Rusty Mitchell Wins NCAA Tumbling Honors

Southern Turned Back In Bid For National Gym Championship

Rusty Mitchell, sophomore gymnast, upset highly favored Fred Orlofsky in the team event of the state of Illinois to win the National Collegiate Gynastics Championship. Mitchell placed second with 94.25 points while Holmes finished with 93.

Despite Mitchell's top performance, the SIU team managed to score only 75 points to win second place. Southern California won first place with a total of 95.5 points.

It was the second straight year that coach Bill Meade's gymnasts finished second in the meet. Last year SIU finished eight-points behind winner Penn State. Penn this year failed to finish in the top seven.

Slonimsky heads the list of speakers who will appear on convocations during the spring term. Their topics will range from music to the space race.

On the spring schedule are Dr. Robert W. Bradbury, professor of economics at the University of Florida, Pan American Week, April 12; Kenneth Medley, associate editor of Nation's Business Magazine, annual Lovejoy Lecture, April 19; "Music for the Heart, Head and Toes," by organist Richard Leibert, April 26; Albert Parry speaking on "The U.S.-Russian Space Race," May 3; the Spring Festival presentation, May 10; Scholastic Honor Societies Recognition Day, May 24; and a special program concluding this term's convocations--on May 31.

In addition to winning tumbling and placing eighth in the all-around, Mitchell finished in a tie for eighth in the free exercise event. Southern's only other point winners were Hugh Blaney and Chuck Woerz. Blaney placed fourth and Woerz seventh in the tumbling event.

Students will have to continue to eat their hamburgers at the Oasis Room without the accommodation of Chubby Checker, Elvis Presley and screaming Jay Hawkins.

The Student Council voted down a motion to install a juke box in the Oasis Room at the University Center after a lengthy discussion on the record types that would be played. Some members also questioned the need of a juke box in the snack bar.

In other action at last Thursday's meeting, it was announced that all future off-campus student housing will be affected by state fire codes.

Mr. Council also voted 663 to send four delegates to a Peace Corps conference April 6 and 7 at the University of Illinois.

Joe Thomas Jr. was notified Monday that he has won a scholarship to study voice at the Metropolitan Opera Company's training school for young singers.

John Gurnan, assistant manager of the Met, wrote Marjorie Lawrence, director of the SIU Opera Workshop, that the trustees of the Kathryn Long Opera School had authorized a $200 scholarship for Thomas.

In his letter, Gurnan said, that Schick was so impressed with Thomas' voice that he urged the Met training school to give him a scholarship.

Thomas, who was featured as the Ethiopian king in the Opera Workshop's recent production of "Aida," recently heard and auditioned with George Schick, Met conductor, in New York City.

Thomas, until recently was working part time through music school here by being listed as a Carbonale fireman.

Miss Lawrence said that while the amount of the scholarship is relatively small "the amount of recognition for Joe's fine talent is large."

He will study for one year at the school and then will be considered for a contract with the Met or the Zurich opera.

Miss Lawrence added that she is proud of Joe's talent and that he is a fine student.

DEFERRED STUDENTS Urged To Check Their Draft Status

University officials this week reminded all male students attending school on a draft deferment basis that they should check their deferment status.

Mrs. Dorothy Stroman of the records department in the Registrar's Office said, "Many students whose deferment ended in March have failed to contact the University regarding their desire to remain in school. Failure to do this within 30 days after the end of winter term may result in sudden interruption of their schooling to fulfill a military obligation."

"If you have a deferment for the present year and desire one for the next academic year you should contact me," she added. "This should be done anytime after the middle of the term. Don't fail to do this. The student's rank must be sent to his local Selective Service Board no later than 30 days after the close of the academic year."

The Gant Story

We believe that Gant shirts have a certain well-bred look that distinguishes them from all others. Careful tailoring and adherence to a strict tradition are qualities indigenous to Gant. The emphasis here is on meticulous detail in a heritage of conservation.

Do you like a well-fitted, well-fitting collar? Softly flowed collar construction is gently RIGHT. Do you want to keep your shirt up? A trim hanger loop sees to that. Room to breathe? Overall body construction is the answer. There's a full length box pleat back for trimness, too. Prevents the clinging that causes the box collar cuffs to roll up at mid-point.

The Gant shirt has been designed to serve you through a lifetime of current dressing. There is painstaking workmanship in every line. Gant shirts are among the finest shirtemakers. The craft explains why the careful details of these Gant shirts have been lost but never duplicated.

Archaeologist Opens New Series On Art-Archaeology Thursday

Archaeologist George E. Mylonas will inaugurate a series of lectures, "Southern Illinois University Lectures in the History of Art and Archaeology," at 8 p.m., Thursday in the Morris Library Auditorium. Colored slides will accompany his lecture.

Mylonas, chairman of the department of art and archaeology at Washington University in St. Louis, has been doing continual research, making discoveries, and exploring ancient ruins of Greece for many years. Recently he has been doing research which is connected with the exploration of ancient Mycenae, the capital city of the Greek hero, Agamemnon.

Library Exhibits Boyle Publications

Works and manuscripts of novelist-poet Kay Boyle currently are on exhibit in the main corridor of Morris Library.

Miss Boyle, the winner of two O'Henry short story awards and two Guggenheim grants, will be at SIU tomorrow and Thursday for two public lectures.

The exhibit includes the majority of volumes Miss Boyle has published, a portion of her manuscripts, and special materials on loans from collectors.

Of particular interest, according to Humanities librarian Alan Cohn, are "progress" poetry manuscripts showing the development of individual poems from their inception, through numerous revisions, to the final published work.

Post war Germany will be the topic of Miss Boyle's lecture tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Morris Library auditorium. The author, who spent the Twenties and Thirties in Europe and served as German correspondent for New Yorker magazine during World War II, currently is working on a history of contemporary Germany.

Keel Replaces Mrs Greene As Circulation Librarian

Robert Keel yesterday took over circulation librarian duties at Morris Library. He replaces Charity Greene, who has accepted a position in the order department of the University of Connecticut library. Keel, who was circulation librarian at George Peabody University before taking the SIU post, will head a staff of five full-time employees and 50 student workers. His department is in charge of all book circulation and the stacks.

According to library director Ralph McCoy, circulation of books reached an all-time high at SIU last quarter. An average of 30,000 books a month were circulated outside the library, he said.

The circulation department is being kept so busy and so crowded, McCoy added, that a portion of its record-keeping and filing has been transferred to the second floor of Morris Library.

What Conservative Trend?

In evaluating the Republican Party's chances for the off-year congressional elections, the Washington Post (March 12) listed among the GOP's assets the "conservative trend noted on many college campuses." This trend, about which we have heard so much, the Republicans hope will "lead young people to the Grand Old Party." Well, we're like the fellow from Amherst who wrote the magazine asking "What conservative trend?" He pointed out that students at Amherst in 1960 favored the Democratic candidates for the first time in this century, that the National Student Association is increasingly liberal in its outlook, and that only last January $5,000 American students went to Washington to demonstrate against nuclear testing.

We suppose that the liberal--conservative argument has been going on especially on the college campuses blessed with any politically minded students--for a good many more years than we are old and that the controversy will continue. We would hope so at least. Quite recently a verbal duel on the University of Illinois campus up at Champaign-Urbana pitted the right against the left. David McCord Wright argued for the conservatives and Leon Keyserling for the liberals in what was reported to be quite a battle. Of course they did not settle most of their points of disagreement, but one else could do it. It is a comforting thought, however, that such a debate was held even if it was a bit too dusty to have any students on this campus would attend one.

But is there a conservative trend on the college campuses? A question that apparently has interested many writers of late, and so doubt a question to which the answer depends upon one's political leanings. Some writers have questioned any such trend, others have kakoled it, and but wondering if students on this campus would attend one.

Backyard Cleanup Necessary To Attract Industry

By Bob Ayman

Southern Illinois has been placed on the Depressed Areas Bill, which means this area with a 32 percent unemployment rate should receive Federal Government aid. The main economic strength of this area is coal--a resource that has always been present and will continue to be the mainstay of the area. Although Southern Illinois has been considered a depressed area, there is an index of the many industries that are located there. Some of these industries are: 1. Coal mining. 2. Gas and oil production. 3. Electric power. 4. Transportation. One of the two great coal-producing centers of the nation, 28 percent of the national coal production comes from Southern Illinois, and 35 percent of the nation's bituminous and anthracite reserves are found here.

A tremendous supply of labor is located in the area. There is nearly 111,000 people within a 200 mile radius of Southern Illinois, and if we extend this to 400 miles there is a population of nearly 42 million people included.

Five major gas pipelines cross Illinois south of U.S. R. 46, plus major oil pipelines are tapped for service to local industries. The electric power needs of the area in general are met by Central Illinois Public Service Company, Kentucky Utilities, Illinois Power Company, Indiana Gas and Electric Public Service Company of Indiana, Rural Electrification Administration, and Union Electric Company of Missouri. These facilities abound.

More than 20 railroads serve Southern Illinois with a well developed transportation system. St. Louis and federal highways traverse the area, and one of the oldest trans-
Stampede On For Cage Coaching Job

At least a dozen coaches from high school, college and professional ranks have been rumored as possibilities for the SIU basketball coaching job.

The Southern Illinois High School Coaches Association has passed a resolution asking that high school coaches from the area be given first consideration. However, SIU athletic officials have repeatedly said that the new coach might come from any rank.

One of the most persistent names cropping up in the rumors is Bill Sharman, former Chicago Celtics guard who was fired as coach of the American Basketball League's Los Angeles team. So he is available if the job is offered.

Ray Padovan Takes 4th In Swimming Meet

Ray Padovan, SIU junior freestyle specialist, placed fourth in the 100-meter freestyle Saturday in the National Collegiate swimming championships for Southern's three points.

It was the second straight year that Padovan has been the only Saluki swimmer to score. Last year he finished third in the 50-yard race.

Southern's other three entries failed to gain the final round of competition. SIU's three points tie the Florida State for 19th in the team standings. Ohio State won the 59th NCAA swimming title with 55 points.

SIU Netmen Drop Opener In Texas

SIU dropped both of its weekend matches to collegiate tennis powers Lamar Tech. Coach Dick LeFevre's netmen lost 9-0 and 7-2 in the matches.

Pancho Castillo, SIU sophomore, and freshman Lance Lumadon scored SIU's only victories. Castillo defeated Mexican Davis Cup team member Alfonso Ochoa, 6-4, 6-5, 6-3. Lumadon dropped Robin Spengler, 6-3 and 9-7, for the only other SIU victory.

Lynn Holder Tees Off 16th SIU Golf Season Wednesday

Lynn Holder launches his 16th season as SIU golf coach tomorrow afternoon when he sends his team against Southeast Missouri State College at the Crab Orchard Golf Course.

Holder is responsible for the formation of golf as a varsity sport at Southern in 1947. After eight comparitively lean years, Southern recently has shown signs of gaining national recognition and this year is facing perhaps its stiffest schedule.

Last season, Holder's team won its first IHAC title and it appears well-stocked for defense of the championships. Holder expects last year's runner-up, Western Illinois, to furnish the most opposition.

Reason for Holder's feeling for Western is that the IHAC golf championships will be held on the Leatherneck golf course. The golf veteran figures the home course will be the deciding factor.

Returning from last year's championship team are Bill Barnett, Gene Carello, Roy Gish, Jim Place and Jerry Thomas. Two of Holder's best golfers have been lost by graduation.

Carello has been named captain of this year's equal that faces a 15-match card. Highlighting the 1962 golf schedule is last year's national collegiate champion Purdue.

A number of high school coaches reportedly have inquired about the job. Among them are: Don Stann, coach at Pocatello, Idaho; Bill Purden, Harvey Thornton coach; Leedoc Cabuti of Champaign. College coaches known to have inquired are T. L. Plain, Kentucky Wesleyan coach, and Ray Mears of Winesburg College.

Gunner Wyman, coach at Tell City, Ind., also reportedly talked to SIU officials about the post. According to Indiana basketball fans he is one of the best high school coaches in the Midwest.

The SIU Cricket Club will meet at 11 a.m. Sunday in the O'Fallon Room of the University Center.

Persons interested in playing cricket this season are invited to attend.

Fish Count Shows 1,800 Bass Live In Campus Lake

There are at least 22 bass between 15 and 20 inches long — presumably waiting to be caught — in the Lake-on-the-Campus, according to a recent “census.”

The fish-count also indicated that 180 bass measure between 11 and 15 inches in length. In addition, the campus lake has 1600 of the game fish between four and 11 inches, the count shows.

Three fishing derbies have been scheduled for student Isaac Waltons. The first will be April 21. It will be followed with similar derbies — with prizes for the largest fish and largest catch -- on May 5 and 30.
