Ad Hoc Body, Morris Meet;
5 Stay Away

Five student representatives from the Carbondale campus chose not to attend a meeting of the ad hoc committee for the study of student government, on Sunday, President Delcy W. Morris did.

With only eight of the 15 members attending, the committee passed the following resolution:

The ad hoc committee for the study of student government recommends to the campus student council for their consideration and recommendation the following:

"That in the May, 1965 elections 24 students from Carbondale (22 representatives and 2 at large) and 16 students from Edwardsville (14 representatives and 2 at large) be elected to be the SIU Student Council.

During its term of office the Student Council will determine its internal organizational structure through further study of the proposed working papers which have already been reviewed by the ad hoc committee, with any additional working paper it may undertake.

It's About Time

Spectators at RAM Rally Express Interest In Action Program for Variety of Reasons

By Fred Beyer

"It's about time something like this started," said one of the crowd of students gathered in front of Morriss Library as they heard leaders of the Rational Action Movement (RAM) discuss the purposes of the movement and present their students' "Bill of Rights."

"I came just to see who is behind the group and what it is for," said Terry L. McDonald as he explained his interest in the outdoor meeting.

Ron W. Hari said his interest in the movement was motivated by RAM's concern with fraternities and sororities at SIU.

"Almost every national fraternity," Hari said, "has petitioned to get on campus and Morris won't approve them. He seems to be waiting for a chance to kill them and doesn't realize their importance."

Don Hede, assistant professor of philosophy, said that he is "always interested in seeing students interested in items of concern in which they are grasping their own responsibility."

Hede added, as the meeting was going through a rock 'n' roll interlude, "It's a healthy show of interest in life."

Mary Ann Quick responded in more empathetic terms: "It's the greatest thing that ever happened at Southern Illinois University."

"A lot has been said about motorcycles, rocks and bad food in the University Center," concluded Gary Sans Souci, "but this is the first time that any one has been actively concerned with the personality of the student and his rights."

A graduate student who did not wish to be identified commented that "students don't have anything to say about the administration. . . . administration seems to be for only the perpetuation of faculty salaries."

Student's Body Found Near Cliff

Funeral services for James E. Ozment, 25, an SIU graduate student who was found dead in Carbondale on Friday afternoon, will be held at 2 p.m. today.

After services at the Thorn-Cemetery Home in Stonefort, the student's home town, burial will be in Salem Cemetery, near Salem.

Ozment apparently fell to his death from a 70-foot cliff in the state park. His body was found at the base of the cliff near the Makanda entrance to the park by a picker: "Mike Baggett of Carbondale, said about 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

The time of death was set by Jackson County Coroner Harry Flynn as 6 a.m. the preceding day.

No foul play was indicated in the death, Flynn said. An autopsy has been performed and the coroner is waiting for a report in the cause of death.

Ozment lived alone at 622 N. Almond St., Carbondale. A candidate for his doctorate in botany, he received his bachelor's degree in zoology in 1964 and a master's degree in botany in 1963, both at SIU.

He was the top student among those receiving bachelor's degrees in August, 1961.

He was a member of Phi Beta Sigma and Phi Delta Phi, honorary scholastic fraternities, and holder of a National Science Foundation Cooperative Fellowship which still had two years to run.

He was born Aug. 28, 1939, and was graduated from Carrier Mills Community High School in 1957, His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Ozment, live in Stonefort.

Crossword Clue: Statesman-like Document

Policy Restated:
Morris Available

The following statement was made to the Daily Egyptian Monday afternoon by President Delcy W. Morris:

"It has been my policy to make the Ad Hoc available to any student or group of students of the University who may have a problem or important concern which is not capable of being solved within the usual channels of campus governance.

This policy continues unchanged, and this statement which I have just seen is a statesman-like document.

Proposal Made At Campus Rally
By Frank Messerli

An invitation for an open forum on relations between the administration and members of the Rational Action Movement was made at a rally on the Morris Library lawn Monday.

The invitation was given by Bryan K. Schechmeister, a member of RAM, addressing the rally. Estimates of the size of the crowd ranged from 300 to 1,500.

Schechmeister said that it is impossible to know how the administration thinks of the proposals made by RAM.

The rally meeting marked the first big rally by the group, and he said the only way to inform students of the plans, purposes and responsibilities of RAM. The speakers also were soliciting student support by asking in other sign petitions backing RAM.

It was stressed throughout the meeting that the rally started at 10 a.m. on Saturday, that the group is trying only to start a riot or violent action.

According to Charles R. Normand, the SIU public relations council president and a speaker at the rally, he said "I am going to be another Berkley."

Those listening and observing, in the words of Doctor, included student members of RAM, other interested students and just curious passersby. Several members of the Daily Egyptian Staff Office were also present in the group.

Aside from the speakers, entertainment was provided for the rally by two mens, a rock and roll band, and John Straw, a member of RAM who wrote and sang "Giant Express Interest in Action Program for Variety of Reasons."

Names Corrected

The names of two of the 20 members of the Rational Action Movement's coordinating committee were misspelled in Saturday's Daily Egyptian.

Efforts had been made to get the correct spelling of each name, however, a member of the RAM committee refused to provide the correct spelling. As a result, the enrollment Center was unable to find the spelling of its rolls.

The two students are Earl (Rod) Rees and Michael Harty. Rees is a student, however, according to the enrollment Center, Harty is not, despite claims to the contrary by a RAM spokesman.

Another member of the coordinating committee, Alan Purvis, has withdrawn and been replaced by Alan C. Purvis, a senior, who is a member of the committee, is still a student. Due to a typographical error, he erroneously listed as a former.

Reviewer's Finding

'Trojan Women' Will Appeal
To More Than Greek Purists

White Euripides' play "The Trojan Women" is probably of greatest interest to students of early Greek drama, the Southern Players' performance of the work is generally well-enough done to make it enjoyable to the casual playner.

If nothing else, even the comedy-oriented playgoer is unlikely to grow bored in the course of the 80-minute, interminless production.

Primary mention should be to Joanna Hogan, who, cast as Hecuba, played far and away the most dominant role in the play. While she seemed just a bit unsure of herself at the outset, and spoke her early lines with more than a little accent.

While she seemed just a bit unsure of herself at the outset, and spoke her early
lines with more than a little accent, she soon moved into the role and seemed more to live it than play it—though with an occasional lapse into her early mannerisms. When she woke them up (male, at times, to be a little uncertain whether she was addressing her lines to the cast or the audience. Nonetheless, she did and better roles backward a difficult role.

It's a pity, however, that with the several references to her being old and gray, the makeup people didn't make it to lighten her dark hair. If they did it didn't show from the outside.

Richard Westlake, as Tal-thias, activity, coming across as well as something of a messenger of doom and not to a little unhappy with his task. He played his role with a depth and maturity which contributed greatly to the success of the play.

Kathy Holland, as Cassandra, also deserves praise, pulling genuine warmth and feeling into her portrayal, and evidencing, in her relatively brief time on stage, probably the brightest spots of brilliance of the presentation.

And we mustn't forget Yvonne Westbrooke as Helen.
She was quite a surprising chick—no wonder Mencelaus wanted to war to get her back.

Somehow, however, we had never thought of Helen as a blonde—but Miss Westbrooke combined her acting talent with her other obvious attributes in a real cool portrayal enhanced by what sounded like a distinctly southern (and we don't mean Southern Illinois) accent. If any of the audience had begun to doze, we're sure she woke them up (male, at least).

Maurie Ayllon, as Androm-ache, also did an outstanding job, putting a life and warmth into her role. We hope the Players consider her for bigger roles in the future.

Richard Barron, as Menelus, was anything but regal or Greek in the traditional sense.
If his portrayal of Helen's former better half was anywhere near accurate, it is little wonder she fled to Troy seeking something better.

Generally, with the exception of the deus ex machina opening, which was almost bad enough to cure a patient medicated in the their morning, "The Trojan Women," directed by Sherwin Abrams, was well done and well worth seeing when it returns to the Playhouse Tuesday.

ROTC Has a Role in Education

In reference to the letter entitled "Why Have ROTC at AU?" which appeared April 22, I would like to straighten out a few misconceptions.

If the true purpose of a university is education, tell me how a voluntary ROTC program does not fit into this purpose. It is a department of the University, just as Chemistry and English are. A student has the right to choose his field of education. Therefore, what right have you to refuse a field, such as ROTC, to an student who wishes to pursue it?

The writer of the letter wanted his institution which decrees education to be independent of his authority. Who is this authority? I would think it is the student, for the problem and their decision on a subordinate the same as the student of University or any business firm. In order to achieve any degree of efficiency, a line of authority is necessary. Try running an organization without it. There are certain procedures prescribed for efficiency and standardization, but, in case you don't know, the military does not have all the answers in a book.

The Air Force could not have made the scientific and technological advances that have been made by using preconceived and dogmatic answers.

In effect, the letter is saying that the job of educating future AF officers and leaders, who are willing to serve, should be left to someone else, and SIU should not serve the nation.

If you don't like ROTC on your campus, on to some other school. There are some people who would like to be in the program. As long as the people have the right to refuse this course of education to a student, I am going to follow it. Also, in case you have not heard, the ROTC Department is not a War Department.

Democratic Process in Action

By Roland Gill

Law, as a protective, corrective and regulatory factor in society is a medium of action. It is frightening. On the college campus lack of need is necessary, perhaps, in most areas. But there is a condition thriving in the Carbondale legal system which merits the idea that perhaps the arm of the law is a bit too long.

This condition lies in the practices of the tiny southeastern Illinois town of Stonefort, in which the writer of the letter, whose name is unknown, developed early at home, and Jim Ozment cultivated in his short life exploring for animals and plants.

It is hoped that the movement can remain a group dedicated to the resolution of the problem. As Charles Novak, Inter-Fraternity Council president, said, turning Carbondale into "another Berkeley."

Now all proposals have been presented and a sizable proportion of the SIU student body and faculty have expressed approval of the proposals by signing the RAM petition. A meeting should be arranged in the immediate future between RAM leaders and key administration members in an effort to arrive at the solution of the situation.

Eulogy for James E. Ozment

Jim's brilliance is attested by his scholastic achievement. He was the only student in his Carrier Mills High School graduating class in 1957 and in his second-year graduating class in 1961, where he majored in zoology and was a member of the basketball team. He received a master's degree in botany with a writing brilliant account of the plans which grow on limestone cliffs in Illinois. Jim was currently in his second year of doctoral study in plant taxonomy at SIU. He had received two graduate teaching fellowships and a National Science Foundation Fellowship. Felicita Ozment was holding a two-year NSF Cooperative Fellowship.

Jim Ozment traveled extensively in search of plants and animals. He was on col­lecting trips to Mexico each of the past three years to collect the plants for the University her­barium. On one of these trips he found a new snake species. He discovered scorpions for the first time in Illinois on the limestone bluffs along the Mississippi River. In the last five years he had found seven new kinds of flowering plants for Illinois. He was chief collector for the illustrated Flora of Illinois project and a committee to some of the manuscript. He authored one paper with Dr. Howard J. Stains, of the Zoology Department and three other students. Jim Ozment was in the midst of three other manuscripts and was working with Dr. W.C. Ashby of the Botany Department on the plants of the Everglades.

Because of his quiet, unassuming personality, Jim problems. He was not known on campus, but those who had the opportunity to get to know him found him intellectual, friendly, and with a sense of humor. Last weekend the world lost a close, personal friend.

Prof. Moulton
Chosen for Internship

Wilbur N. Moulton, associate professor of chemistry and assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, will serve as an intern in academic administration at Brown University at Providence, R.I., during the coming year under the auspices of the Ellis L. Phillips Foundation.

Jerome W. Jones, professor of history and coordinator of the liberal arts program at Winston-Salem State College, Winston-Salem, N.C., will serve internship at SU under the same program.

Jones and Moulton are two of 11 men and two women to be selected by high administrative officials of their universities to serve during the 1965-1966 academic year in academic administration at Brown University.

This is the fourth and final year of the program, which is sponsored by the Ellis L. Phillips Foundation of New York and the Edward W. Hazen Foundation of New Haven, Conn.

The institutions which will host the interns have been selected as providing the best opportunity for the individual intern to develop administrative skills and to serve as observers and participants in the operation of the highly skilled personnel and educational leaders in their fields.

The foundations pay a stipend equal to the salary the intern would have been receiving during the time of his appointment plus travel and other necessary expenses.

The award winners were selected from 161 persons nominated by high administrative officials of their particular institutions to serve during the 1965-1966 academic year.

Should Be on Large Scale, Director Says

Putting the community into the school and out of many of our social problems, the director of a large community education program told an SU audience.

W. Fred Totten, who heads the graduate training program in community education in Flint, Mich., spoke to educators and other interested persons in the Morris Library Auditorium Friday.

Totten advocated development of large-scale community education programs, using existing school facilities. Schools could be used during the evenings, and week­ends, and during vacations to educate adults, including those in their 70s under Totten's plan.

The program at Flint is used by people throughout the United States and from foreign countries as a model for study, observations and research in the field of community education.

"A community education movement which should be supported by colleges and universities is important," Totten said, "because it will help with such problems as poverty, school dropouts, illiteracy, mental health, and attitudes of bigotry, hatred, intolerance, and inertia.

"With an educated community we could cure most of these problems," he said, combined impact, and the school becomes the unity­ agent for the entire community.

Bonn Claims Right To Nuclear Arms

BONN, Germany (AP) — Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder asserted Monday that West Germany has a right to take part in nuclear deterrence against Soviet attack.

Last week Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said he and President Charles de Gaulle of France had agreed that West Germany should not have atomic arms.

So fast, plans of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have been to incorporate West Germany in a system of Atlantic nuclear defense — but not to let the Germans have their own weapons.

Paratroopers Arrive in Saigon, Boosting U.S. Forces to 36,000

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Sixty U.S. Army paratroopers from Ft. Bragg, N.C., 8,500 miles away from Saigon, arrived Monday night at the U.S. Army ground unit committed to the war, will boost American strength in South Viet Nam to about 36,000 men. They were ordered in from Okinawa.

Two battalions of infantry, a battalion of artillery and the equivalent of one battalion of support units are involved. U.S. officials said the paratroopers, like the 8,500 Marines on duty at the Da Nang airbase and the Hue Phu Bai area in the north, will be used to "increase security at key installations and press the war more effectively."

Klan Leader Attends Trial In Alabama

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan leader at the defense table, a young Alabamian was taken to a fair trial Monday in the slaying of a white woman freedom fighter.

Conviction carries a penalty of life imprisonment or death, assessed by the jury.

Mrs. Kluzo, 39, took part with 25,000 white and Negro civil rights demonstrators in a march that climaxed a highway battle for freedom Monday in the slaying of a white woman freedom fighter.

U.S. Asks Allies For Help in War

LONDON (AP) — The United States charged Monday the Vietnamese war is being escalated by the Communists from guerrilla fighting to head-on warfare.

With this accusation came an urgent plea from the Americans for more military help from allies in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization to enable hard pressed South Viet Nam to roll back "Northern Communist" invasion.

But France and Pakistan, having chosen to be "out" in the conflict, brushed aside the American call for help made by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

New Zealand's Defense Minister, Dean Eyre, said his government would study the American request carefully. Australia last week announced it was sending an infantry battalion to South Viet Nam.

The Kluzo case was discussed in pubic for the first time at the trial of a Ku Klux Klan leader.

U.S. Asks Allies For Help in War

LONDON (AP) — The United States charged Monday the Vietnamese war is being escalated by the Communists from guerrilla fighting to head-on warfare.

With this accusation came an urgent plea from the Americans for more military help from allies in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization to enable hard pressed South Viet Nam to roll back "Northern Communist" invasion.

But France and Pakistan, having chosen to be "out" in the conflict, brushed aside the American call for help made by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

New Zealand's Defense Minister, Dean Eyre, said his government would study the American request carefully. Australia last week announced it was sending an infantry battalion to South Viet Nam.

The Kluzo case was discussed in pubic for the first time at the trial of a Ku Klux Klan leader.

U.S. Troops Establish Corridor, Push Dominican Rebels to Sea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that the secretary of state has the power to bar U.S. citizens from going to Communist Cuba or other areas in peacetime as well as wartime.

The court ruled unanimously against the State Department, which had alleged that the constitutional rights of the secretary of state and citizen had been violated. The court's ruling was 6-3, with Justice William O. Douglas, joined by Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, in another dissent, quoted the late Pope John XXIII as saying, "the world is filled with Commie threats, and Communist regimes are on more than one continent. There are parts of the world spectrum, and if we are to know them and understand them, we must mingle with them."

The State Department has ruled the only persons who may go to Cuba are those whose travel might serve this country's "best interest — such as newsmen and businessmen with previously established dealings.

Rational Action Movement Outlines Students' Position

Here is a statement of student rights and responsibilities issued by RAM:

We students of the Carbondale Campus of Southern Illinois University believe that certain rights and their implicit responsibilities are necessary prerogatives in order for us to:

1. Define our clearly our position in the University community;
2. Land status and dignity to our existence in that community;
3. Participate fully and effectivaly as students in that community and,
4. Allow for a free and creative self-development as individuals in the larger community of man.

We believe these rights to include:

1. The right to define, establish, and operate a Student Government free from unilateral changes in the charter which defines its organization and competence;
2. The right to adequate procedural safeguards in all alleged violations of University rules and regulations, these safeguards being due process but not limited to (a) hearing by a board of peers, (b) a defined appellate system free from unilateral administrative interference, (c) freedom from prosecution by the University for actions which are subject to civil or criminal prosecution;
3. The right to establish our own publications and to conduct them free from censorship or of faculty or administrative determination of content or editorial policy. Prevention of violation of civil or criminal laws against libel, rewritten, or libelous speech, is on the left.
4. The right to freedom of expression, as individuals and organizations, in the classroom, in the University community, and in the larger community of man to be free to promote the causes we support by distributing literature, circulating petitions, picketing, or by taking any other peaceful action on or off the campus;
5. The right to establish what activity fee we shall pay and to have final authority in the administration and allocation of these fees.
6. The right to be informed in writing of all rights, regulations and responsibilities pertaining to freedom to be informed of any proposed changes therein prior to the time of their adoption.

The enumeration in this document of specific rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage other rights retained by the students.

Several humorous songs about current problems at SIU.

Memers of the RAM Policy Committee met at 3 p.m. Monday to discuss their next move. At least four members of the University faculty met and advised the committee. The names of the faculty members were not made public.

Those speaking at the rally included Novak; Pat Mcken, student body president; William Simon, sociology instructor; Barbara A. Trent, master of ceremonies; Shelton Sklare, student president.

Simon Addresses RAM Meeting, Praises Attempt to Gain Rights

By Robert Smith

Here are some quotes from speakers at the Rational Action Movement Rally held in front of Morris Library Monday morning.

William Simon, instructor in sociology: "The buildings you see are going up are not a sign of the University's growth; you gathered here this morning are the signs of its growth. When I came here two years ago I was given an idea that the students were provincial and that the University had to try to pry them loose, don't think it is true any longer. I think maybe the people who were earlier fighting the provincialism are now the provincials themselves."

"If the faculty would think," Simon continued, "they would take pride in the fact that they have developed in students a sense of competence to attempt to gain their rights."

Pat Mcken, student body president: "There has been a lot of open doors. I've been through a lot of open doors and there is not much use for us."

Citing a specific case which led to "inefficient student government," Micken pointed to the All-Stu committee "with which we had no choice in forming, I withdraw from the committee because I didn't want to help perpetuate it." Micken's statement was given to the Ad hoc committee "which we had no choice in forming, I withdraw from the committee because I didn't want to help perpetuate it."

Sherdon Sklare, a graduate student in sociology: "What we have is a consciousness of ourselves as responsible citizens. The administration should not be afraid of the universities which directly affect our lives."

"We must convey the administration that their policies against the ideas of a free, self-determining society."

Edwardsville's Student President Supports RAM

"From what I have heard and read of the Rational Action Movement and from my acquaintance with the leaders of the movement, it appears to me that RAM has good, well-informed leadership," Michael Hunt, president of the Edwardsville campus student body commented.

"Their aims and views are shared by student leaders at Edwardsville, and Edwards­ ville students have been expressing discontent with many of the same University policies as well.

"If RAM is the only way to get access to the campus and consideration for student opinion and desires, then RAM is welcome."

"I do feel that Vice President (Ralph W.) Ruffner and (Robert) W. M. MacVicar have gone out of their way to work with us, Pat (Micken) and I have been able to present our views and get con­ cern for the problems at our arrival," Hunt said.

"However, administrative problems such as the college age is not initiated rapidly, Student discontent is situations such as the final exam procedure and General Studies has reached critical stage."

"The immediate action which is strongly requested by students and faculty would have been honored long before," Hunt remarked.

SIU Has No Plans at Present To Limit Fall Registration

Applications for admission are running two months ahead of last year's rate, but there is no plan to close the doors to qualified students, says Leslie J. Chamberlin, director of admissions.

Chamberlin said that even though there is a big increase in applications, every effort is being made to process them quickly to notify applicants of their acceptance or rejection. He said that SIU entrance requirements are the same as they were in the past, successfully spread new student enrollment throughout the school year, while year-around scheduling of classes—including night and Saturday sessions—has enabled the university to meet demands of the heavy enrollment surge.

"We have no plans at this time to limit fall quarter registration," Chamberlin said, "except as it already is limited by our entrance requirements."

Under SIU's admissions policies, Illinois high school graduates in the lower third of their graduating classes and out-of-state students in the lower 40 per cent are not eligible for fall quarter admission. Chamberlin said applications for the summer quarter also are running far ahead of last year, but urged that students planning to enroll in the fall consider summer registration. In any event, he said, those planning to apply for admission who have not done so should file their applications immediately.

SIU's admissions procedures can be granted on the basis of seven semesters of high school work, he said, with final semester records to be supplied later.

Small Group Housing Complex Dates Back to 1952 Meeting

By Tina Nelson

(Fourth in a Series on Residence Areas)

Because of poor housing conditions for Southern's fraternities and sororities, the Panhellenic and Interfraternity councils of SIU met in 1952 with President Delyte W. Morris and L. Clark Davis, dean of student affairs, to discuss the possibility of University-owned housing for Greek letter organizations.

The result of this first meeting was the Small Group Housing complex, located west of campus.

Much planning went into the construction of Small Group Housing. A committee composed of the Office of Student Affairs and fraternity and sorority officers made specifications concerning the physical plans which the houses have today.

Dormitory, kitchen, and dining room plans were all proposed by this committee. Funds were then borrowed from the federal government and plans were laid for two phases of building, the first to be completed in 1958, the second in 1962.

The first groups to move into the area were the fall of 1959 were Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Chi. Delta Zeta and Delta Chi moved in during January, 1960, followed by Sigma Kappa, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Theta Xi.

In 1962 when the second stage of building was completed, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi, Alpha Phi Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau, and Sigma Tau Gamma moved into their houses in the complex. International House was also filled in 1962.

San Jose Sweeps Judo Meet; Southern Team Takes Second

The Judo National Championships were contested four years ago and since that time San Jose State College has completely dominated it. Saturday was no exception as the Little California college won its fourth straight championship by scoring 57 out of a possible 60 points. The only division that they lost was the 195 pound class which was won by SIU’s Ron Hoffman.

Hoffman’s finish helped Southern end as a strong second with 30 points, followed by Ohio State, Virginia Military Institute and the University of Puerto Rico with 13 points.

The Air Force Academy, University of Minnesota, Knox College, Texas Western University and Washington University rounded out the top 10.

The battle for the grand championship saw Hoffman finish third behind Yuzo Koga and Howard Fish both from San Jose.

Motohisa Suzuki, Roger Bloodworth, Jerry Frericks, and Jim Peterson were other scorers for Southern.

Suzuki was second in the 165 pound division while Bloodworth and Frericks were third in the 135 and heavyweight division respectively.

Peterson finished fourth in the 150 pound division.

4 Evansville Buffs Win in Autocross

A group of visiting sports car enthusiasts from Evansville, Ind., won first place in four of six classes in an autocross staged Sunday afternoon by the Grand Touring Auto Club of Carbondale. The event was held on the Murdock Shopping Center parking lot.

In addition to the Evansville victories, another first place went to a driver from East Alton. Only area entrant to win a first was Mrs. Frances Walker of Murphysboro, with the best time in the women’s class driving an MG Midget. A total of 37 drivers competed in the test of highspeed driving skill. It was the largest event ever held by the sports car club.

The club plans its next meeting on Thursday at 8 p.m. at Epps Motor Co., on Route 13, east of Carbondale. A rally is planned later this month.
Lumsden Out After Making Semifinal Bid

Coach Carl Sextro's top singles player, Lance Lumsden, advanced the farthest of any SIU tennis player in the Buccaneer Invitational Tennis Tournament, but it wasn't far enough to win.

Lumsden reached the quarterfinals Saturday at the tournament in Corpus Christi, Tex., but lost to the top-seeded player, Galaize Palazos, 6-1, 6-3.

Lumsden had previously defeated Don Fuller 6-1, 6-1, Ernie Rodriguez 6-2, 6-2 and teammate Jose Villarete 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, in opening matches.

Lumsden, only a sophomore, got as far as the third round by beating Mike Wiel in the first round and Billy McCandles in the second by identical 6-0, 6-1 scores.

Thad Ferguson, SIU's number two singles and No. 24 nationally, will be this weekend's only opening for a student meeting the charge of the research program.

Gabino Palafox will give a talk on the historical aspect of the reseach.

Lumsden's tournament, which was his low round of 34 on the course, was held at the Sacred Heart College.

In defeating the Aces' Dave Mead but winning over John Hartmann, John Phelps in the fifth match shot a 73 and defeated both Mike Hoffman of Evansville and St. Louis. This was the second round and Billy McCandles in the second by identical 6-0, 6-1 scores.

Sprenglemeyer lost to Woods Matthews 6-4, 13-15, 6-4, but then lost to George Ken 6-3, 7-5. Lumsden had previously defeated Gene Templeton 6-2, 6-0, but lost to the fourth-seeded player, Galazol Palazos, 6-1, 6-0.

Sprenglemeyer lost to Woods Matthews 6-4, 13-15, 6-0, but lost to John Phelps 7-5, 6-5.

The next match for the rackets men will be this weekend when they will compete in the varsity-freshmen-alumni tournament at the University tennis courts.

Chem Students Get Science Grant

Five SIU chemistry students have been selected to work with nationally recognized scientists under a program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Four of those selected will be working this summer, and will spend more than 40 hours a week on faculty-assigned laboratory projects.

The research, for which each will receive $1,500, will be of the same type expected of masters degree students.

Those selected are Joseph P. Hoppeche, Decatur; Mary A. Flpler and Marita H. Sprenglemeyer, Decatur; Peter P. Hamlik, Chicago, and Alice W. Jones, St. Louis.

Freshman Thomas H. Lumsden of Carbondale, will begin work in August.

Albert L. Cloakey, associate professor of chemistry, is in charge of the research participation program. He said two other openings are available for students meeting rigid qualifications.

Botany Students To Give Seminar

Charles Koroao, graduate student in the Department of Botany, will speak on the biological aspects of firelight at a botany seminar at 4 p.m., Wednesday, John M. Poblar, graduate student, will also give a talk on the importance of the mosaic virus crystalization.

Saluki Golfers Avenge Setback, Spill Aces;
Billikens Also Victims in Triangular Meet

Southern’s golf team got its revenge at the expense of Evansville and added the victory celebration by defeating St. Louis University Monday at St. Louis National Golf Course.

In defeating the Aces 101/2-41/2, and the Billikens, 12-3, the Salukis as a team got as far as the third round by beating Mike Wiel in the first round, 6-0. 6-1.

Sprenglemeyer brothers, Bill and Tom, shot the two low scores in the meet as they both came up with a one under par 71 for 18 holes.

Bill shot a one over par 72 for the first nine holes but it was his low round of 34 on the back nine that enabled him to defeat Evansville’s Darrell Jackson and St. Louis’ Joe Pearce.

Tom shot a 35 on the first nine and a 36 on the second nine, and defeated Rick Martin of Evansville and Rich Hummel of St. Louis.

In the first match John Krueger’s 74 tied him with Evansville’s Chris Sprenglemeyer, but it was good enough to defeat Dick Peace of St. Louis.

The second match found Lumsden with a 75 losses to the Aces’ Dave Mead but winning over John Hartmann, John Phelps in the fifth match shot a 73 and defeated both Mike Hoffman of Evansville and St. Louis. This was the second round and Billy McCandles in the second by identical 6-0, 6-1 scores.

Crippled Trackmen to Battle Powerful Lincoln U. Here

SIU’s depleted track squad began a two-week swing for another powerful foe Monday, while still feeling the sting of Saturday’s 101-8-2 to 31-0-2 point loss to powerful Kansas. The Salukis will be hosts to Lincoln University Saturday night in their second home meet of the season.

SIU meanwhile will have to try to rearrange forces this week after losing the services of high jumper Tom Ashman Saturday.

The junior from Murphysboro pulled a back muscle although he won one of the four events that the Salukis nabbed, the high jump. The injury is expected to keep Ashman out of action for another month. Another Saluki also became a big question mark, Middle-distance runner Gary Carr continued to be bothered by sore legs. The junior from Mt. Vernon, Ill., won the 440-yard dash but was edged out in a photo-finish, as he anchored the Salukis’ mile relay team.

Kansas won the event although both teams were checked in 3:16.1. In the relay Robin Covrynt was timed in 49.5, Bill Cornell in 50.1, Jerry Ferchard in 50.9 and Carr in 47.6.

Cornell turned in the best performance for the Salukis with a 4:09.9 mile in his first try at the distance, outdoors this season. Considering the strong wind, the effort was equiv-a lent to about a 4:04, according to coach Lew Hartung.

Hardier Herb Walker also looked good. The senior from Springfield, who was sidelined most of the indoor season with a thumb injury, won a 300-yard hurdles with a 39.5 despite running against a strong wind down the straightaway.

Ross Franklin turned in one of his best performances in the triple jump with a leap of 23 feet 43/4 inches and in the triple jump with a 46-10 1/2 leap. Tomhurnas set the other standard with a javelin throw of 225 feet, 81/4 inches.

SIU’s baseball Salukis came roaring back for the third time in a week Monday afternoon to notch their 10th victory of the season, an 11-3 conquest of Arkansas State College.

The Salukis exploded for seven runs in the seventh inning to break a 3-3 pitchers’ duel and send the Indians home with their third loss on a four-game tour.

Washington University defeated Arkansas State in a single game over the weekend, the Indians split with the St. Louis University. The Salukis had won their only encounter against Southeast Missouri State 13-8 Friday.

Indian righthander Bill Perkins held the Salukis pretty much in check until the seventh, although the Salukis picked up a pair of runs in the first on a triple by Kent Collins and a sacrifice by Al Peludat, threatened in the third, and got one in the sixth.

But everything broke loose in the beginning as the Salukis ripped three Arkansas pitchers for five hits. Consecutive singles by Gene Vincent, Bob Bernstein, and hot-hitting Al Peludat were the big blows along with a two-run single by catcher Bill Merrill.

Salukis’ ace John Horz went the route to win his fifth game in six starts. The righthander, pitching with his parents in the stands, got stronger as he progressed. He didn’t allow a hit after the fifth and scattered only four all afternoon.

Peludat, Collins and Merrill provided the artillery, collecting 10 of the Salukis’ 13 hits, with Peludat leading the way with two triples, a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly.

Joe Beachell, second in the 430- yard dash but was edged out through he won one of the four
