A SUCCESSFUL VENTURE

The intercollegiate series initiated by Nicholas Bonnell last Thursday night in Shryock auditorium brought to a close the 1932-33 academic year. The series just concluded presented, in addition to Mr. Bonnell’s lecture, performances to the advantages of the group and exhibition by the Olvera Street Marionette Company.

By all standards the innovation was a success. It brought to the campus entertainment of the highest type, educational entertainment of the highest order, and entertainment price showed a slight profit. The surplus fund will be held to the benefit of the group during the 1933-36 entertainment budget, if the project is renewed.

Certainly there should be another entertainment series proposed for present group plan which warrants a repetition. Furthermore, the entertainment series should be somewhat better coordinated with the annual and semi-annual social functions.

This year’s series is largely due to the two School Council committees, selective and financial, which are to be praised for their indispensable choice of features and for their efficient management of the necessary funds. The success is generally credited to the efforts of the committee members, especially the chairman.

THE NEW SYSTEM WAS MUCH BETTER

The new system of distributing class cards, introduced last autumn, by Robert Duns Fisher at the editorial suggestion of the Egyptian, proved on the whole highly satisfactory. It was found that the necessity of having four compact lines squared up a small department of the Shryock ticket operation in much leisurely fashion. Instruction could determine at any moment just how many students were enrolled in each class. In some cases students had the opportunity to purchase their cards immediately before the first class meeting, which eliminated the necessity of taking certain courses in working out majors or minors.

Elaborate as the system is, however, it is far from perfect. However, several students have suggested one amendment to the system which would be convenient if they weren't all slow by various time marks.

Greeks of F.E.R.A. Payroll

Examination of the F.E.R.A. payroll will surprisingly enlighten the conscious observer as to the extent of the grouch aid given to needy students. A disproportionately large number of members of Greek social organization are listed on the payroll, which accounts for a large social nature, that such membership must necessitate geuuine separately, and congestion would still be avoided without
