For All-Faith Campus Chapel

Graduating seniors will contribute $500 to the All-Faith Chapel scheduled to be built on the SIU campus.

They voted the contribution during the annual Senior Class banquet of the SIU Alumni Association in the University Center. Five hundred seniors attended.

The money will go into the Campus Chapel Fund held by the Southern Illinois University Foundation. The non-denominational chapel will be built when enough non-state funds are available.

In another action the seniors elected Gary How of Carbondale to serve as class representative to the legislative council of the alumni association.

The association gave a complimentary life membership to Caryl Klingberg Lyons of Carbondale, top graduating senior with a four-year scholastic average of 4.67. A program was inaugurated last year to present a life membership to all graduates who complete their work with an average of 4.00 or better. Mrs. Lyons was unable to be present because of her teaching duties at Cahokia. She finished her work at SIU at the end of the fall term.

Obelisk Editor Gets Marketing Award

Steve Wilson, editor of the 1964 Obelisk, has been named the Outstanding Marketing Student of 1964 by the marketing faculty.

He was awarded a certificate and a medal from the American Marketing Association of St. Louis at a luncheon banquet.

He also received the Alpha Kappa Psi Scholarship Key which is given each year to the male student with the highest grade average in the School of Business.

Price Cut Offered For Hutton Show

Students who will be in the Chicago area between June 8 to June 11 and who plan to attend "Outstanding Precedents," starring Betty Burgess, can obtain discount coupons at the Activities Office in the University Center.

A savings of as much as $1.75 per ticket can be had for the play which will be presented at the Melody Top in Hillside, Ill.

Employers Offer Higher Salaries To Southern Seniors This Year

June graduates are being offered salaries that are two to three percent higher than the 1963 graduates, the SIU Placement Service reports.

"The supply and demand for college graduates in coming year is in balance," Roye Brynan, director of the Placement Service.

"The fallacy of top companies beginning college graduates in becoming evident. In addition to good grades, a student must show a good personality during interviews and begin early to find the job he must suit for.

"Merely selling yourself is not enough, he added. "Quality of college is second to the rank in class.

Brynan acknowledged that each year more companies show an interest in Southern's graduates. Last year, for example, 5,080 jobs were offered to SIU students and the number is expected to jump this year.

"However, the student can't sit back and wait for the companies to come court him. "We must take the initiative to find a job," Brynan added.

The demand for teachers has been one of the biggest at the SIU Placement Service. However, "teaching jobs are not so easy to obtain any more," Brynan said.

"Superintendents are coming to Southern and picking the best students, not just any student with a teaching degree. And for the first time large school systems such as Detroit and Baltimore have come to Southern for teachers, Brynan stressed the point that students must apply early for jobs because the best jobs are offered early. Using March as an example, he recalled that 4,088 job offers on offers on a recent placement report came on a single day.

That month 40 companies sent 54 interviews to SIU to interview some 668 seniors.

This year some 445 firms have sought employees through the Placement Service, Brynan said.

"Our purpose is twofold," Brynan said. "We of course, try to find jobs for all qualified students who apply, and we provide a similar service for employers.

"If a student has been out of Southern for a year, he may decide to change jobs after he has been out of Southern a few years."

George H. Gass, associate professor of physiology, has received a $21,720 grant from the National Cancer Institute for research on the effects of female sex hormone on the production of mammary cancer.

The grant is for continuation of a research project designed to determine whether it is the normal cyclical occurrence of estrogens in a female that produces breast cancer, or whether the level of the hormone is the deciding factor. The project was undertaken with previous research grants from the National Institutes of Health, of which the Cancer Institute is an agency.

Gass, who came to Southern Illinois University in 1960, was formerly an assistant branch chief in the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Much of his early cancer research at SIU was done when he developed a converted frame residence laboratory was destroyed by fire in 1962.

Supreme Court Strikes Down Alabama's Banning of NAACP
WASHINGTON -- The Su­preme Court struck down Monday an Alabama court order banning the National As­sociation for the Advancement of Colored People from operating in that state.

Justice John M. Harlan de­livered the unanimous decision.

"In litigation that began in 1956, the Montgomery County Ala., Circuit Court on Dec. 29, 1961, permanently enjoined the NAACP from conducting ins tractate business in the state.

The ban was on the ground that the NAACP had failed to reg­ister as a foreign-out-of-state corporation.

Alabama's Supreme Court, in the decision overturned Monday, said that state's law requiring that all state em­ployees take loyalty oaths.

"Justice Byron R. White, de­livering the court's decision, said: 'The oath is un­constitutionally vague.
Justice Tom C. Clark wrote a dissenting opinion, in which Justice John M. Harlan joined.
The court's vote was 7-2, 54 percent, the University of Washing­ton in teaching and teaching jobs had challenged validity of the state laws.

The court is expected from a decision by a special three-judge U.S. District Court for the Western Dist. of Wash., that upheld the state requirement.

Cloture Action
Set This Week,
Mansfield Says
WASHINGTON -- Senate Ma­jority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told the Senate Monday he hoped to get next Saturday a petition for debate on a cloture motion.

"One hour after we meet Tuesday, we would be pre­pared to act," Mansfield said.

Just a few minutes earlier, before conferring on the floor with Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Mans­field had told reporters he hoped to do this next Monday. He promised to keep inten­sion after conversations with senators on the floor and in response to a question from Dirksen when he intended to file the petition.

Mansfield referred to a petition for cloture on a Senate limitation, which must be signed by at least 16 senators, and must be signed within 30 days.

To be effective, the move must gain support of two-thirds of the Senate, or 67 if all are present.

Each senator then would be limited to one hour's de­bate on amendments to the Senate's rule.

Illinois Democrats and Republicans took the first steps Monday into the political unknown.

They gathered in separate conventions in Springfield, where they will nominate candidates who will run in Illinois' House of Representatives in November.

The procedure is without precedent in the state's political history, and is roughly similar to nominating candidates for governor. Instead of filling or representing districts, the candidates will be nominated as though the entire state were a legislative district.

The convention was set in motion last year. The General Assembly and Gov. Otto Kerner were unable to agree on the reapportionment, and the lock over apportionment was the method of nomination of candidates for the House.

The issue then went to a bipartisan commission. Its establishment House districts.

California Voters Go to Polls Today

SAN FRANCISCO -- Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller directed final appeals to the voters Monday as Goldwater winds up to California's presi­dential primary campaign. The charge of "communist" and "frenzy of equality" be­tween the rival camps sharpened as the state's 86 Republican national convention delegates in the ballotroom scheduled for today.

Portside, in traditional fashion, expressed confidence in the outcome of a battle which Rockefeller says will shape the future course of the Republican party.

The polls have lifted Rockefeller in frontrunner.

Too Many Chiefs

Third in a Series

Five little governments operate within the boundaries of Carbondale today. Each of these units is headed by a city councilman or the mayor. No corporation would operate without a general supervisor who could coordinate all activities in the different departments and, using an overall picture of the corporation’s holdings and actions, suggest courses of action for eventual improvement and expansion. The beauty of this well-known system of business operation is that the board of directors can make the major decisions without having to worry about the mechanics of carrying out orders and policies.

The same principle could easily apply to the form of city government in Carbondale. Instead of dividing the supervision of the city’s affairs among five men or into five separate units, why aren’t the city’s operations interrelated and handled in such a manner? Under the present city commission system, each member of the city council supervises the operations in one municipal department. Then, at the council session, the group considers major actions. Should a city manager system be installed, the council would still retain the right to make major policy and operating decisions but each member would be free of the detailed problems involved in administration of the average city department. Councilmen must hold down paying jobs to support themselves and families, yet are expected to devote equal time to supervising a department. The city manager solution would, besides relieving councilmen of unnecessary burdens, aid efficiency in the conduct of Carbondale’s affairs.

With one man in charge of all city departments, he wouldn’t be treading on some other department head’s territory. He would also have the advantage, gained through detailed work in all departments, of an overall picture and would be able, therefore, to more accurately recommend suggestions with the city’s total future needs in mind. Carbondale could be run with an eye to the future instead of being run on a day-to-day basis. Carbondale has a future and it must prepare for it.

Wheelchair Thief Reveals His Sagging Social Values

There is not much sense in trying to impose upon others a personal set of values as to what is right or wrong. These values are specific and must be enforced by the individuals, but there are also social standards and values of which all members of a society should be aware. If social accepted values are broken, society will appeal until they are enforced. Society will not allow its values to be crucified.

I now ask: What values justified the individual who recently stole the wheelchair belonging to a physically handicapped individual? Was it this same set of “values” that told him to take advantage of someone less fortunate than himself — someone who cannot walk, who depends upon wheels to subdue nature for his legs? I can only wonder if his “values” would permit him to cut off another man’s legs just as he “cut” off the “legs” of this individual whose chair he stole.

People will be quick to recognize the individual with such a warped set of values as one whose personality is neither grateful for his own blessings nor sympathetic to those upon whom such blessings as the ability to walk did not fall. I only hope that other members of our society who see such blows to our society’s values will have enough courage to personally see to it that such actions are arrested so that society’s values are preserved, not crucified.

Woods Predicts NCAA Title After Record Throw Friday

Without hesitation George Woods of the Salukis won his third straight national title in the shot put, and he won the NCAA shot put championship.

George Woods' impressive throw set a new national mark of 61 feet, 2 inches, and it was the longest distance of his career on his first toss and it placed him further ahead of the field of NCAA shot put eligible.

Danny Roberts of Texas A&M figures to give Woods his stiffest competition at Eugene, Ore. Roberts has tied Woods this season and Woods thinks he can beat the Aggie.

A Saluki-Ford meet, Southern and Greeneville were tied 6-6, plus a few high school and unattached competitors.

Woods and Ruby Phillips—a halfback on SIU's football team—were the only double winners. Woods won the discus event and Phillips won the 160-yard dash and the broad jump.

Carello Seeks 3rd Jackson Golf Title

Veteran Saluki golfer Gene Carello will be seeking his third consecutive Jackson Invitational Golf Tournament title this weekend in the annual area golf meet.

Carello, a senior from West Frankfort who led Southern in the regular season with a 75 average for 17 matches this season, will attempt to tie the tourney record with a third win. Carello is the only player to capture two records in one victory in the tournament's six-year history.

This year's tournament will open with the annual pro-am competition Friday at the Jackson Country golf course and will feature some of the best professional and amateur golfers in the Southern Illinois area.

Another SIU record was set when a woman shot a high of 54-2.82 for the title.

Dany Lambugh was the only high school entry to win an event. The Chester boy took the pole vault with a jump of 12 feet, 6 inches.

The results:

Shot put—Woods 61 feet, 2 inches, 3rd; Bill Cornell, SIU, 60 feet, 4 inches, 2nd; Silas 39 feet, 10 inches, 4th.

Art Students Capture Cash

Four students have won cash prizes totaling $275 in an art contest sponsored by "Brewer's Digest," a national brewing industry trade magazine.

A colored chalk drawing by Duncan Mitchell, 22, of Granite City, won first prize in the contest. Mitchell is a junior at SIU, another design student, Dick Carlson, 20, of River Forest, sought expression in a different medium, winning second place with his black and white photographs. Carlson, sophomore, received a $75 prize.

Randall B. Richmond, 21, a junior from Murphysboro, won third prize for his pen and ink drawings. Richmond is an art major.

The prize winners were part of a group of 40 fine arts students that took part in an "Artistic" Day at a brewery sponsored by the trade magazine and Falstaff Brewing Corporation.

Students Saddle Sore, Weary After Weekend of Trail Riding

More than two dozen members of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, returned to the campus Sunday evening saddle sore and weary after their eighth annual spring weekend horseback trail ride.

President Delyne W. Morris missed the event for the first time due to prior commitments.

Norman Kirkby, APO trail ride chairman from Western Springs, says the students and invited faculty members left the University Center by bus Friday evening for High Knob in the Shawnee National Forest for an overnight campout.

High Knob served as headquarters for Saturday and Sunday trail rides in the rugged terrain of southern Gallatin and northern Hardin counties.

They made a horseback trip to Pounds Hollow Recreation Area and returned to High Knob for the night. The group rode to the Garden of the Gods scenic area for lunch Sunday, returning to High Knob in the afternoon to end the trail ride and return to the campus.

Alpha Phi Omega is a service organization of former Boy Scouts and those interested in scouting.

The Office of Student Af­fairs will conduct a meeting today to discuss whether Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity is involved in lawbreaking ac­tivities of its pledges.

Invited to the meeting were the fraternity's faculty sponsors, its resident advisor and the supervisor of Small Group Housing.

Thirteen pledges were fined $25 plus $5 costs Monday in Circuit Court on charges of trespassing. This was a lesser charge than was originally filed—felony for taking 24 watermelons from puck's Food Mart Fr,iday night. All 13 pleaded guilty to trespassing.

The Office of Student Af­fairs talked to the 13 Monday, but no action was taken, pending further investigation. The of­fice said that Joseph Nappi, George McCreery and Arthur Lussi reported they took the melons. The 10 other pledges fined in court said they were aware the melons had been taken.

Twenty-six Phi Kappa Tau pledges were arrested by Car­bondale Police at Crab Orchard Lake. Thirteen of them were not fined because they neither touched the melons, nor knew they were stolen.

The charge was lessened at the request of Pick's, to whom the court ordered the fraternity to pay $51 in restitution and to send a formal apology.

The Office of Student Af­fairs said that the automobile driven by Nappi was unregistered. Those fined, according to court records, were Nappi, McCreery, Lussi, Jeanne Ginnis, Everett Kelly, James Hays, Richard Goodman, Rodney Edelstein, Oliver Dorf, Richard Benning, Leonard Spears, Gary Wilson and Ralph Senteney.
