A. E. Halpern, Father William Ryan, Rev. L. K. Bishop, Address Student Assembly Tuesday

The St. Louis Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews was presented Wednesday morning, Feb. 18, at 10 o'clock in the Student Union, attended by a large group of students and faculty members.

The group was brought to Carbondale in observance of Brotherhood Week.

Rev. L. K. Bishop, pastor of the St. Louis Round Table, introduced the Reverend A. E. Halpern, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church, where the group was housed. The Reverend Bishop, pastor of St. John's Church, made the following statement in welcoming the group:

"Brotherhood Week is a time when we are called upon to remember that brotherhood is a virtue that must be lived, not merely spoken. It is a time when we are called upon to remember that brotherhood is a virtue that must be practiced, not merely preached. It is a time when we are called upon to remember that brotherhood is a virtue that must be shared, not merely enjoyed."
WHAT ABOUT THE

JAPANESE-AMERICAN PROBLEm?

In the Spring of 1914, 16,000 persons of Japanese descent were removed from the United States to Japan. Of these 10,000 were American citizens.

The explanation given for this mass movement of people was that it was to prevent the repatriation of United States citizens by their former Japanese employers. Secretary of State at that time, William H. Taft, informed the Japanese government that the United States would repatriate all Japanese nationals who were in the country as of the date of the treaty, and that they would be returned to Japan, provided they were repatriated voluntarily by the United States. The Japanese government, however, refused to permit the repatriation of these persons.

The United States government then proceeded to repatriate the 10,000 persons, including 5,000 American citizens, who were in the country at the time of the treaty. These persons were returned to Japan, and their property was seized and returned to the government.

The repatriation of these persons caused great hardship to the families of the Japanese American community. The United States government was criticized for its action, and the Japanese government was criticized for its refusal to permit the repatriation of these persons.

The repatriation of these persons was a matter of great concern to the Japanese American community, and it was a matter of great concern to the United States government.

American Railroads are the GREATEST

- Transportation agency in times of war
- Carrier of commodities in times of peace
- Employers of labor
- Owners of property
- Purchasers of materials and supplies
- Promoters of the country’s development

The Old Reliable — for 50 years has stood dependably at all

It is a half billion dollar corporation — spending millions of dollars every year and quintupling the South's agricultural and industrial life all along its nearly 5,000 miles of roadways.

The American Railroads perform a tremendous and useful private and public service. When the people of the South understand the work of a large and essential industry, the L&N asks that its contributions be appropriately measured.
