AGORA BANQUET
Time: Last Thursday Night;
Place, Roberts' Hotel

At 8 p.m. last Thursday evening the Agora Debating Club and their friends gathered at the Hotel Roberts to hold their annual banquet. The group first assembled in the reception room of the second story.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Clarence Sanford, whose business it was to introduce the toastmaster, August Meyers. In this introduction, the president told how the wise man originally came from the east, but have at present all drifted westward. Among those who are now in the west, he indicated that the Mr. Meyers is a member of the University of Chicago, and will serve as an efficient toastmaster, which he did beyond any question.

The program in the reception room consisted entirely of music. Geo. Crawshaw gave a vocal solo, "Just a Wearying for You," which was greatly appreciated by all who were music lovers and by those who weren't as well. The conclusion was made by moving him his violin. The music in particular instances. All who were present will not hesitate to testify as to the excellence of his rendition.

After these selections the program was directed by the toastmaster to march to the dining room where a splendid seven course dinner was awaited to exist no more.

Between courses, many excellent speakers were brought to the focus of attention. In fact, the Agora never before so fully realized how infinite its resources are. Among the resources are to be found Frank Watson, Glen Fishel, Rambon Sherritt, John Hunsaker, Coreen Walker and Claude Parsons. It is to be hoped that this fame will be more than just temporary.

The last speech of the evening was given by Miss Baldwin. Miss Baldwin brought out some of the characteristic traits of a good speaker. She indicated that personal appearance and a set of vocal chords does not make a speaker, but in their stead is needed some noble ideals, which one can bring before the world without apology or hesitation.

At this time the meeting was again turned over to the president and immediately adjourned. Among the remarks heard afterward, the banquet, was an expression of regret that the members will have to be able to be with us again next term.

U. High Enters Tournament at St. Louis
Director Rider Picks U. High for Washington U. Invitation Tourney
Letter Men Named

The University High School basketball team has accepted the invitation to enter the tournament at Washington University at St. Louis. Mr. Rider, who is director of athletics at Washington U., was present at the district basketball tournament at Murphy and extended invitations to four teams, that competed in that tournament. Among them was our University High. Although the U. Hi did not do so well in the tournament they were considered one of the best teams there. The tournament is to be held March 15, 16 and 17, and teams from all over Illinois and Missouri will compete.

Coach Solder has chosen nine men of this year's squad to give letters to. They are: Hickey, (Capt.), McFerrt, Renfro, Loy, Brimm, White, Crawshaw, Bridges and Birkm. There were other members of the squad who proved themselves good players but they did not play in enough games to get a letter.

Capt. Hickey and McFerrt as forwards constituted the big scoring machine. Capt. Hickey was fast and had a good eye for the baskets when shooting long shots, and McFerrt had a habit of getting down under the basket and dropping the ball in. Brimm at center played a good game and always did his part of the scoring. Renfro at forward guard always played a consistent, steady game and with the help of Loy, who played back guard, it was not very easy for an opposing man to get close to his goal. The other four men were often run in and always proved themselves worthy of their trust. Birkm. became ineligible and could not finish the season.

Coach Solder said that although the U. Hi did not have a successful season that he had material for a championship team but always played in hard luck. Every week something was wrong that prevented the team from showing its full strength.

SIGMA ALPHA PI GREETS THE S. I. N. U.

The new fraternity has been named Sigma Alpha Pi. This is the first Greek Letter fraternity on the campus of the Southern Illinois State University. After something once gets started it generally spreads and certainly it does if the first one is successful. Following this reasoning we expect to find several fraternity houses here within a few years.

New students of the fraternity not mentioned in the paper last week the L. Stein, Smith and Edward Blake.

AGGIES WIN STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

The Arkansas Aggies repeated their performance of last year and again won the state championship of Arkansas. Last year when they lost all of their names, this year they won. The trip is evidently good as a training trip. Our scores with them this year were 30-15 in our favor there and 21-17 here.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER SECRETARY TO BE HERE

Mr. Chester Hartlett, a traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions, will visit our school March 16-19.

There are only 16 traveling secretaries for all of the colleges, universities and other schools of higher learning in the United States. It is a great privilege to have Mr. Hartlett coming for two days.

He does not come to us as a lecturer but as a friend and helper, whose deepest desire is to help students to face up fairly and squarely to the world responsibilities. He has been able to accomplish this in a large degree in other schools and can do it here if we cooperate with him and give him a fair chance.

It has been not only my own experience but the experience of many students over the entire world that a talk with one of our Student Volunteer Secretaries has proven priceless.

GRADUATE MAKES SUCCESS AS COACH

We are glad to hear the success of Lynard Hancock, '22, as basketball coach at Oddyke, Illinois. Mr. Hancock's team is from only a three year high school placed third in the district tournament at Mt. Vernon, suffering defeat only at the hands of the winners in the semi-finals. One of the men from his team has been chosen as a member of the first all-star team for that district.

I think a lot of the women. I think they are the second best class of people on earth.—Claude Parsons.

Miss Sarah Mitchell is in the hospital at Memphis, Tenn., where she has recently undergone an operation.

Miss Margaret Shroeder, our wonderful pianist last year, was forced to remain at home with her mother and will have to be content with playing for her church group.

DO YOU CHOOSE YOUR OWN?

The following article was contributed by Miss Herron:

The readers of the EGYPTIAN have already been introduced to the Recreational Reading Shelf in Wheeler Library. A selection of ten good books recommended by the students on the library staff. In choosing these books, they are asked to consider four things: books that will appeal to various types and ages; books that have current local or national interest; books with attractive main up and books of different kinds, limiting the amount of pure fiction to two books. Suppose I make a typical selection from the newer books for an imaginary shelf.

First let us choose Stephen Graham’s Tramping With a Poet Through the Rockies. The poet in question is Vachel Lindsay of our own Spring field, Illinois, and the hike he took with the author was from St. Paul through Glacier park and the Canadian Rockies. This book has a triple appeal—these are the poems of Vachel Lindsay at the end of every chapter; and to those who like informal biographical sketches of the Spanish main which delight any boy from six to sixty.

Since the recent showing of the film version of Carl Sandburg’s—everyone will want to read the book. Dorer Miller, a clever novelist in which the hero sends the villain prison where many of us would like to leave her. But in deference to those who demand a happy ending, we shall have to hint that it comes a very different way.

Signs of spring in the flower beds turn our thoughts to flowers—ill the millinery shops—at least the thoughts of those who are femininely inclined. Sometimes after pricing those bouquets in the shops we would welcome such a book as Martin’s Male Own Hats. So it is added to our shelf.

The fact that the children’s librarians of America awarded Hendrick Van Loon the Newbery medal for his Story of Mankind as the greatest contribution to children’s literature during the year 1922 places him on our shelf. The author touches the important steps in the advance of civilization from prehistoric times to the present. He makes one feel the connection between events and progress in a way seldom brought out in school texts. The style is clarity, almost perfect at times, and in no way suggests the ponderous atmosphere of the usual universal history. It is profusely illustrated by Dr. Van Loon’s drawings, almost caricatures, which are in accordance with children’s own ideas of art. It is to be recommended especially to the junior high school age and to those of fairy frame Mr. Loon too soon.

Before the arrival of its distinguished author, we should all read Garfield’s Story of the Middle Border, or its sequel, Daughter of the Middle Border which we will add to our shelf. This is an autobiographical novel portraying real life in Wisconsin and Garfield’s own wife and mother as the principal characters. The Buckman says of it, “A book to be read leisurely and with much quiet delight.”

Especially for the newly chosen Y. M. and Y. W. callers, I would add, The Morning of Service by Harry Kate Plagid. From this book of daily readings in practical Christianity they should receive inspiration for their year’s work.

Before any election there is more or less interest in finding out how we are governed. This is told in Parson’s Land of Waltz Play. Of course, some is the “land of fair play” and is described in the light the war has revealed her. It is simply told in a way useful to foreigners as well as children.

Another sign of spring is the gold combusted polishing up the old clubs and practicing putting in the back yard. For the expert or the duffer we recommend Intimate Golf Talks by J. D. Dunn of the Los Angeles Country Club.

The last book on our shelf is the play, Lithium by the noted Hungarian dramatist, Franz North. The play itself was first produced in Budapest in 1900. But not until last year did it come to this country where it was an assured success. The theme is characterized as being unusual—“fantastic,” “bizarre,” “exotic,” but to tell you the story would spoil your reading.

One of the fascinating things about picking out books for certain people is that one you choose for seldom take those books. Like the lucky football player who reads the Padre Home Journal, we will probably find a little girl taking out the Book of Poets and similar books selecting The Story of Mankind.

THANKS TO S. I. N. U. STUDENTS AND FACULTY.

The student body and faculty certainly remember the Student Friendship Fund Campaign under the auspices of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. and the direction of Mr. A. A. Ebbers of the Chicago office. This campaign was a very successful one, as you see by comparing the $25,740 of this year to the $10,60 of last year. This was due only to the interest and responsibility the contributors felt toward the starving students of Europe.

The Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. wish to thank the faculty and students of this institution for their cooperation in making this contribution possible. The money has been sent to the New York office and we have the receipt from Mr. Ebbers and also this word of thanks:

Before we close our office for this central area, I want to express to the students and faculty of Southern Illinois Normal School the sincere thanks for their splendid co-operation with us in this great work of caring for the thousands of needy students and professors in Central Europe, Russia and the Near East. Reports continue to reach us of the tragic need and I hope the work we are doing for these unfortunate students and professors.

Very sincerely yours,

A. A. EBERSOLE
Director Central Area.

When the Band of the University of Illinois returned from the annual tour they left one of their members in the hospital at Aurora. Each one of the members of the band are now writing him a one page letter. These letters are to be pasted end to end, forming a long scroll which will be mailed to him. Bandmen point out that they hope in this way, Beaum, a musician will appreciate the letters coming to him just like music on the roll of a player piano.

T O P R E S E N T “ DADDY LONG LEGS”

Gladys Hickey, '21, who is teaching at Willimantic, is coaching the play “Daddy Long Legs” to be given there on the evening of March fifteenth. Train connections can be made for students who desire to attend.

As this is the play the Zetetic Society will give at their forty ninth annual spring entertainment. It is expected that several of the cast will attend.

Thus while the hours away.
The I. C. train was pulling out,
She sure was careless, very;
Her friends were just in time to shout:

Random Shots
I shot an arrow up into the air,
It started to fall, I knew not where.
I watched it mount up higher and higher.
Then it fell straight down—punctured a tire.
The lights flashed out—one night in the park,
And I grabbed a girl close by—in the dark;
The lights flashed on, and then I could see,
I was hugging a Flapper-aged fifty-three.
A fellow ruffled a motor car;
I bought three tickets, and won—by Gosh!
That flivver ate up my worldly goods,
Till I burnt it up, one night in the woods.
I sent a letter—reply to an ad
For a mail order wife; I wanted one bad.
Replies from all points came in by the dozen.
The one I fell for—my own chum's cousin.
So it seems to me, Life's a long, random shot.

You may not.

Y. W. C. A. COUNCIL MEETING

Did you have an immense time last Friday night? We did. Alice Barrow was so kind as to let us have the Barrow cabin for our outing and we in turn helped her to enjoy the moonlight, like, boats, etc. Miss Pierce, our field secretary was visiting us then, accompanied us on our adventure.

To begin—we were all to meet over at Anthony Hall after society. So we all gathered at the dorm and finally started. Stumble Inn was our first stopping place, where we supplied ourselves with chewing gum, jawbreakers and candy, then we proceeded, and at last arrived at the cabin where we were welcomed by two charming hostesses—Fern Bradley and Paulette Jansen, who were so kind as to go out to the cabin in the early evening and prepare things for our comfort.

We popped corn and went rowing and sang songs in the moonlight. In the wee, small hours of the morning we decided it was about time that we retire. But also when we started to our resting place we found that a box of salt had been emptied in the bed and upon further investigation we found shoes, rubber screen wire, yardsticks, fishing poles, books and fact everything for a night's repose. Such cruel treatment was rightly blamed on Paulette Jansen and Fern Bradley, but they say they are innocent and deny all charges. However, after some elapse of time quiet reigned and all was well.

Just as we were suddenly bombarded on all sides by our enemies, the other inmates of the cabin. After a short fight, the battle ended and peace reigned again. Under cover of darkness, some one stole three tin pans and three knives and hid them!

We had hardly closed our eyes when we were awakened by screams. Bell Foster was “seeing things” and to this day declares she saw a ghost. After, we had quitied her and were just beginning to doze when our “Big Ben” began alarming at two o’clock, in the morning. It is rather odd why some objects do such things but perhaps Mildred Byrars can enlighten us on the subject. During the remainder of the morning the others tried their art in various stunts, but at 5:30 we of the tin pan trio gave the others a most wonderful serenade which lacked greatly in harmony and melody.

After such a serenade no one could sleep so we arose. It required a lot of effort to bring Marie Waller and Alice Barrow back to earth from Sleepville and it is all quite a mystery why Gladys Bradley played the part of a lady of leisure, but Grace Engler can give the reasons.

Our two very capable hostesses prepared breakfast for us and thus displayed their art in cookery. The meal they fixed was “lais’ana” and helped greatly to satisfy the desires of our appetite. Afterwards we went rowing for awhile. By this time the new Y. W. cabinet had appeared on the scene and we went back to the cabin. We then had Council meeting in charge of Miss Pierce. Discussions were made of what the Y. W. really means and some work and problems were planned for the coming year. The Council meeting lasted an hour and a half after which luncheon was served by Mabel Stewart and Gladys Bradley. These young ladies are coming rapidly to the front in their profession as cooks. After luncheon we had a short conference meeting and then we, the members of the old cabinet, left and the new cabinet spent Saturday night at the cabin.

Saturday night, members of the new cabinet spent the night in the cabin. The evening was spent singing, soup playing games, the moon light was too much of a temptation to remain indoors and a delightful hour was spent rowing on the lake. After the outing all were ready to retire. Sunday morning an amusing breakfast was served and before leaving a short devotional service was conducted by Miss Pierce.

Miss Pierce’s visit here was on inspiration and we feel greatly profited by her being with us.

HANFORD ‘10 AWARDED PH. D. FROM HARVARD

A. Chester Hanford, ’10 has been awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy, the highest degree in an individual department of learning. More significant is the fact that the degree was conferred by Harvard University and was given at the mid-year award made by the governing board of the University.

Dr. Hanford earned this degree, given only for advanced academic work of high standard, by study in political science, giving particular attention to the field of municipal government. "The Reconstruction of State and Local Government by Constitutional Amendment" was the subject of his thesis.

Mr. Hanford was reared in Carbondale, was graduated here in 1910, from the University of Illinois in 1912, with a bachelor’s degree and in 1913 with his master’s degree. During much of his period of study at Harvard University he was also assistant professor. During the war he served in the navy and was commissioned ensign and later lieutenant.

Mr. Hanford is a brother of Juliet Hanford, ’23.

Miss Bowyer was out two days last week on account of illness.

Mr. Muckleroy addressed the Institute at Ellenville last week.

NOTES ON THE PROGRAM

It is a program especially strong in inspirational appeal and rich in professional value. No better program has ever been offered the teachers of Southern Illinois.

The literary celebrities, Hugh Walpole and Hamlin Garland, have been secured at great cost not primarily because of their literary fame. They are both successful speakers of long experience. Prof. William Lyon Phelps says: "Hugh Walpole is an interesting and accomplished public speaker, and would be well worth hearing if he had never published a line."

The most entertaining feature of the program will be the lecture-reading by Hamlin Garland, assisted by his daughter.

State Supt. Blair will be at his best in his address on "Education and World Peace." Dr. Wilson and Dr. Judd are among our most eminent educators; they are both popular and effective speakers.

Also who remember Prof. Yoder's chorus work of last year will be delighted with his place on this year's program. The celebrated Normal Orchestra will give two concerts during the meeting.

Twas the night before check day
And all through my jeans
I hunted in vain
For the price of some beans
Not a quarter was stirring.
Not even a fly wing
My kale was off duty
Milled-edges had quit,
Turn forward, turn forward,
O time in this flight,
Make it tomorrow
Just for tonight!

Mr. Wham spoke before the McComb County Institute at McComb on last Friday.

Mr. E. G. Lentz delivered an address to the Woman's Club at Benson in March.

HAVE YOU AN OVER-DUE BOOK?

Our store is really a public servant. We aim to render our customers the sort of service they have right and reason to expect. We always maintain complete assortments of merchandise that is in highest demand. We warrant the quality of the goods we sell, and are prepared to make good if anything bought here proves unsatisfactory.

New Spring goods are now coming in, forming displays that should be extremely interesting to every student.
