Tri-Club Debate

Teams Chosen

The annual debate of the For Aor B occurred Monday, May 2nd, in the gym hall. The question under discussion is the modern interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine, as exemplified in Nicaragua.

The Illini affirmative team, consisting of Velma Dawson and Helen Stewert, debated the Senate against the negative team consisting of Lomell Wells and Cha Seely. The Forum affirmative, consisting of Arthur Trammell and Oliver McIver, met the Illini negative, consisting of Margaret Warren and Leslie Sparks; the Azores affirmative consisting of Frank Armentroll and Phelps Crawford, met the Forum affirmative consisting of Roy Bryant and Franklin Rich.

The winner of the series has possession of the cup for the ensuing year. Last year, the debates were won by the Azores which has the cup for this year. If the cup is won three years in succession by one society, it becomes the permanent property of the society.

THURSDAY EVENING PRESENTED FRIDAY

"Thursday Evening" was presented in Chapel last Friday morning by the Junior class of the University High School. Although attendance was not compulsory on the part of the student body, the auditorium was well filled. The Juniors are undertaking a new feature in their high school so that they can entertain the seniors with a reception. This first attempt proved a complete success and was under the direction of Miss Frances Barbour, her sponsor and English teacher.

A little once act play which portrayed the stress and distress of a very young married couple and their mother-in-law, was particularly pleasing and delightful to the audience. In the process of tidying the kitchen after a successful but tiring event, party for four, (both mother-in-laws were visiting the couple at the same time), the husband finds that his wife has been utterly wasteful in the matter of left over food. The part of the beautiful young wife was very sweetly handled by Alice Patterson, while her husband, Gordon Johns, was James Matheny.

This is the unusual thing of "Thursday Evening." Instead of being the instigators of war, Mrs. Sheffield, played by Violet Townson, and Mrs. Johns, taken by Margaret Krysher, who were the mothers of the young husband and wife, became the peace-makers and straightened out the difficulties of this home. One could never realize that a mother-in-law could show so much ingenuity at a stress in a domestic household like this.

Each Thursday evening was the cook's night out and this particular Thursday evening ended like all should end, after a storm—in perfect happiness and oblivion. The cash receipts amounted to $104.65. Now the college can go right on due to the fact that there was enough money in to feed the Seniors. Now they can grow into mature freshmen.

REDUCING A LA ROLLER SKATES

Is Widespread

President Shryock recently attended a meeting of the Central Association which is the largest of the four associations of its kind in America. It includes all the territory east of the Rocky Mountains and west of the Alleghenies, and all north of the Mason-Dixon line. There are other similar associations, the New England, the Southern and the Rocky Mountain-Pacific Associations.

At this meeting of the North Central Association, the claim of this normal school as a B Class College were presented. For years the phrase "on probation" has been attached to the name of the school on the official list. This qualification of standing was, first, because the classes were too large; second, because the faculty members taught too many hours; third, because faculty members were eaching both high school and college subjects; but chiefly because the high school enrollment was not all proportion to the college enrollment.

When the first inspection was made by the North Central inspector two years ago, he found that practically 50 percent of the entire enrollment was made up of non-college students. A further reason for this was that county certificates had always been accepted in lieu of high school diplomas.

These matters, however, have all been changed in the past two years. All of the S. I. U. students today, more than one thousand in number, have qualified under the North Central Association rules. Nine years ago, only fifty-six could have qualified. The high school enrollment has been cut down to two hundred, while the unclassified Donn column is about the same. Today, this college has full B Class standing not only with the University of Illinois, but with all North Central colleges and universities.

ARTICLE CONCERNING HYPO-

Thetical Vacations Wrong-

Ly placed in high life

Through a printer's error in the arrangement of the material in the last week's High Life column, an article which should have appeared under the heading "As We'd Like It," was placed in another column. The writer, knowing that certain students may have had their hopes falsely raised by this mistake, the announcement of an Easter vacation was all a joke.
SPRING MISCHIEF
Spring is here and she is casting a magic spell to lure us from our studies. We have a queer feeling that teases and taunts us, that we call Spring Fever. Just as firmly as from the window with its view of trees vied in budding green. We must pour over our books and pound in our lessons to drown the melody of some merry songster. Then, just when we become absorbed in our lessons, some cheery person dashes up and tempts us by saying, "Come on, old dear, let's take in some air." By the time we have explained that we just must study, why, we have to start in studying all over again.

"What," we wonder, "is spring doing to everyone, anyway?"

We have visions of jolly picnics and hikes. Perhaps during some hot study hour we can walk around and catch glimpses of nodding crocuses and tulips in sunny gardens. But still I recall something like this.

"Gather ye good grades while ye may, Old time is still a-flying.
And this same fellow who flunks to-day
Tomorrow will be sighing."

HIGH SCHOOL STILL GROWING
The Spring term is now in full swing. The signs of winter are beginning to fade, and the signs of spring are coming on. Students, who have been here all the year, now find many new faces in their class rooms. The classes have been greatly enlarged, and some divisions have had to be made in order to properly care for the increased enrollment.

U. H. S. SPEAKS FOR ITSELF
Miss Barbour, our English teacher, attended the faculty meeting of theNormals at Spring Field on April 1 and 2. She informed us that of the five State Normal schools in Illinois, the S. I. N. U. is the only Normal that maintains separately organized departments in high school subjects. The other Normals maintain High schools, but the classes are supervised by college instructors.

ATHLETIC NOTES
The High school boys came out for track Monday, April 4, for the first time this spring, and on the following Friday the various teams were chosen. As the track-meet will take place in about two weeks (April 29-30), the fellows will have to work hard in order to be in condition by that time. The coaches for this year are Roberts and Crawford.

THE HIGH SCHOOL
STUDENTS MEET
During the chapel hour on Thursday, March 30, the University High school, as a body, visited the Junior High school in the assembly room of the Aliyin building. The students of the ninth grade gave a pleasing program, after which Mr. Warren, principal of the University High school, made some announcements which concerned the coming intellectual and track meet at Christopher. The winners of the free throw tournaments were presented school pennants. The meeting closed with every student having high hopes of another such visit.

SOCIETY NOTES
Will they take our skates away from us? We wonder. Will they? In case you don't understand, we'll explain. Under the "Latest Fads and Fancies of S. I. N. U." we list first roller skates—yes—we mean it. No April Fool joke at all. Roller skates it is and will be till we go back another nook to scooters. So far, there has been only one disaster. One of the Anthony ball youngsters, frightened at the approach of a rather unfermed looking hound, fell and broke a wrist—nothing more. So all ye children take heed and skate carefully.

THE JUNIOR PLAY
On Friday, April 8, the Juniors presented their play, "Thursday Evening," by Christopher Wurley. The proceeds of the play are to defray the expenses of a Junior-Senior reception.

Boyd Laughman—How quickly can you stop your car?
Halley Nebigh—It depends on the size of the pedestrian. A big one stops me right away, but if he's undersized I drag him quite a way.

Says Gus of Univ. Cafe—"I know I'm not good looking, but that's my opinion against thousands of others."

A nose should be seen and not heard.

Laverne Phemister—Coach, I can't get my locker shut.
Mac—Take out your shoes.

Lela M. Etherton—You should always place your hand over your mouth when you yawn.

Clifford Ford—What! An' get hit?
We're often stopped to wonder.
On fate's peculiar ways:
For nearly all our famous men
Were born on holidays.

WEE WUNDER
If three can keep a secret if two are dead?
We all wondered why there was so much electricity in the air, but the reason is that Cleo Kerley has a beau—Sparks.

If Fred Miller thinks that he will hatch out a scheme, just because he has his mind set?
We used to wonder why men were like tea, but now we know that their real strength is not drawn out until they get into hot water.

If Sheelail Allen's inspiration is of the first magnitude?
How fishworn sinn?

How Bert says good night?
Why he C(1)lap(s) (hier)?
Who the students are that have care and sense, too?

Who is reducing via the roller skate route?

Who accompanied Charlie to Made-lyn's, and why?

Who you don't hand in Wee Wunders and "Contribute!"

The new cabinet officers took their respective places, and both the old and the new presidents gave short talks about the organization and the duties connected with it. This was followed by a speech from Dr. Stearns.
The two new advisors, Miss Frances Etheridge and Miss Minna Fox, also gave short talks expressing their desire to help us in every possible way.
All girls are welcome to come to these meetings every Tuesday evening at 5:30 in the Zetetic hall.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Lowell said:
"What is so rare as a day in June?
Then, if ever, come perfect days.
This is true enough, but are the summer days of June more perfect than the cool, soothing, rain-kissed days of April?
You say, "Why, in June, we can enjoy the roses, the Queen of all flowers, as well as the other bountiful gifts of Nature which are so lavishly bestowed upon us at this time."
"Yes, roses are beautiful, the days of June are golden sunny ones for the lover of Nature—but stop! and think—does not Spring offer as many treasures from her store house of beautiful things?"
The gradual awakening of each bud of the fruit trees and flowers—the merry chirp of the robinきちん, an encouraging word to those of us who are very observing—the sky, with numerous regiments of middle-kite clouds floating across the blue, like tiny white-sailed vessels embarked to foreign shores—the gentle, soft breeze singing a lullaby through the newly-awakened leaves of the trees. These and countless other beauties are about us at present.

Question: What do you enjoy most about Spring?
Where asked: In April showers. I think the most enjoyable hours of spring are those adorned by large silvery rain drops scintillating in the bright colored silvers giving a very beautiful picture against the brilliant green background.—Lyndall Fox.

THE ABSENT-MINDED PROF.

Poured ketchup on his shoestrings—Tied knots in the Macaroni—Ate up the cat—And threw out the balance—Drowned his wife in the river—And kicked the dog—Used his axe on his daughter—And kicked the log—Drained all the gas from his rifle—And tried to crank the cow—Hitched the horse to the carrots—Put salt on the pow—Put dynamite in the oven—And it's a safe bet—That this cured him for life—He hasn't lit yet.

Yates said to Frank Armstrong:
"Put your head to that wire. Do you feel anything?"
"No," said Frank.
Yates: "Don't touch that other wire or it will kill you."

The Teachers' College News of Charleston Normal has an interesting editorial on "Hello Day." The purpose of this day is to boost the spirit of friendship among the students. The common word "Hello" cost the speaker nothing; a smile thrown in costs little more. Yet a bright smile will accomplish wonders in improving the feeling, between students.

Last year, Charleston had a successful "Hello day."

Central College, Edmond, Oklahoma, is rejoicing over the fact that it has been appropriated money for a new physical education building.

The "University Theatre" is the term used by many universities to designate the organized and supervised productions of their dramatic departments. At Normal, Ill., the university theatre has an arrangement under which the dramatic department directs the presentation of all student plays and in return is granted a small percentage of the net proceeds of the plays. The money is used to purchase necessary stage supplies.

An annual Mother's Day was held at the Milwaukee Normal School. In the morning, mothers attended classes. Departmental programs were given in the afternoon.

AN UNFAVORABLE EXCHANGE

Mike

Mike had spit tobacco juice on the floor of the train coach until the floor was almost in a flowing stream. As Pat was sitting just opposite across the aisle near a spittoon, the conductor asked him to exchange seats with Mike so he could spit in the spittoon. Pat unwillingly replied:

"Pat, do you want me to walk across and drown?"

VACANT CARS

It is not a guess, a theory, a hypothesis, or principle, but a fact, and a new law, that students are forbidden to sit in cars, or to joyride during school hours, or during their hours of leisure, or sleep and Mr. Sheik, Miss Flapper, or Jane, if you want to test the validity of this new law, just try it, or get some one else to perform the act, and be sure not to forget to hand in the said name, or names, to the principal, being sure to write the title of Mr., Mrs. or Miss, or perhaps Mr. and Miss, or Mr. and M., be it daylight or dark, sunshine or cloudy, moonshine or flash light, when reported, the said Mr., Mrs. or Miss will not be a student in this said school tomorrow.

The wages of sin—death.

A SPRING SONG

By Roberta Simmons

The back gate is a saggin’,
The barn-yard is a sight—
The chicken house needs mendin’
The fences don’t look right.

The carpets are a waitin’
For a beatin’ on the line—
The pasture wants a clearing—but ain’t the buckin’ fine?

The fruit trees need a sprylin’
The flitter’s short of paint—
The gray mule wants a showin’
It’s enough to try a saint.

The way things keep a plinnin’ up
Aroun’ this place of mine—
An’ somehow like they don’t get done.
But—ain’t the fishin’ fine?

History repeats. The moth ever
Returns to the light, the rabbit comes back to its bunk, a lost person will come back to the same place, so here is a style prediction:

- 1st style, in garden—Ev’ry Leave
- 2nd style, in garden—Animal Skins
- 3rd style, anywhere—Linens
- 4th style—Silks, Satin
- 5th style—Leaves
- 6th style—Still silk; more skin
- 7th style—More Brevity
- 8th style—In future, cycle complete

HOW TO WRITE A COLUMN

"You are the only columnist who takes a vacation," remarked the editor, "how do you do it?"
The public is entitled to the facts, to know that I am on a vacation all the time—not only now and then.
The truth is that I have been on a vacation all my life but next Labor day I plan to go to work. How do I set a column for every day then if I am always on a vacation? Easy.

- 7 a.m.—Rise and takes Ford ride through alleys of Normal and suburbs. Outline plan of column for day, the general shape, color, size, weight and profile. The Ford ride makes the intellect keen. (A 1914 model is best).
- 8:15 a.m.—Go to classroom, teach youngsters for 45 minutes, make note of all the jokes, shuffle them around, and choose the best. (Good looking pupils of opposite sex help much).
- 9:35 a.m.—Attend quaker meeting known as General Exercises. Instead of sleeping I listen to the program and study unconscious reactions of the unconscious audience. Make note of all. (Monday has proved to be the best day).
- 11 a.m.—Go to class for my morning rest. (Use no discrimination in choosing the class. All will enable you to get rest).
- 12 m.—Lunch at the Cafe. (I notice on days when fish is served the column seems to be filled with salt and sarcasm).
- 12:45 p.m.—Have pipe in lobby. Observe people as they leave. See happy couples, sad couples, and some who are just couples. (These experiences give rise to all my great tragedies).
- 1:15 p.m.—Take much needed rest.
- 7 p.m.—Arise. Write column with exception of last paragraph. Wash my teeth. (I notice that Colgate’s tooth paste makes my column highly perfumed with local color).

Mr. Wham: Read your answer for the completion exercise No. 12, Ray Ferril.

Ray: I can’t tell a lie so I’ll just say that I don’t know how to complete it.

The following article is an excellent short treatise on a situation that arose in the Lone Star state, and was printed in the Torradora, Texas publication:

"Vive is a monster of so frightful shape and size, that it was necessary to have the small beads ordered to take of their brains. The proof remains the same, as to the natural history of such creatures.

"People have acquired this superfluous amount of flesh from no over-exertion, but from riding and sitting in cars during their leisure hours. But now that these things have been prohibited about the school, "Roller Skating" will be practiced. To keep in line and on equal basis with the University of Illinois, we must take up this new method of reducing.

"The doctors are much in favor of this new method of reducing. They and that it is a profitable business in taking X-ray pictures of the broken bones; because each X-ray picture taxes you $10.00, to say nothing of the 'Splinters' and treatments.

FAMOUS HEROES

You often find him on the stove, but never in the grate; For he is Nick L. Plate.

He comes out seven days a week, Except on one condition; For he is called Ed Hilton.

He's dangerous without his bottle, This is quickly seen; Of arson he is guilty too. For he is called Ben Zine.

He always is more tender After once his skin you scal'd, His nickname is "Warm Canine." For Frank Porter he is called.

His occupation is with danger Very highly fraught; His work puts him above us, For his name is Aaron At.

A live wire he must always be To keep up his position; His work is often shocking For his name is Abe Triclan.

FAMOUS HEROINES

Compare her with the older one— The younger one is she; Don't know her name? It's simple, For it's June Yor, don't you see.

She's just like many boxers, For she's rough and often graced; And she's also like a washboard— It's because she's Cora Gated.

She never seems to stand up straight, But you cannot guess her name; She can't support herself at all. For Gainst is Lena's surname.

Carmen Dickey says: "A sock on the foot is worth two in the eye."

Texas Tech is Right

The Texas Tech is right, according to a recent article in the Torradora, saying that Vive is a monster of so frightful shape and size, that it was necessary to have the small beads ordered to take of their brains. The proof remains the same, as to the natural history of such creatures.

People have acquired this superfluous amount of flesh from no over-exertion, but from riding and sitting in cars during their leisure hours. But now that these things have been prohibited about the school, "Roller Skating" will be practiced. To keep in line and on equal basis with the University of Illinois, we must take up this new method of reducing.

The doctors are much in favor of this new method of reducing. They and that it is a profitable business in taking X-ray pictures of the broken bones; because each X-ray picture taxes you $10.00, to say nothing of the 'Splinters' and treatments.

STOP! LISTEN TO THESE WORDS! LOOK IN THE MIRROR!

Which are you—a person with good posture, looking the world squarely in the eye; or a dejected looking creature with slouched shoulders and downcast glance? Which do you inspire—respect or scorn? What kind of an example are you, superior or inferior?

Remember you are someone's ideal!

That man, I think, has had a liberal education who has been so trained in youth that his body is the ready servant of his will, and does with ease and pleasure all the work that, as a mechanism, he is capable of; whose intellect is a clear, cold, logic engine, with all its parts of equal strength and in smooth working order; ready, like a steam engine, to be turned to any kind of work, and spin the gossamer as well as force the anchors of the mind; whose mind is stored with a knowledge of the great and fundamental truths of nature and of the laws of her operations; one who, no stunted ascetic, is full of life and fire, but whose passions are trained to come to heel by a vigorous will, the servant of a tender conscience; who has learned to love all beauty, whether of nature or of art, hate all vileness, and to respect others as himself.

A New Diet

There was a young man named Shire
Who on less and jokes did sur vive;
But he soon changed his diet
Very much on the quiet,
And now on cornflakes doth thrive.

The ability to speak convincingly before large groups, is a tool all teachers should possess. We may be able to teach children well with our present equipment, but if we are to be successful as teachers we must be able to sell our educational system to our public. We should be able to address our public with conviction and poise. A thorough course in public speaking and debating would be excellent training for this important function of the teacher.

Lemen Wella: Miss Tryvillion, will you let me get into that drawer? (Meaning the top drawer on the west side of the table in the Egyptian office).

Miss Tryvillion: Why, surely. A smarty said: "I'd like to see him do it."

Dr. Caldwell: How are you, Mary? Mary Youngblood: Oh! I have a cold in my head, but that's all.
