting pitchers and six regulars.

Heading the returnees is first baseman Craig Robinson, a senior who hit .345 last year while leading the club in RBI's (51), doubles (14) and home runs (7). Robinson is a legitimate All-American candidate.

Also, Jones has returnees Jerry De Simone, a junior shortstop; Chuck Curry, a junior outfielder; Steve Stieb, a senior catcher; Jim Robinson, a senior third baseman and Bruce Hanson, a senior outfielder.

The pitching staff is in the capable hands of right-handers Kevin Waldrop, senior (9-2, 1.76 era); Rick Keeton, a junior (8-2, 4.14 era); and Bob Knezevich, a sophomore (4-1, 1.48 era), who team up with lefty Bob Simond, a junior (6-4, 4.04 era), to give SIU a mound group that will hard to beat in 1978.

Several newcomers to the Carbondale campus could see considerable action as well. Juco transfer Dave Stieb, younger brother of Steve, is a probably starter in the outfield, replacing departed All-American, George Vukovich.

Stieb is joined by five freshmen recruits that could well be a factor in the Saluki picture this year. Bob Doerr (Richmond Park, Ill.), a second baseman-shorstop and Jim Adduci (Chicago, Ill.) may well end up being starters for Jones along with pitchers Paul Evans (Granite City, Ill.), Rod Peterson (Moline, Ill.), and Bob Schroeck (Cincinnati, Ohio).

All in all, 1978 should once again be a year to remember under the direction of Jones and his assistant, Mark Newman.

Basketball Mania

Swimmers Look to Nationals

Young and aggressive, the 1977-78 SIU swimming team coached by Bob Steele, has competed well enough to capture first-place finishes in the 1978 Illinois State Championships, Saluki Invitational, and Miner Relays, a second-place in the Illinois State Relays, and an overall dual meet record of 6-2.

Up to this point, Saluki swimmers David Parker, Greg Porter, Jorge Jaramillo, and the relay team of Ralph Rosario, Steve Jack, Porter, and Dan Friebel have all qualified for NCAA swimming competition.

Diving for the Salukis will be sophomores Rick Theobald, Bill Cashmore, and Garry Mastey. Both Theobald and Cashmore have met qualifying scores for both the three and one-meter boards. Mastey has yet to qualify on the three-meter board. All indications point to a very productive meet and possibly a finsh in the top 10.

Standouts who are on the verge of qualifying for the NCAA's include freestyle swimmers Pat Looby, Bob Samples, and Alabama transfer Dan Griebel; backstroker Ralph Rosario; breaststroker Steve Jack; and distance man Chris Phillips. These and all of the other 1978 SIU swimmers and divers have turned in an excellent year despite their age.

Saluki Take Second in MVC

By Dave Lancer

A 79-76 win over Bradley in the first round of the Missouri Valley Conference tournament on March 10-11. Qualified thus far are seniors on the roster. Coach Paul Lambert took his charges to the region’s final game with Creighton in a tight one for first in the MVC.

And even though the Salukis lost, 62-56, before a home crowd of 9,900 fans and a regional television audience (minus star player Gary Wilson), SIU outdistanced even the most optimistic fan’s greatest expectations. The loss dropped the Salukis to a 17-10 mark.

After struggling through the pre-conference games with a 5-4 record, the Salukis opened up the Valley with two consecutive road losses at the hands of Indiana State (66-58) and Bradley University (80-61). Before returning home to capture their first conference win of the year, knocking off Drake 72-69.

The Salukis evened the conference slate at 2-2 with a win over visiting Tulsa, 67-58 before stunning Creighton in a tie for first in the MVC.

The Salukis were upset in overtime, 80-77, by the Golden Hurricane despite a 24 point effort by Wilson and a 20 pointer by Huggins.

Tracksters Cop MVC

Coach Lew Hartzog’s Saluki indoor track team capped the Illinois Intercollegiates and the Missouri Valley Conference title for the third consecutive year.

The Salukis won the Illinois Intercollegiates for the fifth time in ten tries, defeating host Illinois 169-143. Winning individual titles for SIU were Tim Johnson, pole vault: Rick Rock, long jump; Stan Podolski, 35 pound weight throw; Jerry George, mile run; John Marks, shot put; and Mike Bisase in the 880 yard run.

A flu-hampered-SIU team easily captured its third Valley title in as many years, as the Salukis outdistanced Western Texas State 166-111. Winning individual honors for SIU were Ken Lorraway in both the long and triple jump; Mike Kee in the 60 and 300 yard dash events. Andy Roberts in the 60 yard high and low hurdles. Tim Johnson in the pole vault; John Marks in the shot put, and Mike Bisase in the 880 yard run.

The Salukis won six conference titles, five conference records, and were second in the MVC.

The Salukis moved into a first place tie with Creighton by defeating visiting Bradley, 93-82, with six players scoring in double figures led by Abrams with 20. However, forward Wilson sprained an ankle in the first half and was lost for the remainder of the year.

With first place and a bye to the finals of the MVC, SIU hosted Creighton State and with four players in double figures, defeated the Shockers for the second time, 60-53 to move to 8-4 to stay in title contention.

Playing in the key road games of the season, the Salukis travelled to the southwest to defeat both West Texas State (80-61) and New Mexico State (77-72) to up their record to 10-4 and move them two wins of the second straight MVC title.

Dedicate swine reproduction research lab — U.S. Rep. Paul Simon was the featured speaker at the dedication of a new swine reproduction research laboratory at the SIU-C Swine Center Feb. 27. The laboratory is the result of the cooperative research plans of Harold Hodson, chairman of the Animal Industries Department, and Matthew Freund, chairman of the Physiology Department, and will be used to seek ways to improve the efficiency of swine breeding. Hodson said SIU-C is one of few institutions in the country doing this sort of work. Pictured at the ceremony are, left to right, Freund, Simon, Robert Webb of the Illinois Pork Producers Association, and Hodson. (Photo by Larry Jones)
