Levi Adams, founder, observer, and ex-baker of western and central problems, embroidered the literal sentence of private day industry to the crowd gathered in the St. Louis University football stadium to hear the speaker bring forth the American Association of Western Woman's organization.

In his address, "Murray the History of Religion," Dr. Adams accepted the American Woman's suffrage as a means to raise the woman's status and made the world a better place to live.

"The great men and women are alive today are full of good, powerful motives, and they will not be disappointed by our efforts.

"The time for the world's right is now. The Liberal American woman's suffrage as a means to raise the woman's status and make the world a better place to live.

"This is not the war of the world's right. This is not the war of the world's right. This is the war of the world's right. This is the war of the world's right. This is the war of the world's right.

Sports Slants

In a recent tournament given to the basketball team by the students and sponsors, the team members showed the sportsmanship and intrepidity that had been previously tried out in the games. Out of the dozens and only a very small group of players, a few were chosen for the decision-making task of the tournament. They had to pool their resources to come up with a solution to the problem at hand. At the same time, it was clear that the team members were at their best individually.

This year, the university is expected to organize a tournament to be held at the beginning of March. The team members are looking forward to the opportunity to showcase their skills and compete against other teams.
