Number of Students Leaving for Service Begins to 'Level Off'

Number of male students leaving Southern Illinois University for the armed services (either by request or otherwise) has "levelled off" to about one to two per day now, according to figures obtained from the Dean of Men's office.

A total of 21 students withdrew from SIU between Jan. 1 and Feb. 1. A total of 158 students have withdrawn from school this term to enter the armed forces. A total of 212 students have left since September.

For many years most of the students dropped out were joining the Air Force, but most of those dropping out since Jan. 17 have joined the Navy.

Those dropping out since Jan. 17 include the following:

- NA: Navy Services, Parker, Tezios
- William D. Wheeler, Norris City
- Don M. Aiken, Benton
- Larry Bandy, Benton
- Bert Welford, Du Quoin
- Charles Ireland, Mulberry Grove
- Fred Mueller, Carbondale
- Warren D. Collins, Murphysboro
- T. A. Baker, Murphysboro
- Raymond E. Crawford, Murphysboro
- and many others.

ARMY - Joe F. Billig, Cairo
- Eugene Cockrall, Pomona
- Eugene W. Mahaffy, Murphysboro
- Leo F. Flanders, Centralia
- and Warren G. Neal, West Frankfort.

Bidu Sayao, Opera Singer, To Present Concert Tuesday

Bidu Sayao, Metropolitan Opera soprano, will give a concert in Shoysk auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 6, sponsored by the Carbondale Community Concerts association.

Born in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, she secretly started singing voice when she was 14. Later her parents took her to Paris where she continued her studies. After her concert debut in Rio, she appeared and was acclaimed in the foremost opera houses of Europe. She was introduced to this country by Toscanini, who chose her as soloist in Debussy's "Blended Damsel" with the New York Philharmonic.

She received an engagement with the Metropolitan Opera company shortly afterward and has been there since. In addition to engagements with the San Francisco and Chicago companies, numerous concerts and radio engagements.

Students will be admitted to the concert upon presentation of activity tickets at the door.

Penney Address, 57 Sessions Slated For Career Meet

Southern's first Career Conference will get under way at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 7, with the keynote address by J. C. Penney. This will be a Student Council all-school assembly, and all classes will be dismissed.

For the other 57 Conference sessions, classes will not be generally dismissed, but instructors may excuse students from class to attend the sessions. Each of these meetings will then present an attendance card at the next class session.

ANCESSION CARDS will be given at each student conference attended, and will show the student's name, date, time, and location of the session attended, and will be signed by the secretary of the discussion group.

The Career Conference is to offer advice and counsel to students concerning the many types of jobs available to them. It is expected that students will participate on the program, and a total of 55 speakers are scheduled to appear during the two days of the conference.

PENNEY, FOUNDER of the J. C. Penney Co. which consists of department and specialty stores located in every state, will also speak to Murphysboro and Carbondale students. He will also attend several banquets in his honor in both towns.

Next Wednesday night he will be guest at a banquet given by Dr. D. W. Morris. He will also preside at a gathering of the local Rotary Club in Murphysboro Feb. 8.

A feature of the Career Conference will be a panel discussion and exhibit on "Getting a Job." It will be held in the Little Theatre, Thursday, Feb. 8, at 8 a.m. Coordinator for the event is the Rev. R. B. Bryan, director of the SIU placement service.

Student Council Begins Plans for Social Senate

Beginning plans to organize the Social Senate, a student representative group which is to coordinate all student social activities here at Southern, have been made by the Student Council.

The Council has sent out letters to the following organizations asking for two representatives from each to serve on the Social Senate: ISA, Girls' House Council, Intersorority Council, Pan-Hellenic Council, the Alpha Phi Omega, and the Girl's Rally.

As stated in the letters that were sent out, the representatives should be sophomores or juniors so that they may be accustomed to school activities and that they may be in school next year to train new members.

Besides requesting members from the above mentioned organizations, the Council decided to ask Bill Davis to represent otherwise unfilled students on the Senate beause he has experience on the Weekend Social Committee.

As soon as answers from the letters are received, the Student Council will decide on organizational procedures. In their meeting Tuesday, the Council appointed Bob Cooner and William Williams to serve on the Social Senate committee.

ALSO IN THE meeting Tuesday were tentative dates for the Spring Festival were set. The dates set were for the weekend of April 27 and the weekend of May 11 and 12.

It was decided that nominations for Spring Festival chairman would be held Tuesday, Feb. 13, and the election would be held the following week on Tuesday, Feb. 20.

SIU Music Students To Be Presented in Recital Here Monday

Students of Southern's music department will be presented in a recital in the Little Theatre Monday afternoon at 3 p.m. Dr. Maurice K. McCauley, music department chairman, announced this week.

The complete list of participants is not available, but representatives of practically all different fields of music will appear on the program.

A partial list of those who will perform includes Margaret Nauer, soprano, Richard Ireland, tenor, Elmer Strong, alto, Elsbeth Leavy, soprano, Boyd Applewhite, tenor, Mildred Williams, George Parks, tenor, Kenneth McVey, tenor, and Laura Ridley, Leah Bradley, and a horn quartet composed of Roger Germain, David Barton, Betty Gilbertson and Mary Snow.

The recital is open to the public and no admission will be charged.

Handicraft Group Is Organized To Increase Area Output, Interest

Various forms of handicraft produced in Southern Illinois will get new encouragement and development through a recently-formed, non-profit organization Southern Illinois Handicrafts, Inc.

This handicraft movement will be one of many which will promote and encourage the remnants or residue of the old crafts of the pioneer such as basket-making, pottery, spinning and weaving, iron and leather work, and quilting. States John W. Allen, museum curator at SIU and newly-elected president of the group.

The organization will encourage the production of this material and attempt to bring in new followers of handicraft work as either a hobby or a vocation. Pieces of work meeting quality standards will be stamped with the name of the organization and marketed. Office of the organization is of value, both to the individual and in the development of the area.

FIRST MEETING was held at the university cafeteria at which time Miss Virginia Miller, the only representative of the College of Education, was elected chairman. Other officers elected were Eugene Comte, vice chairman, and Mrs. Charles Cleland, secretary-treasurer, both of Murphysboro.

The group will announce the time and place of their next meeting, open to all interested persons.

VIRGINIA MILLER NAMED TO MAGAZINE BOARD

Virginia Miller, Egyptian managing editor, has been appointed to the editorial board of the present Southern on the magazine's board of directors. She is one of 700 students who will compete this year with students from colleges all over the country for positions on the board, according to Madameleine van der Linden, chairman of the magazine. She will report to Madameleine on campus news, fads and fashion, and the others under the editor in chief. She will also complete three magazine assignments in a competition for one of three annual guest editorships, to be awarded by the magazine next June.

The guest editors, who are chosen from the College Board on the basis of the year's three assignments, will be brought to New York City for four weeks in June.

To help write and edit Madameleine, girls will be paid rounds-trip transportation plus a regular salary for their work.

THE EGYPTIAN today is using considerable space in publishing the complete schedule of Career Conference to be held here next Wednesday and Thursday.

It is rarely that we devote so much space to a campus event, but we feel that this event is not only important but very worthwhile.

We hope that students will clip the schedule and will make every attempt to attend the sessions which deal with subjects interesting to them.

Probably no one will want to attend more than six or seven of the conferences; many will want to attend only two or three: However, the scope is so large that every student should attend at least one.

The Lions Roar

Editors of Esquire, men's "humor" magazine, probably will get quite a chuckle when they receive a resolution from the Herrin Lions Club condemning further magazine articles about former gang warfare and KI Klux Klan days in Southern Illinois.

Instead of trying to abide by the resolution, the magazine probably will request several more articles similar to the one they received in February.

IN THE ARTICLE, the author, Harry B. Wilson, retells the assorted deeds of the Sheltons and Bingers. Of course, the editors of Esquire evidently didn't think too well of the article as they all but hid it deep in the magazine far behind the cartons, the thinly clad beauties, and such "important" articles as "Man the Chef."

Herring Lions are sending copies of their resolution to magazines and other newspapers asking them to refrain from recounting the "old days," which brought a bad reputation to this area. (We haven't received a copy yet.)

"We agree" with the Herrin Lions that the numerous stories aren't good publicity for the area, but we sincerely doubt the wisdom of making a resolution. Their pressure group action is bound to end in failure.

The best way to combat such articles is simply by having an area of a much higher caliber than it was 20-30 years ago.

Magazines and newspapers will stop publishing articles on Sheltons and Bingers just like all ladies' clubs will halt all gospel.

What's the Score?

Within a period of about 30 minutes Monday night the Egyptian received calls from St. Louis, New York City, and Hartford, Conn., wanting to know the outcome of the Southern-Evansville college basketball game.

The last call, the one from Hartford, Conn., was too much. We asked the caller why he wanted to know the score. He replied: "I'm a basketball patron and interested in the score."

Could it be that the Southern-Evansville college game was on a basketball parlay card—or does Southern have unknown admirers in New York and Hartford, Conn.?
PRESIDENT DELWYE W. MORRIS and Miss Emma Bowyer, professor emeritus and former chairman of the English department, watch as Rudy Weber, electrician, disconnects the university master clock. The clock has been beginning and dismissing classes for so long that no one remembers exactly when it was first installed.

Court Overrules Landowners Motion in SIU Land Suit

Southern’s move to acquire four tracts of land through condemnation annexation survived its first court test last week in the Jackson county court, Murphysboro, when County Judge C. E. Wright overruled a motion to dismiss the university petition.

The ruling leaves SIU in position to pursue its petition for annexation of four tracts of land deemed necessary for a large expansion program, including construction of walks and pathways, addition to the new training school with the present campus, and sites for new library and science buildings.

LANDOWNERS, who had filed a petition to dismiss the university’s petition, based their move on the premise that Southern has a large amount of unoccupied land that could be used for expansion purposes just as well as their land. One of the property owners has reached an agreement with the university for purchase of his property and has dropped as a defendant in the suit.

Further action in the case will be listed in the county court in the near future.

Time Into Money

James Turner, a Junior at Southern, is using his previous education as a way to make money by repairing watches in his spare time and on week ends.

Jim, a graduate of the Bohem watch school in Greeneville, S.C., completed a regular two year course in watch repairing in 1946 and 1947. Regular hours for the school were five hours a day, five days a week. He often went as much as 10 hours a day for credit.

He said that he attended school for six months before he even got so much as to be able to do easy jobs and slowly progress upward until they get in the final stages where repairing is really expensive. He said that he never made a really nice piece of jewelry but the piece of jewelry itself very valuable.

Men will bring in a watch that needs repairing. When he opens the watch he can see that they have been trying to fix it with a knife or toothpick. If he sells them a watch, they will try to fix it themselves, they always reply no.

Jim, who was in the Merchant Marine during the war, worked in the ship’s engine room. He said that he is quite a bit of different watching the large tools used in the engine room and those small and fine tools used in watch repairing.

Do You Know That...
Garrett, Millikin Pace Cagers To Wheaton Win

By Jim Dowell

Coach Lynn Holder's Southern Illinois-University Maroons played one of their best offensive games of the season Wednesday night by defeating the new-look Wheaton College 76-68 in the Men's gym. The Maroons jumped ahead in the first part of the game and maintained their lead at the half, 47-32. Bill Garrett led the Holdermen in the first half as he hit 10 of 15 shots for an average of .667. One of Garrett's two pointers was his favorite one-hand shot.

The Holdermen hit near .388 the first half of the ball game. The Maroons were at their best. Their passes were connecting, their shots were accurate, and their plays were working beautifully.

Tom Millikin led the Maroons scoring attack with eleven field goals and four free throws for a total of 26 points. Bill Garrett was the second high scorer as he switched the net with ten field goals and three free baskets for a total of 23 points.

Dick Messner was the top taller for the losers with eight field goals and two free baskets for a total of 18 points. Marvin Johnson and Dick Gross split second high honors with 15 points each.

Maroon supporters missed the comical antics of Dave Davis Tuesday night. On the other hand the fans were rather surprised to see Jerry Hollopeter. Hollopeter quit college a few weeks ago to join the Air Force, but returned to college to finish his career. Hollopeter was in the Maroon line-up for the first half when the latter received an eye injury on a drive-in shot. Widmann returned to the game a few minutes later in the game. The big, curly headed blonde from New Madrid, Mo., scored two points.

Bobby Johnson, Wheaton's fleetfoot, hit most of his shots on fast-breaking drives. Messner would take his man out of position, then before the Southern defender could recover balance Messner would score two points. Stan Horst did the best job of guarding the Wheaton man.

On the offensive view of the game, Millikin was the first half and all Tom Millikin the second half. Millikin connected on 13 of 26 points in the first half, and 7 of 13 for the season. His eight points in the last half caused Millikin to total 20 points to take his team to victory.

The Holdermen's defense could not balance Messner the second two periods. Stan Horst did the best job of guarding the Wheaton man.

On the offensive view of the game, Millikin was the first half and all Tom Millikin the second half. Millikin connected on 13 of 26 points in the first half, and 7 of 13 for the season. His eight points in the last half caused Millikin to total 20 points to take his team to victory.
