U.S. vetoes anti-Israeli resolution

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The United States vetoed a U.N. Security Council resolution Monday that called on Israel to respect the religious and cultural rights of Palestinians in the occupied territories, torn by almost eight weeks of anti-Israeli unrest.

U.S. Ambassador Herbert Oman cast the single negative vote, in effect killing the resolution. The 15-member council, which is designed to address in a practical way the diplomatic efforts under way which are aimed at a peaceful solution to the conflict, also voted Monday that called on Israel to respect the religious and cultural rights of Palestinians in the occupied territories, torn by almost eight weeks of anti-Israeli unrest.

Anti-Israeli resolution, while the other 14 council members voted for the plan that urged Israel to extend to the Palestinians the protections given civilians living in occupied territories during a time of war.

The resolution also urged the council to work toward a negotiated settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

It takes nine votes in the 15-nation council to approve a resolution, but a veto by any of the five permanent members — the United States, Britain, China, France and the Soviet Union — kills the resolution.

Oman said the council has adopted three resolutions dealing with the conflict in the West Bank and Gaza Strip, where at least 40 Arabs have been killed by Israeli gunfire.

"Further resolutions at this time are, in our view, redundant and inappropriate, at best," Oman said. "At worst, they can detract from the diplomatic efforts under way which are designed to address in a practical way the current unrest, which is a symptom of failure to achieve a solution of the Palestinian issue, and the larger goal of a just and lasting peace for all concerned."

He said he vetoed the resolution "because we believe it was an unnecessary effort to involve the Security Council in issues which are, at this time, best dealt with through diplomatic channels."

British Ambassador Craig Tickell told the council his government supported the resolution and recommendations by Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuadra on how to end the conflict.

He said the world has seen "examples of conduct by the security forces of the (Israel) occupying power which scarcely conform with civilized standards."

It was the second time the United States used its veto power in less than two weeks. Washington killed a resolution Jan. 14 that would have condemned Israel's military activities in southern Lebanon.

Israeli Ambassador Benjamin Netanyahn told reporters Monday's vote that his government was "satisfied" with the U.S. vote.

Israeli Ambassador Benjamin Netanyahn told reporters Monday's vote that his government was "satisfied" with the U.S. vote. The parent, John Stivers, said Monday afternoon.

The City Council is expected to approve tonight the spending of more than $2 million on its southeast wastewater treatment plant, which could cause an 8.9 percent water and sewer rate increase for Carbondale residents.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has said Carbondale must make the plant comply with EPA pure water standards. The council must pass the issue in the City Council Chambers.

The plant violated EPA standards from September to November 1987. During October, suspended solids and bacteria measurements were nine times higher than the standards.

Frank Horn, plant manager, said the plant is at peak volume when the University is in session, but volume falls considerably during breaks.

Council to act on sewer proposal

The improvements, which have been approved by the EPA, include two new filtration systems that will remove impurities in dry solid waste and 14 drying beds. The state must satisfy environmental regulations by the end of 1989. City Manager Bill Dixon, said.

Mayor Neil Dillard said the improvements are supposed to be implemented by July 1, but the EPA is allowing the city to miss the deadlines as long as it is working to alleviate the problem.

The city will incur general obligation bonds to raise money for the improvements. The bonds will be repaid with money generated by an 8.9 percent water and sewer rate increase, which would go into effect.

The increase, which was recommended in a 1987 report by a Missouri consulting firm, would raise combined water and sewer fees from $3.34 to $3.64 for every 1,000 gallons used.

Student's documentary film selected for Big Muddy fest

By Richard Nunez

Environment Editor

Jennifer Johns, graduate student in cinema and photography, has been selected to show her film "Definitions" as part of the public screening of competitive films during the Big Muddy Film Festival.

"Definitions," a black and white, 16mm film, is an exploration of different definitions of rape, Johns said.

Johns said she has combined interviews of rape victims with a sequence of other images, including October's "Take Back the Night" march.

The march, sponsored by Women's Services, is an annual protest against sexual violence toward women and children.

"The film is a combination of documentary and experimental," Johns said. "I combined staged scenes with voice overs from the interviews."

In one staged scene, Johns said she attempted to convey the violence of rape as it might be seen from the victim's point of view by having a man attack the camera.

"The film has a rhythmic quality to it," Johns said. The film fluctuates from dark scenes to light scenes and from tense moments to more optimistic moments.

Johns said most of her film is shot from a victim's perspective. She is influenced by feminist film makers such as Laurie Seker and Lizzi Borden, who directed the acclaimed "Working Girls," a movie that explored the lives of prostitutes.

Johns work in film making has covered topics such as a comparison of violent and nonviolent sports and how women are portrayed as sex objects.

In her film on violent and nonviolent sports, Johns said she combined violent and nonviolent images in a montage sequence to illustrate the brutality of such films as "Definitions.,"

February events to commemorate black men, women

By Antonette Hayes

Staff Writer

Unusual contributions of black men and women to U.S. history and culture will be highlighted in Black History Month observations sponsored by the Black Affairs Council.

Events, which begin today, are scheduled throughout February with workshops, prominent writers, musicians, educators and scholars.

"The purpose of Black History Month is to give all people the opportunity to learn about black people's contributions to society," Robert Conner III, graduate assistant for the Black Affairs Council, said.

Many people do not know that a black man developed the techniques used in blood transfusions or that a black man invented materials used in many shoes and clothes, Conner said.

He stressed that activities for the month are planned for all students and others in the community, not just blacks.

Conner said that even though the University has observed Black History Month for at least 10 years, many people do not know that February is Black History Month, a point he said he would like to correct.

According to flyers announcing the month's events, the celebrations are in tribute to the black history and dedicated to the memories of author James Baldwin and Chicago Mayor Harold Washington.

Here's the schedule:

Feb. 2 - Don F. Bailey, director of Inner City Studies at Northeastern University, lecturer: "African-American Education: An Imperative for Change for the 21st Century," at 7 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom D.

Feb. 4 - Harvi Griffin, harpist, at 11 a.m. in the Student Center Old Main Room.

Feb. 9 - Sonia Sanchez, award winning poet and novelist from Temple University, at 7 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom D.

Feb. 10 - Stanley Jordan, jazz guitarist, at 8 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom D.

Feb. 11 - Faith Christmas, Board of Directors of the Chicago Defender newspaper, at 7 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom D.

Feb. 12 - Black Togetherness Organization Cultural Exursion, at 4 p.m. in Grinnell Hall.

Feb. 15 - Black Togetherness Organization: "Learning to Carve Baroque Harpsichord," at 6 p.m. in Grinnell Hall.

Black History Workshop: Delta Sigma Theta Alumnae Workshop, at 6 p.m. in C. Hayes Center.

Tax hike needed:
to ensure quality of higher education

A TAX HIKE by the state legislature is imperative to the future of higher education in Illinois.

Come fall, state legislators have publicly favored a tax hike, but none has aggressively sought support for it, as legislators from an area that is so dependent upon a university should.

To a large degree, as SIU-C goes, so goes a major portion of Southern Illinois, Illinois, which is among the top 10 states in higher education enrollment, ranks 49th in the nation in higher education funding. Any further decline in the state higher education system undoubtably will damage Southern Illinois’ economy.

IN FISCAL YEAR 1985, Illinoisans paid $300 per capita in state tax, well below the national average of $607. Illinois residents pay just 2.5 percent tax. This figure should be increased to at least 3 percent, which would produce an estimated $500 million in additional revenue annually.

The legislators refused to consider Gov. James Thompson’s proposed tax hike last spring was uncalled for and was a liberal result of the legislature’s election-year fear of alienating voters.

SU-C’S 18-PERCENT TUITION hike was one result of the legislators’ refusal to raise taxes. It is ridiculous to place an added financial burden upon students in an era of reduced federal grant money and other student assistance.

If SIU-C had not fulfilled the nation’s promise for higher education states, more funding is desperately needed. But it must come from the taxpayers, not from the students.

...and to ease students’ financial load

ONE MUCH-NEEDED service that could be provided with the revenue from a tax hike is an increase in student workers. Wages for the remaining student jobs, which constitute most jobs on campus, are set by the SIU system.

Minimum wage, raised, to $3.35, in 1981. Meanwhile, inflation has considerably reduced the student workers’ buying power.

IN 1981, A student working 20 hours per week at minimum wage earned $97. That same $97 in 1986 was worth only $55.37 because of inflation.

In other words, students had to work 24.2 hours per week in 1986 to have the same buying power as 20 hours in 1981.

STUDENTS ARE IN college to learn, not to perform menial tasks for a shrinking paycheck. The University benefits enormously from student workers and should reverse the favor by paying them better.

Governor is considering raising the federal minimum wage in 1988. Instead of waiting for the federal government to make Illinois’ students’ lives better, we should take the initiative and provide added money for student wages.

A tax hike and additional money for student workers would be very positive steps in a state that has done very little for its higher education system of late.

PIIRG would boost student power

Many of us on campus think there are problems in this state that students could help solve. We see issues that affect students and the entire public, and we know that, as citizens, we have the right to act on those issues.

We care about issues like the environment, the rights of consumers and tenants, public health, education funding and the high cost of utilities. We see the need for the government to be more responsive to the public, and the need of the public (including us students) to be more informed about public affairs. We want ourselves and our students to be able to solve real-life problems, using reliable information and the avenues available to us as citizens.

To sum it up, we want student empowerment in public affairs.

It’s time that Illinois students had a strong voice in public affairs. And our student government here at SIU-C—a branch of the Illinois Student Government, the 42nd Student Organization — recently took an important step toward gaining that power for all of us. Both of these arms of student government have set forth strongly supported resolutions calling for the establishment of an Illinois Public Interest Research Group. We, the members of Students for PIRIG, would like to thank the USO and GPSC for joining with us in this organizing effort.

Students for PIRIG seeks to create a public interest research group for Illinois students. PIRIG would be modeled after the public interest research groups already operating in 20 states. Public interest research groups are non-profit corporations funded and directed by students. They engage students in research and responsible advocacy on public policy and social problems. Research groups train students in the skills of active citizenship and provide a powerful voice for students to public forums and avenues of action.

For example, students in other states have used their research groups to block increases in telephone rates, take crooked landlords to court, stop industries from dumping hazardous chemical wastes into public water supplies, publish cost-comparison studies of groceries and health care services and distribute handbooks on women’s rights and legal resources.

Right now, Illinois students don’t have a public interest research group. But more than 1,000 SIU-C students signed a petition in favor of starting one here and funding it through a voluntary $3 student fee each semester.

That means that any student who doesn’t want to be involved would not have to pay the fee. The PIRIG’s funds would be allocated by a board of directors consisting only of students. PIRIG projects would be developed by the democratically elected and unpaid board.

We are willing to work hard in the coming months to create the organization of students we are calling for. 0,000 SIU-C students are calling for. IPIRG would be modeled after the Illinois Student Government’s student fee each semester.

Abortion poll misrepresented facts

I was disappointed to read an article in the Jan. 20 Daily Egyptian entitled “Americans support right to abortion.” A newspaper is supposed to be neutral in reporting the news, but this article was nothing but propaganda turned out by the most radical and violent pro-abortion groups. It was like publishing an article called “Americans soften toward Hitler” taken from a poll conducted by the American Nazi Party.

There are many larger and more objective polls taken recently by both Time and Life magazines have shown that about 50 percent of the American public is against abortion in all but the most extreme circumstances and about 90 percent is for abortion on demand for any reason. The remaining 60 percent will answer positively or negatively depending on how the question is worded, or they have no opinion at all.

Around 1.5 million babies were aborted in 1987. About 60,000 or fewer were aborted to save the lives of the mothers or because of rape or incest. Around 50,000 were aborted in the eighth or ninth month of pregnancy. According to statistics, the average woman seeking an abortion was white, between 21 and 30 years old, and of “middle income.” These are the facts. What is your opinion?

Town goes wild over groundhog

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (UPI) - The town of Punxsutawney was groundhog wild Monday on the eve of the annual spring forecast by Phil, the nation's most famous weather-forecasting animal. Local motels were booked to near-capacity, and shopkeepers reported brisk sales of Groundhog Day souvenirs, including ceramic replicas of Punxsutawney's most famous resident, an 18-pound woodchuck.

"Things around here have just been kind of crazy," 'Harry' won't see his shadow today. said Jody Deshong, a receptionist at the Pantall Hotel in downtown Punxsutawney, a town of about 7,600 people in western Pennsylvania. "We have a lot of people here from Philadelphia, some from Ohio, Chicago, Pittsburgh, even from Virginia," Deshong said. "Everybody's definitely getting anxious."

Organizers expected about 1,200 people to show up Tuesday morning for the 101st annual Groundhog Day event atop Gobbler's Knob, a wooded knoll just outside of town.

Phil is "like gold," Bill Null, executive director of the local Chamber of Commerce, said. "If we didn't have him, we'd have to invent something."

At daybreak, Phil was to be pulled from his burrow and speak in "groundhogese" to the president of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club, who reports whether Phil has seen his shadow.

If he does see his shadow, it will mean six more weeks of winter. No shadow means spring is just around the corner.

HOPKINTON, R.I. (UPI) - An animal-rights group planned to mark Groundhog Day by resuming its right to ban the town's 40-year-old bounty on woodchucks.

The 500-member Ladies of Animals Inc. planned a "street theater" presentation at Town Hall Tuesday to coincide with the 101st Groundhog Day festivities planned in Punxsutawney, Pa., spokesman Steve Ruggeri said.

The presentation protests redeeming woodchuck noses for 15 cents.
Voter drive rescheduled

The Undergraduate Student Organization voter registration drive has been rescheduled to noon on 3:00 p.m. today, Wednesday, Thursday and next Monday, in the Student Center.

The drive is aimed at registering new voters or those who have changed their addresses, Susan Hall, USO chief of staff, said.

USO also is encouraging students who are registered in Jackson County to fill out applications for absentee ballots. The Illinois primary election will be during spring break when many students are away for Carbondale.

Bob Harrell, Jackson county clerk, said applications can be obtained at the Jackson County Courthouse in Murphysboro.

The completed application must be returned to Harrell's office and checked against voter registration lists. Absentee ballots are sent to voters by mail.

Long-awaited overpass opens after long delays

The long-awaited pedestrian overpass near the Ho Chi Minh trail was opened officially Friday afternoon, project engineer Larry Miles said. Gates blocking access to the crossing were removed following the installation of lighting.

There is still more work to be done, "but it's passable," Miles said.

Public use of the overpass, which spans Route 51 and the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, had been delayed several months while workers awaited delivery of specially designed materials. Power problems with the lights caused further delays in the last two weeks.

Ninety-five percent of the $2.3 million project was funded by the Federal Highway Administration, Jeff Doberty, assistant city manager, said.

The remaining costs were divided between the University, 25 percent; the city of Carbondale, 2.25 percent; the Illinois Department of Transportation, 3 percent; and the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, 5 percent, Doberty said.

The completed application is checked by the Illinois Department of Transportation, 2

Society hides alcoholic women

By Patricia Fabiano
Wellness Center

A conspiracy of silence surrounds the issue of chemical dependence in women. Society's assumption that alcoholism is a "man's disease" together with the myth that "ladies don't get drunk" conspire to keep the problem of substance abuse in women invisible.

The truth is that among this nation's estimated 15 to 20 million alcoholics, between one-third and one-half are women. Studies show that more women are drinking alcohol and experiencing alcohol problems. The incidence of alcoholism is increasing.

Why does the cloak of invisibility still surround women alcoholics? The first major reason for the conspiracy of silence is that studies in the field of alcoholism have tended to ignore women or to assume no difference between male and female alcoholics.

Current research shows that there are gender differences. Women usually become more alcoholics. The incidence of alcoholism is increasing.

Although women have a lower body weight. Women's reactions to alcohol also vary throughout the menstrual cycle. Estrogen heightens and prolongs the effect of alcohol; therefore, the greatest effect is achieved just prior to menstruation when the estrogen level is the highest.

Dependency progresses at a faster rate in women than men. Women are more likely to develop cirrhosis and other related diseases sooner than men.

Women also are more likely to be dually addicted than men. Statistics from the Betty Ford Center show that 37 percent of female alcoholics are cross-addicted to tranquilizers, 50 percent in sleeping pills, and 30 percent to other mood-altering drugs, of which a significant number are prescribed by physicians.

Pregnant women represent the last significant gender difference. Fetal Alcohol Syndrome is the third leading cause of congenital birth defects. Society's attitudes toward drug use in women also cause the conspiracy of silence around women's problem drinking. Although the idea of moral weakness as the cause of alcoholism is fading in the face of research showing alcoholism to be a disease, heavy drinking remains less acceptable for women than men. This double standard makes it more difficult for the woman alcoholic to acknowledge her dependency and seek help.

Most physicians believe the alcoholic woman to be sicker than the alcoholic man. Physicians also tend to misdiagnose alcoholism in women as depression or some other psychosomatic or emotional illness more often than they do in male counterparts.

Men’s track places first in 7 events

By Stephanie Wood
Staff writer

The men’s track team combined for seven first-place finishes in two meets this weekend. The team included the first Garrett’s victory in the 800-meter run. Garrett won the 800 with a personal best 1 minute, 32.52 seconds at the Missouri Invitational Saturday. "I'm looking the best for us," Coach Bill Cornell said. "He has the best chance to be the first to qualify (for nationals)."

"Twelve of the 14 had good performances," Cornell said. "I'm happy with the results.

In the 300-yard dash, Billie King took first with 33.76, followed by Guy Sikora in second with 33.81. Garrett, Erick Pegues, Kevin Stiene and John Sisson teamed up to win the mile relay in 3:16.60. "The most exciting thing to me is that we won the mile relay," Cornell said.

The other first place at Missouri came from Demetria Theoharous’ 6-foot, 1/4-inch high jump. At Eastern Illinois Friday, the highlight was All-American Ron Harter’s first place in the 45-pound weight. Harter threw 59.8 to win, followed by Eric Bombard in third with a personal-best 48.11/4 tons.

Patrick Williams finished first in the triple jump, going 45.9. Mike Michels won the pole vault, clearing the bar at 15.6. Shane Weber was close behind with 15.9. Weber vaulted 18.0 at Missouri Saturday, finishing second.

Women’s track finishes third

The women’s track team set three school records and finished third in the Arkansas State Invitational in Jonesboro.

Auburn won the meet Friday with 115 points followed by Arkansas State, 78 and SIU-C, 62.5.

Freshman Danielle Sciano set a record in the 800-meter run with a time of 2 minutes and 18 seconds. Sciano also teamed with Lisa Judiscek, Jane Schumacher and Vivian Sinou to break the 3,000-meter relay record by five seconds, finishing in 9:21.21.

Dora Kyriacou set a team record in the 800-meter dash with 25.73. The 200 is a new indoor event and this was Kyriacou’s first performance, Coach Don DeNoon said.

Kyriacou also placed second in the 400-meter dash in 57.14.

Sinou won the 5,000-meter run at the outset, taking over the lead on the first lap. She finished in 15:48.89, shattering the track record of 15:52.91.

Dierdorf was an MVP, too

By Randy Minkoff

CHICAGO — Doug Williams and Dan Dierdorf earned MVP honors for their work during the first half of Sunday’s Super Bowl.

Williams did it on the field, catching 11 passes and three touchdowns to lead the 49ers to a 49-26 win over the Chiefs. Dierdorf did it off the field, calling the game for NBC Sports.

Williams was named the Most Valuable Player after finishing with 11 receptions for 143 yards and three touchdowns. He also set a new Super Bowl record for receptions in a game.

Swimmers set 3 pool records at Illini Classic

Swimmers set 3 pool records at Illini Classic

By Steven Walsh

Sophomore All-American Harri Gammenset a pool record and senior co-captain Lori Rea set one at the Illini Classic swim meet in Champaign.

The women’s team finished second at the meet, held Friday and Saturday at the University of Illinois olympic pool. The men’s team finished third.

Gammenset records in the 50-yard individual medley and in the 200-yard butterfly. He finished the 400-yard medley in 4:01.95 and the 200 butterfly in 1:48.65.

Rea set a pool record in the 100-yard butterfly with a 56.86 finish. She also won the 50-yard freestyle in 24.22.

Coach Doug Ingram said Rea’s victory in the 50 freestyle was the key win for either team on Friday.

“Her performance was not too good on the first night,” he said. “We felt behind and didn’t look good at all. It’s not too much fun when you go out and swim much worse than you know you’re capable of.

But we did a good job regrouping for the second day of the meet,” Ingram said. “The whole team went out ready to go and really swam well.”

On Saturday, junior Scott Roberts won the 200-yard backstroke in 1:54.15. The men’s 400- and 800-yard freestyle relay teams also grabbed firsts.

For the women, sophomore Kathi Wire won the 200-yard freestyle in 1:37.01 and the 100-yard freestyle in 54.61.

Co-captain Karen McIntyre won the 200-yard butterfly in 2:08.35 and senior Iris von Jouanne won the 100-yard backstroke in 1:10.81. The 200-yard freestyle relay team won with a time of 1:39.56.

Fans were filled with Saluki pride during Saturday’s unbelievable victory over Drake at the Arena.

That play was worth the wait

Coach Rich Herrin promised that the Salukis would play exciting basketball as the season started. So far, the team has worked overtime to keep its coach’s promise.

While nationally ranked teams across the country were strutting their stuff on network television, two mediocre teams played the most exciting game of the weekend right here in Carbondale.

The Salukis’ 99-98 triple-overtime win over Drake may not have been the best-played game. It didn’t feature any All-Americans. There wasn’t a sellout crowd. The game wasn’t on television.

The local students didn’t even bother to send a camera crew to get highlights for the 10 o’clock news.

Sophomore All-American Harri Gammenset a pool record and senior co-captain Lori Rea set one at the Illini Classic swim meet in Champaign.

The women’s team finished second at the meet, held Friday and Saturday at the University of Illinois olympic pool. The men’s team finished third.

Gammenset records in the 50-yard individual medley and in the 200-yard butterfly. He finished the 400-yard medley in 4:01.95 and the 200 butterfly in 1:48.65.

Rea set a pool record in the 100-yard butterfly with a 56.86 finish. She also won the 50-yard freestyle in 24.22.

Coach Doug Ingram said Rea’s victory in the 50 freestyle was the key win for either team on Friday.

“Her performance was not too good on the first night,” he said. “We felt behind and didn’t look good at all. It’s not too much fun when you go out and swim much worse than you know you’re capable of.

But we did a good job regrouping for the second day of the meet,” Ingram said. “The whole team went out ready to go and really swam well.”

On Saturday, junior Scott Roberts won the 200-yard backstroke in 1:54.15. The men’s 400- and 800-yard freestyle relay teams also grabbed firsts.

For the women, sophomore Kathi Wire won the 200-yard freestyle in 1:37.01 and the 100-yard freestyle in 54.61.
