Reinhardt Show To Open Art Gallery In Allyn Building

Beginning Tuesday, Dec. 11, the new Allyn Art Gallery in the Allyn building at Southern will open with Siegfried Reinhardt’s one-man show of paintings and drawings. The exhibition is being sponsored by the art department.

Reinhardt is the youngest of 19 artists chosen by Life magazine to produce murals for the country’s outstanding playwrights under 30 years of age. This will be the first one-man show by Reinhardt outside of St. Louis. In 1944 Southern Illinois University was first to present a one-man show in the city.

Although Reinhardt’s work will go on exhibit Dec. 11, the show will not officially open until Dec. 16 when Reinhardt will be presented at a reception in the gallery. The exhibition will run until Jan. 18, 1952. During the course of the showing, Reinhardt will serve as guest lecturer for one week on the art.

Twenty-four drawings and 24 paintings will be exhibited. Included in the show will be “Resurrection” which Life magazine reproduced and “Deposition,” which was chosen by New York’s Metropolitan for its 1950 contemporary show.

Student Center Plans Xmas Decorating Party

“The Student Center Deck the Halls” party, which is a Christmas decorating party which will be held at the Student Center Monday, Dec. 10. Miss Bible To Be Soloist at Second Community Concert

Frances Bible, mezzo-soprano of the New York Opera company, will appear as soloist at the second in a series of four Community concerts at the University auditorium, Wednesday, Dec. 12, 8 p.m.

The concert, sponsored by the Community Concert association, will feature an orchestra with Miss Bible acting as soloist with members of the Chorister association. Miss Bible, on tour after completing a successful season with the New York Opera company in the spring, will appear in Concert Monday, Dec. 10, prior to her engagement here.

She is a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, New York City, and made her first operatic appearance in 1945 as Derfelicia in “Costa Fani Tutti,” under the baton of Wilfred Pelletier, eminent operatic and symphonic conductor. Miss Bible came to the New York company after four summers with the Chautauqua, N. Y., Opera company, and made her debut in the fall of 1948. She has sung leading mezzo soprano roles in such opera as “Aida,” “Carmen,” “Salome,” “Cavalleria Rusticana,” “Faust,” “Der Rosenkavalier,” and many others.

Debate Teams To Attend Two Meets

Debate teams from Southern will travel to Greenville, Ill., and Kirksville, Mo., to participate in debates this week-end, Albert J. Crotz, head debate coach and instructor in speech and English.

Debate coaches making the trip to Greenville on Saturday morning include: Allocative—Gene Pennington, Jerry Fear; Negative—Jack Smith, Janis Nowers and John Allen.

Those who will journey to Kirkville Thursday night are: Allocative—Earl Bolles and Lloyd Bittinger; Negative—Carolyn Reed and Sue Martin.

SLU speech students have participated in one other meet since the beginning of the current school year. It was held at Bradley University, Peoria on Oct. 19 and Saturday, Nov. 16, and 17.

In the radio newscasting section of each meet, Lloyd Briefer and Charles Tucker received top honors with a superior rating.

SIU Alumni Live Throughout World

Southern Illinois University alumni are scattered throughout the world, says Robert O'Donnell, alumni and development officer. They are living in every state of the nation, the District of Columbia, and 21 foreign countries. More than 50 are in the armed forces with overseas addresses.

O'Donnell recently compiled a report on the distribution of the alumni. There are 2,723 SIU alumni who are on the "active" mailing list.

ILLINIOS, with 10,131 alumni, leads the states in number, and Missouri follows with 4,494. California, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, and Virginia round out the top ten.

World leads the foreign countries in SIU alumni with 11, Alaska following with 6. Others, in ones and twos, are scattered in such faraway places as Africa, India, Spain, China, Japan, and islands of the Pacific.

In Illinois, Jackson county, the home of SIU, leads the list with 1,283. Following closely are: Williamson county, 758; St. Clair, 697; Franklin, 690; and Cook, 580.

From Africa Requests Formula For Mildew Spray

Dr. Robert Muller, director of libraries, has received a letter from Dr. Vernon A. Reinhart, physician at the American Protestant mission in Africa, requesting the formula for the mildew-resistant compound developed by Southern chemists to preserve stored library books.

According to Dr. Reinhart, mailings of things necessary in his library will be appreciated the formula.

An old copy of the Chicago Tribune carrying a picture of student Harold Ettinger, imaging 1,000 books with an anti-mildew compound for the SIU libraries last spring went into the Reinhart hands recently and promptly reached the presses.

New Student Directory To Be Available Soon

The 1951-52 official Southern Illinois University student directory will be available in about two to three weeks, reports Warren Adams of the duplicating service.

Adams said the new directory will feature one addition over previous publications. The new addition in the directory will include the student's entire home address, street, phone, and town. Before, only home towns were listed.

As usual the directory will have a complete listing of administrative offices, business offices, university phones, independent houses, fraternity, sororities, and faculty member addresses.

Adams commented that, "The new publication will be an accurate than past ones because of the time and consideration that has been given in it.

View Unification of Higher Education

State-supported institutions of higher education in Illinois took a short step toward possible unification in a meeting Monday here at Southern.

On motion of Coleman R. Griffin, provost of the University of Illinois, the Joint Council on Higher Education called for a committee to draw up proposals for formal organization of the council. The Committee will be appointed by SIU President Delyte W. Morris, who served as chairman for the Monday sessions.

Members of the council, presidents of the six tax-supported universities and colleges, have been meeting informally for several years. Usually the president of the host school serves as chairman-for-a-day. There have been no elected officers.

LEADING THE group in a discussion of common budgetary problems were Joseph Pos, director, state department of finance; Charles D. Tenney, administrative assistant to President Richard B. Wiser, educational coordinator of the state Teachers College board; and Griffin, members of a meeting committee which has been studying bases for budget requests.

Edward F. Poffenbarger, director of the U. of I. Bureau of Institutional Research and research consultant for the council, reported on problems of calculating instructional costs, and Lloyd Morey, U. of I. comptroller, reported on programs for group hospital and medical insurance for students and staff members.

SHEEZY looked birdy-sudy with his ruffled hair. He didn't know whether to bury his head, or go on a wing-ding! "Owl! I ever get a date for the prom?" he asked his tree roommate. "You're cute, but we're all going to visit your tree." In the end she didn't fly, but he did. Better be careful and get Wildroot Cream-Oil! It's non-alcoholic! Contains bathing lanolin! Grooms your hair neatly and naturally. Relieves dryness...removes unseemly dandruff! New Paul's flying high! The Beware of little chickens on campus has him on a limb. So get a bottle or tube of Cream-Oil at any drug or toiletry goods counter tomorrow. And next time you see your barber, ask him for a professional application. Then you'll really be in there pigeon!"
Salute the Salukis

When the Salukis take to the air it's usually Joe Huske who's doing the pitching. Huske, a sophomore from Chicago, fished second to Bob Ems in total offense for the Salukis in conference games. Joe racked up a total of 292 yards, all of which came via passes.

Huske came to Southern last fall after taking a year off from technical school in Chicago, a school that, as far as football goes, is rated as the Notre Dame of the Windy City. Strongly enough, though, Joe had to wait until his senior year before he could don a grid uniform of myrtle and gold. A Chicago ruling prohibited an athlete from participating in both football and basketball.

So while his buddies were winning sectional titles on gridiron, Joe was sinking baskets on the hardwood. He lettered in basketball his freshman, sophomore, and junior years, captaining the quintet in his third season. When Joe was a senior, the football ban was lifted. Thus, the kid from Chicago got in one year of high school football and earned his "L" in two sports.

With veterans Fred Renzel and Herb Cummins sharing the quarterback spot on the varsity squad team in 1952, Huske saw action mostly in "B" squad games. Even then, he had to share duties with another freshman from Chicago, Don Zima.

The start of this season found Huske, sharpened up on his passing, running the team on offense, while Cummins and Zima were starring in the defensive line-up.

Joe's second choice, surprising enough, is the 54-13 loss to Western Illinois in the second week. He completed six straight pass attempts against the Leatherneck defense.

Huske missed the Michigan Normal game this year. A tumor in his right arm, brought on by hard body contact in the Washington game, enlarged so that it affected the movement of his arm. Huske was submitted to surgery and the game meant more than just a repeat of a perfect season.

He recovered in time to play against Cape last Saturday, when he completed 10 out of 16 for 129 yards, to prove that the operation left no after effects on his passing prowess. Unless Uncle Sam has other plans for the top dog in the Saluki aerial attack, the 1952 quarterback spot will be well filled.

Salukis and Millikin

Whip Louisiana 63-58

by Sherman Dooner

Tom Millikin was back in form Saturday night and Southern won its first basketball game of the season, downing Southeastern Louisiana, 63-58.

Millikin scored nine baskets and three free throws, 21 points, to help the Salukis even their record at one win and one loss. Millikin, who was below par in the opening game because of a tooth infection, showed Saturday night that he will be missed sorely if and when he gets his induction notice early next year.

The Salukis held a comfortable lead most of the game but had to stall about five minutes of the last quarter when the Lions crept within three points of them. Guards Kirk Kurtz and Tom Taylor did a good job of keeping the ball in Southern's hands while the breeze was on.

Coach Lynn Holder started the same five he did against Indiana at one game a team, and Joe racked up a total of 292 yards. With Ems and Zima out, the Salukis in conference games. Football Letters 292 yards, all of which came via passes.
