University Obtains Earth-Moving Equipment From Government

The university is ripe in planning and landscaping project with a maximum of one year of using the equipment," said K. E. Mcanhoe, president of the aluminum plants.

The equipment was acquired from the aluminum plants through the use of a federal grant of $25,000.

"The university is planning to use the equipment in a variety of projects, including the development of new roads and the expansion of existing facilities," Mcanhoe said. "With the recent surge in enrollment, we are constantly looking for ways to enhance our campus and make it more attractive to students and visitors."

COMMUNITY CONCERT FEATURES ANTONI DORATI, SYMPHONY

By WARREN TALLEY

At precisely 8:00 p.m., Wednesday, the November 27th Cardonale Symphony Orchestra will present its annual fall concert at the Cardonale High School Auditorium. The concert will feature the work of two contemporary composers: Serge Koussevitzky and Antoni Dorati.

Koussevitzky's "Symphony No. 3," written in 1963, is a powerful and emotional piece that explores themes of love, loss, and renewal. The work is known for its rich orchestration and dramatic flair, making it a favorite among music lovers and performers alike.

Dorati's "Symphony No. 2," written in 1937, is a more introspective piece that reflects the composer's personal experiences and struggles. The symphony is characterized by its use of dissonance and the exploration of complex orchestral textures.

In addition to these two works, the orchestra will also perform a selection of traditional symphonic repertoire, providing a diverse and engaging program for audiences of all ages.

The Cardonale Symphony Orchestra is under the direction of Maestro Dorati, who has a long history of leading orchestras across the United States. His guidance and passion for music are sure to bring the audience a memorable evening of musical excellence.

Tickets for the concert are available at the door for $10.00, or $8.00 for students and seniors. Advance tickets can also be purchased online through the Cardonale Symphony Orchestra's website. Concert attendees are encouraged to arrive early to secure their seats and to allow time for the pre-concert talk with Maestro Dorati.

Do not miss this opportunity to experience the beauty and power of live symphonic music. Mark your calendars for November 27th and come celebrate the art of orchestral music with the Cardonale Symphony Orchestra.
Southern's edge, showing an average of over 7 points in the last six 25 point games, defeated Millikin in day's short-clay victory headline of Millikin University Monday night by its seventh victory in eight starts at CCAC.

It was Millikin's third loss in its 14 games, but the Warhawks entwined a 10-point lead in the second half, when Millikin led 40-30, and allowed 22 points in the second quarter. Southern clipped it down to 8 in the second quarter, but Millikin's defense was dominant in the second half, allowing only 13 points.

Southern led throughout the first 12 games and held the lead until 13 minutes remained in the second half, when Millikin tied the game at 27-27. Southern pulled away again before Davon Perry's 7 points put Millikin in the lead for the only time in the game.

Warren Talley Jr. and Solomon Pegues lead the Southern team with 25 points and 10 rebounds each, respectively. Talley Jr. also had 5 assists and 3 steals. Pegues had 7 assists and 2 blocks.

Four free throws by Talley and one more from Pegues led the lead in the last minute as Southern scored a near-back-to-back win.

Coach Lynn Holder used five starters and six players off the bench, with the starting line-up well-distributed among them. Jermaine Walker, who led the bench with 10 points, had 7 rebounds and 2 assists.
