PROPERTY STAFFS ARE APPOINTED IN PLAY PRODUCTION

PATTERTON AND NEWMAN TO HEAD COMMITTEES OF CLUBS

The Women's Athletic Association of the Swan and The Passing of the Third Floor Bells, the literary societies have selected property, to be of value which will work for, the Sociaite presentation, and Elizabeth Newman, Paul McRoy and Helen Brinker for the Sociaite play. Miss Patterson and Miss Newman are chairman of the committees.

Even though plans for money will be made by the members of the class in staghunt, the collection of properties will involve quite an amount of work. For the Sociaite play, The Passing of the Third Floor Bells, a boarding house in Bloomington, Lon- don, will be depicted. As the direction of the play is in the charge of the cast, is of the Early Victorian or home period. The Swan will require a much larger play. For it takes place in the "palatial room in the castle of Prince Diest in a mystic land."

Set for White Elephant Sale

Plans for the White Elephant sale to be held during chapel hour Tuesday afternoon, have been completed. The sale is a biennial benefit for the Student Loan Fund and Dean Wooley emphasizes the fact that articles offered for sale will be of value which greatly exceeds the starting bid of ten cents each.

The mercantile is to be auctioned this year consists not only of the old and unclaimed articles but also of goods made and contributed by the Home Economics department. The sale is to be conducted by student volunteers who are to be located until the sale opening but who direct buyers, are capable of handling entertainment and price for everyone.

The sale has been planned to permit the students of the school to buy at least one article in spite of the great peak of which it has been anticipated for many years. The last White Elephant col- lected the Student Loan Fund one hundred dollars, and it is hoped that this year students will recognize the need and respond. In the event of the sale, articles will be offered at prices according to their extent of toasting year's receipts by a good margin.

Dorothy Sims Will Head Debate Club During Next Year

Dorothy Sims, prominent member of the Illiniwek's debating society who was a member of the organization for the next year at a meeting held on May 1, at the apart- ment of Miss Julia Jonah, faculty, sponsor of the club. The new presi- dent was a member of the Illini- wek which is the Co-operative Girls in a debate earlier in the college year. In the Illinois Union high school last year, Miss Sims was a member of the debating team of her school.

The other new officers of the society include Geppa Smidaku, vice president and chairman of the program committee, and Lilian Kirch, secretary-treasurer. The election of officers took place after a dinner given to the club by Miss Jonah.

Although the election, the club con- cluded the last meeting of the year with a successful year. The Illini wek has been conducted both profitably and honorably.

class in Households Makes Soap as Project

As a class project, the members of the course, Households 207, made a soap last Monday morning and distributed it to the poor through the Un- ited Charities. Citizens of Carbon- ton were given the fat needed, and lye was furnished by the United Charities. If the donations of fat continue the class probably will repeat the project.

SCHOLARSHIP LOAN IS AWARDED TO CORNELIA YAGER

A. A. U. W. recognizes offic- ial staff of chapter

The A. A. U. W. selected Cornelia Yager, a junior of this school, to receive the scholarship loan fund for the year. The award was made at the annual May breakfast of that one. The loan is to be held until the annual May breakfast of 1944, at which time the money will be repaid in full.

There are eight teams, each one of which will be composed of one girl from every school present. The names of the escorts and escorts, Fitz- mitz, Sallenger, Aviatrix, Cowboys, In- dio, and in the final preparation of the event, the week of May 10 will be held.

The dedication of the bronze tablet to commemorate the parents of the World War dead will be held next Saturday, May 14. The tablets will be placed in the school auditorium at 8:00 o'clock, and the dedication ceremony will begin at 8:30. After the dedication, the tablets will be borne to the auditorium, where they will be placed in the school auditorium.

GIFT TO-commemorate the address given here

By TAFT

With the last week of college drawing near, the students are planning to give what they were their "Major Contribution," on May 21. They will dedicate a bronze tablet "in commemoration of the great World War dead presented by Ex- "President William Howard Taft at the dedication of the School Auditorium on April 14, 1918. The tablet for the school has already been in, and according to Dr. Lambert, senior class president, the seniors are the final preparatory work on the tablet. The tablet will be dedicated next Saturday, May 14, at 8:00 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The dedication of the bronze tablet will be held in the school auditorium, where it will be placed in the school auditorium. The dedication will be attended by the entire student body, the faculty, and the guests who will be present.

S. I. T. C. Students Attend Try-outs at Municipal Opera

Competing for positions in the chorus of the Municipal Opera Company, Stanley Lambert of the college chorus, and Phil May, of the high school, were in St. Louis last Friday. When the news for this week was received, the result of the try-out was not known, but another check was made to be sure.

Both Mr. Lambert and Mr. May are experienced vocalists. On the campus they have been affiliated with the MudWall Club and the Men's Glee Club. In the singing arts, All are Sew, they hold prominent roles.

The opera, to be presented on July 16, will be "The Student Prince," with the libretto by Luise Berthold, and the music by Richard Strauss. The opera will be presented on July 16, and will continue through the summer at the Municipal Opera House. Stanley Lambert and Phil May are expected to sing in the opera, which is being produced by the Municipal Opera Company.

The opera, located at Forest Park, consistently has a large audience, and seeks to attract new audiences. On July 16, the opera will be presented at the Municipal Opera House, and will continue through the summer.
HOYT LEMONS

Hoyt Lemons is running his first year for the Maroons, but has plenty of ability in the half mile and the 440 yard run. In the first meet of the season he sprung a surprise in winning the half mile at Cape Girardeau in near record time. He has also been running in the relays. Lemons attained the Eldorado high school before coming here. He is showing promise of becoming one of the best 800 men ever to run for the Carbondale Teachers.

Paul Pry's Ponderings

I often watch two little boys, sons of Mr. Jack Pry, respectively play with a wagon across the street from my home. One is surrounded with the mass of learning they acquire from playing with that wagon. The other does not ride or pull all the while. If nations could only play with that wagon across the street from my home!

Did you ever wonder why certain portions of the auditorium have iron railings on them and why there should no longer be a mystery. . Some people rest their swelling and aching heads on them and think they are getting some rest. Some day some and pretend the railings are just a stage scenery carrying them away from the drudgery of school.

Some people rate the privilege of being invited into the President's office or for a morning chat. By the way, do you know Pat Randy?

Louise Bootright lies sick with fond memories of a recent picnic. How does she manage to be sick with fond memories of it?

Broken lawn chairs, up-rooted hitching racks, smashed light globes, crushed and twisted lawn—all these could only play a role in the President's office, if ever invited into the President's office. It should no longer be a mystery. .

B.B. Moore finds it had to spend an evening with certain friends and enjoy a night's rest after such work.

Study Explains New Interest in Social Sciences

In view of the increasing popular interest now being taken in national and international problems, it may be interesting to note the findings of a study of students. It was the result of a study of student behavior by a group of sociologists who are interested in social science and economics.

The students themselves: are reporting the increasing interest in social science and political problems. At the same time there is an increasing awareness of the importance of good social and political behavior.

This realization, in turn, is reflected in the increasing demand, in this state and others, for workers who are interested in social science and socio-political behavior.

Our own school has shown some interest in the departments of political science and economics, even before this new interest became prominent. Because wine is more appropriate, we have entertained the hitherto lack of demand for high school teachers of civics and economics.

These new departments should be given a "minor" departmental status.

But the student interest in both departments has been increasing, and there is a surprising number of students who are interested in the departments of political science and economics.

"The record of economics is like wine," one student said, "and I expect that by the end of its first year as an independent department, more than four hundred students will have been enrolled in its classes.

"Illinois high schools will almost certainly adopt within a short time, its self-education policies. Teachers of civics and economics must have at least 15 hours work in their fields in order to teach these subjects.

In a questionnaire by the newspaper of Lawton State Normal School 130 students answered in the affirmative to the question, "Do you not think sociology is fun?" One of them replied, "I am not saying what you think with?"

Forty-two did not answer the question.

The Eugene, Oregon city council passed an ordinance at its last meeting establishing a zone extending for one half mile on the south side of the University of Oregon campus in which no beer, either in original package or on draught, may be sold.
SUPPORT THE SALE
The Student Loan Fund is, perhaps, the most unobtrusive and unflagging helpful institution of our college. When a student has been given a scholarship to be continued, it is the means for his continued stay in college, we must, in the very essence of propriety, remain quiet.
At the back of our passive acceptance of the helpful loan fund is a deep, and sincere gratitude. The response of the student body to the White Elephant Sale next Tuesday will prove that we are all paying for a loan fund which has never helped a deserving student.

ACTIVITY SANS FESTIVITY
As our feature editor observed in his column last week, "The May Fete is to be no more." Because of economic stringency, the women's Physical Education department is eliminating all unnecessary expense, particularly on the part of the students. With this policy we are sympathetic and in complete understanding.
But there is another absence of a spring festival. As it stands now, we have no out-of-door festivity during the year. Our campus in spring is unusually lovely, with possibilities of natural stage setting.
It is true that the May Fete as it was presented last month is to be debated. It was too "inclusive," and hence not so polished as it might have been. An exclusive affair, staged by students with some special talent in dancing and music, could easily become the most delightful event of the college year. If the Physical Education department does not revive the fete, another year some of our campus organizations in their attempt to justify their existence might undertake such a production.

OUR BEER EMBARRASSMENT
It is time for the subject of 3.2 per cent beer to be recognized, even in the most temperate and conservative circles, as one for frank and straight-forward discussion. The temper and mood of present educational methods will not allow a hinting, dodging, subtle treatment of so pertinent a subject as the recent modification of the Valzstead Act. If we have a serious, honest discussion of beer in the proper academic way? Beer has its economic importance; let us recognize that in economic study. There is undoubtedly a pertinency in a discussion of beer along with the waste of food, and the need of the student to be able to live under the financial allowance given him. If the Physical Education department does not revive the fete, another year some of our campus organizations in their attempt to justify their existence might undertake such a production.
A Socratic Reviews
Regular Meeting of Rival Society

On the invitation of the Zetetic president, George Bradley, Aubrey Land of the rival literary association, has written an account of last week's Zetetic meeting. This is the following account of the meeting as seen by A Socrat:

Last Wednesday the Zetetic Literary Society entertained a given party at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Keeler and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Van Slyke. The program for the evening centered around the theme: "Following the banquet." Miss Mary Crawford addressed the State Intellectual contest held at Macon, Illinois last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. In her address, Miss Florence E. Wells was in charge of the program.

Mr. R. E. F. Daner and Mr. W. D. Meehan were judges at an intercollegiate meet at Campbell Hill last Thursday. The following were judges in the Big Ten intercollegiate meet at Maro, Illinois last Saturday: Miss Frances Barbour, Dr. Verna Haas Peacock, Mrs. Julia Chastaine. The program was in charge of Dr. Thomas L. Kellogg.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Sloane entertained last Tuesday evening in their home, Miss Emma Bevier, Miss Martha Scott. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Shapiro, and Miss Inez Kraft and Miss Mary Van Trump at dinner last Friday.

New Policy Provides Two Presidents for Delta Sigma Group

In accordance with a new policy last inaugurated, Delta Sigma Epsilon will be headed by two presidents during the current year. The society's president is chosen by the assembly of the organization and a house president to serve as official hostess.

Dr. Helen D. Bailey, who has been installed as secretary, has been prominent in campus activities for some time. During the past year she has been president of the Sigma Delta Fraternity and as record secretary of the Delta Sigma Epsilon. In addition, she is a member of the Zetetic Literary Society and has appeared in many college dramatic presentations.

Delta Sigma Epsilon was chosen president of the local Delta Sigma Epsilon chapter for next year.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Last Saturday afternoon the Sigma Sigma Sigma had their annual party at Mrs. B. F. Smith's, 207 Lakeview. The program, a family affair, took place at the house of the sorority's president, Miss Edgar J. Amos, 205 Lakeview. The following girls spent the week end at home: Frances McRae, 200 Lakeview; Mildred O'Brien, 201 Lakeview; Kathleen Coffee, 202 Lakeview; Rizza Kimmell, 204 Lakeview.

Mary Elizabeth Beeson, pledge, received a distinctive honor last weekend. All of the stage sets made by the Alpha Phi Tau for the Zetetic play, "The Swan," was chosen to be used.

Hygeia Offers
Awards to Four S.I.T.C. Students

The four students whose articles on Health Teaching and Mental Health have been accepted by Hygeia will receive awards, Miss Florence Denney reports. These manuscripts will be published in the September edition of Hygeia, but until then it will not be known which papers have been chosen.

With these articles which the class submitted are five illustrations—three showing the physical development of children from the pre-school age, and two illustrating different phases of mental health. It is possible that these illustrations will be printed with the articles.

Landlady of Girls’ Home is Elected Township-Constable

By MARGARET HILL

“Do you believe that a woman can fill the functions of minister, ambassador, judge, king, or president, as well as a man?” asked Madame. Eight girls looked painfully blank.

“My aunt was a politician,” offered Laura.

“Oh, I just remembered,” interrupted. “My landlady is one of Carbondale township’s new capabilities.”

“A constable,” said Mabel of her billy-club and goiug about snuffing out intruders.

“Well, not exactly,” I answered. “You see, she only took office May 1st.”

This remarkable landlady is Miss Grace Perry, an ardent Democrat. She shouted and argued about Reese long for weeks before he was elected, and we Republicans scrupulously avoided her after his victory. When it was discovered that she was running for election, we sighed, thinking we'd have to go with a constable for a landlady. We had visions of her establishing a rule of autocratic severity. So far she hasn’t changed in her attitude toward our conduct, and I don’t suppose she will. Miss Perry has not only a forceful sort of person, short but nevertheless dignified. Iron gray hair and her neatness will be her strongest assets in commanding the respect accorded her by her office. She is an emphatic advocate of women’s active participation in politics. One can vastly avoid remarking that she would have made a suffragette after Emeline Pankhurst’s own heart. Miss Perry has been so successfully concerned with taking interest in political affairs, and insists that men will continue to hold the upper hand unless we assert ourselves. Perhaps the best result of having a constable at a landlady will be that they women at S. I. T. C. will be politico-concious.

I recall there was a day
When one could go to the Cafe.
And with one nickel buy.
But now he’d just as well be broke.
Because the Governor has spoken.
And said: “It takes a nickel and a token.”

Among the people I detest
This one stands out above the rest.
It’s in the library and crunches
Happily and calmly alone.
On a comfy bar or so
When I haven’t any cushion.
