DANCE FESTIVAL:

The Past was just a simple New England farm nine miles east of Lee, Mass., will be the site of a new and exciting festival this month. The Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival Association, Inc., will present a series of forty performances by leading orchestras and dance companies, all under the direction of Ted Shawn, with the opening set for July 6th.

Mr. Shawn (not only the current head of the dance company but also its founder) asked for the farm in 1928 as a gift to the funding of future performances he was hoping to achieve in their Studio. He has since brought the farm to its present level of success, and the farm itself has become a recognized institution in the dance world.

The Festival will feature a wide range of dance styles, from contemporary to classical. Performances will be held both indoors and outdoors, with all performances free to the public.

FACILITY FLASHES

The new facility, which has been designed to accommodate the needs of the dance company, is located on a hill overlooking the farm. It features state-of-the-art lighting and sound equipment, as well as a large outdoor performance area.
