Players State Slate Comedy Today

The Southern Players will start off the winter term Universal Convocation Series with a comedy at 10 a.m. today in Shryock Auditorium. Randy Wheeler, Kendal Smith and Peggy Hendrix took their turn in the production of "A Private Ear" by Peter Shaffer.

This is the first time that the Southern Players have presented this particular play. Director of the play is Bill Parker and the scenic designer is Phil Hendrix. "A Private Ear" deals with the happenings of a shy young man who meets a girl at a concert and convinces her that she should come to his apartment.

He enlists the aid of a more knowledgeable friend to help him out with the girl. The result turns out to be something other than expected. Today's will be the only performance of this play.

Illegal Vehicles Subject to Fines

Unauthorized motor vehicles should have been off the campus and surrounding area by 11 a.m. Tuesday, the first day of classes, according to August LeMarchal, supervising motor vehicles. Students with unregistered cars on campus are subject to a $50 fine for the first two offenses and to revocation of vehicle privileges for the third offense.

Students wishing to register their vehicles may do so at the Parking Section building, 212 E. Pearl St.

Alumnus Attending East-West Center

Robert J. Barcovich, an SIU graduate from Summit, IL, is attending the East-West Center in Honolulu, Hawaii. Barcovich is currently a scholarship student studying for a master's degree in philosophy.

The East-West Center was founded in 1960 by the United States government as a school to carry out several programs to increase understanding among the peoples of Asia, the Pacific and the United States.

Students live in Center residences and attend classes at the University of Hawaii.

Teachers’ Strike Threatens Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Strikes by teachers in Chicago's elementary and high schools and junior colleges were threatened Wednesday by two unions, President Norman G. Swenson of the Cook County Teachers Union announced plans for strike of 650 instructors against eight junior colleges. Thursday morning—unless the union receives "substantial improvement" in working conditions.

He acknowledged that a strike would violate a Circuit Court injunction.

Just 1 1/2 hours earlier, President John E. Desmond of the Chicago Teachers Union told newsmen a new plan is developing in contract negotiations with the Chicago Board of Education. It could, he added, lead to a walkout of 25,000 teachers in public elementary and high schools. Swenson's announcement left the next step up to the Chicago Junior College Board. Swenson said his union wants:

A class load of 25 students. They now range from 30 to 35 in English composition, he said, and up to 40 or 50 for lectures.

A reduction in the course load from the current 15 hours to 12 a week.

A new academic calendar—the work year—from 10 months to 9.

Swenson, who told newsmen a conference or mediation is a secondary consideration, said he had been given a disappointing offer of a raise of $15 a month and an additional $25 hike in September.

Four Will Seek Council Position

At least five more Carbondale residents have announced their candidacies for City Council as names are being filled in April. Four of the five are still at-large members.

David H. Keene, president of Keene's United Van Lines, announced his intention to file for mayor jointly with Frank A. Kirk and Randall H. Nelson, who are candidates for city council.

Kenneth H. Miller, an employee of the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, is an independent candidate for mayor.

Several other candidates were said to be circulating petitions but could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

The primary election for city offices will be Feb. 28 and the general election April 11. If the councilor and a mayor will be elected.

Robert S. Henderson of Carbondale announced in November that he desired an organization herself, the Citizens of Carbondale for Progress will back incumbent D. Blaine Miller for mayor and incumbent councilmen A. E., Ramsey and Jack B. Magill for the council.

The group also went in support of Kitzmiller and Archie Jones for council positions.

On Grain Industry

Students who plan to do student teaching during the 1967-68 academic year must register with the Department of Agriculture, the Illinois Grain Industry holds.

Wills to Speak

On Grain Industry

Walter J. Wills, chairman of the Department of Agricultural Industries, will be the feature speaker at four meetings throughout Illinois that month dealing with the problems of grain transportation.

Wills is to discuss the problem now facing the industry and make some projections as to what the future holds.

Talks are jointly sponsored by the Illinois Department of Agriculture, the Illinois Grain and Feed Association, the Farm Bureau, and the Chambers of Illinois and the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Katherine Dunham’s Archives In Morris Library Collection

Professional archives of Katherine Dunham, internationally noted dancer and choreographer, have been presented to SIU Ralph E. McCoy, director of libraries, has announced.

Miss Dunham, who served as an artist-in-residence at Southern in 1964-65, directing the choreography for the opera “Faust” and conducting classes in dance, is gathering her records—both documentary and artifici— from her various residences, Joliet, New York, Paris, and Haiti, and depositing them here.

This collection includes correspondence, business and theatrical records, manuscripts, books, photographs, tapes, costumes, set and architectural objects, and mementos of the theater and various countries that she has visited,” McCoy said.

The materials are being organized and placed in the permanent collections of the University, according to the nature of the items, McCoy said. Correspondence, manuscripts, photographs, playbills and books will be handled by the Library; native drums, pottery and anthropological materials will be housed in the Museum; and the Department of Theater will receive the dance costumes and theatrical properties.

Katherine Dunham, a native of Chicago, gave her first major dance performance at the Chicago World’s Fair in 1933 and appeared the following year with the Chicago Opera Company. She spent a year in special field training for West Indies research at Northwestern University and in 1936-37 held a Julius Rosenwald Travel Fellowship for study and work in the West Indies.

She has danced in motion pictures, appeared with the San Francisco and Los Angeles symphony orchestras, supervised the City Theater Writer’s project on culture lesson in Chicago, has filled extensive engagements in Mexico, London and Paris, and has given performances throughout Europe.

Health Certificate Changes Made

A new health certificate will be used for travel abroad, according to a bulletin from the Illinois Department of Public Health.

Smallpox vaccinations performed after Jan. 1 must be recorded on the new certificate to be valid for international travel.

Travellers are advised to check their certificates to make sure that they have been issued one revised as of Sept., 1966.

A spokesman for the SIU Health Service said that it is not necessary that vaccinations received prior to the first of the year be recorded on the new certificates.

Correction

"Morgan" is now playing at the Varsity Theater.

Varisty Theater

Concert pianist Ruth Slenczynska will be presented in a guest recital here Sunday afternoon in Shryock Auditorium.

Miss Slenczynska is a professor in the music division at the Edwardsville Campus, and is fresh from a six-week world concert tour which took her to Iran, India, Singapore, Hong Kong, Formosa and the Philippines, and which included a private performance at the Malacanang Palace in Manila.

A student of Sergei Rachmaninoff and Arthur Schuman, Miss Slenczynska has made more than three thousand concert appearances in the major cities of Europe, Asia, Latin America and the United States and has more than 100 recordings to her credit.

Her program here will include compositions by Franz Liszt, Telemann, Debussy, Tchaikovsky, Chopin, Haydn and Alberto Ginastera. She will play the complete Book One of Debussy’s ‘‘ Preludes” and Ginastera’s ‘‘Dansas Argentinas.”

The recital is open to the public without charge.

Civil Rights Shows Signs Of Realization

The idea of putting 1,000, 1,500 white bicycles on the streets of Oxford for free test and prove its worth by the University Students Council.

Whether it is accepted as being something more than a test, it is to be submitted to the City Council's Traffic Committee by the Student Council, and the sub-committee's reaction to it.

There will, perhaps, be some points to which a little thought will have to be given, but this need be no real deterrent. Oxford has had a long time recognizing how useful it would be, as far as traffic in certain parts of the city was concerned.

The suggestion that this scheme might persuade people to "leave their cars at, say, Magdalen Bridge and cycle to work," would only for the provision at the same time as being enough to take their cars and a depot from which they could pick up a bicycle. A store of white macintoshes and leggings for women, perhaps, be located in Magdalen Quadrangle, together with some of the suggested service points for on-the-spot repairs.

Having got the bicycles in from the outskirts there remains the problem of getting them back again for the next batch of motorists, which is a question of the best places that are available for the many and varied ways they might get into the city to get back to their cars. To overcome this problem of wandering around the city looking for a loose white bicycle, a pool of the bicycles, perhaps, be kept at Carfax Station. "This is a multi-story cycle rack?"

But obviously care would have to be taken with everyone wanting to get back to the centre and, if the scheme is to be given a proper start, undergraduate students wanting to get quickly to the Bodleian Library, it will be no question of town and gown antagonism being aroused.

U. S. Smokers Set New Mark

Americans smoked a record number of cigarettes this year in the face of government health warnings that there are health hazards involved.

Reportedly, the Agriculture Department forecast a further rise in 1967. Consumption by U. S. smokers includes armed forces abroad, reports an increase of about 2.5 percent in purchases of the nation's 529 billion. Ten years ago consumption was 406.5 billion. The increase in this year's increase in cigarette use reflected in increase in the number of smokers, high levels of consumer income and heavy shipments to armed forces overseas.

Americans smoked about 3 percent fewer cigars, perhaps, smaller than usual since this year than last.

Strike of Chicago Teachers

Unethical Professional Move

"It is unbelievable," says a college teacher in a note to the Voice of the People, "that a teacher in a great Catholic university should consider himself above a day laborer or technician.

This comment was occasioned by publication of a statement by a De Paul university professor that teacher colleagues illegal strikes against higher salaries "reduced" teaching to day labor or a technician's job.

The point is not that professionals are better than organized laborers, but that the quality of professional work differs from work for wages.

Professionalism implies both a self-encouraging respect for certain exacting standards of performance and responsiveness to the service motive. The professional at work is conscious of his duty to those who serve as clergyman, doctor, teacher for example.

He performs difficult functions, to the best of his educated abilities, not so much because he is being paid enough to sustain him as because he must do so if he is to respect himself and be a credit to his profession. Any work participates to a considerable extent in the dignity of professional work when it is done with professional craftsmanship and a determination to exchange an honest day's work for a day's pay.

Most professional men need to make a living from their work. But the relationship between a professional and his work cannot be fully described in terms of money. At least part of a professional's performance exceeds what he has to do to get paid. There are some unethical acts that a genuine professional will not do, however much money he is offered.

The recent strike of teachers in Chicago junior colleges was unethical, as teachers especially are in a position to recognize. It was unethical not only because it was illegal, but also because it involved violating the striker's freely assumed obligations to his students, to the public authorities who employed them, and to the requirements of their profession.

It is not to say that professionals are "above" plumbers or bricklayers; some of the latter do no less demanding or more exacting work that the professionals have to do. But the professional is expected to do his work. But the relationship between a professional and his work cannot be fully described in terms of money. Oberlin Shows Concern Over Mundane Affairs

Oberlin College students will depart Saturday on a two-week rest from the rigors of trying to get along with the demands of faculty, administration and other administrative obstacles. Though well-earned, the vacation interrupts campus activity just when it was getting into full swing.

So vast is the range of student concern that the administration is well aware that they want the freedom of college life. The student body is constantly boggled. Yet lately we have been treating to evidence that students, even as we and they, are being betrayed by relatively normal concerns.

With the resignation of Cork Tarplee as editor of the Hi-O-Hi annual, it seems young Mr. Tarplee got tired of having to do all the work himself. But it is to be hoped that somebody else was willing to take over Tarplee's job so now less ambitious alternative to the yearbook is being suggested. (One is reminded of the Oberlin Chamber of Commerce situation over the past decade.)

Witness the flapover whether Graphic Services, the college's captive print shop, will print the Oberlin Monthly, a student magazine which has at least one very familiar four letter verb generation of unrepeatable unprintable, Murrow Schwin, director of the Graphic Services, faced with the practical problem of not offending the women who are the target of Graphic Services, sought revision of the objectionable material. This gave rise to the cry of censorship in some quarters, and the students complained that their right to free speech was being unjustly limited.

This summer, administrative officers as well as students who would have Graphic Services print the Monthly "as soon as possible" (which, to anyone familiar with the work load handled by Graphic Services, permits considerable leeway.)

Witness the intensified struggle for liberalized social regulations--"liberalized" in comparison with the social mores of the 1930's by which students were allowed to attend several dances, the students would add. Soon freshman and sophomore women will be permitted until 2 a.m. every Friday and Saturday and will have an electric eye punch-in system to get them back into their rooms. It is to be hoped that soon someone will launch a campaign to rid the campus of electric eyes.

Widespread concern for majority as well as minority groups evidenced in a recent letter to the Daily Egyptian editor: "The students sitting in the doorways of Finney Chapel with the expressed intention of preventing other students from attending the Student Draft Dinner. The Student Draft Dinner was a protest against the Student Draft Act. The text was deliberately interfering with the rights of other students to attend an event of a political nature. Of the press freedom to interfere with the freedom of other people to follow the dictates of their own conscience. Such freedom is really a form of coercion--the same students might as well have sat on the steps of the Administration to prevent Negroes from boarding. They would have been acting on the same principle of 'freedom'--and we still have sat on the steps of the Administration to prevent Negroes from boarding. They would have been acting on the same principle of 'freedom'--and we still have sat on the steps of the Administration to prevent Negroes from boarding. They would have been acting on the same principle of 'freedom'--and we still have sat on the steps of the Administration to prevent Negroes from boarding. They would have been acting on the same principle of 'freedom'--and we still have sat on the steps of the Administration.

10 weeks at home arguing with parents doesn't satisfy this new student interest in the mundane as well as the unique issues.
Governor Asks Overhaul Of Constitution, Top Offices

Kerner requested the lawmakers to let the people vote on separate constitutional amendments to make the state superintendent appontive and authorize yearly legislative sessions. The legislature now meets every other year.

"The complexities of government, particularly budgeting and the professionalism required of education in these sophisticated times require prompt action," he asserted.

Journalism Offices Move to T-26, T-27

Amid fresh paint fumes and workmen completing their job, the Department of Journalism is moving from its offices at Barracks H-10 to T-26 and T-27, next to the Daily Egyptian.

The department will occupy all of T-26 and a third of T-27. Telephone numbers at the new offices will remain the same.

The added space of the new buildings will allow the department additional office space for instructors. The move is expected to be completed within the next few days.

The SIU's chapter of the American Association of University Professors has passed seven resolutions concerning the role of student involvement in educational practices and disciplinary action. Resolutions were passed by a mail vote of the chapter. The last four measures were passed by more than a 10-1 margin, according to Don Rade, assistant professor of philosophy and head of the committee conducting the vote.

The first three resolutions concerned the role of student involvement in policy decisions regarding educational practices. It was noted that students are not now directly represented on the official decision-making bodies.

The first resolution stated that there should be at least one student on the University Council with full voting rights. The second called for student advisory representation on the Faculty Council but the student representative would not have voting rights. The third measure suggested that one or more students should be represented on the Board of Trustees. This also would be in an advisory capacity with no voting rights.

Objective of the last four resolutions was "To guarantee the recognition of Mu Phi Epsilon.

Missile Goes Wild, Soars Toward Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) - A 44-foot, 18,000-pound missile escaped from the Air Force in a test firing from Florida on Wednesday and soared over Cuba before smashing down in the ocean. Nobody professed to know for sure where it came down. The Pentagon said the surface-to-air missile, which had been conventional, was a target drone, was unarmored - meaning it had neither a nuclear nor a conventional warhead.

The proposal in effect a robot plane designed for target practice and carrying only a small explosive charge to blow off its small wings and bring it down in the event of just such an errant flight.

The Air Force tried, but it was unsuccessful in touch of this "destructive" capability by radar and radio.

The missile went aloft from the Air Force proving ground at Eglin Air Force Base at 10:00 a.m. EST, heading out over the Gulf of Mexico to be exploded by a device yet in a test. It failed to make a scheduled turn and soared at 25,000 feet toward Cuba.

At 11:21 a.m., precisely the moment the Pentagon figured the missile would have exploded, a Defense Department spokesman told newsmen of the errant flight.

The unarmored weapon, the spokesman said, went into an "unprogrammed course that would cause an impact at 11:21 a.m. about 100 miles south of the southwest coast of Cuba."

The Air Force plotted the impact point from radar tracking and fuel calculations.

The Pentagon obviously was making the news public as quickly as possible in an attempt to forestall any propaganda broadcast by Castro's government.

At midday there still was no word about the missil e's descent, but presumably it plummetted harmlessly into the ocean. The chances are remote of it ever being found.

However, if it hit land, it could very well turn up.

A spokesman revealed where the missile struck down, land or sea, would call on a dozen to hundreds of thousands of thousand-age Red Guards for support.

There were numerous reports of clashes between Red Guards and workers throughout China that had cost scores of lives.

Correspondents of the Tokyo papers Yomiuri and Saneki said wall posters reported Chiang Ching, Mao's wife, led the attack on Liu and the All-China Federation of Trade Unions at a rally Dec. 26.

"Liu may be state presi dent," the posters quoted her as saying, "but we must be on our guard against what kind of a president he is."

Then she denounced the federation of trade unions for following "a bourgeois reactionary line."

Chiang Ching addressed a meeting of the All-China Association of Red Workunions, which the next day took over the labor federation leadership, according to some Japanese press reports.

Chinese authorities said that the biggest theft in history was discovered .

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) - A truckload of vitally needed oxygen was delivered to the Youngstown Memorial Hospital on Wednesday despite efforts by pickets to block its passage.

One picket was arrested, and other pickets were continuing to try to bring in other supplies, despite a threat of strike action.

About 25 of the hospital's 200 employees - including nurses and maintenance workers - were picketing Tuesday for a day in a demand for a new contract.

Ruby Funeral Set Friday in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) - Jack Ruby, newly acquitted Friday after private funeral rites, will be buried Friday morning after a private funeral rites at the Church of St. Luke, 601 W. Jackson Blvd., and will be followed by a police officer's order not to block the path of the oxygen truck.

The liquid oxygen the truck delivered gave the hospital a week's supply for all rooms into which oxygen is piped.

A hospital spokesman said tanks of oxygen would have to be brought in for rooms in the older part of the hospital that are not so equipped.

Three of the 83 patients in the hospital's private hospital, in critical condition and need oxygen constantly, a premature baby also needs continuous oxygen and another baby that had an exchange transfusion requires intermittent oxygen.
Mansfield Predicts 'Society' Cutbacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted Wednesday that President Johnson will limit his requests to the new Congress largely to improvements and modifications of existing “Great Society” programs.

Mansfield, who conferred with Johnson by telephone this week, said in an interview he does not look for the President to make any sweeping new proposals in a State of the Union message expected to be delivered personally before Jan. 17.

“I expect the new session of Congress to be devoted primarily to the correction, modification and amendment of the laws the last Congress passed,” Mansfield said. “I don’t think there will be any sweeping new presidential proposals.

We should exercise oversight over the programs which have already been passed. We should work on extending the responsibility that is inherently ours to see that the laws are being carried out efficiently.”

Standing Committee Fight Foreseen in Illinois House

SPRINGFIELD, I11. (AP) — Illinois House Republicans and Democrats squared off Thursday for their first major showdown of the session over the issue of how many standing committees should be created.

Speaker Ralph Smith of Alton, Republican, said he intends to set up 20 committees, the same number that existed in the 1965 session.

Rep. John Tousley of Chicago, Democratic minority leader who served as speaker two years ago, said the number should be reduced from 20 to 10 in the interest of streamlining operations.

Such a reduction would be in line with recommendations of the bipartisan Katz Commission, headed by Rep. Harold Katz, D-Glenco, and a Philippine-born woman they seized more than six months ago. The guerrillas broadcast a statement that this was a new year’s present although guerrilla terrorism persisted.

U.S. and Vietnamese officials said Red terrorists killed 30 Vietnamese civilians, wounded 68 and kidnapped 44 in the week ending last Saturday.

The prisoners released by the Viet Cong were picked up by a Vietnamese militia patrol 40 miles northeast of Saigon. They were Ophella Gaca; Robert W. Mahonah, 41 of Bellport, N.Y.; and Thomas R. Scales, 44, of Matamoras, Pa. The two men, both employed by Pacific Architects & Engineers, an American company, were seized last May 27 by the Viet Cong on a road about 10 miles from their base at Vung Tau on the coast 40 miles southeast of Saigon. Mrs. Gaca and her husband, who worked for Air America, were captured by the guerrillas last June 4.

A U.S. spokesman said Mrs. Gaca’s husband died in the Viet Cong prison six days ago.

The three were being cared for in the dispensary of the command of U.S. military advisers in Xuan Loc.

On the diplomatic front, North Vietnam formally rejected Wednesday an offer by the United Nations to sponsor negotiations of the Hanoi regime with the United States and South Vietnam, both of which had accepted the offer.

Afield there were only a few skirmishes between Communist and allied forces Wednesday.

Navy pilots who cruised along the North Vietnamese coast Tuesday reported they destroyed or damaged 11 supply barges and junks, Air Force planes hit at oil depots and roads in North Vietnam.

Guam-based B-52s made two early morning raids in South Vietnam. One was on a suspected Communist troop concentration 32 miles northwest of Saigon and the other was near Long Son, on the central coast.

Supermarket Founder Dies in Fire

The founder of a supermarket chain that has outlets in three states died early Thursday morning in a fire that started in his kitchen.

G. Robert Goff, 73, president of Goff’s Supermarket, was killed in his home at 1201 W. Main St. in Springfield. The bodies of his wife, Roberta, 71, and their son, Thomas, who worked for Air America, were captured by the guerrillas last June 4.

Nearly 9,000 Adults In Non-Credit Study

Southern Illinois adults are returning to the classroom to improve their vocational prospects and general knowledge through evening courses offered by SIU.

Nearly 9,000 people have enrolled this year in non-credit courses offered by the University's Division of Technical and Adult Education, according to Dean E.J. Simon.

This is a vast increase over the fewer than 500 who participated when Southern began the adult evening program in 1950.

"More and more adults in the area are taking advantage of classes which help them in job advancement, preparing for new vocational fields, or add to their general educational background," Simon said.

Courses are set up and administered in communities throughout the southern portion of the state, with teachers drawn from schools in the locality. Most run one evening a week for 12 weeks, with a nominal charge for tuition and books.

The division conducted 515 classes in 60 communities, including those offered at the Carbondale and VIc campuses, according to Adult Education Supervisor Jeff Fee.

Courses have included advanced mathematics, psychology for supervisors, various office and business skills, oil painting, computer programming, languages, private pilot ground school, welding, soil conservation, architectural and machine drafting, swine production, tailoring, and blueprint reading.

Increasingly popular is a high school review course in preparation for General Educational Development test. This year, 1,212 people seeking their school equivalency certificates enrolled in these classes in 17 communities and the University campuses—nearly as many as the 655 taking the course last year.

The division has conducted, or cooperated with other divisions of the University and organizations in conducting 21 special seminars and short courses with a total enrollment of 1,414 people—up from 1,220 last year. These included police training, adult basic education workshop, economic and social rehabilitation of the disadvantaged, the Illinois Bankers School for junior bank executives, waterways carriers management seminar, and a hot-line maintenance school for electrical linemen.

In general, the division can set up a course in virtually any community in downstate Illinois in which at least 12 people want to enroll and for which there is a qualified teacher or leader.

Asian Talk Planned

Alex Reed, chairman of the Department of Animal Industries, will describe agricultural practices in Southeast Asia at the annual meeting of the Jefferson County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Teacher Recruiters Coming To Interview '67 Graduates

The search is on for teachers from the ranks of SIU's 1967 graduates, according to Herall C. Largent, assistant director of Placement Services in charge of secondary school placements.

About 85 school systems—Nov. 15 through February, March, and April, Largent said, but the large number of schools ready on the appointment roster indicates an unusually heavy demand for new teachers both in the elementary and the high schools of the country.

Graduating seniors and candidates for advanced degrees in education have been alerted to the need to register with Placement Services and to make appointments with interviewers from the school systems in which they are interested, Largent said.

Open House Planned By Dance Workshop

The Modern Dance Workshop will hold an open house from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday in the Women's Gym.

The meeting is open to anyone interested in modern dance.

Kelley's Big Star
Southern's Bearded Masculines Discuss Their Facial Foliage

By Jody Erwin

George E. Humphreys, Carbondale, a senior majoring in engineering, has had his latest beard since September. "I start one every September," he said, "so I can play Santa Claus at Christmas."

Humphreys' bearded students have many reasons for their facial foliage, but Humphreys says the main reason he grew his beard is because his wife likes it. "It is a matter of fact that his wife likes it," he says, "so I don't have trouble about it. She is his girlfriend who gives me a beard, probably because I have scars on my face."

Another member of Southern's bearded students, Gary J. Nose, an assistant professor in mathematics, had a beard as an undergraduate, although he does not have one now. "I got rid of it about a year ago," he says, "when I decided I should become respectable."

"When I was a student," he continued, "it didn't matter much. People don't care much about students anyway. They're second-class citizens."

Jacob M. Pescapoulous, a freshman majoring in Russian studies, also once had a beard, although he now only has a mustache. "Asking why he kept the moustache and not the full beard, he said, "When I had the beard, I was in the army and in the Republic of Congo in Africa. There weren't any in Tchad, because we don't have hair."

Since then he has had a beard most of the time, periodically shaving it off from time to time. "Peeves claims his beard is necessary to his work, because it "creates a certain environment or atmosphere which is conducive to my creativity, people's reactions add to this atmosphere too, which keeps me in a constant state of reevaluation, total and complete."

"In other words," he added, "I'm interested in what people will think, but certainly not worried."

Another member of Southern's teaching staff, Norman F. Robinson, who is an assistant professor in mathematics, had a beard as an employee of the Student Union. The Student Union of Park Districts is an organization dedicated to the growth of parks and recreation services throughout Illinois. Its membership comprises 235 parks and recreation departments in the state.

1620 West Main
Big Winner Is Not Impressions Pollsters

(By The Associated Press)

Louisville, which is winning games more rapidly than UCLA but impressing people less, gets two chances to gain ground on the Bruins this week in The Associated Press major college basketball poll. The Cardinals took their 11-0 record against Tulsa

Tuesday night, won the game, and then headed for a battle with North Texas State Thursday night. But, maybe, before trying to impress the voters they had better take a look at what happened to North Carolina. The Tar Heels, who finished third in the latest vote-counting behind top-ranked UCLA and runner-up Louisville, got the only first-place vote the Bruins didn't get from the 39 sports writers and sportscasters balloting in the poll.

Then they went out and lost their first game to 10 as Princeton handed them a 91-81 wallowing on their home court Monday night.

While second-ranked Louisville has two games scheduled, UCLA plays only once, against Washington State Saturday night. North Carolina gets two chances to get back up there, meeting Wake Forest Wednesday night and Duke Saturday night.

Duke May Regain 4 Starters

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Some of the nine Duke players coach Vic Bubas suspended Tuesday night for breaking training may play in the team's Saturday game against third-ranked North Carolina.

The nine players, including four starters on the varsity, were suspended. The coach was trying to prepare for Duke's next game—home against North Carolina—Saturday afternoon, Bubas said.

Bubas stood by his decision not to specify what training regulations were violated by the players. It was speculated that the infractions occurred last weekend, possibly New Year's Eve.

"It's going to depend on our meetings with the boys," he said.

Ask if any of the nine would be allowed to play in Duke's next game—at home against North Carolina—Saturday afternoon, Bubas said.

"Possibly," he replied.

Bubas stood by his decision not to specify what training regulations were violated by the players. It was speculated that the infractions occurred last weekend, possibly New Year's Eve.

Tournament Week to Start Monday Night With Bridge

Tournament Week competition will open Monday night with a round of bridge contests.

Tournament Week, Jan. 9-22, will feature nine days of competitive bridge, chess, billiards, table tennis and pinocchio. The events are sponsored by the Recreation Committee of the Activities Programming Board.

Events will be held in the Olympic Room or bowling alley of the University Center, except the table tennis and billiards for residents of Thompson Point, University Park and VTI. These residents will compete in their living areas.

Certificates will be awarded the first three places in each event. Winners will be given a partial paid trip to the regional tournaments at Purdue.

Applications for and rules governing each event are available at the Tournament Week Information table in the Olympic Room of the University Center.

Schedule of events for Tournament Week Monday, Jan. 9—Bridge, Olympic Room, 7 p.m.

Wednesday, Jan. 11—Chess, Olympic Room, 7 p.m.

Athletic facilities begin operation for free student play this weekend. The Arena will be open on Friday and on Sunday from 5-10:30 p.m. for free play.

Dressing facilities will not be available.

The swimming pool will be open for free swim on Friday, from 7-10:30 p.m., on Saturday and Sunday from 1-5 p.m.

The weight room will be open Monday through Friday from 1-3 p.m. and from 6-9 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from 1-3 to 5 p.m.

Will It Help?

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — After three consecutive days of televised college and professional football bowl games, this want ad appeared in the Nashville Tennessean:

"Husband and TV set, Cheap for quick sale."
The basketball Salukis schedule thus far this season has been one that could easily qualify some coaches for a trip up the river, but for Southern's Jack Hartman it's tough to be felt yet to come.

The Salukis have played four major college teams, three of which were nationally ranked. Southern lost all four at home and came off with impressive showings in each game.

The Salukis lost to undefeated St. Louis University, a nationally ranked college, last week in double overtime in a defeated Southern Mississippi; and Kentucky Wesleyan, the only team that stands between SIU and the top spot in the small college poll.

The caliber of the teams and the lack of time to prepare for each one are the two reasons why Hartman considers these two weeks (the toughest part of our schedule with Kansas State).

Hartman expressed "real pride" in the team's victory over Western Texas, a ranked team lost in double overtime in a defeated Southern Mississippi; and Kentucky Wesleyan, the only team that stands between SIU and the top spot in the small college poll.

"The way this was, of course, everyday staffing...the kids had to overcome him. But it was a time of strength advantages and they played the game well," said Hartman.

"I think I was surprised a bit by the victory, the way we by no means played out our heads. The kids can play with anybody. Of course it was the team's best game of the season," said Hartman.

Hartman felt that the team didn't play as good a game against Southern Methodist, but pointed out that this was the university's first game of the physical level. He felt it was significant that the Salukis scored 16 points more from the field than the Mustangs using the strong shooters on the SMU squad.

"We had a terrific job scoring and re-focusing on the court. Elaborating on this concern, "Our guard play has been inconsistent," said Southern Mississippi.

"It's been a good job, but it has a tendency to rush his shots, therefore his accuracy has suffered. This will work itself out in time and he'll be a fine scorer."

Hartman said that he felt Southern Mississippi has "done exceptionally well at times and he has the ability to be an outstanding scorer and rebounder."

He expected some concern over the guard play. Elaborating on this concern, "Our guard play has been inconsistent. It's been a good job, but it has a tendency to rush his shots, therefore his accuracy has suffered. This will work itself out in time and he'll be a fine scorer."

Grabs 'Most Valuable' Honor at Castro Valley

Deadrich Defeats All Opponents

Buck Deadrich, regular heavyweight on the Saluki wrestling team, was named the most valuable wrestler at the Oklahoma State Wrestling Tournament in Castro Valley, Calif.

Deadrich won all five of his matches in this tournament, four of them by pin. He was named the most valuable by a vote of the nine voters. A total of 100 wrestlers from all over the country were entered in the tournament.

Deadrich, the second string heavyweight at the start of the season, took over for injured Bob Rozelle. When the season began, Roop, out with an infected elbow, may not see action the remainder of the season because of his still tender elbow and Deadrich is the only member of the squad to remain undefeated.

The Saluki grapplers team finished second at the Oklahoma Invitational Tournament Dec. 17. They defeated Adams State, 24-13, but were defeated by the host Oklahoma State Cowboys, the defending NCAA champions, 28-10.

Coach Jim Wilkinson was well pleased with the outcome of his Salukis at Stillwater, especially the work of Larry Baron, Joe Domko and Allan Bulow.

Southern also competed in the Midwest Open in LaGrange Dec. 29 and finished fifth behind Michigan State, Iowa State, Michigan, and the Major Oak Wrestling Club. Domko finished third and Bulow finished fourth in a field described by Wilkinson as "tougher than in past years."

This weekend the Saluki matmen will travel to Miami of Ohio to wrestle in a quadrangular meet. The Salukis have been tabbed a slight favorite going into the meet, "Miami and Indiana State both have real tough teams and although we are the favorite it is going to be a real challenge," said Wilkinson. The Salukis made it through the rugged competition over the break without any injuries and Wilkinson received an added Christmas present when Sinclair Brown became eligible. Brown is a sophomore who should give the Salukis more depth in the middle weight divisions.

Buckhiunton Brown may wrestle in the quadrangular although he probably won't be ready. The Salukis will oppose the host Miami Redmen, the Indiana State Sycamores and Ashland College in this meet.

Intramural Officials To Meet Tonight

Intramural basketball officials will meet at 1 o'clock tonight in the Arena.

Super Bowl Sellout Question Prompts TV Blackout Issue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A super debate is developing over whether the Super Bowl football game, first clash between the champions of the American and National Football leagues, will be a super success.

Pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle Chung Tuesday to his prediction that the clash between the Green Bay Packers of the AFL and the Kansas City Chiefs would sell out the 63,000 seats in Memorial Coliseum on Jan. 15.

The stadium's general manager, Bill Nicholas, regarded as an expert in the art of game estimating, agreed with Rozelle.

There were others less optimistic, however, and there was no doubt that thousands of fans are tied over the television blackout in this vast metropolitan area.

There was also grumbling that choice seats would not be available for such patrons as the Los Angeles Rams regular customers.

Out-of-town and state applications for tickets undoubtedly have been heavy but lack of reaction to the ticket scale—$25, $15 and $9—has been anything but happy.

If a busy telephone switchboard is any indication, fans' interest has quickened in the past two days.

"We were flooded with calls all day Tuesday when we opened after the holidays and it's been the same today," Nicholas said. The Coliseum is the main base of ticket-selling operations.

"We sold some 26,000 tickets last week even before the fans knew which teams would be in the game," said Rozelle.

Identity of the opponents was not decided until last Sunday when Green Bay defeated the Dallas Cowboys and Kansas City routed Buffalo.

The 26,000 included options to buy for Ram fans. An additional 20,000 tickets are out on consignment to the 18 clubs in the two leagues and the commissioner's office.

"We firmly believe the game will be a sellout," Rozelle continued. "Green Bay is certainly well known here and you can't under-estimate the appeal. The Kansas City Chiefs have here with Mike Garrett.

He referred to the Chiefs' rookie halfback who dazzled fans when he played for Southern California's Trojans and earned All-America and Heisman Trophy honors as a senior in 1965.
