Theta Xi Variety Show Begins Tonight

AP Editors

At SIU Sunday

Editors of Associated Press newspapers in the southern half of Illinois will meet on campus Monday to discuss their plans for the College Bowl Deadline Extended.

The meeting, starting at 10 a.m. in the Faculty Club, will feature reports by A. E. Grotos, chief of the Chicago AP Bureau, and correspondents Peter Seymour of Centralia and Tom Pendegast of St. Louis.

President Delve Y. Morris will speak at a luncheon session of the group.

Dr. Howard L. Long, chairman of the Department of Journalism, will be in charge of the program.

Undergraduate members of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity, will serve as greeters.

Math Department Sponsors Three Newman Lectures

Jerry Newman, director of the statistical laboratory, at the University of California at Berkeley, will give three lectures on campus Monday and Tuesday under the sponsorship of the Mathematics Department.

He will lecture at 10 a.m., Monday and at the same time Tuesday in Room 205 of Old Main. Both lectures will be of a technical nature dealing with the applications of statistics and mathematics.

He will give a public lecture entitled "A Month in The Soviet Union" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Munkelroy Auditorium in the Agriculture Building.

Newman will show slides to illustrate his talk on his experiences while touring Russia.

Newman received his Ph.D. from the University of Warsaw and taught in Poland and England before becoming a professor of mathematics at the University of California.

G. E. College Bowl Deadline Extended

The deadline for registration for the G. E. College Bowl eliminations has been extended to Monday, according to Bill Fenwick, student body president.

The registration of candidates began February 19. Approximately 65 students have registered. Nearly 100 more have been recommended by faculty and organizations for participation.

Many students who have been recommended for competition and have been approved by application cards have failed to return them. Fenwick said students must have their cards turned in by Monday because the College Bowl planning committee has to finalize plans for screening procedures.

The SIU Quiz Bowl Committee will select the students for the SIU entry to the nationally televised CBS program through a competitive selection.

Registration is being conducted by the faculty and the head of the Office of Special Development in the University Center.

It is the number of acts for the show in the history of the show.

Student President Questions SIU’s Treatment Of Athletes

A vague implication that all is not right in the Athletic Department’s relationship with athletics was made Wednesday night at a hearing on the College Bowl rulings, made for Activity Fee funds.

It was made by Student President Bill Fenwick during his questioning of Donald N. Boydston, Athletic Director.

Fenwick was primarily concerned with the department’s policy in the area of recruiting and the possibility that some coaches were making verbal threats and promises to athletes which were not kept.

Fenwick asked for a continuation of the hearing, headed by the Student Council’s welfare committee, because he said he wished to present some documented information which he had not had time to prepare.

When Boydston asked about the nature of the information, Fenwick said he could not document the information, it would be destructive to present it to the committee.

The continuation was granted. Boydston, who indicated that he had previous discussions with Fenwick on the subject, said: "I’d like to have this hearing over within there has been some unpleasantness to say the least."

Both Fenwick and Boydston refused to comment on either "information" or "unpleasantness.""""""

Boydston did say that apparently Fenwick thought there were some problems which he would expose.

"We probably have some unhappy boys," Boydston said, but do so other department...

"We have one of the best athletic programs for the money we spend," he added.

Fenwick responded to Boydston’s questions and answers follows: Fenwick: "Dr. Boydston, who determines policy for intercollegiate athletics?"

Boydston: "The Athletic Council."

Fenwick: "Is there a definite policy in the area of recruiting athletes?"

Boydston: "I’m from the Athletic Council? No in writing."

Fenwick: "Would it be helpful to have the policy in writing?"

Boydston: "Yes. How indicative would this have to be?"

Fenwick: "It should include these agreements would be binding."

Boydston: "How would you have this done?"

Fenwick: "I would have a statement to that effect on the contract."

Boydston: "Have you ever heard of a deviation from the policy you set up?"

Fenwick: "I do not recall anyone coming to my office with a complaint."

President Kennedy Asks Congress
For A Bold Civil Rights Program

WASHINGTON

President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday for unprecedented powers to safeguard Negro voting rights, including referees to rule on voter qualifications as soon as a registrar's impartiality is challenged in federal court.

Kennedy outlined his civil rights program in a special message saying that other federal action, no matter how speedy and drastic could never correct abuses of local and state power to curtail Negro civil rights. He said the program "should not provide the occasion for sectional bitterness."

His legislative requests, which are expected to go to Congress within 10 days as three separate bills, fall into the classifications of education, Civil Rights Commission and voting rights.

The President called for federal help in ending school segregation and requested a four-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission with expanded duties.

Civil rights advocates generally hailed the program as a step in the right direction, but many Congressmen said it didn't go far enough.

Typical of Southern reaction was that of Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., who said "As far as Virginia is concerned we can get along very well without any of that new legislation."

91.9 Mile Walk:
2 Use HikingFad
To Push WSIU-FM

Gaining a new twist to the current hiking fad, two SIU students will walk 91.9 miles this weekend to promote the 91.9 megacycle educational FM radio station, WSIU.

One of the hikers, James Wegener, a senior from Park Ridge, said, "Although several of our friends have expressed doubts as to our ability to finish the 91.9 mile walkathon, there is no doubt in my mind that we will make it." The other hiker is Al Swettman, a sophomore from Springfield.

Charles Tudor, a Carbondale junior, will accompany the pair by auto and provide assistance if needed. "Weather will not be a deciding factor, unless we have a blizzard of course," commented Wegener.

The two will depart at 7 a.m. Saturday from the WSIU radio station. The hike, expected to take about 30 hours, will take Swettman and Wegner through much of WSIU's primary coverage area.

Carterville, Herrin, Johnston City, West Frankfort, Benton, Christopher and DuQuoin are some of the towns through which the students will pass. The 91.9 miles will end between DuQuoin and Carbondale. "I definitely will trot the last mile," claimed Wegner, a former high school cross country runner.

Swettman and Wegner plan to average about three miles an hour, resting five minutes every hour. They will eat apples, oranges and candy bars during the trip.

The three participants are members of WSIU's all student staff. Their positions are: Tudor, continuity director; Wegener, promotions and publicity director; and Swettman, chief engineer.

Mr. Macdonald is a staff writer for The Nation and has written his book, a collection of reprinted articles and reviews that he has written over the past years, largely as a shock attack on the present state of American culture.

The most striking—and impertinent—of the articles, entitled "The Glass Menagerie," presents a theory of modern culture in the light of which the evening newspaper is understood. Since the rise of the romantic and the social unimportance of social dominance, the theory runs, traditional "High Culture" has been increasingly threatened, as "Mass Culture," that Macdonald calls it, Mass-culture--popular fiction, TV, movies, popular music—is mass produced for mass consumption in mass form--all bad. By the beginning of the present century, Macdonald points out, it was possible only by divorce from the mass-dominated society, and its apologists who divorced themselves--e.g., Joyce, Ibsen, Gide. Please--have contributed anything enduring to the tradition of high culture.

Thus far the theory is, at best, a sub rosa common property, although we might perhaps give Morgan among its inventors. The exposition is the author's "Mid-Century Impressions." His reviews and Architectural Macdonald--in fact, a movement to a new kind of architecture and product, of this movement is Macdonald's "The Glass Menagerie," with High Culture wrappings. Typical Macdonald offerings are Kenneth Beck's "Brave New World" of Mongo1s Eager for American Friendship

Owen Lattimore, Mongols and Commissars, Mongol-Hoover Institute on Politics and International Studies, 1942.

Mr. Lattimore is one of the few people in the Western Hemisphere who has any real knowledge of the Mongolian people. He made a trip to the Mongolian People's Republic in 1941 and has written a remarkable book about the development of the country during the last 40 years.

This is more than just a travel book because it is an invitation to become acquainted with a strange country and its one million people, who have risen between China and Russia from an oppressed and barbarous society. This change is due to the enlightened leadership of Mr. Lattimore also points out that the people are very satisfied with the changes brought about by the Mongolians. He firmly believes that Mongolia is on the right way, but the Mongolians also recognize that with the Western world, the authors say that a gift of gifts is an American book and that the people are very anxious to learn more from us about agriculture, industry, and technology. He feels that here is our chance to make new friends who feel that we also value very great value to them and from whom we could learn more about China and Russia which we have to become a friendly state.

Mr. Lattimore has certainly managed to make a very suggestive presentation to reach out for the band that extends a friendly state to China and becomes more significant when we think of the fact that Mongolia's People's Republic was admitted to the UN in 1941. We know that people contain a bibliography and a series of photographs.

Sophomores, Juniors, Challenge Senior Gymnasts Tuesday Night

Possibly the two best gymnastic squads in the country will meet head-on this coming Tuesday night, when Southern Illinois University's senior gymnasts face a team composed of juniors and sophomores in an intrasquad meet in Men's Gym at 7:30.

After completing a successful 6-0 dual meet season and winning 19 straight meets, Coach Bill Meade's unit goes into its final stage of preparation for the long awaited nationals.

The NCAA championships will be held in the University of Pittsburgh's Fitzgerald Fieldhouse on March 29 and 30th.

SIU has been slowly building up to their championship meet and Meade has experimented in almost all the meets to find the right combinations.

"The boys are about ready to go," said Meade, "The team worked about the best it's done all year in our last meet against the Spartans," he said.

The objective of Tuesday night's intrasquad meet is to give Meade a chance to select the ten man squad which will make the trip east.

"The competition will probably be so keen at Pittsburgh that the long horse competition might be the deciding factor," said Meade.

Bill Simms, high bar man, and John Fitzgerald, in parallel and tumbling man, will not be eligible for the nationals because two sophomores who haven't seen much action this year, will get the opportunity to compete for the ten man squad.

Tom Cook, a redheaded sophomore will work with Fred Blaney, trampoline and Henry Schaeffermeyer, who was out most of the year because of a motor scooter accident, will compete on the side horse. Meade expects Simms to score from 10-15 points at the championships.

The still ring event should prove to be the stiffest event and Meade has the good fortune to choose between five outstanding boys.

Chuck Ehrlich, Denny Wolf and Fred Orlofsty have all shared still ring honors this year and Tom Geocaris, who was runner-up in last year's NCAA championships, hasn't quite come around this year after sustaining an early season injury. Cook will be the fifth competitor.

The other six events should be just as hard for Meade to choose from because he has a squad that is about three deep at almost every event.

Rusty Mitchell, Bruno Klaus, Bill Hladik, John Rush, and Chuck Woerz all should be in the running for the remaining spots. Steve Simms has a chance to make the squad, but the side horse ace is still rid­dled by the flu which kept him out of the Michigan State meet last Monday.

Meade intends to keep his contingent working right up to the nationals and will hold another dual meet March 12 to determine his three best all-around performers.

IM Free Throw Tourney Monday

The annual SIU intramural free throw tournament will start Monday night from 8 to 10 p.m., in Men's Gymnasium. The weight-lifting tournament has been postponed, however, until March 10.

The Maddogs won the all-school SIU intramural basketball championship with a 67-49 victory. The Maddogs were led in scoring by Harry Bob­bi's 17 points and Mike Dia­mond's 14. Jake Jasminer's 17 points paced the losing kappa Alpha Psi squad. The Maddogs led at half­time 31-21.
