Two charged with robbery

By Mark Barnett
Staff Writer

Two parolees from the Illinois Department of Corrections have been charged with an armed robbery Tuesday night at the Heritage Motel, 1209 W. Main St.

Carbondale Police believe the two men may have committed two other armed robberies in Carbondale this month because they match witnesses' descriptions. However, no other charges have been filed against the men, Art Wright, public information officer for the Carbondale Police, said.

"Until the physical evidence is put together, there will be no other charges allowed," Wright said. Patrick Clark, 20, and Willie Vaughn, 21, both of Fields Apartments, 700 S. Lewis Lane, are problems to the Illinois Department of Corrections. Both have been convicted of burglaries.

Clark was sentenced to three years for burglary in St. Clair County, a spokeswoman for the county's correctional center said. Clark was taken into custody Jan. 22, 1987, and he was paroled Aug. 22, 1988 from Menard Correctional Center in Chester.

Vaughn was sentenced to two counts of burglary, one in Bond County and one in Clinton County. An October spokeswoman said. Vaughn was sentenced to a six-year term and a four-year term, but was serving them concurrently, the spokesperson said.

Vaughn was taken into custody Feb. 1, 1986, and was paroled Nov. 1 from Menard Correctional Center, Chester. The two men are accused of demanding the motel's receipts at gunpoint Tuesday night from the assistant manager and leaving with

Council debates Halloween weekend's future

By Richard Goldstein
Staff Writer

City Council members expressed displeasure with the Halloween celebration as one member called for an outright ban of the festival. Blaming "ugly players for Halloween violence," said moving the All-Ghus Rugby Tournament to a different weekend would reduce Halloween violence.

Saying Halloween is a waste of tax payers money, Councilman John Yow added, "We pay out over $1 million in sales tax for the city and about the fate of the celebration. Councilman Keith Tuxhorn said rugby players for much of the campaign at the celebration and said President John C. Guyon has agreed to move the annual All-Ghus Tournament.

USG academic standing rule defined by Judicial Board

By Brad "shue" Staff Writer

Undergraduate Student Government members cannot use "transcripts from other schools" to determine their grade point averages at SIU-C, according to an interpretation of an article in the USG constitution by the Judicial Board.

The defense of Sen. Juliana Taylor, who is being considered for impeachment from the Senate for failing to meet academic requirements, is primarily based on the article's use of the word "transcript.

The state makes that a senator under poor academic standing cannot use a seven-year transcript review.

Taylor argues that the article allows her to average her grade point average from her previous college.

In a unanimous vote, the eight members of the Judicial Board of Government agreed that the transcript language applied to grades received at SIU-C.

Veterans' graduate school funds running out under new ISSC rule

By John Walblay
Staff Writer

When the Illinois State Scholarship Program, a new rule for the Monetary Award Program to conserve finances last year, the program created neglected U.S. service veterans' chances of receiving graduate school aid. Bill Hall, student veteran of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, said.

"The new rule is hurting veterans who want to attend graduate school, and the time to do it is here," Hall said.

Under the new rule, the veterans is required to use funds provided by the Illinois Veterans Grant Program for tuition and partial fees but then use the ISSC's MAP award which can cover full tuition and fees.

Cyclone worries Bangladesh students

He said his family is in Dhaka, the capital. He said he heard parts of the coastal region had also been hit but he wasn't sure which parts.

"This is unusual. This has never before happened in November. Cyclone season is October and by the 31st it is gone. This is very strange phenomenon," he said.

Nuruddin's older brother called him from Dhaka and relayed some of the conditions as the cyclone approached Bangladesh. He said it was drizzling, cloudy and danger signals were being put out by the meteorological departments in some coastal areas.

Mizan Miah, faculty member in the school of social work, said he had just found out about it on TV. He said he was going to try contacting Bangladesh and the Bangladesh embassy in Washington, D.C.

This will be so unfortunate.

We just had a big flood and millions of people were displaced. Twisters of the population has suffered," Miah said.

UNITED NATIONS, UPI - The General Assembly, Wednesday, gave wide support to a resolution that "deplores the failure of the United States to issue visa to Mr. Yasser Arafat," chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization, and gives Washington, 24 hours to reverse the decision. Labor Party refuses to join rightist Shamir

JERUSALEM (UPI) - The center-left Labor Party handed a defeat Wednesday to its leader, Foreign Minister Shimon Peres, by voting to go into opposition rather than join a new government led by right-wing Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir. The decision could mean that Shamir will have to ask the ultra-Orthodox religious parties to join his Likud Party in a coalition government in order to form a majority in the 120-seat Knesset.

Former Dominican leader, Blanco, arrested

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) - Former Dominican President Salvador Jorge Blanco was arrested Wednesday when he returned to the Caribbean nation to appeal his conviction on corruption charges. Soviet leaders support reshaping government

MOSCOW (UPI) - Legislators supported Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's proposals for a radical restructuring of their political system in a two-day debate that ended Wednesday, the Tass news agency said. The 1,600-deputy Supreme Soviet will vote Monday on Gorbachev's "Comprehensive Reform Program," including a proposal that the rubber-stamp legislature vote itself out of existence in favor of a smaller, Western-style body that would convene next year.

Soviet Union stops jamming radio broadcasts

WASHINGTON (UPI) - In a dramatic gesture of "glasnost," the Soviet Union has - for the first time in 30 years - stopped jamming all broadcasts of Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty. According to officials of Radio Liberty headquarters in Munich, the Soviet jamming ended Tuesday. The radio service began broadcasting on March 4, 1963 - the day Josef Stalin died.

Bush, Jackson open lines of communication

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President-elect George Bush, trying to heal wounds from the bitter campaign, held a dramatic meeting Wednesday with political opposite Jesse Jackson and promised to seek his advice. In contrast to the verbal attacks that flew from both sides during the campaign, the lunch meeting was marked by an extraordinary amount of friendliness. The former Democratic presidential candidate praised Bush for opening lines of communication.

Senate almost overrides veto of health insurance

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) - Senators Wednesday fell one vote shy of overriding Gov. James R. Thompson's veto of $13 billion Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan. The veto was 32-18, nine votes short, but the proposal needed 60 votes to be successful. Following the vote several people in the Senate gallery walked out and were supported by an extraordinary amount of friendliness. The former Democratic presidential candidate praised Bush for opening lines of communication.

Byrne considers turning to Republican party

CHICAGO (UPI) - Cook County Republican Party Chairman James Dvorak confirmed Wednesday that he met one week ago with former Mayor Jane Byrne to discuss her rumored interest in switching parties to regain her old job, but made no promises. Director Christian Moe and the spirited cast of "She Stoops to Conquer" triumph happily over the obstacle of breathing life into a 200-year-old play to deliver a romantic farce brimming with animated performances and gorgeous sets.

Theater Review

Oliver Goldsmith's 18th century comedy of manners will be performed in McLeod Theater tonight through Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday 2 p.m.

...titled "Mistakes of the Night," "She Stoops to Conquer" romps through an evening of romantic misadventure in the household of Mr. Hardcastle, a doddering old windbag.

ROBERT E. Cundiff, who portrays Hardcastle, does something very interesting with his role. To avoid using a monotonous line in his monologue, he mumbles some lines for a comic effect.

Hardcastle has betrothed his only daughter Kate (Jonnette Westerland, Kevin Endelsohn), whom the son of his oldest friend Ester conflicts. Charles is petrified of the opposite sex. He womanizes every warm and sizzling bit he can lay his paws on, but around real ladies, Charles acts more like Don Knotts out on his first date.

His best friend George Hastings (Mark Nestelholsh) drag Charles kickin' and screaming to meet with the pretty young Kate at Mr. Hardcastle's country estate.

WHEN KATE learns of Charles' bashfulness, she disguises herself as a housemaid to catch his lustful eye. When she does, fun starts for a snowball.

To further confuse the matter, Charles thinks he is in a roadside inn rather than in Mr. Hardcastle's private home, and he Mr. Hardcastle's innkeeper.

Constantly at the mercy of Hardcastle's screwball family, the two regal actors convey the right amount of bewilderment and indignation as they fail to foil the matchmaking schemes of the Hardcastle household.

Much of the potential for physical comedy is not fulfilled between the cold fish Charles and his passionate fiancee Kate, who tries to warm him up during their first meeting.

PERHAPS MOE is purposely avoiding the bawdy humor of the Restoration comedy, which this play technically is not because some scenes seem more like they are being read than enacted.

Moe's intent may lean toward a more faithful production of Goldsmith's period piece, rather than a slapstick sex lampoon.

Moore concentrates most of the attention on the play's other plot, concerned Hardcastle's wife and stepson, Tony Lumpkin, Esquire.

In the play's two finest performances, Jim Westerland, as Tony, and Marybeth Scherr, as his doting mother, offer a succession of convincing scenes.

WESTERLAND GIVES a perfect portrayal of the fooling up who despises his mother and constantly taunts her with childish, vulgar pranks.

Tony finds matrimonial troubles of his own when Mrs. Hardcastle betrothes him to his cousin, Constance (Debi Makler), whom he also loathes.

The scenes where Tony and Constance pretend to swoon over one another are the highlight of the play, as Westerland and Makler make kooky faces that turn to tears when no one is looking.

Scherr, screeches and raves with wonderful voice and facial dynamics that make her look like a bellowing Bette Davis.

MOST OF the time, this lavish Theater Department production eludes the stodgy narrating trappings of the drawing room drama, but it cannot escape the physical constraints of 1771 England. Nor does it try.

The main set, Hardcastle manor, is a feast for the eye and a brilliant reproduction of a gothic English mansion.

Scene designer Mark A. Parrott incorporates a staircase, two immense book shelves and a fireplace into his realistic setting. The set is garnished with authentic cobweb and a knight in armor, a tavern flag, large Victorian furniture and a family crest that enhance the artistic symmetry of the show's design.
Action, not words will end Halloween

THERE'S NOTHING like the mere mention of Halloween to bring out the ghouls out of the daylight. We're talking about those City Council ghouls who can smell a drying celebration from blocks away.

Mayor Don C. Gwyn begins talking about the first positive steps toward dealing with the Halloween weekend melee than those ghouls began kicking their lips.

These are the same ghouls who gave mere lip-service to complaints about Halloween, then went ahead and sanctioned the event, while the police were busy selling liquor licenses that allowed open beer to be sold on the streets.

COUNCILMAN JOHN YOW now says the city is wasting the taxpayer's money by policing the alcohol-induced mayhem on the streets.

We wonder how many people would have been on Grand Avenue this year had the city not allowed liquor sales there. After all, Mr. Yow, those underage drinkers you rave about must have gotten the alcohol somewhere. And, adding to the number of locations to sell alcohol, by licensing beer vendors, standing on Grand and Illinois avenues, did not enhance the police's ability to control the sale of alcohol to minors.

SOME OF US remember the times when there were no beer stands, nor Fair Days ordinances sanctioning public consumption of alcohol. Do you know that, Mr. Yow, there wasn't as much violence.

We would like to believe we were a kinder, gentler nation because the mayor has suggested — but perhaps we were kinder and gentler only because the city did not present us with the opportunity to get stoned out of our gourds and ghouls.

Now that the end of the celebration is in sight, is not the time to stand up and crow that the city will ban Halloween.

THE PRESIDENT showed a courage and common sense when he took his stand against one of the most pernicious crimes in the size of it, in Caribbean history. For the city leaders to follow Gwyn's lead with a lot of hollow, inflammatory charges amounting primarily to sloganeering, is unfortunate.

No, Mr. Yow, the city didn't spend money on Halloween. It made money. That's what those liquor licenses were all about. Check the city records, Mr. Yow, and see if the chamber was right when it said the city would make $56,000 in sales tax revenue from the weekend.

LIKEWISE, COUNCILMAN Keith旭born should not blame the SIU-C Rugby Club for all the violence that occurs there. Especially for violent crimes and property damaged — were influenced by alcohol, the sale of which was condoned by the city leaders.

We're not talking about the event, but we are repulsed at the tone of the city leaders' comments. The University has seen the run of the Halloween celebration and is taking responsible steps to deal with the problem.

The city is still pointing fingers.

DE coverage boring

I am very disappointed in the reviews I have read in the DC this year, especially in the Southern Illinois Repository Disc. They have been boring. A review printed on Nov. 8. A review is supposed to describe the performance in terms of strengths and weaknesses, not merely what is happening. That is boring.

A review is not to inform those who didn't attend what they missed, it is to inform those who want to go what to expect, how the performance compares with other productions.

While I agree the reviews of the Nov. 8 review, I seriously doubt they were inspired to come see the next concert. I didn't even inform the correct to decide not to attend. So what is good in the review?

In other reviews I have been disappointed for the same reasons, as in the Joffrey ballet review in October. The reviews were written about the plot of Beauty and the Beast, and threw in a few histrionic comments about the choreography and dancing. I lack of information regarding the source of the problem, so that writing nothing is better than writing anything without the knowledge of the audience. My advice to you is to suggest you hire someone who knows what they're talking about.

When I read the reviews, I find myself asking if the artists alive at SIU will receive some kind of respectable recognition — Melissa Joy Dohms, senior in Dietetics.

IM GOING TO miss the Reagan administration when it goes. I really am. It has a kind of comic-book appeal — at least, care quality about it that one does not usually find in world politics. I seriously find it in the bigger states.

Take, for example, the decision to deny Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) representatives to come to the city to talk to the United Nations. Almost everyone agrees, it's a dumb decision. Western European democracies, the Soviet bloc, the Arab states, China, the UN, all have raised objections ranging from its illegality to support of antigovernmental. Yet when asked about it, President Reagan, vacationing in California, was able to say with a straight face that he had not participated in the decision, that it was Secretary of State George Shultz's call and he wouldn't interfere. Imagine, Dr. Shultz, who doesn't do much to protect the State Department's standing.

I mean, it's nice to have a secretary of state who doesn't like terrorists but that doesn't do much to differentiate him from his predecessors.

And why did Mr. Shultz turn away Arafat? Because Shultz's own terrorist, of which he considers Arafat one. State department officials said that Shultz's personal feelings of Arafat stood in our obligations as host country of the UN and the harm it might do to peace negotiations in the Middle East.

THAT I SUMMIT, is weird. It's like allowing the secretary of agriculture to cause a Soviet grain deal because he doesn't have the legal right.

I mean, it's nice to have a secretary of state who doesn't like terrorists but that doesn't do much to differentiate him from his predecessors. No American secretary of state likes terrorists, at least.

Students graduate into own businesses

By Kimberly Clarke
Staff Writer

Many students dream of owning their own businesses — being their own bosses.

However, more than one out of two entrepreneurs fail not because of a bad idea, but because of underestimating the amount of money needed or bad management.

Assuming the market and finding the "market niche" are very important in the life of an entrepreneur, he added.

"Entrepreneurs need to provide a product or service that no one is delivering or doing something better than the current provider," Guttridge said.

Another important aspect, Guttridge said, is that between education and entrepreneurship, education comes first.

"If grades are affected, I urge the individuals to shelve their entrepreneurial spirit temporarily until they graduate," he said.

Irene Carlton, director of the Small Business Development Center, also said that "education as well as work experience are two valuable assets for the entrepreneur."

However, recent statistics from the National Federation of Independent Business states that 40 percent of entrepreneurs had only a high school degree or less.

No matter what educational background a person has, being an entrepreneur takes time, dedication and a mark of confidence, not to mention money.

"The entrepreneur always has to be self-motivated, creative and like to work long hours," Carlton said.

SIU-C has a few success stories itself.

James Jannetides, senior in marketing, is the chief executive officer of the University Loft Company.

The company, a subdivision of the J Squared Corp., sells, distributes and assembles wooden lofts for students rooms at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor and here, Jannetides said.

Employing 35 student workers and proving that they can operate and run a company successfully is what the University Loft Company is all about, Jannetides said.

Jannetides started the company three years ago at Michigan when he saw the need for more space in the dormitories.

"I lack need, and as a marketer if you see a demand, you try to meet it," Jannetides said.

Jannetides worked with Edward Jones, director of the Small Business Development Center, and with the J Squared Corp., one of his |

The company features a unique style of loft saving 62 percent of space in a room, Jannetides said, when the usual loft only saves about 15-30 percent.

The design was devised by Fred Kolacki, a University student in product design, and the company is trying to get a patent for the "L" design.

Jannetides said.

However, the designing of the lofts, is not all that has been done by the student.

The company employs students as sales agents, advertisers, and assemblers, Jannetides said, all contributing to the success of the company.

The only thing that isn't student-run is the manufacturing of the oak-stained lofts, which is under contract, Jannetides.

The company offers two designs. Students can buy, rent or purchase a kit to assemble themselves.

The lofts usually take twenty minutes to install and the company offers summer storage and a 24-hour maintenance assistance, Jannetides said.

The company plans to expand to five other universities, he said.

"We're more established in Ann Arbor, but we're doing very well here," Jannetides said.

Lynne Brown is another entrepreneur pursuing her goals.

The Gallery VII is a designer clothing business that deals with personal consultations, seasonal style shows and private showings in the home, Brown said.

Brown, senior in clothing and textiles, goes to the market and buys her items consisting of accessories, hats and clothing for wholesale and then gives private showings in the home.

"I buy one of a kind items from designers and then sell them," Brown said.

Brown's business has been in operation since September, and one of her goals is

Debate gives insight into Soviet intentions

By Nora Bentley

By posting as a member of the Soviet Air Force, a liaison assignment, 1st Lt. Peter Hlinomaz attempted to give an audience made up mostly of Air Force ROTC members insight into Soviet technological advances and how they affect the United States. "The Soviet Technology Challenge," presented Tuesday, consisted of Hlinomaz and 1st Lt. Dave Jennison, both of the Foreign Technology Division at the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio, giving a mock debate on the Soviet technological strengths, weaknesses and intentions.

Hlinomaz, who speaks fluent Russian, started by saying he wanted to give information and prevent misconceptions about Soviet intentions, after establishing some basic facts about the Soviet governmental structure, and the way the military, defense program and space program. The two men then presented arguments and questions from their sides. The comparison of defense plans, space technology, and other technological advances the Soviets have made was discussed with both sides trying to show they had the hand.

At one point, Hlinomaz sarcastically responded to Jennison's charge that the Soviets had copied the design for a plane by saying that the planes did show similarities. "They both have wings and an engine," he said.

Both men gave a convincing presentation, and not until the end of the program did Hlinomaz give his real identity.

Capt. Robert M. Douglas, from SU's Department of Aerospace Studies, said, "We have found that the use of a Russian speaking individual wearing a Soviet Air Force uniform really helps set the tone for the discussion."

You don’t need your parents’ money to buy a Macintosh.

It’s never been difficult for students to convince their parents of the need for a Macintosh® computer at school. Persuading them to write the check, however, is another thing altogether.

Which is why Apple created the Student Loan-to-Own Program. An ingenious loan program that makes buying a Macintosh as easy as using one.

Simply pick up an application at the location listed below, or call 800-831-LOAN. All your parents need to do is fill it out, sign it, and send it. If they qualify, they’ll receive a check for you in just a few weeks.

There’s no collateral. No need to prove financial hardship. No application fee.

Best of all, the loan payments can be spread over as many as 10 years. Which gives you and your parents plenty of time to decide who pays for it all.

College ranking questioned

Educators criticize standardized test score use in system

By Jackie Spinner
Staff Writer

Standardized admission tests scores should "absolutely not" be used because the test score average is just one of a multitude of factors that should rank a university, the University associate director for admissions, said.

The American Council on Education and the College Board criticized the ranking of colleges and universities by standardized admissions test scores in a report by the Chronicle of Higher Education last month.

The average mean American College Testing (ACT) score for University undergraduates is 21.32. "You've got to watch out for a score like this when comparing it to other campuses because the freshmen scores alone would be lower," said Pfaff, associate director for admissions.

Pfaff said that states such as North Dakota and South Dakota, which have higher scores because of fewer minority students, distort the figures.

"The scores represent something about the student body, not the quality of education at the institution," he added.

In a Nov. 9 Chronicle of Higher Education article, American Council on Education educator Robert H. Atwell called the rankings unrealistic and said: "We're ignoring a vast number of institutions that are doing a heck of a job educating our citizens."

Donald M. Siewart of the College Board said: "Students should be looking at institutions because they're exciting places and they want to be there, not because they're No. 1 on a bloody chart."

Directories available at no charge

The 1988-89 student phone directories arrived during Thanksgiving break and are available now.

The directories can be obtained free of charge in the Undergraduate Student Government office, the University Bookstore, H. B. Quicks, Pizza Pete's, Bowling and Billiards and the Information Station in the Student Center. Tim Hildebrand, student directory distribution coordinator, said: "The directories also are available at the Bookstore."

Hildebrand said all students in University Housing have received directories.

1990 election plays big role in filling Poshardt's vacancy

By Scott Parry

With the 1988 election only three weeks in the past, the chairman of the 9th Circuit's Republican House Committee is already looking toward the 1990 election while deciding who should replace Glenn Poshardt in the Illinois Senate.

Poshardt, who began his term as a state senator in 1985, will resign from his position Jan. 1 to replace Congressman Kenneth Gray, D-West Franklin, as head of the 9th Circuit Republicans. He will be sworn in Jan. 3.

Poshardt's term in the senate ends in 1990, leaving Democratic county chairman the task of filling the vacant seat until the term expires. But filling the vacancy isn't as easy as it may seem, as any of the chairman would say.

"We need a candidate for the future," John McNeill, Williamson County chairman, said. "We need someone who will run strong in the next election."

Applications are being taken until Dec. 8 for anyone interested in filling the vacancy. Five applications have already been received. They are Joe Cherry, an ex-staff member in the 1952 campaign of Rea, who was killed in the Gulf of Tonkin; John McNeill, chairman of the 9th Circuit Republicans; Bennie North, another ex-staff member in the 1952 campaign; and William Phelps, a political consultant.

Under the replacement process, each county receives the number of votes equal to that given Poshardt in the 1986 election. Among those with the most votes to date are Williamson and Franklin, who combined, control enough votes to appoint a replacement.

Williamson County is represented by Rea, while Franklin County, chaired by Bennie Cherry, is also looking toward a successor to Rea. Franklin County, where Rea has a large part of his base, has given him all the support of the Gallatin County chairman, Rick Hard.

McNeill said experience is the deciding factor in the Legislature is the very reason Cherry wants him to remain a representative.

Rea represents Franklin County in Springfield.

Cherry feels that if Rea goes to the Senate, he will lose the power he has gained during his five terms.

Rea disagrees saying, "I will still maintain my working relationship with members of the House and will go to them for help if something needs to be done to help my district.

Phelps for his part, made claim to growing support and said his "chances are good enough to be seriously considered."

The Republicans need only two seats to regain control of the Illinois Senate, he said.

"The committee needs to select a candidate who can survive a highly contested and important election. We can't afford to lose again against anyone the Republicans have to offer," Like Phelps and Rea, Browning believes he too has the chance to be a capable senator.

Since 1982, Browning has been mostly involved in local politics. He has worked on the Senate floor as a staff member for Sen. Phillip Rock, D-Oak Park, and is presently the township supervisor for Benton.

He ran an unsuccessful campaign for Congress in 1974, where he was defeated in the primary by now-Sen. Paul Simon, but said he finished strong in Franklin County with 57 percent of the vote.

Browning said the support he had in '74 is still there and believes he could easily take the 9th District in 1990.

But the most important issue for Browning is not how much seniority he doesn't have, but how much seniority Southern Illinois would lose if Rea or Phelps are chosen.

Browning agrees with Phelps in that keeping Rea and Phelps in their present positions would be the best interest of the area.

"I would be the best choice," he said. "Southern Illinois wouldn't be losing one day of seniority by sending me to Springfield."

Accidental blast kills sailor on Navy ship in Arabian Sea

By Scott Parry

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- One sailor was killed and another seriously injured when an accidental blast from an A-7E attack jet struck a nearby parked A-6, the Navy's low-speed bomber, Tuesday.

The accident occurred on the flight deck at 2:45 a.m. Wednesday local time (1445 GMT Tuesday) while the nuclear-powered carrier was operating in the northern Arabian Sea, Navy officials said. The fire was brought under control 45 minutes later.

Officials said a round from a 20-mm cannon on the A-7E attack jet struck a nearby parked A-6, the Navy's low-speed bomber, Tuesday night.

The A-6 and five other planes were damaged.

The problem lies in another ISSC rule that restricts the use of money from the MAP for other than undergraduate work, where as the IVGP can be used for any or all of a four-year period with no restrictions whether it's used for undergraduate or graduate work. With the new rule, the IVGP's four-year eligibility time is depleted while the student is an undergraduate and the MAP cannot be used for graduate work. The IVGP is a legal entitlement exclusively for veterans protected by Illinois state law, the MAP is money that can be awarded to any student according to their income level and need base. Before the 1987-88 school year, veterans had a choice. They could use the MAP funds for their undergraduate tuition and fees, then use the remaining IVGP to cover some of graduate school's expenses. As it stands now, the MAP only will award money for the portion of fees that is not covered by the IVGP. Hall is trying to get the ISSC to rescind the rule so veterans can again receive aid for graduate school. "Many veterans have been complaining about the rule, at the ISHC meeting (Nov. 23) I relayed this complaint," Hall said. "I was very receptive," said Executive Director of the ISSC, Larry Marek, "to rescind the rule so veterans can again receive aid for graduate school." The other robberies that the SIU Police are investigating are:
- A small amount of cash and personal checks made out to the business, police said. The Nov. 16 robbery occurred at Warehouse Liquors, 626 E. Main St. at 10:31 p.m.
- A witness accused two black men of robbing the store of a small amount of cash and personal checks made out to the business, police said.

Hanukkah observed Saturday

The beginning of Hanukkah, the Jewish Feast of Lights, will be commemorated this Saturday night starting at the Hillel Foundation with the lighting of the first candle of the menorah. Janet Belowe-Shain, director of the Hillel Foundation said Hanukkah is the Jewish celebration of religious freedom that began after Greece took control of Palestine and demanded the Jews worship Greek idols.

The Macabbee family led a revolt against the Greeks and eventually the Jews won and reclaimed their land. They returned to their temple in Jerusalem and found it had been defiled, but one jug of olive oil had remained unbroken. It was lit and burned for eight days.

The celebration Hanukkah lasts for eight days to commemorate the burning of the candle and religious freedom. The Hillel Foundation provided an atmosphere on campus where Jews and Gentiles can learn and participate in religious, social and educational events and activities, Shain said.

charged with.

Dave M. Mader, who described himself as a "friend" of the club, said that "Tuxhorn was accusing the club unjustly."

"Mr. Tuxhorn was putting down the rugby team and that's a cheap shot," he said in front of the council.

Randy Calabrese, vice president of the rugby club, said the tournament will be moved from Halloween weekend, but that he didn't know if any rugby players who had been arrested or incited violence.

"There's somebody throwing a beer can -- the rugby team gets blamed," he said resignedly.

Rugby players were accused of similar offenses last year, but Guyon said he asked Jean Paratore, assistant to the vice president of student affairs, to move the tournament because eliminating activities on Halloween weekend would reduce the number of people at the celebration -- not because he has anything against the rugby players.

Paratore said the 500-person tournament must contribute to Halloween havoc, but that she hasn't asked that it be moved because of allegations against rugby players.

"We don't need it to invite people to town on Halloween," she said.

For this reason, Cathy Rankin, coordinator of intramural sports, will ask that no clubs hold major tournaments or Halloween weekend.

In other business, the council gave the go-ahead for the interim city manager to request a $20,000 grant from the Illinois Department of Transportation to pay for a feasibility study of a proposed mass transit system. The proposed system would be paid for by a student fee hike approved for the purpose in last spring's student elections, and by a grant from IDOT through the city.

Good Luck Salukis
Barone poised for success

By David Gallianetti
Staff Writer

After a 50-8 season last year, Creighton coach Tony Barone is banking on a bit more this season. He just hopes the loss of Red Mason doesn't hurt too much.

"You don't replace Mason, so obviously you have a loss," Barone said of the graduated guard, a member of the Missouri Valley All-Conference team. Mason was one of the Bluejays scoring attack with 20.3 points per contest.

"The loss is based more on other people picking up, helping to take some of the slack away," Barone said.

Part of that slack will be in the hands of three returning starters, including 6-10 sophomore Chad Gallagher and 6-10 sophomore forward Bob Barland. All three were on the MVC's All-Newcomer team last season.

Gallagher was a 32 percent field goal shooter who averaged 11.4 points and 3.2 rebounds per game last season. Barland, the fourth best freshman rebounding average in the nation at 8.5 and he contributed 9.0 points per game.

"It would be disappointing if we weren't better than 500," Barone said. "I think from a general standpoint we have not set a lot of goals, some of which are probably others to day.

"We want our kids to get better each day and feel if we do by the time we go into the league season, we'll be ready to play.

With a 16-16 record overall last season, 6-8 in the MVC game, Mason's departure leaves the Bluejays relying on the leadership presented set by Mason.

Tulsa forced to rely on additions

By David Gallianetti
Staff Writer

Amnesia would be about the best thing Tulsa coach J.D. Barnett could suffer right now. But just for a period covering last year's basketball season. After accumulating a 45-17 record in two seasons with the Golden Hurricane, Barnett's club suffered through an 8-20 campaign, seventh in the Missouri Valley at 4-10.

Barnett said the best way to approach 1986-87 was to bring in the new and usher out the old.

"I think you treat it as the new year, and try to give your people every opportunity to be successful," Barnett said. "I think we have to be labeled a sleeper, and how much of a sleeper we are I don't know until we start playing.

Despite returning four starters, the brunt of the Hurricane attack will be expected from a crop of junior college transfers.

Expected to make an impact early is Morris Conway, from Malcom X Junior College, where he averaged 25 points and over nine rebounds per game last season. One scouting service ranked him one of the top 50 juco players in the nation.

Injury bugaboo continues to hamper women’s squad

By Robert Baxter
Staff Writer

Two more women’s basketball players have gone down with injuries, but both are expected to return to full capacity soon.

Colleen Heimstead, a freshman from Elk Mound, Wis., suffered a sprained ankle in practice on Tuesday night. Allison Smith, a redshirt junior, is recuperating from knee surgery.

(Colleen) Heimstead, who saw 20 minutes of action in last Friday’s loss to Murray State, said doctors told her (the injured knee) was only a minor sprain.

Coach Cindy Smith said that Heimstead’s injury is not serious. Heimstead could be ready to play Friday night against Purdue.

Purdue upset No. 3 Texas last Sunday.

Heimstead, who saw 20 minutes of action in last Friday’s loss to Murray State, said doctors told her it was only a minor sprain.

“Right now it’s just stuff,” Heimstead said. “I’m sup­posed to get off the crutches tonight and hopefully I’ll be able to play on Friday.”

Smith & Wiggles logo San Diego State has a more serious problem.

Smith said under went arthroscopic knee surgery and has yet to return to practice.

“I supposed to start rehab next week,” Smith said. “The doctors said the surgery went well and things should turn out OK.”

Smith whose redshirt status has prevented her from practicing with the team, said she has been tending his time.

Whew! Salukis slip past Aces on Shipley's free throw

by David Gallianetti

Rick Shipley knew the feeling well. But despite his experience with it, he knew the outcome was the same.

With 25 seconds on the clock and the ball in the hands of leading Evansville 72-71, Shipley approached the free throw line for two shots.

"I thought back to the Illinois game last year," said Shipley after SIU-C's 73-71 victory. "It was the same kind of deal. I made one out of two and one out of two here."

After Evansville dominated the game's tempo through the first half and into the second, SIU-C broke free early in the final period to turn the tide in its favor.

"If you can't rebound you can't win the game," said Shipley coach Rich Herrin of his team's play early. "Our game plan was to push them hard, our first half and into the second, and the Salukis were forgotten. We wore them down were forgotten. We really competed hard down the stretch.

"The Aces had a chance to win the game with four seconds remaining when the ball entered the hands of guard Scott Haffner. Haffner, who hit seconds remaining when the ball was dealt the loss. We wanted to play them," Herrin said. "It's a little nice player," said Herrin. "He did a lot of things right. I thought Sterling did a good job on him and Freeland also.

Food trouble plagued the Aces most of the second half. Center Dan Godfrey, who paced Evansville with 21 points, picked up his fifth foul with 14:06 left in the game and Haffner picked up his sixth foul with 7:23 remaining.

"They just can't do that because the teams that have been experienced ones out there," Evansville coach Jim Crews said. "It's a lot of things without those guys out.

"The things we wanted to concentrate on as the game wore on were forgotten. We didn't get back, and one of the best ways for us to do that is to make our shots."

Herrin said the win is important for the Salukis, who are not really on top anymore. "The game is very important because if we ever want to consider post season play we have to win the close ones and the ones at home," Herrin said. "People are not going to take us lightly anymore.

"Shipley said the Salukas had trouble adjusting to the Aces defense. "They took us out of our offense and we played sluggish," Shipley said. "These guys are always going to give us off the press, which we were able to come away with the win."

Herrin said he really wasn't worried about his performance at San Juan and the win.

Kal Nurnberger (20) tries to pass through the Evansville pressure.

Nurnberger scores 18 points

By Robert Baxter

Senior forward Kal Nurnberger picked the perfect time to come out of an early season slump.

Nurnberger led the team with 18 points, including three key 3-point shots.

The senior guard for the men's basketball team rebounded from a 4-for-23 start at the San Juan Holiday tournament to lead the Salukas past Evansville Wednesday night 73-71 in the Arena.

"My shooting started to come back a little," Nurnberger said. "I took the open shots and a few started to fall. It still needs to be better thought.

"The team looks to me to pick up the slack in close games and I'm just glad we were able to come away with the win."

Herrin said he really wasn't worried about his performance at San Juan and the win.

4 football players make All-Gateway

by David Gallianetti

Two members of SIU-C's football team were named to the first team, All-Gateway Conference team Monday, according to officials announced.

Senior Rob Mason was named an offensive tackle and Ron Kirk was named on the defensive line. Junior Chuck Harms was running back on the second team and senior Ron Kirk was named as the honorable mention.

"All four are very deserving," said Coach Rick HaCasce said. "The good thing about us is we are getting two of them back.

Ron (Kirk) deserves to make first team as well. I thought he was one of the dominating players in the league this year. That surprised me that he didn't make more at least second team."

"Rob is going to play as far as he has told me and that is the only way he is going by," HaCasce said.

Harmsc led the Salukas in rushing this season with 265 yards on 185 carries. The junior was fourth in the nation for SIU-C while nettin, 43 yards on each carry.

Student paper wants Kentucky coach to quit

LEXINGTON, Ky., (UPI) — The University of Kentucky student newspaper Wednesday called for the resignation of basketball coach Eddie Sutton and his staff after the season to convince the NCAA the university is committed to cleaning its program.

Kentucky, one of the traditionally great basketball powers, is facing 18 charges of alleged NCAA rule violations, including improper recruiting, academic fraud and improper use of agents.

The Kentucky Kernel, the team to tackle with 90, 51 assisted and 39 unassisted. The senior, who is still in line for All-American honors, missed just three games in the Kentucky Kernel's first two seasons.

Crouse, who was a first-team selection last season as well as being an honorable mention UPI All-American, was fifth on the team in scoring and assists. He was second in rebounding and was fourth in assists.
