CARS WITHOUT COUNTRIES

Still having trouble finding a place to park? Another step has been taken toward solving the maddening problem of parking here at Southern.

Beginning summer term: all cars will be registered at the statistical service. The conterence, having adopted the rules are as follows:

1. A basic measuring rule will be established—the exact number of cars on campus will be known.

2. Plans can be formulated for the final solving of the problem, consisting of owning the name and address, make of the car, and license number.

The university parking committee, headed by W. C. Bicknell, has made arrangements for the registration of cars in accordance with the university policy on parking, the Student Council, the Registrar's office, and the statistical service. Dean I. Clark Davis, parking committee spokesman, has pointed out arguments in favor of the car registration as follows:

1. To add or drop a course an undergraduate student should secure a program change card. He then secures, in this order, the signatures of (a) his adviser, (b) the instructor or instructors whose courses are added, dropped, or shifted, and (c) the dean of his college.

During the second, third, or fourth weeks of a term, dropping a course will be approved only where the record has been valid. Students usually will not be permitted to drop a required course. Grades will be given if there is evidence of the quality of work done by the student. Hence, the record may show, for example, "W-3" or "W-D-3," which must be identical with the record turned in by the instructor at end of course.

After the fourth week of a term, changes will be approved only under unusual conditions. A course may be dropped only under conditions beyond the student's control. A grade must be recorded for any dropped course (a "W" alone, however, will indicate a dropped course where the student is merely shifting to another section of the same course). During the last three weeks, changes will be approved only in extreme emergencies.

SILENCE PAYS

Students who seldom speak in class may be learning more than the professor thinks, according to a study at the University of Chicago.

The study also showed that most students actually have their minds on the lecture about two-thirds of the class period. The other third of the time their minds wander.

Professors get three tips from the researchers: Don't make too many side-tracks, don't be antagonistic, don't make the important points in the early lectures.

A Review—Fischer Presents Own Composition

by Kate Mou, assistant professor of music

Gilbert Fischer of the music staff presented a concert Thursday, March 27, in which he played a set of Preludes and Épilogue which he had composed. This cycle for piano is a work of great strength and variety, a work which could have been written only by a sincere artist whose conception of life and art is one of depth and understanding.

The idiom which Fischer uses in his Preludes and Épilogue is mostly that of the impressionistic period. These are studies of musical expression reminiscent of Debussy, Ravel, Albéniz, and even Messiaensg through the work of young painters and sculptors of the twentieth century life as well as abstract emotional intensities.

THE FACT is that the work is not written in twentieth century idioms, whatever twentieth Century idiom may be, can be considered an extreme of reaction. Some of our greatest composers write in the style of masters before their own time beginning with emerging with a style of their own. Beethoven and Schubert were among these, to mention only two.

The cycle forms of short compositions are easily used by composers of piano music, but it is perhaps more frequently used by writers in the vocal realm. Fischer's set of Preludes and Épilogue brings to mind the Schoenberg setting of the nineteen poems known in Germany as "Gurrelieder." These songs are definitely Wagnerian in style in spite of the fact that they were written around the year 1908. Schoenberg, when he...

Trackmen Eye School Records in Opener

Students will get a chance to see Southern's trackmen this year. The Salukis opened their season with Western Illinois. The meet, originally scheduled for Saturday, was moved up to today.

Western will be the first of seven dual meet opponents for Coach Lingle. Jim Massa, the Salukis' top man, won both the mile and two mile runs. Coleman set school records for both events last season with 4:23 in the mile and 9:44.2 in the two mile.

In general, Lingle is unsure of his team's prospects for this season. Much will depend on the performances of lettermen back from last year's squad.

These lettermen include Harry Clark, Carbondale; pole vaulter; Jim Massa, Collinsville javelin; back, sprinter and hurler; Chuck Waid; Belleville hurdl er; Joe Budde, Belleville center; and Jack Roffo, Carbondale sprinter. Renfro has been lame this week and may not enter today.
