Cold Type Printing Process Gives Egyptian New Look

journalism Department Prints Newspaper
In Its New Offset Plant

At Building T-48

What's the new look? It's the "egyptian" in cold type by offset.

It's cheaper, it's faster, and here's how it works.

Copy, as written by reporters, is first retyped on the Justewriter. This machine, which closely resembles an electric typewriter, types the copy and simultaneously punches each character in a code system comparable to the dots of Braille, into a special tape.

This tape is run through a reproducer machine which justifies the type, or sets it up in even "newspaper size" columns. This process works in a manner like that of a player piano. The tape is put on the reproducer unit at the side of the machine, and keys type out the letters, much as the keys of a player piano produce music.

The justified copy is then run through a waxer which coats the back of the paper with a thin layer of wax that retains permanent adhesiveness. The waxed copy is then passed to a "flat," or type of "blue-print," of the paper's format.

Headlines are produced by the Headliner which uses negative discs that reproduce the letters on a 35 m.m. tape through a photographic process. The finished headline tapes are then cut to size and pasted to the flat.

Various miscellaneous large type such as advertising copy is set on another machine known as the Vartityper. It justifies and centers the type, and causes several different type sizes.

The finished flat with copy, headlines, and ads pasted in their proper places, is then photographed on the process camera, which is a glorified box Brownie. This camera shoots sheet film 20 x 24 inches.

Photographs are done separately through a half-tone process, and are attached to the rest of the copy later. The negative of the flat is developed, and then exposed through a pre-sensitized aluminum plate which is coated with a lacquer that forms an ink receptive base and brings out the image. The finished flat is then ready for the press.

This photographic process eliminates the use of metal type. The print is made from a smooth plate, in application of the principle that oil and water don't mix.

The plate is coated with a fountain solution which is essentially water, but the image on the plate retains an oil base. The ink from the press adheres to this oiled image, but not the water coated portion of the plate. The inked image is then transferred to a blanket roller from which the paper is actually printed, hence the name "offset" as the paper is not printed from the plate directly, but from an image set off on the blanket roller.

The paper, which comes in 840 pound rolls, is run through the press, and approximately 14,400 cut and folded issues per roll are produced.

George C. Brown, assistant professor of Printing and Photography as well as EGYPTIAN business manager, and Thomas F. Bingham, assistant supervisor in the Department of Journalism, are the men in charge of the new offset printing plant which last night printed this edition of the EGYPTIAN.
Student Council Seeks Housing Investigation

Southern Illinois University's Student Council considered a report at last night's meeting on the campus housing situation. The report was presented to the Student Council by a committee composed of students, householders, and representatives of the housing office. The report was unanimously passed.

Student Body President Dick Childers pointed out to the council that the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a general clean-up day under the heading "Operation Carbondale." Childers stated that the group has asked for university students to help in the project. The work entails street, lawn, and sidewalk cleaning over the entire city of Carbondale.

Council gave its approval to the project and encourages students to help. A starting date has been set as April 28.

Student Council Takes Board in 1962 Theta Xi Variety Show

The 15-act Theta Xi variety show will not only feature SU's top student talent but will also feature the presentation of two service to Southern award, a $200 scholarship, and the appearance of ceremonies for the two shows.

The first show will be presented today at 7:30 p.m. in Sycropy Auditorium and the second show tomorrow night, Saturday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $2 each, or $1 for reserve seats and seventy-five cents for general admission, and may be purchased at the Information Desk in the University Center.

Appearing as master of ceremonies will be Bob Hardy from KMOX radio in St. Louis. Proceeds from the two performances will go into the Theta Xi Fund which is spent for betterment of SU, according to Laswell. In past years, the Theta Xi Fund has purchased over 100 prints for the University Library that can be borrowed by any faculty member or student and may be kept for an entire term. The bulletin board outside of the Home Economics Building was donated by Theta Xi. According to Laswell, the money, in essence, goes back to the students.

Council approved the appointment of Bob McKenchnie as co-chairman of the Theta Xi Variety Show. The Variety Show will be Saturday, March 24, 1962, at 7:30 p.m. in Sycropy Auditorium.

"Educated Idiot"

Many times, when a student begins reflecting, he will begin to ask himself just why he is in college, and furthermore, how seriously he should consider his work while in college.

The first question, why college, is one which should be immediately apparent to many people, as their parents have pounded the answer into their head since they have been old enough to understand logic.

The question is that in our highly modernized and competitive economic system, a person without a college education is like a ship without a sail. As our economic system is set up, a person sells his abilities, and is paid in accordance to the job he can do.

Obviously, the person with a college education has much more to offer, or at least that is the accepted standard; therefore, college education is a prerequisite for a secure future.

Now comes the second question, which is definitely the more important of the two—how seriously should college work be considered? A large number of students are under the delusion there is no real need to conscientiously apply themselves to their studies, but only do enough to get by and pass the class.

In hanging to these beliefs, the student eases through a course on what little he knows, and when the course is finished he even forgets that.

Patrotism Isn't Blind

Virginia Olsen, 17-year-old editor of the student newspaper at Reedville, Conn., is in trouble because of an editorial entitled "A Higher Loyalty" which declared that to be a patriotic American "is to be blindly stupid." "Patriotism," one of the school board bas protested. The school board has expressed "concern." The town Republican committee said the editorial was "in bad taste."

We hope that they will not be too hard on Virginia. In reaching out for a great truth—the brotherhood of all mankind—she failed to notice an equally important truth at her elbow. She fails to realize from a youthful affliction known as hypermetropia which means she cannot see the trees for the woods.

If we could sit down and chat with Virginia, it would be our purpose to show her that one cannot be "loyal to the world" without being loyal to one's own country. One cannot be a good neighbor to the underprivileged people of what we used to call "Darkest Africa" without being kindly disposed to Mr. and Mrs. Jones down the block.

The concept of brotherhood is the most elevating idea that ever dawned on man. However infrequently it is realized in our daily life, it is even as an ideal, sufficient to raise us a notch or two above our animal forebears.

But the only way Virginia or we or the President of the United States can give body to this ideal is by working patriotically within the framework of our own nation.

There may be conflicts of interest between governments, but there are not, in our opinion, basic conflicts of interest between the peoples of the world. Their ultimate desire is for the preservation of peace and the spread of the abundant life to all.

Because we love our country, and because we have faith in its basic goodness, we shall strive to have our government make its proper contribution to this worthy objective.

Patriotism is too seldom discussed either in editorials or from the pulpit. Maybe we are afraid of sounding corny. Or maybe, being fearful we will say nothing new on the subject, we say nothing. Perhaps Virginia has done us a good turn in compelling us to think about this love we bear for our country but which we seldom put in words.

Southern Squads Shooting For Sweep Of Conference Championship Titles

Already possessing intercollegiate conference championship titles in football, basketball and cross-country, SIU shot up to a clean sweep of the IAC all and winter sports this weekend.

Southern's gymnastics, wrestling and swimming teams are going for their fourth straight titles. If Southern wins these titles it will be the second straight time SIU has won all the fall and winter sports.

Coach Jim Wilkinson's wrestlers and Ralph Casey's basketballers are expected to breeze into Illinois and will be competing at Eastern Illinois, while Bill Leake's little gymnastsavel to Illinois State.

Gymnastics

Last year's most valuable performer, Bruno Krause heads Southern contingent that is expected to breeze to a fourth straight IAC title. Krause, NCAA 1961 high bar champion, along with NCAA all ring champion Fred Oriskey and sophomore sensation Rusty Mitchell are expected to lead the way. Mitchell, from West Covina, Calif., is undefeated in the free and tumbling events and tumbles on the balance beam with the grace of a ballerina.

The Salukis won all eight rents en route to a 200 1/2- 1/2 record over runner-up Western Illinois last winter, and have winners of seven out of eight following on a squad which is expected to win the National Conference championship crown. In addition to Krause returning, Bill Meade has Lee Kelton, Fred Tiktinsky and Tom Siderick back to defend their titles. Other boys looking to be among the stars will be Hugh Tanley, tumbling and trampoline, and Chuck Woers.

Heading the SIU entry is NCAA 100-yard freestyle record-holder Ray Radovan, who led the IAC's most valuable performer last year, setting record loops in the 100 and 100-yard freestyle, pacing SIU to a conference O-yard freestyle relay sweep. The Salukis, who hold all IAC records, are returning winners in eight 1961 individual titles, together with key men from their championship relay quartets.

Other Saluki returnees in addition to Pederson are Walt Rodgers, who set a IACIOO-yard butterfly record, won the 100-yard butterfly and contributed to a 400-yard medley relay record last year; Larry Asmussen, defending 100 and 200-yard breaststroke champ and a member of last year's record medley relay team. However, Asmussen will have to hustle to successfully defend his titles as sophomore teammate Jack Schildt already has broken both loop records in dual meet competition.

Also returning to put their blue ribbons on the line are seniors Ron Ballatore and Ron Deady. Ballatore won the 100-yard backstroke in record time last year, while Ron Deady is defending 200-yard individual medley champ.

Wrestling

Coach Jim Wilkinson's wrestlers will be trying to win their fourth straight title and fifth in seven seasons in the IAC meet at Charleston today and tomorrow. Southern has all four of its 1961 individual champs slated to return--Frank Congilo at 123 pounds, Eddie Lewis at 167, Jon Houston, heavyweight and Roger Plapp at 191.

The Salukis have another title contender in Terry Finn, just recently out of the U.S. Air Force and who will enter the IAC meet at either 115 or 123 pounds.

Southern's closest competitor figures to be Eastern Illinois this season, as it has a host of boys returning from last year's runner-up squad.

Salukis Book 10 Grid Games

By the time SIU students settle down to the books next fall, the Saluki football team will have played two games against highly regarded opponents.

The 1962 football schedule released yesterday following a meeting of the university athletic council, indicates that SIU will open its season September 15, at Texas A & I in Kingsville, Texas. The following weekend, September 22, the squad will travel to Drake University. Classes do not begin until Sept. 24.

SIU will drop out of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference at the end of the spring quarter. Consequently, next fall's football schedule is nearly void of IAC opponents, but SIU Illinois Normal and Central Michigan appearing on the schedule.

New teams added, in addition to the powerful Texas A & I team, include Hillsdale College; Lincoln University in Jefferson City, Mo.; Northern Michigan, Northern Texas State, and a military team from Ft. Campbell, Ky. Non-IAC repeaters on next year's schedule include Drake and Bowling Green.

SIU will have three games away from plus an open date before appearing in McAndrew stadium. The SIU team will appear here initially October 15, against the Hilldales, Michigan, team. There will be five home games.

The schedule includes:

Sept. 15 -- at Texas A & I
Sept. 22 -- at Drake University
Sept. 29 -- at Central Michigan
Oct. 13 -- at Hillsdale
Oct. 20 -- Lincoln University
Oct. 27 -- Illinois Normal (homecoming)
Nov. 3 -- at Northern Michigan

Martin’s Baseball Squad Shoots For Fifth Straight League Title

With less than three weeks remaining until SIU begins its fifteenth baseball season, and last in the Interstate Conference, one finds that Coach Glenn (Abe) Martin’s baseball teams have never finished lower than third in the conference.

In fact, Martin will be shooting for his fifth consecutive IAC title and sixth in 11 seasons since the IAC was formed in 1951.

Martin has compiled impressive records as SIU baseball coach. Since the revival of baseball here in 1947, the Salukis have won 207 games while losing only 110.

With the baseball season right around the corner Martin is preparing his charges for their spring trip to Tempe, Arizona where the Salukis tackle Arizona State.

Martin has a cautious optimism about him in regard to the upcoming IAC season and the Arizona trip. Injuries are his biggest worry now as second baseman Bob Qualls, Hardcastle and Salukis include second baseman Bob Ritter, last year’s MIP’S FIRST
