19-year-olds nurse drinking privilege as taverns try brewing new loyalties

By John Murriese
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Corks popped and taps surged, but the predominant sound Sundafe night, as the Illinois 19-year-old drinking law went into effect, was a resounding fizzle.

"We had a good hand in, and there still weren't that many 19-year-olds," Don (Darty) Apostolos, manager of Nouparte's Retreat, said.

Most other bars around Carbondale reported a general lack of interest by the newly legalizedkeen benders.

"If it wouldn't have started Friday night it could have been a different story," a bar tender said.

"I threw out a whole bunch of underage guys Saturday night, and there weren't many at all on Sunday," Doug Dugile, bartender at Pizza King, said.

Apostolos gave another reason for the law's lackluster debut. He said most bars have traditionally offered an atmosphere attracting a certain type of clientele.

"It's taken years to develop these patterns, and they're not going to end overnight," he observed. As for 19-year-olds, he concluded. "There's not going to be a big rush, because they're not used to coming here." Apostolos said he wasn't expecting a big surge, but anticipated a long-range shift to a younger clientele.

At the Cypress Lounge, the younger market had not yet penetrated the place. Interviewed at the dinner hour on Monday, the Cyprus closed at midnight, Manager Alan Haras said the lounge had been open since 1 p.m. and no one under 21 has come in yet.

Merlin's had about 30 young drinkers waiting at the doo at midnight, a barmaid there said. The band played "Auld Lang Syne" at midnight, but otherwise celebration was minimal, she said.

Package stores fared much better.

Lee's Liquors, ABC Liquor Store and Eastview Liquor Market all reported a large influx of 19- and 20-year-olds.

Signs reading "Stop, look and escape" were displayed at several establishments.

Anyone who wants to come in and enjoy themselves is welcome, be they 19 or 45," said Paul Freiman, manager of the American Tap, which displayed signs in front.

Enforcement of the new law which denies hard liquor to 19- and 20-year-olds will be left largely up to the license holders, said Mayor Neal Eckert. Carbondale liquor commissioners said the only thing they'll be concerned about is that the bar owners at least attempt to enforce it," he said. As far as my office goes, we won't be sending forces in to determine what they're doing.

Eckert added that his main interest was in keeping high school youths out of the bars.

Students jam Arena for Ice Fair Follies

By Debbi Hattemann
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The "Ice Fair Follies" were a slick success Monday night, as an estimated 1,000 students jammed the floor of the Army Navy Lake. Between trips on the ice, they wandered among about 20 booths and exhibits by campus organizations on the Arena concourse.

"I love it. They should have it all the time," Sydney Hines, a junior majoring in biological sciences, said as she came off the ice.

"We ought to have a rink," Ed Wright, a junior majoring in business, agreed. Wright grew up in Carbondale and estimated "there are usually 15 days a year when you can skate down here. I love to skate, but I have to go to St. Louis or Chicago to do it.

An Australian student, Wayne Calley, admitted he had never skated before. "We have no ice down there. But I like it. Unfortunately. I have one cramped foot at present. I'm going to be sore in the morning." Bill Wesley, a public relations major who learned to skate in Minnesota, said "It's very good ice. But crowded." Max Hamner, a medical student, was adled because "they're all out of men's skates. size 10." He compromised by walking on the waltzing floor.

Kathy Nitti solved the problem by bringing her own skates, decked with white pompoms and jingling bells. "I grew up with skates, started out on four blades, the whole bit," she said. "The ice is good as long as speeders don't knock you down.

Mark Smith, a 16-year-old from Marion, came skating with his parents. "I've never skated on ice skates before, just roller skates," Mark said. "It's a lot harder to stay up on ice. My ankles shiver back and forth.

Jamie RI, a professional clown, skated around passing out lollipops and balloons to skaters.

On the concourse, the Little Egypt Grotto set up a rapelling exhibition, with members scaling the back wall of the bleachers on ropes. The Cycling Club gave demonstrations on a stationary ten-speed bicycle, dressed in red, yellow, and blue racing shirts.

Amanda Marga Society turned incense and candles, while the Karate Club gave demonstrations, including brick-breaking with their bare hands. The Egyptian Divers had the largest exhibit, with tanks, a lifeboat, diving gear, a robot, shells and fish on display.

The Campus Skateboard for Christ set up a "Warming House" for skaters, with free hot chocolate. The Sailing Club exhibited a 15-foot sailboat, one of six the club maintains at Crab Orchard Lake.

Amanda Lucas, coordinator of the "Follies," said, "It's a great success, just as prefilled.

Plans for fall semester pour into Anthony Hall

By Marcia Bullard
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

New course descriptions for 1973-74 are pouring into Anthony Hall as deadlines near on plans for the fall semester system.

Assistant provost John Baker is heading up the conversion to semesters next fall. His desk is piled high with descriptions of new courses, plans for faculty teaching loads and lists of requirements which departments must meet in converting classes.

Things are pretty much on schedule according to Baker, who puts the final okay on course changes. Each department decides how it will change courses and requirements, writes up the descriptions and sends them out for approval. Plans first go to deans of the colleges then to the department curriculum committees and finally to Baker.

"I usually don't have to change anything," he said. "I review them to check for inflation of teaching loads, for courses that should exceed abilities of present staffs and for changes that would make things too difficult for students. I think the change will be very smooth.

Plans for General Studies courses were due August 1, and, except for a few hassles, they are all in, Baker

Parking division warns students to register vehicles by Monday

By Ralph Klinger
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Students are "dragging their feet" in the purchase of parking decals and tickets next Monday to avoid registering their vehicles for the University's Student Transportation Services (UITSU) parking offices.

"Students should be registered in time so that we don't have to issue $10 tickets to vehicles without a decal," said LeMarchal supervisor of parking offices. "Parking decals are available and it is the burden of the students to come.

The Parking Division offices for the purchase of decals is located at Washington Hall.

LeMarchal reported that the sales of Blue decals, to faculty and staff were better Monday than almost all last week." It was because there was a lot of new cars, 1,406 Blue decals had been sold for the 1,367 blue spaces available on campus.

Red decals have been sold for the 3,485 Red spaces available and Red decals are sold at the ratio of two stickers for each available space.

The sale of more decals than spaces' availability is said to be caused by a "flexible" system designed to help the University motorist to change lots in order to park closer to different buildings. They are told that crowding of lots is usually prevented.

"People often come with their own decals to campus at the same time everyday," said LeMarchal.

Although complaints have been called in to the Parking Division offices, by Blue decal registrants intersected by that Blue decals registrants are Extra filling for Blue spaces, LeMarchal said that tickets will not be issued until Monday.

He explained that the parking situation is usually in a state of disruption at the beginning of a quarter and an excess of cars on the campus.

Tuesday may bring down a car for the first week and then take it home and leave it, LeMarchal said. The enforcement officials refrain from issuing tickets to cars in the inflow of cars, which will be gone one week later; and for those who due to some reason not register and decal their cars on time.

However, Trimmer warned, tickets are not issued to motorists in illegal zones and enforcement of University parking regulations will begin, definitely, Monday.

Council commended for plans to ease problems of disabled

Silas Singh, director of the Special Student Services, expressed his gratitude to the city council in its efforts to move accessibility of handicapped in Carbondale at the regular meeting of the council Monday evening.

The council was commended by Singh for considering mentor program and directed improvement of sidewalks and entrances to places of business with the handicapped. The handicap was overheard by the police department, which will be submitted to the city council next week.

The ordinance was passed by the council, Singh said that it is a definite sign of the increasingly of Carbondale for the handicapped April 9 of this year.

After the presentations of the certificates, City Manager Carroll Fry announced that the maps and the funds for the work are ready. He added that bids will be solicited in a few months. Roger entire proposal is finished.

Councilman Hans Fischer suggested that the ordinance, which was adopted from the state statutes on accessibility for the handicapped, be amended to apply to all buildings except single family dwellings. The amendment was passed after a later date.

In other action, the council approved a variance petition prepared by Clark Deitz and Associates. The petition, which will be submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency, requests relief from state and federal environmental requirements and deadlines for Carbondale's wastewater treatment facility.

In the report, it was cited, due to the city's lack of revenue, arbitrary and unreasonable hardship would be experienced by Carbondale that was not met the required deadlines.

A petition of Carbondale's ordinance was also submitted to the council. Fry stated that now the ordinance's validation ambiguities and poor language can be eliminated.

Fry suggested that a cover ordinance could be passed by the council, excluding the ordinances which are undesirable.

Senate assassinations weapons bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of increasing defense spending Monday for a final assault on a $21 billion weapons authorization bill. The measure also calls for a reduction in the number of U.S. troops overseas.

A source said the Senate is scheduled on a $760 million overall cut proposed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and an alternative defense spending directed by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

Some 16 votes were sought on a $750 million for a $21 billion weapons authorization bill. From the state statutes on accessibility and the ordinances which are undesirable.

Deadline nears for tuition, fees

Thursday is the absolute deadline for paying fall quarter tuition and fees. The penalty for not doing so is cancellation of upcoming classes, after which no departmental registration, Steve Foster, assistant to the registrar, said.

Students who late-registered or had fees deferred are the ones affected by the Thursday due date.

An assessment of $0 does not exempt a student from lining up at the bursar's to obtain a Action with stamp on his or her fee card, Foster said. In all cases, whether money is owed or not, registration is not complete until the fee card has been validated.

Butz estimates beef imports down this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strong competition from buyers in Europe and Japan has siphoned off about 50 million pounds of meat which had been expected to enter the U.S. market during the entire calendar year.

"The competition for imported meat from Europe and Japan earlier in the year was unprecedented," said Earl L. Butz said in a statement.

The chairman estimated that meat imports would total 1.4 billion pounds, about 5 percent more than last year, and he added that all other departments get materials in on time.

Bulldozer bees imports beef down this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beef imports over the next 60 days for 10 days around John A. Love, the president's top energy adviser had held off for seven weeks in an effort to achieve fair distribution through voluntary action by the distributors.

But administration officials reached the conclusion this month that supplies of home heating oil would be adequate to the consumer only if a variety of factors occurred, including a mild winter. Otherwise, they said, shortages may occur which could become serious.

Love and others have emphasized that any allocation would not in- crease the available supplies but could only be a shortage among past customers and could give priority to the most essential use.

Especially dependent on heating oil supplies are the New England states and the North Central region where severe winters make fuel supplies a seasonal necessity.

Illinois Supreme Court rules against parochial program

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - The Illinois Supreme Court ruled Illinois' $30 million program of aid to non-public schools unconstitutional Monday.
Lawrence E. Klinger of Chicago, who had appealed decisions from Circuit Court, was not available for comment whether he would appeal further to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The court held the intent of the first plan was "unmistakably to provide desired financial support for nonpublic, sectarian institutions." The court said providing textbooks and auxiliary services such as counseling and medical care "does not treat all students alike" because books and services for public school children are paid for by local taxpayers throughout the state.

The majority refused to rule on a third part of the parochial program which would have provided $5 million for innovative educational programs to be run jointly by public and private schools.
"It is neither feasible nor appropriate to attempt at this time, in the absence of any effort at implementation, to determine the validity of the multitudinous activities authorized by this act," the court said in an opinion by Justice Walter V. Schaefer.

The decisions of unconstitutionality applied to rulings coming from Circuit Court in Cook County.

One of the dissenting justices, Thomas E. Kluetz, said he would uphold the innovative educational program because it paralleled similar federal programs. The other dissenting judge was Daniel Ward.

Stevenson to propose oil regulation laws

CHICAGO (AP) - Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-I1., said Monday he will propose legislation to regulate the petroleum industry and try to stop soaring gasoline prices.

Stevenson said at a news conference in Chicago his bill will serve as an alternative to President Nixon's proposed anti-trust program which the senator said would deregulate the industry.

"The administration and the industry are quick to blame regulation for the shortage of natural gas," Stevenson said.

He also pointed out that "oil has never been regulated and is also in short supply.

"There is reason to believe that the real problem is the anti-competitive structure of the fuel industry. And if that is so, we need to explore ways of improving and streamlining regulation so that it can help restore competition and assure both adequate production and reasonable prices."

Stevenson said the administration is acting in concert with the major oil companies in the restraint of trade and suggested that this might be the result of the large contributions made by these companies to Nixon's election campaign.

The administration, Stevenson alleged, is "intent on removing all price controls from a major part of the industry" and is the reason for independent dealers who are being driven out of business.

Among provisions Stevenson's bill would streamline the Federal Power Commission regulatory process by establishing a national area rate by rulemaking to replace the adversary ratemaking process.

"...Exempts all small producers from regulation thus concentrating on the 30 largest producers powerful enough to exert an anti-competitive force in the industry."

Stevenson described the petroleum industry as "the nation's largest, most powerful and most dangerous industry."

"The administration's program of deregulation has been abandoned by its early opponents, and now is on the way to return to the same anti-competitive practices that brought it all about in the first place," Stevenson said.

Pay day never comes

Running short of funds is by no means an unordinary problem, especially for students in this era of rising costs and purchased textbooks.

But what of the student worker at SIU who runs out of money? He knows for sure he’s working and earning the money he needs, but he can’t get his hands on the fruit of his labors for four to six weeks. Not being able to draw that much-required paycheck adds the insult of frustration to the injury of being broke.

So our temporarily non- solvent worker secures a short-term loan to tide him over until that first glorious payday. Payday comes, he pays back the short-term loan and has 26 cents left from his check.

Return to Go.

The situation is worse for a first term student. By regulation, the new kid in town cannot take out a short-term loan. So while waiting for that paycheck.

Short takes...

To the Daily Egyptian:

Since the beginning of Fall Quarter all you can read in the Egyptian is gripe, gripe, gripe. It gets a little tiresome. A couple of days ago it was about no longer being able to rent textbooks—well, I’ll agree the prices of books are pretty outrlandish—but, has anyone of the complainers thought about the cost of books to the University, especially they are lost, stolen, or defaced. With students purchasing their own books, there will be a lot fewer lost, stolen and defaced books.

Today it’s about prices in the Student Center Cafeteria being higher than last year. Well if anybody has bothered to notice, ALL food (and other items) are up. The Center is probably the cheapest place in town to eat and has the best food for the money.

I may sound like I’m being hard on the complaining students, but I’m not a crochety old lady; believe it or not, I’m probably younger than some of the people who are complaining. Of course, I’m not from Chicago either, so that’s another strike against me. (Southern Illinois “hicks” don’t know much anyway). At least down here you don’t have to pay as much to park as you do for your entertainment for the evening.

I didn’t have a rich Mommy and Daddy to send me to college, so I had to go out and get a job. I feel the pressures from inflation just like anyone else—but face it kid—this is the REAL world—wake up! This is the shape we’ve let this country get into, so I guess we’re going to have to live with it till we either have a depression or get a new leader of this country. Instead of complaining, get out and do something constructive about these prices.

Vets group offers remedial tutoring

Veterans having problems with math and English courses, or just figuring out how to study correctly, are invited the Veterans Outreach Office for help.

John Chaudoin, assistant director, said any and all veterans can come in for free assistance in overcoming educational handicaps. A federal grant has enabled the office to start the program, and it should be formally in action during winter quarter.

Chaudoin said in the meantime an informal program of help is being offered to those in need of remedial courses or tutoring. A doctoral student in guidance and educational psychology, Hyrum Huxley, is heading up the drive to make vets' success in school easier.

Chaudoin said department heads and instructors have been informed of the program. If a vet is having trouble with a course, he said, they have been asked to refer him to the Outreach office at 611 S. Washington.

Film composer brings troupe to Celebrity Series

Mikis Theodorakis, composer, of the Academy Award-winning film scores for "Zorba the Greek," and "Z," and one of the most colorful figures in the world of 20th century music, will bring his singers and musicians to the stage of Shryock Auditorium at 8 p.m. Saturday for the first Celebrity Series performance.

By using the haunting, exotic melodies and rhythms of Greek folk music as the basis for his prodigious output of symphonies, ballets, cantatas, theatre songs and film scores, Theodorakis has kept burning the fires of Greek culture and has extended the audience for Greek music throughout the world. He has become one of the big box-office attractions of present day show business.

Although he has won dozens of awards for his achievements throughout the world, Theodorakis has never before performed in the country. The forthcoming 20-city tour marks the first time he and his musicians will have appeared in live performances in the United States. His program will contain many of his most famous musical works.

Tickets for his performance at Shryock Auditorium are on sale at the Central Ticket Office, Student Center. SIU students and public school children (when accompanied by a parent) may purchase tickets for $.50, $.40, and $5. General public tickets are $6, $5, and $4.

Convo will open fall series with blue grass band

SIU Conventions will open its fall quarter series with Red White & Blue "Grass" at 8 p.m. Oct. 10 in Shryock Auditorium.

Red White & Blue "Grass," a bluegrass oriented band, consists of Grant and Ginger Boatwright, Dale Whitcomb and Dave Seboli.

Grant Boatwright, lead and rhythm guitarist, sings in the harmonic arrangements and occasionally solo. Ginger Boatwright, Grant's wife, plays guitar, jew's harp and various percussion instruments. Dale Whitcomb, heavily influenced by Earl Scruggs, has developed his own distinctive sound on the banjo.

Dave Seboli, electric bass, sings various harmony parts and according to Grant, "whatever part we can't sing."

The concert is free. An informal coffee hour will be held backstage following the performance.

AP survey reveals groceries on the rise

By Associated Press

The survey in the pocketbook got a little bit tighter during September, according to an Associated Press market basket survey which shows the family grocery bill was almost 9 per cent higher last month than it was in March.

Consumers, looking for bargains, found continuing declines in the price of pork and eggs. But the decreases were offset by jumps in the prices of cookies, milk, sugar and butter.

The AP checked the prices of 13 good and 13 food items in 13 cities.

Dercie to hold fall quarter press conference

The first presidential press conference of fall quarter will be held at 9 a.m. Wednesday in Room 106 of the Technology Building.

This will be the first fall quarterly press conferences.

President David Deric will hold a news conference outside of the Alumni Hall. He is expected to make several important announcements about the 1973-74 school year, according to Communications Director Don Hecker.

Deric is also expected to release the names of a selected panel of professionals who will review the operations of the School of Journalism this fall.

Moving Dance Company, a semi-professional group, is planning a performance to show the work of the repertory company in progress.

Last year, we tried to turn people on to different things. This year, I want to see the students do more creative work," Gordon said.

The upcoming program consists of five environmental dances that came out of the summer workshops. "It will be a traveling concert. The audience will go with the dancers to the different locations where they will perform," Gordon said.

"One of the locations will be turned down house and perhaps another will be in Thompson Woods. The audience will be limited to 50 people on an advance ticket basis, because it is hard to move large groups of people around.

"It will be an intimate evening so we can chat and walk and enjoy each other's company," he said.

Gordon explained that during the summer, he assigned his students to create environmental dances. Gordon said he was so impressed with the results that he decided to build a show around it.

Other summer activities included a sell-out performance of Gordon's dances at the Museum of Contemporary Art in Chicago. Gordon also choreographed a dance piece titled "Black Zebra." "It was for my aunt," for the Five College Repertory Theater.

Theater group to hold meeting

The first meeting of the new Southern Laboratory Theater group will be held at 12 noon Thursday at the University Theater.

Officers and board members will be elected.

This new organization hopes to establish an interdepartmental group that will produce experimental theater in the community as well as on campus.

All graduate and undergraduate students are invited to attend, particularly those majoring in design, music and history.

Barge hits bridge

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) -- U.S. 36 between Missouri and Illinois was closed briefly for inspection Friday, after a barge loaded with grain smashed into the Mark Twain Bridge on the Mississippi River.

The barge was one of three that broke free from a tow last week.

Hannibal police said efforts were under way to downstream to recover them.

City park district offers varied list of activities

Are you one of those people who always wanted to learn to play bridge, but didn't pick it up while sitting in on a game? Or did you ever wonder if you could ever really get into yoga exercise? The Carbondale Park District offers courses in these and numerous other areas that could be of interest to the SIU student. The park district schedule runs on a fall, winter and spring sequence tailor-made to fit SIU's quarter system. Robert Coatney, director of parks and recreation, said activities and programs are set up that way to attract SIU student participation. "We try to utilize college students in coaching and refereeing sports," Coatney explained. The "sports" consist of football and basketball programs for grade-school boys and girls.

Campus Briefs

James L.C. Ford, retired professor of journalism at SIU, has been elected as an honorary lifetime member of the Industrial Press Association of St. Louis.

Ford, who lives in Carbondale, said it was the only third time in the organization's 50-year history that its board of directors has voted a lifetime membership. He was cited for many years of dedication to the communications field.

The Sept. 15 issue of Southern Lumberman, a journal of the lumber industry, published a technical research article, "Cross-Grain Knife Planing May Improve Cottonwood-Aspen Utilization," by Harold A. Stewart, a forest technologist with the U.S. Forest Service Forest Sciences Laboratory at SIU. The article deals with Stewart's research on improved methods for finishing surfaces of rough-sawn lumber.

The same issue of Southern Lumberman also carried a feature article by Albert F. Meyer, SIU News Service, editorial writer, on the proceedings of a recent Black Walnut Symposium conducted at SIU.

A. A. Moslumi, chairman of the forestry department, and two former forestry graduate students are joint authors of a research paper published in a recent issue of Wood and Fiber, a forest products journal.

Listed as joint authors are Thomas E. Berchem, now with the Department of Interior in Florida, and Philip R. Sulata, now technical director for Evans Products Company at Phillips, Wisconsin. The article, "Fiber Length in the Wood of Tree-of-Heaven (Alnus incana Mill.)," reports on studies Berchem and Sulata did under Moslumi's supervision as partial requirements for their master's degrees in forestry. Suitability of the wood fiber of the non-commercial Tree-of-heaven for making particleboard was explored in the studies forming the basis for the article.

Hound Dog’s blues sound shows vision of black ghetto

By Dave Stearn, Dailv Egyptian Staff Writer

Hound Dog Taylor cradled a bottle of bourbon in his lap as if it were his baby boy. His drummer, Ted Harvey, had fallen asleep in the corner and his second guitarist, Brewster Phillips, was laughing and talking.

Sitting in the WTAO radio studio, Hound Dog was waiting to be interviewed after playing a three-hour set of Chicago boogie blues at the Student Center. He wanted to get the interview over by midnight so he and his workout partners would have plenty of time at Merlins.

“All of the band members drink, but Hound Dog is the only one who can’t get through the day without drinking. It’s simply a matter of physical addiction,” manager Bruce Iglauser said.

“But Hound Dog and his band are one of the most consistent groups I’ve ever seen. It’s very rare for them to give a bad performance,” he said.

Hound Dog’s childlike exuberance for his simple blues is hard to match in the Colonel-Imus music scene, and the audience loved him.

“Hound Dog can’t envision anything but the ghetto. Even though his income has quadrupled in the past two years, he still lives in the ghetto,” Iglauser continued.

Hound Dog, 56, worked full time until 1967, when he decided to devote his time to music. Born in Natchez, Miss., he moved to Chicago in 1942 and has rarely been out of the city, except in the past two years to play out-of-town gigs.

“I’m like a two-year-old in his world. It is my job to deal with the outside world,” Iglauser said. “But there’s nobody I would rather walk down the streets of Chicago with than Hound Dog.

“He has only had one day of formal education, and can’t write a full sentence. He can sign his name if he concentrates for a while and he can read road signs. One day, he sat for an hour and a half reading the music notes on an Elmore James album,” Iglauser said.

Hound Dog talked about the gigs he used to do down south with Elmore James, a southern bluesman. “We’d all get in a field and people would bring chairs and we’d play and have a ball all night. There wasn’t no amplifiers, it was just a gong neck, no, acoustic,” he corrected himself.

“Negros ain’t the only ones who got the blues. The Jews had a harder time than the Negros. Everybody’s got their own thing, even them three sisters the Andrews Sisters, yeah,” Hound Dog said. Maybe he meant the Supremes.

“Hound Dog calls the blues, ‘anything you’ve got a feeling for. You’ve got the blues when you caught downtown and can’t find a washroom.’

“Describing pop music today, Hound Dog said, ‘The Negro is trying to turn black. And if the Negro got one thing, it’s his music. And if he gives that up, he’s lost.’

“But he lives to play at the annual Ann Arbor Blues Festival. ‘Ann Arbor ain’t gonna do nothing without me. Anytime Ann Arbor gives anybody, I’ll be there,’ Iglauser said. Hound Dog’s longest set was seven hours one-stop. ‘The band took turns going to the bathroom,’ Iglauser said.

“I like to play and I like to be heard and I like to have a good time,” Hound Dog said. ‘I don’t care if I’m getting paid 16 cents or $300.’

New arrangement set

After-hour medical cases sent to Doctors Hospital

By Ken Towsend  Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Medical emergencies on weekends and weekdays nights should be taken to Doctors Hospital, 401 W. Main St., under the health care plans contracted between SIU and Shawnee Health System, Inc. said Dr. Don Knapp, director of the Health Service.

The Health Service's new hours, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on weekdays and 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. on Saturdays, became effective July 13. Under the new arrangement, students will go to the emergency room of the Doctors Hospital for after-hour care. Emergency needs during the Health Service's regular hours will occasionally be met at the Health Service, Knapp said.

Students will not be charged for emergency room treatment at Doctors Hospital, according to the contract, if they come for care when the Health Service is closed, require true emergency service and do not demand services other than those recommended by the doctor on duty.

Covered under the plan are X-ray and laboratory services, splints, casts, crutches, dressings, excess time charge, patient screening, out-patient emergency service and "urgent care and advice." Students will be allowed to receive prescription drugs from the emergency room in sufficient quantity for 24 hours.

The $60,000 health care contract approved by the Board of Trustees July 13 represents the first step toward full implementation of the Student Health Benefits Program.

The program, which calls for the reallocation of student fees to provide a hospitalization plan and specialty care is scheduled to take effect late fall or early winter.

The proposal based on a consultant's recommendation May of 1972, include plans for the addition of trained specialists in dermatology, surgery, neurology and radiology. The proposal also calls for increasing the number of physicians at the Health Service from seven to 13. A consolidated community and ambulance service became effective July 1.

Under the six-month University-Continental Assurance agreement, Carbolide pays the University $60 per ambulance run within the city limits of the city. It is not obligated to pay for those runs required by students registered half-time or more for tuition purposes in the University.

The city is also not obligated to make the payments to the University for any runs outside the cooperative limits of the city.

Broken down, the Student Health Benefit program, once completed, would include:

The primary care clinic, which will be the services at the Health Service, costing $1 million per year.

The proposed hospitalization plan, costing $25,000:

- The infirmary clinic, costing $100,000.
- The emergency service, which includes the ambulance service and emergency clinic at Doctors Hospital, costing $100,000.
- The specialized care program, which includes the specialists, costing $500,000.

- A prevention program, which includes organizations like the Synergy and the Human Sexuality Information and Referral Services (HSIRS), costing $100,000.

The specialty treatment and hospitalization plans are awaiting fee allocation recommendations from the Student Fees Priorities Board (SFPP). The SFPP voted unanimously summer quarter to reallocate monies from the Athletic Fee and the Recreation Fee to the Student Health Benefit Fee. SFPP's report recommended that $2 be taken from the Student Health Fee and given to the Student Health Benefit Fee. It also proposed $8 of the present $15 fee be reallocated, giving the health fee for $31.50, instead of the present $31.50.

The reallocated budget, which was to have been submitted to the Board of Trustees in September, is still under consideration by the SFPP and Danilo Grezicani, executive vice president and vice president for administration.

Washing'ton—The Interstate Commerce Commission asked a Federal judge Monday to keep the Penn Central Railroad running until a reorganization plan could be drawn up for the financially ailing corporation.

Liquidation of the railroad, the ICC said in a report to U.S. District Court Judge John F. Fullas, would have "a severe economic effect on the people of the entire northeast sector of the country." It also would "have a ripple effect from coast to coast," the commission said.

Judge Fullas currently is reviewing the reorganization plan from the Penn Central Co. of Canada, which filed for bankruptcy protection last week. He has asked the ICC to prepare by Oct. 1 a proposal that would keep the railroad running without eroding the assets of its creditors.

Otherwise, Judge Fullas said, he would have no choice but to order the railroad shut down. He has set a hearing in Philadelphia Oct. 12 to determine what will be done with the railroad.

Neither Judge Fullas nor the railroad trustees will have comment on the ICC's report until after the Oct. 12 hearing.

"We are not in a position to offer any comment at this time," said Penn Central spokesman John Stoddard. "We are not in a position to say what we'll do until after the ICC's report is processed.

"It would be our hope that there will be some resolution of the ICC report on Oct. 12 that will allow us to continue as a company." Stoddard said.

Wearing returns from sabbatical in Germany

George Waring, associate professor of animal industries and zoology, has returned to campus teaching and participation after a 12-month sabbatical leave in Europe.

During his leave, Waring was a guest professor at the University of Munich in Germany. The professorship came through the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft. In addition to lecturing, Waring carried out study and research on animal behavior in visits to other western European countries.

The professorship also enabled Waring to continue his research on the studies of the American Saddlebred Horses at an international conference on applied ethology in Freiburg, Germany, last November.

The conference program emphasized ethological studies on horses, one of Waring's main research interests.

Waring has been the ISU faculty member since 1966, after obtaining a Ph.D. degree at Colorado State University. He is a native of Littletown, Colorado.

Communications club will hold meeting Thursday

Women in Communications, Inc. (WIC1) is holding its first meeting of the year at 5 p.m. Thursday on the Penn Club.

A membership drive, fund-raising events and general activities for the year will be discussed.

All current members and any students interested in joining are invited to attend. WIC1 is open to all students majoring in the communications field: journalism, radio, television, photography, speech and public relations.

For further information, call Carolyn Mix, WIC1 president, at 437-8807.

Let your tape dealer to "kiss off!"

(Here are several reasons why.)

You're paying plenty just to see your tape dealer smile. Yeah, he talks on a "machine's mouth." That's an extra amount you have to pay because your dealer doesn't make the products he sells.

Then he adds on a little more, to cover his "overhead." It's just his way of getting you to help pay for his own rent, utilities, and insurance. And all of which adds up to the "retail price"—or "the stuff" you don't happen to be independently wealthy.

DAK's got a better idea. We make, and assemble, all of our own tape and cassette products right here in the United States. Then we sell them ourselves. Directly to you. At WHOLESALE prices. (With a little help from the U.S. Postal Service.)

So go ahead. Tell your old tape dealer to "kiss off!" When you pay through the mail—you don't have to pay through the nose.

Dak Low Noise—High Output Scotch 207

In its May '73 issue, Audio Magazine tested DAK's new Low Noise—High Output tape along with several other well-known brands, including Scotch 207. Their conclusions about DAK—a new inexpensive tape with excellent frequency response, good headroom.

Parents-of-the-Day forms available on third floor of Student Center

Parents-of-the-Day applications are available in the Student Activities Office on the third floor of the Student Center. Deadline for completed applications is 4 p.m., Oct. 20.

Each year the parents of an undergraduate student are selected to represent all parents of SIU students. The annual event is scheduled for Oct. 20.

"Parents’ Day is a very special day that enables students and parents to get together and share in the activities planned for that day," said Pat Dover, co-chairman. Sharon Hooker, assistant coordinator for student activities, said the Parents-of-the-Day are chosen by a random drawing. The honored parents become special guests of the University that day. Hotel accommodations will be paid, transportation provided and the parents honored at the SIU-Tampa football game Saturday night, she added.

Some of the planned activities include dinner hockey and flag football games, mini-exhibits, a fine arts hour, open houses at WIBD and ROTC, guided tours of campus via the tour train and presentations by the Southern Players and the University Choirs.

Illinois Supreme Court orders Bell rate review

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court ordered the Illinois Commerce Commission Monday to review critically a $4,362,000 rate increase granted to Illinois Bell Telephone Co. Bell had said $182 million.

The court criticized Bell for basing rates on expenses for lobbying—charity and club memberships among other things.

The courts decision may force the commission to reduce the decisions because the court says Bell and the commission may not use those expenses in figuring what rates should be allowed.

The decision is also likely to influence commission procedure on how to figure rates for other utilities.

Customers should not have to pay those rates based on lobbying.

Orienteering Club schedules first meeting Tuesday night

If you are interested in donning rough clothes and running through the woods following a compass course, the first fall meeting of the Southern Illinois Orienteering Club will be Tuesday night.

SGAC committee will hold meeting in Activities Room

The Student Center Programming Committee (SCPC), a committee of the Student Government Activities Council (SGAC), will have its first meeting at 5 p.m. Wednesday in Activity Room C located on the third floor of the Student Center.

The SCPC's function is to plan, promote and coordinate entertainment in the Student Center, including the Big Muddy Room. Activities range from rock bands to free bowling nights.

Students interested in joining and working on SCPC should attend the Wednesday meeting or contact Jim Ruhr, SCPC chairman, at 536-3393 or 536-5266.

Trade bill passed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House committee reached tentative agreement Thursday on a major foreign aid bill that would grant President Ford, not Congress, the authority to make trade deals next year with Japan and Europe and impose humanitarian restraints on trade with the Soviet Union.

The House Ways and Means Committee scheduled a formal vote on the measure for Wednesday.

Broadcast research grants offered

In an attempt to stimulate interest in research as it relates to the many aspects of broadcasting, the National Association of Broadcasters has announced its 1974 program of grants for research in broadcasting.

The program, now in its eighth year, is intended primarily to encourage qualified personnel to enter this field and facilitates their training, as well as to assist individuals already working in the area. A secondary purpose is to expand existing knowledge of the role and function of broadcasting.

The proposed research should relate to the social, political and economic aspects of American commercial broadcasting. Excluded from the competition, therefore, are proposals concerned with broadcasting systems in foreign countries, instructional radio and television, and advertising effectiveness studies. Research designs concerned with radio are particularly encouraged in this competition.

Proposals may pertain to either basic or applied problems. The approach to the problem may be either primary (field studies) or secondary (literature surveys) in nature. Proposals for methodological development and "model-building" research in any of these categories will be welcomed.

The evaluation of proposals submitted will be made by a committee composed of representatives of the broadcasting industry, professionals in broadcasting research and academicians.

The competition is open to all academic personnel working in the several disciplines that relate to the social, cultural, political and economic aspects of broadcasting. Graduate students and senior undergraduates are particularly invited to submit proposals.

Individual awards will be made in amounts not in excess of $1,000. These funds will be used to defray out-of-pocket expenses incurred in the execution of the proposed research—field work, tabulation, analysis, clerical help, printing and so on.

Proposals must be received no later than Jan. 1, 1974. Winners of the research grants will be notified by Feb. 1, 1974. Applications may be secured by writing John A. Dimling, Jr., Vice President, Director of Research, National Association of Broadcasters, 1771 N. Street N.W., Washington D.C. 20036.

WANTA RUSH?

THE MARINES ARE LOOKING FOR A FEW GOOD MEN WHO WANT TO LEAD!

IF YOU ARE A FRESHMAN, SOPHOMORE OR JUNIOR YOU MAY BE ELIGIBLE FOR THE PLATOON LEADERS CLASS WITH THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES.

★ DRAFT DEFERRED— Normally through 4 years of college.
★ SUMMER TRAINING— No uniformed meetings or drill during school year.
★ LONGEVITY— Can mean up to $170 extra your first year of commissioned service.
★ MONEY— $100 a month (optional) up to $500 per school year, if qualified.
★ NO OBLIGATION— You may drop from the program any time prior to commissioning upon graduation from college (unless you accept financial assistance).
★ GUARANTEED AVIATION— If you meet mental and physical requirements, the Marine Corps will guarantee Flight School.
★ PRIVATE PILOTS LICENSE— Those enrolled in aviation programs can receive civilian flight training at out-of-pocket expense.

It all adds up to giving you a chance to take a hard look at the Marine Corps for yourself, without being obligated. If you decide to take advantage of the financial assistance it becomes an opportunity to help you get your degree.

The Marine Officer Selection Team will be on your campus October 2, 3 and 4. The Team will be located in the River Rooms.

Collinsville drug raid victim files charges of harrassment

COLLINSVILLE (AP) - A Collinsville woman whose home was the mistaken target of a federal drug raid issued new charges of harrassment Monday.

Mrs. Virginia Askew, her head wrapped in bandages from an attack she said she received Friday in her home, was interviewed after she met with FBI agents.

She declined to discuss her conversation with the FBI. "I think somebody is trying to keep us nervous," she said.

Following the raid April 23, Mrs. Askew was confined to a hospital for treatment of a nervous condition.

Mrs. Askew said that since her house was stormed she has received silent telephone calls at odd hours. On occasion, she said, she and her husband have come home to find all the doors open. A few times, she said, all the drawers in the house have been pulled out.

She said twice her television has been removed and Saturday morning she returned to find the front door "wide open." Each time, she said she has contacted the police.

Mrs. Askew said that Friday night a dark-haired man wearing a black coat attacked her on the head when she answered her door. She did not see the weapon. It took eight stitches to close the gash in her scalp.

At first, Mrs. Askew, 51, said the attacker was one of the men who raided her home. But Saturday she was unable to identify her assailant from photographs shown her by police which included pictures of the federal agents who raided her home.

Mrs. Askew also said she cannot link the beating and the other incidents to the raid by more than circumstance, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gigliotti, victims of another raid, said the same night, have also complained of severe harrassment and are in hiding.

Pujo Chief Paul Gigliotti said Monday he is working closely with State's Atty. Nicholas Byron and may ask the drug agents to appear in a lawsuit for Mrs. Askew.

Twelve agents were indicted last month by a federal grand jury for violating the civil rights of the Askews, the Gigliottis and other individuals.

Byron declined comment on the beating investigation other than to say "no particular persons being accused at this time or should be."

PR Club plans meeting tomorrow

The SIU Public Relations Club will hold its first meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday, in Activities Rooms C and D of the Student Center.

Raymond D. Wiley, assistant professor in the Department of Speech, will give a talk concerning the public relations curriculum at SIU.

All students wanting to become more aware of public relations and the club are invited to attend.

Mrs. Askew said she is "a little bit perturbed" at Chief Gigliotti for remarks he made about the situation to newsmen Saturday. Gigliotti told a television reporter he thought "the whole thing has been blown out of proportion."

Mrs. Askew said, "I just wonder if it was his family if he'd think it was blown out of proportion. He'd better study the constitution a little bit if he thinks that's being blown out of proportion."

Friday, relaxed its regulations to change the base date for cooling prices from last Jan. 18 to May 13 and allowed dealers to pass along whole-year increases to Sept. 28. This allowed increased as much as 2½ cents a gallon.

But three major companies announced wholesale price increases of from two-tenths of a cent to 1½ cents a gallon over the weekend and these hikes must be absorbed by the dealers.

"The ink is not dry on the new regulations and we find that they went up one minute after midnight on the 28th, which means the dealers are not entitled to that two-tenths of a cent," Blintz said.

Blintz said the executive directors and boards of directors of the group's member state organizations would discuss the situations during meetings in Washington on Wednesday and Thursday.

Women's Center getting organized

The Women's Center at 404 W. Wabash is planning several discussion groups and activities of interest to women this quarter. Bobbi Majka, president of the Center, said Sunday.

A consciousness-raising group open only to women meets every Wednesday at 7:30 in the Center. "We welcome any woman who wants to come," Ms. Majka said. "She can come just once or as often as she wants." Usually 30 to 40 women attend, Ms. Majka said.

A "Feminist Readings" group will meet at 7:30 each Wednesday night. Each Wednesday at 10 a.m., a "Mom and Tot" group meets at the Center. "This group gives mothers a chance to socialize while their kids play together," said Sally Farris, a member of the Center.

An exercise group meets Tuesday from 9 to 10 a.m. All activities are open only to women. "Occasionally men attend special functions, when they are specifically invited," Ms. Farris said.

The Center, which pays its rent through donations from interested townspople and students, recently received a $2,000 grant from the United Fund. Sunday night was the first in a series of potluck dinners open to women this quarter. About 70 women attended. The next potluck will be a Halloween affair Oct. 28. The Center is organizing "The Mock Turtle," a shop selling original art work in the Wesley Foundation.

The phone number of the Center is 549-4115.

Mets celebrate playoff birth

CHICAGO (AP) — Bedlam broke loose twice in the New York Mets' dressing room Monday. The first outburst came as the players filed in after a 4-1 victory which gave them the National League East title and ended one of the tightest races in baseball history.

The loudest roar came when it was announced the meaningless second game against the Chicago Cubs had been called off and out came the champagne.

Relief pitcher Tug McGraw, who closed the Mets after taking over for Tom Seaver in the seventh inning, un corked his bottle of champagne with the cry, "You've got to believe."

"I came here to play," said Rusty Staub, who hammered out four hits in leading the way into the pennant playoff against Cincinnati. "A couple of months ago we were out of it, then we put it all together."

Manager Yogi Berra said that only once during the season did he think the Mets couldn't make it.

"That's when we were about 12 games out and had all those injuries. Then, when we came back from a poor West Coast trip and were only 7½ out, I said 'Well, nobody else wants it, so why shouldn't we take it?'

One of the happiest players in the crowded dressing room was Cleon Jones, hero of the stretch drive in which the Mets captured 20 of their last 28 games. Jones launched the final victory with a second-inning home run, his sixth in the last 10 games.

"I was injured and not playing, I couldn't contribute," said Jones, thinking back to earlier in the season.

Women's bowling needs members

The Women's Recreation Association (WRA) will sponsor a bowling club for all interested women SIU students.

The club will have its first meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Student Center lanes.

The club bowling league will consist of four-member teams. Any interested woman not already on a team will be placed on one. Arrangements will be made for those who would like to join the club, but would prefer not to play on a league team.

Further information can be obtained by calling Kay Brechtleibauer at 453-2296.

The difference between the two teams was obvious.

In the first half, the Salukis played their best half of football this season. Oklahoma State played its worst. Yet the OSU Cowboys led at half time 14-7.

In the second half, the Cowboys played their best half of football this season. SIU played its worst. The difference was evident in the final score of the overwhelming OSU victory, 76-7.

The Salukis flashed into their bag of tricks early in the first half utilizing reverses, double reverses, halfbacks, and passes the razzle-dazzle they could come up with, to sur vive the Cowboy defense.

SIU executed well the first series of the game and moved the ball five yards into OSU territory to set up a 43-yard field goal attempt by Ken Segman. The kick was blocked by menacing Barry Price, who spent most of the second half in the SIU backfield.

The two teams exchanged the half seven times in the scoreless first quarter, and it was evident that the Salukis were playing much better than most had expected.

Larry Perkins was especially effective. Again rotating at the halfback position with freshman Melvin Manriel, Perkins squirmed through the huge Cowboy defense for gains totaling 31 yards in his first three carries.

The Cowboys centered the ball on their 42-yard line as the second quarter opened. On the second play of the quarter halfback Alfred Nelms turned the corner on an end sweep and burned 32 yards for the first score of the game.

The Salukis were forced to change their strategy to a more pass oriented offense of the second quarter and for the remainder of the game when quarter back Dennis Neville suffered a back injury at quarterback.

With about 2:30 remaining in the half, the Salukis were in Bruce Curby's third fake punt. SIU, who hit's problems all season with no kicking team, with no no kickers came through this one. Corbin fumbled the center snap and Glenn Robinson recovered the ball for the Cowboys on the SIU 1 yard line.

OSU drove in with halfback George Palmer taking the half ball for the touchdowns from 5, 2, 5, 14, and 13 yards. Larry Munday was the most dangerous of the OSU ball carriers.

The final two minutes of the first half were chaotic with the Salukis missing a 40-yard field goal attempt recovering an OSU fumble on the Cowboy 41, throwing an interception, recovering another fumble on the Cowboy 19, and finally scoring with 21 seconds left in the half.

The scoring play came on an aerobatic run by Perkins in which he broke six tackles, reversed direction twice and capped his 54-yard running total for the first half. The play sent the Salukis into the dressing room only one touchdown behind, 14-7.

The second half was a bad dream. Or, at least it should have been.

Oklahoma State came out and played the way they had been advertised to play all season. They completely dominated the Salukis, scoring five third quarter touchdowns on only 10 offensive plays.

The Cowboys ran inside; they ran outside; they passed—they did whatever they pleased.

Fountain Seith scored from one yard out. Brenn Blackburn made five.

Palmer from St. Tony Boswell ran one in from the eight and Larry Stilley regained an interception 25 yards to account for the 35 third quarter points.

The Saluki defense was completely stilled by the third quarter, gaining no first downs. They had 13 in the first half.

The Saluki Head Coach Dick Towers put it this way: "We took it on the chin. We took it on the chin. We took it on the chin. We took it on the chin. We took it on the chin. Our young kids just lost all poise in the second half and the score ended up the way it did."

The Cowboys scored three more times in the fourth quarter to make the final 286-7. Oklahoma State is a super, super football team," Towers said of the improved team. "They have big, strong and fast. Exactly like we thought they were except more. Towers had praise for running backs Mooncr and Perkins. "Perkins was just fantastic," Towers said. "The little guy got played the best he ever had. He profited from the opportunity. He could play with them all. Mooncr ran over them and he was a one cut back in the second half but in the second half we just didn't hold the blocks long enough for him."

Now that the Salukis are past their tough opening games, they hope to settle down on the right track Saturday afternoon where they will face the Dayton Flyers at Dayton College... "We can beat Dayton," says Towers. "Psychologically, if we get sharp, we can still come up with a fine season. We've got to play the way we showed on the book on the first three games."

The Lip' calls it quits

HOUSTON (AP)—Colorful Leo Duroucher resigned Monday as manager of the Houston Astros, probably ending a flamboyant career as player and manager that spanned almost 50 years.

Astro General Manager Spec Richardson, speaking for a news conference that third base coach Preston Gomez, formerly manager of the San Diego Padres, had been signed to a one-year contract as Duroucher's successor.

"I think he just had enough and wanted to go to Palm Springs and play a little golf," Gomez said of Duroucher, who did not attend the news conference. "I was very surprised. I was packing this morning to return to California when he got a call. I walked into Spec's office and told Leo and shook my hand and told me congratulations. I didn't know what he was talking about."

Gomez stated that Duroucher has agreed to stay and help in the organization, but that he would probably not handle the same managerial chores.

Duroucher, 67, had told friends he was thinking about ending his major league career and retiring to his home in Beverly Hills. But he is highly regarded as a third baseman, a role he played for the Chicago Cubs since the 1930s and will be in宜昌 as a third baseman during the 1973 season.

"It was the most touching thing I've ever seen in baseball," said Ernie Johnson, a member of the Atlanta Braves, who pitched for the Braves when the club was based in Milwaukee.

Aaron, the son of a retired Alabama deck worker, jogged to left field for the last inning of the 1973 season moments after popping out to second base. Then it happened.

Starting in the left field bleachers, a crooked, 317-yard ball rising in tribute to the 30-year veteran who had fallen one short of tying the legendary Babe Ruth's home run mark of 714.

They stood in the rain for three minutes applauding and undoubtedly would have continued if he had kept hitting and making for a potential 715.

"Will may have been the most moving experience of my life in sports, which didn't begin yesterday," Furman Fisher, sports editor of The Atlanta Journal, wrote in Monday's edition.

"They stood and they cheered him, not for hitting a home run, not for popping out behind second base, but for being Henry Aaron."

Aaron acknowledged the ovation in the same manner he has handled the intense pressure that comes with playing during the closing weeks of the season with plenty of class. He waved to the crowd twice without any emotion, evoking even louder applause.

Mayb e’t was I’ve done is create some news for baseball," Aaron said. "At first, there was a lot of that mail from Alden, older people who didn’t want to see me break Babe Ruth’s record. The younger generation took note of that and supported me. I think they want the record to come to me to see me have a record, not wanting to be grandparent of the record."

Although he missed the big one, Aaron completed an incredible season. He had three straight singles in the game extending a personal streak to six consecutive hits as he lifted his season batting average to .390. He finished the year with 40 home runs, 84 runs scored and 96 runs batted in all in this only 392 at bats. The production is unsurpassed in baseball history by a man his age.

Soccer turnout high

More than 40 people turned out last Thursday for the first meeting of the International Soccer Club's first organizational meeting of the quarter.

"This was the best turnout since 1900," Bill Mehrens, newly elected Soccer Club president said.

Other positions filled were Bijan Yarjan, coach; and Jim Chang and Ray Rogers, vice president and vice president respectively.

The club's first scheduled game is Oct. 6 against Murray State.
