A Memorial

The death of Dr. Emil Randelzhofer is a loss to Southern Illinois University and the Southern Illinois community. Dr. Randelzhofer was a long-time member of the faculty and served as the first president of the university. He was well-respected for his contributions to education and his leadership in the region.

Will You Be One?

Will you join the ranks of the Lycans this weekend? It's no more a mystery than the man who has a horse in the race. It's a fact of life and you should know it. Support the Lycans. They're the people who keep our community safe.

The Lycans will be in action this weekend. The Southern Illinois Lycans will be playing against the University of Illinois Lycans. The game is scheduled for Saturday at 7:30 PM at the SIU Assembly Hall. Mark your calendars and come out to support your team.

The Lycans have been practicing hard. They want to win this game and get back into the championship race. They need everyone's support to make this happen. So, join us and cheer them on to victory.

Have Fun This Summer

"The summer is here in full blow," as the saying goes. If you want to have fun this summer, there are plenty of opportunities available to you. Here are some ideas:

- Camps: There are many summer camps available for kids and adults. These camps offer a wide range of activities, from arts and crafts to sports and adventure.
- Volunteering: Many organizations are looking for volunteers to help with events or projects. This is a great way to give back to your community.
- Travel: Take a trip to a new place. There are many affordable travel options available, from road trips to all-inclusive resorts.

Martin Finds New Job in Illinois

"Like I'm going to be working with baseball for the first time since '59," some local baseball fans were making comments after hearing that Martin D. Kline, assistant pro- fessor of industry and marketing at the University of Illinois, had been selected as the new baseball coach for the Illinois Fighting Illini. The appointment by the Board of Trustees is effective as of July 1.

Martin's new position will mean a change in his role and responsibilities, the athletic director, Earl A. Hall, said. "Martin brings with him a wealth of knowledge and experience in the sport of baseball, and we look forward to his contributions to our baseball program," Hall said.

Martin's appointment to the position of baseball coach is the culmination of a long and successful career in the sport. He was hired by Illinois as an assistant coach in 1960, and he has held coaching positions at the University of Illinois and other institutions. He has also been a member of the Illinois coaching staff since 1960.

Martin's new role will include the responsibilities of coaching, recruiting, fundraising, and overseeing the administrative aspects of the baseball program. He will oversee the day-to-day operations of the baseball team, including practice sessions, game management, and scouting. He will also be responsible for the recruitment of new players and for managing the team's budget.

Martin's appointment to the position of baseball coach is expected to bring a new level of energy and enthusiasm to the Illinois baseball program. He is well-respected in the coaching community, and his expertise in the sport is widely recognized.

Martin's new role will provide him with the opportunity to continue his passion for the sport and to contribute to the success of the Illinois Fighting Illini baseball team. He is expected to make a positive impact on the program and to help guide the team to new heights of success.

The appointment of Martin D. Kline as the new baseball coach for the Illinois Fighting Illini is a significant milestone for the University of Illinois and the Illinois baseball program. His leadership and experience will be a valuable asset to the team, and we look forward to the future of the Illinois baseball program under his guidance.

WSRV Makes Summer Plans

Sponsoring a complete line of student radio programs and features, WSRV is looking ahead to the coming summer. The station is currently planning a series of events and activities to keep its listeners entertained and engaged.

One of the main events planned for the summer is the "Summer Block Party," which will take place on a warm summer evening. The party will feature live music, games, and refreshments, and it will be a great opportunity for listeners to come together and enjoy the outdoors.

Another event planned for the summer is the "Teen Talent Show," which will be held in late July. The show will feature local talent performing a range of acts, from singing and dancing to comedy and poetry. It will be a fantastic way for young people to showcase their skills and have fun.

For those who enjoy the outdoors, WSRV is planning a "Summer Nature Hike," which will take place on a cool morning. The hike will be led by a local nature expert and will feature a guided tour through some of the most beautiful natural areas in the area. It will be a great way to get some exercise and learn about the local flora and fauna.

The station is also planning a "Summer Concert Series," which will feature a range of local and regional artists performing live in outdoor venues around the area. The concerts will be held on a series of warm summer evenings, and they will be a great way to enjoy some great music and beautiful weather.

These are just a few of the events and activities that WSRV is planning for the summer. The station is always looking for new and exciting ways to engage its listeners, and it promises to have some great events planned for the coming months.

Family Housing

To begin the search for new housing, families interested in rental units in the University area should contact the Family Housing Office at (217) 333-1234. The office can provide information about available units and the application process.

For those interested in buying a home, the Office of Student Affairs can provide assistance in finding a property. The office can also provide information about mortgage options and other financing opportunities.

Papers Appear In Journal

Several pages of two reviews by WSRV School of Agriculture's departmental specialists, appear in the July issue of the American Society for Horticultural Science. The reviews cover a range of topics, from the physiology of plant growth to the economics of crop production.

Dr. Robert Johnson, chair of the Department of Plant Science, said, "The papers in this issue reflect the diverse range of research being conducted at WSRV. They cover topics from the basic biology of plant growth to the practical implications of crop production. We are proud to see these papers published and available for others to read and learn from."

The reviews are available for free download on the WSRV website, and they can also be accessed through a number of academic databases. The papers are open access and are freely available for anyone to read and download.

Four Attend Meeting

Mr. John O. Johnson, Mrs. Susan O. Johnson, Mr. James O. Johnson, and Mr. John O. Johnson attended the annual meeting of the American Society for Horticultural Science at the University of Illinois. The meeting featured a range of presentations and discussions on topics related to plant growth and crop production.

Dr. Robert Johnson, chair of the Department of Plant Science, said, "The meeting was a great success, and we were pleased to see such a good turnout. The presentations were informative, and the discussions were lively. It was a wonderful opportunity to network with other researchers and share ideas."
