STUDENTS STAGE RALLY FOR BUDGET SUPPORT

Money Is Contributed In Assembly; Hundreds March In Down-Town Parade

Approximately 2,000 students packed Shryock Auditorium yesterday morning and participated in one of the biggest rallies demonstrations known to Southern's history. Beginning with a special student assembly and climaxing with a downtown Carbondale parade the students banded together to show their support and contribute financially for the backing of the University's appropriation asks of the State Legislature.

Highlights of the assembly was the beginning of the "Budget Program" and it's dedication for student support of the drive. It was stated that the budget would be carried to Springfield if necessary and that shape would be set up as the students proceeded every member with the University's operating and building needs.

Following the assembly the students marched from the auditorium and led by the University band staged a four block parade. Looking up the block of radio three WCUIL. During the parade the newsmen were made by Bill Barre, president of the student council, and a sign student supported the campaign. At the intersection of Voss and Harris Street a may decoration was given, led by John Mabie of Harris.

The parade began on the curb about downtown Illinois avenue led by two police cars, a sound truck and the University band. The was said that was an "army for students." The parade was with banners, posters, signs, and every thing the students could do to show their enthusiasm.

Speakers for the assembly were General Robert W. Davis, member of the University Board, University President D. W. Morris, himself president Leo Brown of Carbondale, and students Lewis Shryock, Sperka, and Bill Price of Texas.

Rally Suggested Long

Governor Davis spoke on the importance of the situation of a separate governing board for the University. Dr. Brown suggested that every student of the University write a letter to legislative member in an effort to impress them with the University's critical need and to invite them to personally meet the campus and see the situation for themselves.

Marvin Explains Situation

President Morris stated that the University had only two alternatives if it did not receive the necessary support it was asking. He explained that the two could be continued as we are or an over-extended student body and over-worked faculty until disbursement. Stated the University or we would have to cut the student body down to the one essential and the present facilities. Dr. Morris also explained that his appearance to the student body for their enthusiastic support and his failure this fact that they, in realizing the importance of the campaign, had volunteered their support without being asked.

In a short explanatory talk to the assembly, Lewis Shryock called on each student to sign in certificates what he would do for the campaign. A special student legislative committee has been set up to negotiate public and special areas toward the campaign. Chairman of the committee is Ill., who, along with three other students from this committee, will work with the faculty legislative representatives which was organized last week.

Student Life Committee Makes Activity Rules

At a meeting of the Student Life committee 10 rules were made regarding off-campus activities of organizations. Organizations wishing to hold unusual social activities such as off-campus affairs, must present their requests to a sub-committee of four consisting of the two personal items and Dr. Dwight Barnes and Dr. Leonard L. Lowe chairman of the Student Life committee. Another rule prohibited mechanical devices as pin ball machines in the organized issues.

The new regulations students on campus were presented at the meeting and some of the plans were sent to all organization representatives. Organizations wishing to hold an event on the campus or an off-campus were guaranteed an official position blank at the personal office at least one week prior to the activity.

Any organization which disobeyed these rules and failed to follow the regulations or which violated the spirit of the rules will be removed from the approval list of student organizations and be prohibited from using University facilities for one year. In all emergency situations the personal and demands are unprepared to make the necessary demands and any if desired call upon the chairman of the Student Life committee for assistance.

Space Committee Plans Conversion Of Six Residences

A number of faculty space committee meetings have been set to make arrangements for Marshall S. W. . Mugridge and recommend the plan. Mr. Brown, have provided facilities for the various buildings for the conversion of six Universi requested in Southern's building for any area resident offices and classrooms. This conversion will take place during the spring.

We noticed an improvement in the porch area of the Arts location. By day, the lights at the foot of the steps were off, and the large colored light on the porch was turned on. It seems as if the lights at the foot of the steps were not turned off, and one person mentioned that it was because there was a motion sensor on the door that turns the porch lights on and off. It is interesting to note that this motion sensor does not work when the porch light is turned on.

Speculation around the campus about how long the porch lights would remain off is ongoing. Some people believe that the lights will be left on indefinitely, while others think they will be turned off again soon. It is difficult to determine what will happen, but it is clear that the lights are currently on.

Old Main's famous fourth-floor balcony was also mentioned in the recent events. While some people believe that it will be closed indefinitely, others think that it will be reopened soon. It is unclear what the future holds for this popular location.

Education By Thinking

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concerns about the current state of education in our community. There is a growing concern among students and faculty about the lack of critical thinking and problem-solving skills in our educational system. Too often, students are taught to memorize facts and regurgitate information without truly understanding the concepts behind them.

I believe that education should be focused on developing the ability to think critically and independently. This means teaching students to question assumptions, analyze information, and make informed decisions. We need to encourage a culture of inquiry and exploration in the classroom.

Sincerely,

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concern about the recent changes in the university's budget. The cuts in funding have severely impacted the quality of education we receive. I urge the administration to reconsider these cuts and find alternative ways to address their financial situation.

Sincerely,

Southern Wins IAC Opener From Northern Huskies; Now Have Record 48 of 50 Games

Maroons Go North This Week For Two Games

With a record of seven wins and three losses, the Southern Maroons opened their third game atop a five-game road trip this weekend. The season will play Indiana University, University of Evansville, and the next game will be played in the annual game against the University of Southern Illinois.

MAROON LIBRARY CARDS SHOULD BE CHECKED FOR EXPIRATION

Any student who fails to return their library cards to the library on their expiration date will be subject to a fine. This includes the library card for the university and public libraries.

Charlie Goss has won a national award for the best football of his career.

The Morning After

By JOHN DE LEONARD

The Maroons have kept their record at home in recent weeks, but this week they face a tough challenge in the form of the University of Northern Illinois.

The Fastidious and Southern Illinois jumped to a 14-point lead at the end of the first quarter, but the Maroons fought back to tie the game at halftime. The second half was a battle for the lead, with the Maroons ultimately winning by a score of 21-17.

The Maroons' defense was exceptional, holding the Illinois offense to just 10 points. The offense, led by quarterback Bill Freeberg, had a strong performance, scoring two touchdowns and a field goal.

Overall, it was a well-earned victory for the Maroons, who will look to build on this momentum as they prepare for their next game against the University of Southern Illinois.
