A Welcome From the Dean

Although the SIU School of Law is one of the newest law schools in the country, it has a nationwide reputation as being among the very best state law schools in the United States. Our graduates have a remarkable record of achievement in the legal profession, government, business, and as community leaders.

You will find that this school combines traditional and progressive teaching methods and courses with the most modern skills training and computer oriented studies. Our new computer laboratory has approximately one terminal for every 10 students and is designed to provide every student with intensive training in the application of computers in law practice. This law school also has an extensive extracurricular program including the Southern Illinois University Law Journal, moot courts and a variety of active student organizations.

Graduates of the School of Law traditionally have had an exceptionally high pass rate on bar examinations and virtually all graduates each year obtain jobs in the legal field or in another field of their choice.

While our educational and placement programs are important, we also place a great deal of emphasis on the quality of life in the law school community. Law students must attend classes on a regular basis and study long hours; but we believe that legal education should also be a time of personal growth and nurturing. This law school has one of the best student-faculty ratios in the country and you will find that our faculty is very supportive of student efforts and readily available for consultation. Warmth and friendliness are two of the most prominent characteristics of the faculty, staff, and student body. By the time you graduate you should know virtually every student and member of the faculty; and you will have the opportunity to meet and work with prominent lawyers and judges who take an active interest in our students and the law school.

Our goal is to graduate students who are well grounded in the substance and intellectual discipline of the law, who have been exposed to the basic skills and procedures that are necessary to represent clients competently, who have a highly developed sense of ethical propriety, who have a positive view of the role of law in resolving the problems of society, and who are committed to helping other people achieve justice and equality. We look forward to your participation in this noble enterprise.

Harry J. Haynsworth
Dean

University General Information

Southern Illinois University

Southern Illinois University is a multicampus university comprising two institutions, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale (SIUC), with a School of Medicine at Springfield, and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE), with a School of Dental Medicine at Alton and a center in East St. Louis. The University, with an annual operating budget of $357 million, enrolls over 35,000 students in programs from two-year technical curricula to Ph.D. degree programs in 25 fields along with law, medicine, and dental medicine. SIU was chartered in 1869 as Southern Illinois Normal University, a teachers' college. In 1947, the name was changed to Southern Illinois University, reflecting the institution's academic expansion. The University also expanded geographically. As early as 1949, SIU began offering off-campus academic courses in the metropolitan East St. Louis area, which led to the eventual development of a separate institution in Edwardsville.

A modern and comprehensive post-secondary educational institution, Southern Illinois University offers a broad range of academic programs that lead to associate, baccalaureate, master's, specialist's, doctoral, and professional degrees.

The instructional, research, and service missions of the two constituent institutions reflect the needs of the geographic areas in which they are located. The University also is committed to serving statewide needs. This commitment is reflected in educational activities located off the main campuses in communities throughout the state. It is realized also through research and training exchanges and through world-wide student exchange programs.

A nine-member board of trustees governs Southern Illinois University and sets policy that enables the University to carry out established missions and goals. The chancellor of Southern Illinois University is its chief executive officer and reports to the board of trustees. The University presidents report directly to the chancellor and are responsible for the internal operations of SIUE and SIUC respectively.

Location

The city of Carbondale is approximately 100 miles southeast of Saint Louis, Missouri, in Jackson County, the western border of which is the Mississippi River. Some of the most rugged and picturesque terrain in Illinois lies south of Carbondale. Sixty miles to the south is the historic confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers; the two rivers form the border of the southern tip of Little Egypt, the name given to the 14 southernmost counties in Illinois. The region immediately surrounding Carbondale is noted for its large peach and apple orchards. Two state parks and four lakes are located within 10 miles of the campus and much of the area is a part of the Shawnee National Forest.

Campus

The University campus, comprising more than 3,290 acres immediately south of the city of Carbondale, includes a 981-acre developed portion with woods and a lake as a site for academic buildings and residence halls. The buildings are located in wooded tracts along two circular shaped campus drives, named for Lincoln and Douglas. Two beautiful features, located near the center of the campus, are a wooded tract preserved in the tradition of native forests of Southern Illinois and several buildings which formed the original campus a century ago.

1 School of Law

History

The Southern Illinois University School of Law, Carbondale, Illinois, began instruction in law in the fall of 1973. Hiram H. Lesar, for whom the law building is named, was the founding dean and served until 1980. Dan Hopson served as dean until his death in 1985, at which time Rennard J. Strickland was appointed. Harry J. Haynsworth became dean in 1990. The first class graduated in 1976, and there are slightly more than 1,000 alumni.

The school is fully accredited by the American Bar Association and is a member of the Association of American Law Schools.

Twenty-three full-time faculty members are involved in research and publication in addition to their teaching duties. A dynamic, personalized educational environment is the result of a student body of 300 and a faculty/student ratio of 1/13. The group is small enough so that faculty and students can know each other but large enough to justify the variety of courses that should be available in a modern law school. Two visiting professors and six adjunct professors add additional depth to the faculty and curriculum.

Purposes

The main purpose of the School of Law is to train lawyers who will be competent to practice law now and in the future. In addition to specific legal rules, the student must learn analytic skills, research techniques, and the basic legal principles and policies underlying the current applications of those rules. He or she should also learn the basic skills of advocacy, counseling, and negotiation.

The second purpose of the School of Law stems from recognition of the social fact that lawyers are expected to provide a large part of the leadership in a wide spectrum of American life. In general terms this means that lawyers must perform two functions which go beyond rendering competent legal service. They must be prepared to serve in a "watch-dog" capacity with respect to the proper functioning of American institutions, and they must be prepared to participate in "making law."

The second purpose of the school, then, is to assure that the leadership function performed by lawyers is carried out well. For this purpose the lawyer requires not only the whole range of skills and knowledge needed for the practice of law, but also an understanding of our institutions and a sensitivity to potential conflict areas.

The third purpose of the school—which is essential to the fulfillment of the other two—is to instill in its students a proper conception of the professional responsibilities of the lawyer and the organized bar, an understanding of the nature and role of the legal profession, and knowledge and appreciation of the ethical principles by which all lawyers are bound.

Facilities

The Lesar Law Building, dedicated in 1982, is a contemporary structure situated on the western edge of the campus near the lake. The building houses classrooms, student lounges, administrative and faculty offices, and the library, as well as a courtroom and large in-house clinic facilities.

Library

The law library provides all resources needed for research by faculty and students in a superior law school. The new law building includes a 41,000-square-foot library that houses the collection, study spaces, and staff. Services, ranging from expert legal reference to computer-assisted information retrieval, are offered to the law school community.

Law books and law-related information accessible through other media, such as videotapes, audiotapes, microform, or computers, are the core of the law library. The law library holds more than 257,000 volumes—a collection well above the median academic law library size and rich in its variety of titles. This mature library resource includes over 420,000 microform units, the equivalent of close to 92,000 physical books.

Not so easily quantifiable, but just as important for effective research, are the library's computer-assisted research systems (LEXIS and Westlaw), and its computer-assisted library technical processes.

Several sophisticated approaches, including both a card catalog and a CD-Rom based catalog as well as on-line and conventional periodical indexes, provide ready access to the fully classified collection. The interpretive services of law-trained librarians help patrons make efficient use of the materials. The library has been a selective federal government depository library since 1978, and an Illinois state depository library since 1982. Government publications are fully integrated into the cataloged collection and available to both the law school community and the public.

The physical features of the law library combine a serene decor with an eminently functional arrangement. Ample seating at both carrels and tables is provided for library users. The library's design includes access and work stations for patrons in wheelchairs. The relationship of library service centers to library users and to the collection is a model for efficient and immediate access to library materials.

The resources of over 2,000,000 volumes in the University library also are readily available to law students, to supplement the strong, well-staffed law school library. A sophisticated interlibrary loan system provides access to materials held in other major research libraries around the country.

Curriculum

FIRST YEAR

The first-year curriculum is required. It differs from the usual first-year law school curriculum in that Legal Writing and Reasoning is taught in small sections by full-time faculty members.

First Semester		Second Semester
Course	Hours	Course	Hours
Contracts I	3	Contracts II	3
Property I	3	Property II	3
Torts I	3	Torts II	2
The Legal Profession	3	Civil Procedure I	3
Legal Research I: Sources and Methodology	1	Criminal Law	3
Legal Writing and Reasoning	2	Legal Argumentation	2

SECOND AND THIRD YEARS

The curriculum for the second and third years remains flexible. Constitutional Law: 14th Amendment, Legal Research II, and the Senior Writing Seminar are the currently required courses. A Senior Writing Seminar requires a paper of the quality of a law journal comment. SIU Law Journal members are not required to take a seminar, since the law journal work is of equivalent rigor.

The School of Law provides J.D. students who have particular interests in either of two areas—environmental law and health care law—with the opportunity to emphasize these areas during their course of study.

Students interested in environmental and natural resources law may concentrate their course work in these areas. The law school offers a variety of courses ranging from a basic environmental law course to a course in mining law. It is possible for a student to earn nearly twenty credit hours in courses related to natural resources.

Students interested in health care law may focus their course work in this area. The law school offers a wide and growing range of health care law oriented courses. These include an innovative medical malpractice course in which law students are teamed with family practice residents in a local hospital, a summer internship with health-related agencies in Springfield, and practical training in the Legal Clinic for the Elderly. Additionally, the student Law and Medicine Society and the Journal of Legal Medicine provide students with valuable opportunities to cultivate their specialized health care law interests. The school is one of a handful of law schools in the country offering a joint JD/MD degree.

Microcomputers, which are available to students as part of the curriculum and in clinic work, provide valuable training for the practice of law.

Up to 6 semester hours of credit for course work taken in the Graduate School may be applied, with permission of the deans of both the Graduate School and the School of Law, toward the number of hours required for the J.D. degree and toward the residence semester requirement. A student must earn a grade of B or better in such work for School of Law credit to be given; this letter grade will be reflected on a student's School of Law record, but will not be used to compute the law grade-point average.

The total of course work permitted in each of the areas of clinical law, moot court, and law review may not exceed 6 semester hours each.

A list of second- and third-year courses normally offered during the academic year follows.

Summer School

The law school offers a limited summer school program with courses established each year on an ad hoc basis. New students are not admitted in the summer.

Admission

To be admitted as a candidate for the Juris Doctor degree, an applicant must present a bachelor's degree and demonstrate capacity for the study of law by a satisfactory undergraduate record and satisfactory performance on the Law School Admission Test (LSAT). Forms for applying for the LSAT and for admission to the law school may be obtained from the Office of Admissions, School of Law, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Carbondale, Illinois 62901 (618/453-8767, 618/453-8722).

The LSAT is administered on a nationwide basis by the Law School Admission Services, Box 2000, Newtown, PA 18940, and is offered on the SIUC campus four times each year. The test administration dates no later than October or December of the applicant's final year of undergraduate study are preferred. LSAT scores which are more than three years old will not be considered by the admissions committee.

Applicants must also register with the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) by completing the form found in the LSAT bulletin of information and returning it to the Law School Admission Services. Applicants must have transcripts sent to LSDAS by the registrar of each college and professional or graduate school attended. Test scores and evaluations of transcripts are reported to applicants and to the law schools they designate. It is not necessary that application for admission to the School of Law be made before taking the test or registering with LSDAS.

Applications for admission to the school may be filed any time after September 1, but applicants are strongly encouraged to file their applications prior to February 1. There is a $15.00 application fee.

An applicant who is admitted is required to make a nonrefundable tuition deposit of $100 by April 1, unless accepted later, when several weeks are allowed. This deposit will be credited against the first semester's tuition and fees.

The rules of the School of Law prohibit the admission of any applicant who has been dismissed academically from another law school.

Admissions are made without regard to race, religion, sex, national origin, age, handicap, or other factors prohibited by law. The law school has an active affirmative action program and participates in the Council on Legal Education Opportunity (CLEO) program.

Admission of Foreign Applicants

Foreign applicants must take the LSAT (it can not be waived). Applicants with undergraduate degrees from foreign universities which participate in LSDAS (see Appendix E of the Law Services Information Book) must register with LSDAS. If the foreign university is not a participant in LSDAS, the applicant should have his undergraduate transcripts summarized by Educational Credentials Evaluators, P.O. Box 17499, Milwaukee, WI 53217 (USA), and the ECE Report should be submitted to the director of admissions at SIU School of Law.

Foreign applicants for whom English is not their native language must take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) and supply the SIU School of Law with an official report of the results of such test.

A foreign applicant's admission file is complete when the director of admissions has received: (1) the LSAT score; (2) the LSDAS Report or ECE Report; and (3) the TOEFL score (if applicable). No admissions decision can be taken without all of these items.

Admission of Handicapped Students

The School of Law maintains a strong commitment to make all services, programs, and activities available to students with disabilities. Our new facility provides access for those in wheelchairs or with limited mobility. Both the campus and the city of Carbondale are accessible to students who use wheelchairs, and to those who are semi-ambulatory, visually handicapped, hearing-impaired, or otherwise disabled. The University Housing Office provides modified housing in the Thompson Point residential area and in the family housing areas.

The law school will gladly help handicapped students make arrangements to meet special needs. Students who seek further information should consult the Admissions Office or the University's Office of Disabled Student Services.

Admission of Transfer Applicants

Transfer applicants must have completed at least one full year of law school at an ABA-accredited law school which is also a member of the Association of American Law Schools. Transfer applicants must submit an official copy of their law school and undergraduate transcripts, an LSDAS Report, and a letter from their law school dean's office certifying that they are in good academic standing and are eligible unconditionally for readmission to that law school. No admission decisions will be rendered until all of these documents have been received.

Admission of transfer applicants is always discretionary. The transfer applicants must establish, by their prior law school records, that they are capable of above-average law school academic performance. Ordinarily, transfer applicants must also demonstrate that they would have been accepted had they applied to SIU School of Law as a first-year law student.

Pre-Law Study

The law school does not require any particular subjects or specific course of study for admission. A broad liberal arts education is better preparation for the study of law than specialized subjects closely related to the law.

As the principal tool of the lawyer is the art of expression, and the importance of the study of English cannot be over-emphasized, the pre-law student should acquire facility in the communication of ideas, both oral and written.

Degree Requirements

A candidate for the Juris Doctor (J.D.) degree must satisfy the entrance requirements, fulfill the residence requirements, and satisfactorily complete a total of 90 semester hours of work for credit, and must pass all required courses. The required courses currently consist of all first year courses, Constitutional Law, Legal Research II, and a Senior Writing Seminar.

RESIDENCE REQUIREMENTS

A candidate must complete six semesters of residence (the last two must be in this School of Law). In order to obtain residence credit for a semester, a candidate must complete a minimum of 12 hours of work and must obtain final credit in a minimum of 10 hours of work. A candidate who either examines in or obtains final credit for fewer than the required minimum hours will be given proportionate (12ths) residence credit. No credit toward residence is given in courses in which a student receives a failing grade.

LIMITATION OF COURSE HOURS

No student may register for more than 16 hours without the consent of the dean. It is advisable for students to devote most of their time to their work in the school. Students who undertake substantial employment outside the school should reduce their course loads.

ATTENDANCE AND WITHDRAWAL

Regular attendance is required of each student. Specific rules regulating attendance and withdrawal are set forth in the law school rules. Copies of the rules are available in the law library.

EXAMINATIONS

A student who has not withdrawn, or been withdrawn, from a course is expected to take the examination for that course at the regularly scheduled time. Unexcused failure to take an examination will result in a failing grade. If failure to take an examination is excused, the student may, with the permission of the dean and the instructor, take the examination after the rest of the class or at the time it is next regularly offered. Withdrawal from a non-required course must be made in accordance with University deadlines.

POOR SCHOLARSHIP RULE

Grades are given in numbers on a scale of 0.0 to 4.0, with 2.0 being the average required for graduation. A student who fails to have a cumulative average of 1.9 at the end of the first year or 2.0 at the end of any other academic year will be dropped from the school for poor scholarship. During the student's senior year a 2.0 average must be obtained in courses taken during that senior year.

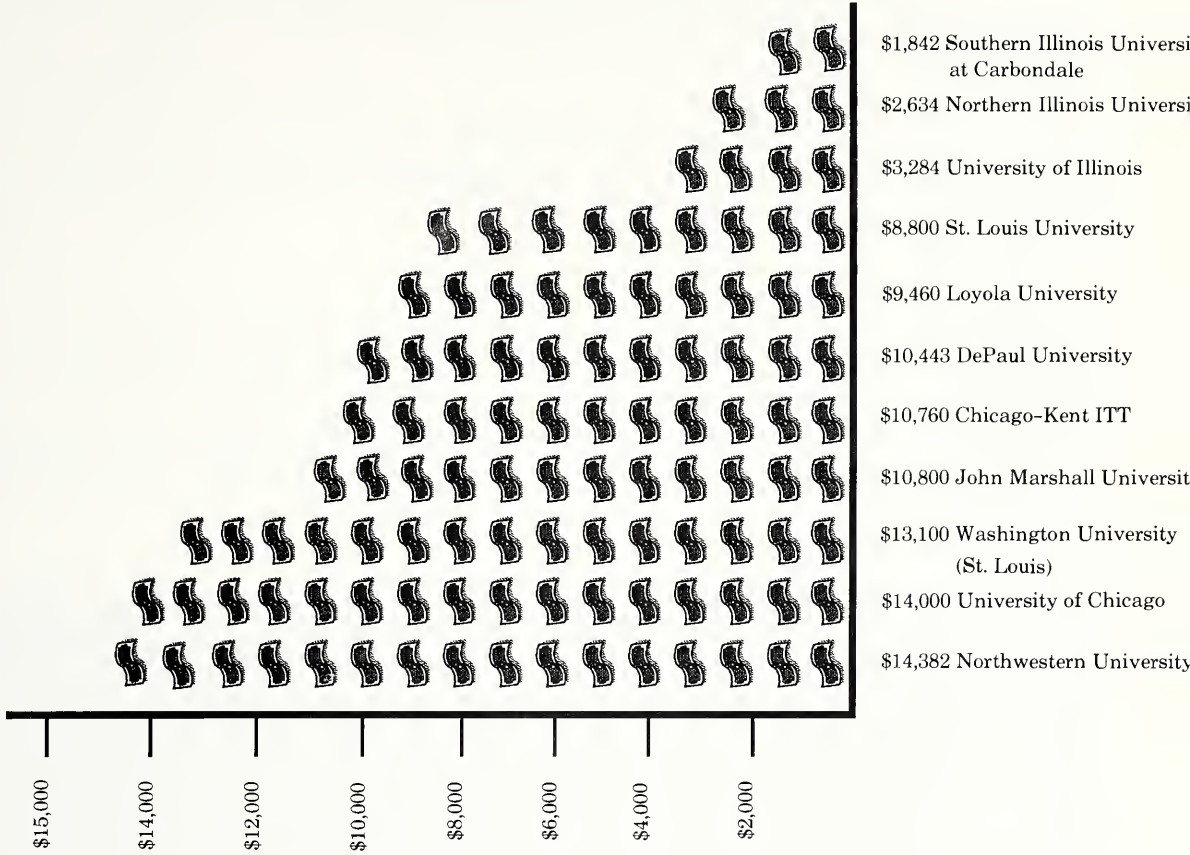

A student whose average at the end of the first year is below 1.9 may appeal to the dean, who refers the petition to the Academic Standards Committee to recommend acceptance or denial of a petition for readmission.

SCHOOL OF LAW ACADEMIC RULES

Copies of the academic rules of the law school are available in the law library, and are controlling if in conflict with statements contained in this bulletin.

Honors

The Dean's List is compiled every semester and includes those students in each class who rank in the top 15% of full time students. Those students comprising the top 10% of each class are eligible for nomination to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, a national honorary society.

GRADUATING HONORS

Individuals in the top 3% of a graduating class are awarded Juris Doctor degrees, Summa Cum Laude; the next highest 7% are awarded Juris Doctor degrees, Magna Cum Laude; and those in the next highest 10% are awarded Juris Doctor degrees, Cum Laude.

Tuition and Fees

Tuition and fees in the School of Law are established by the Board of Trustees and are subject to change whenever conditions make changes necessary. Tuition and fees for regularly enrolled law students (taking 12 or more semester hours) are $1,304.90 per semester for residents and $3,146.90 per semester for non-residents for fall 1990; tuition and fees for spring 1991 are $1,505.90 for residents and $3,749.90 for non-residents per semester. Books will cost about $300 per semester.

3. Applicants must answer each question on the application. Incomplete applications will be returned and cause a delay in processing.
4. If an answer to any question on the application requires additional space, please submit a printed or typewritten supporting statement which will be treated as a part of the application.
5. To be admitted as a candidate for the Juris Doctor degree, an applicant must have received a bachelor's degree and must have demonstrated capacity for the study of law by a satisfactory undergraduate record and satisfactory performance on the Law School Admission Test (LSAT). An applicant's undergraduate record which consists of less than 75 semester hours (or 113 quarter hours) of graded work may be considered insufficient to give a reliable measure of the applicant's undergraduate performance.
6. SIU School of Law requires for each applicant an official LSDAS report, which is an evaluation by the Law School Data Assembly Service of your college and graduate transcripts, and your score(s) on the Law School Admissions Test. LSAT scores which are more than three years old will not be considered by the admissions committee.
Applicants must register directly with LSDAS by completing the form found in the LSAT Bulletin of Information. This bulletin of information may be obtained on request from the School of Law, from your undergraduate college, or from the Law School Admission Services, Box 2000-C, Newtown, PA 18940.
7. The School of Law has no formal deadline for the submission of applications. However, applicants are strongly encouraged to submit their completed applications by February 1, 1991. Applications completed after that date will delay the admission decision.

8. Foreign applicants must take the LSAT (it can not be waived). Applicants with undergraduate degrees from foreign universities which participate in LSDAS (see Appendix E of the Law Services Information Book) must register with LSDAS. If the foreign university is not a participant in LSDAS, the applicant should have his undergraduate transcripts summarized by Educational Credentials Evaluators, P.O. Box 17499, Milwaukee, WI 53217 (USA), and the ECE Report should be submitted to the director of admissions at SIU School of Law.

A foreign applicant's admission file is complete when the director of admissions has received: (1) the LSAT scores; (2) the LSDAS Report or ECE Report; and (3) the TOEFL score (if applicable). No admissions decision can be taken without all of these items.

9. Applicants for whom English is not their native language must take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) and supply the School of Law with an official report of the results of such test. (An application form for the TOEFL test will be sent to you by the School of Law at your request.)

The policy of the School of Law at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale is to comply fully with applicable federal and state nondiscrimination and equal opportunity laws, orders, and regulations. The School of Law does not discriminate in its programs and activities against any person because of race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, age, sex, handicap, or status as a disabled veteran or a veteran of the Vietnam era. This nondiscrimination policy applies to admissions, employment, treatment of individuals, and access to programs.

Financial Aid

The SIUC Financial Aid office is responsible for administering financial aid for SIUC students. Although financial assistance is available to those who qualify, law students are limited by the types of financial aid for which they may apply. Student loans are the most conventional source of assistance to law students. Currently there are several loan programs available including the Law Access Loan (LAL), which is a program designed to meet the special needs of the law student. In addition, many students participate in the on-campus student work program.

To be considered for student work and loans, students should complete and mail the 1990-91 American College Testing Family Financial Statement—ACT/FFS. (SIUC does not use the GAPS FAS.) ACT forms are available each January and should be completed and mailed as soon after January 1 as possible. Completing the form in a timely manner will allow for early notification of each student's financial aid eligibility status. For a copy of the 1990-91 ACT/FFS and more specific financial aid information, students should contact the Financial Aid office, Woody Hall, B Wing, Third Floor, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Carbondale, Illinois 62901-4702 (618-453-4334).

In addition, the School of Law has limited resources for financial aid which include:

1. A significant number of research assistantships awarded to members of the second- and third-year classes primarily on a merit basis. Assistantships provide a tuition waiver and a modest monthly salary. Approximately one-third of the upperclass students have assistantship appointments.
2. A limited number of work opportunities in the law library and in the administrative offices of the school.
3. A limited number of cash grants.
4. A limited number of tuition-remission scholarships awarded on an academic basis to first-year students (with outstanding LSAT scores and GPAs) and on a financial-need basis to all eligible law students.
5. A limited number of fellowships available to students of ethnic groups under-represented in the legal profession.
6. A limited fund for emergency short-term loans.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS

Current scholarships, honors, and awards are:

Natural Resources Law Award

Prentice-Hall Tax Award

West Publishing Company Awards

Lawyers Co-op Publishing Company Awards

There are also state and national essay competitions on legal subjects, and scholarships are available to law students at any school from a variety of organizations. Information about these opportunities is available in the law school.

Housing

University on-campus housing is available for 4,771 single students and 576 married students. Two newly-remodeled residence halls across the street from the law school are reserved for law student single-room occupancy, and several apartments in married student housing are reserved for law students. Off-campus housing is readily available. Inquiries concerning other on-campus or off-campus housing may be obtained from University Housing, Washington Square, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Carbondale, Illinois 62901 (618/453-2301).

Honor Code

Preparation for law must encourage individual integrity as well as an understanding of law. The School of Law has adopted its own comprehensive ethics and disciplinary code. The high regard for ethical conduct at SIUC is reflected in the unique practice of giving each law student a key to the building and library. Copies of the code will be sent to applicants on request and are available in the law library.

Clinical Program

The school operates an extensive, in-house legal aid clinic. It also offers a limited externship program. The clinic provides selected students with a number of internships and research assistantships. Other students may obtain credit. Clients include the elderly in thirteen southern Illinois counties and the inmates of three state and one federal prison. Students also work with the Land of Lincoln program for indigent persons, with state's attorney's offices, and with public defender and appellate public defender programs. There is an unusual opportunity for variety in the clinic experience. For instance, an Illinois Supreme Court rule enables third-year clinic students to practice in court as long as they are accompanied by a licensed attorney. Clinic credit may not be given before a student's fifth semester. The total hours obtainable are limited.

Law Journal

The Southern Illinois University Law Journal, published quarterly, is a scholarly legal journal which publishes articles and shorter student work on the law and law-related topics. Published materials include articles written by law students, law professors, judges, and other members of the legal profession. The journal is managed and edited by an editorial board made up of third-year law students. Members of the editorial board are elected from those second-year students who have successfully completed the journal's writing program. The writing program involves second-year students in an intensive program of legal research, writing and analysis under the direction of the editorial board. Participation by second-year students in the journal's writing program is determined on both an invitational and a competitive basis open to all students in good standing. One issue of the journal each year, the Survey of Illinois Law, features 10 to 12 articles on recent developments in various areas of Illinois law.

The Journal of Legal Medicine, the official quarterly publication of the American College of Legal Medicine, presents, on a regular basis, articles written by students at Southern Illinois University School of Law. This arrangement is designed to allow law students who have special interests in law and medicine to pursue those interests through scholarly research and publication.

Legal Argumentation

The legal argumentation program is a comprehensive one. It provides a required experience in appellate practice in the first year. This is followed by an opportunity to participate in regional and national competitions, including the ABA-sponsored National Appellate Advocacy and Client Counseling Competitions, the Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition, the National Trial Competition, the Frederick Douglass Moot Court Competition, the National Environmental Law Competition, the All-Illinois Moot Court Competition, and the National and ABA Moot Court Competitions. SIUC teams have enjoyed great success in these competitions. Law school teams won the national rounds of the American Bar Association Moot Court Competition in 1985 and 1986; the school's teams won the regional rounds in 1985, 1987, 1988, and 1989. An SIUC team won the regional round of the National Moot Court Competition in 1989. Five times in the last six years the SIUC team has won the regional rounds of the Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition.

Concurrent Degree Programs

The School of Law, in cooperation with the Graduate School, offers concurrent J.D. and master's degrees in business administration, public affairs, and accountancy. A student must be enrolled in both the graduate program and the law school. The master's programs ordinarily require 30 hours of study, while the law degree requires 90 hours. When the master's and J.D. degrees are pursued concurrently, a significant reduction in the total number of hours required to earn both degrees is achieved. Details of the concurrent degree programs are available from the law school registrar, Norma Brown. Students should make their interest in the above concurrent degree programs known to the registrar after the completion of the first year of law school study.

A concurrent J.D./M.D. degree may be obtained through a six-year course of study. Students must be admitted to both the SIU School of Law and the SIU School of Medicine. The program requires that students take the first two years of the law school curriculum, including two summer sessions, then four years of the medical school program. The fourth year in the medical school sequence consists of a specially designed group of electives in law, medicine, and health policy. Inquiries about this concurrent program should be directed to Scott Nichols, director of admissions at the School of Law.

Student Organizations

The student body has drafted and adopted a constitution and by-laws for the Student Bar Association of which every regular law school student is a member. The association functions primarily through officers and committees elected by the membership at large and plays an integral role in the operation and governance of the law school. The students who serve as representatives to the faculty meetings are elected by the students, and those who serve on the various faculty committees are appointed by the dean from a list submitted by the Student Bar Association.

Other student organizations are Phi Alpha Delta, Phi Delta Phi, the Donald F. McHenry International Law Society, the Women's Law Forum, the National Lawyers Guild, the Black American Law Students Association, the Hispanic Law Students Association, the Law and Medicine Society, the Environmental Law Society, the Christian Legal Society, and law student divisions of the Illinois State Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

Child Care

The law school provides facilities for cooperative child care for the use of law students evenings and weekends.

There are child care programs sponsored by the University, one of which provides significantly reduced rates for students.

Career Development

The SIU School of Law provides professional career counseling to all students and has its own law careers library. On-campus interviews, principally geared toward second- and third-year students, occur in the fall and spring semesters. Students may participate in several regional interview programs in Chicago, St. Louis, Peoria, and Springfield, Illinois. Additional programs are available to enhance minority career opportunities.

The career development office encourages students to begin career planning in their first semester of law school. For students in their first semester, educational seminars provide descriptions of a wide range of legal careers. In addition, we offer assistance with resume preparation, cover letters, and mock interviews to improve the competitiveness of SIUC students in the legal job market. The career library bulletin board lists a variety of opportunities for employment, scholarships and fellowships, and related activities. Upon request, alumni may receive the weekly placement bulletin, listing nation-wide employment opportunities. To assist in relocation, SIUC maintains reciprocity with nearly every law school in the country.

For the May 1989 graduating class, 80% of the 94 graduates found permanent employment prior to the bar examination. Within six months of graduation, this figure rose to 92%. The following chart illustrates the distribution of the various career paths.

Type of Practice	Percent Employed
private law firm (or sole practice)	55
criminal: prosecutor or public defender	10
federal, state or local government agency	10
judicial law clerks	9
judge advocate general	6
corporate	6
public interest	3
other	1

Annual salaries ranged from $18,000 to $57,000, with the median being $25,000.

Nearly two-thirds of the class of 1989 decided to stay in Illinois, and 75% settled in the quad-state (Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Kentucky) area. Thirteen graduates located outside the quad-state area, in California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Minnesota, New Mexico, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, and Wisconsin. These results are typical of the total alumni group, which is concentrated in Illinois but is spread throughout the United States and also in some foreign countries.

The School of Law is firmly committed to a policy against discrimination in employment based on sex, race, religion, age, handicap, or national origin, and it expects all employers who avail themselves of the placement services to avoid such discriminatory practices.
