S. I. N. U. 12---CAPE 7

The Big Home-Coming is now history. It has come and gone, and the predictions of the optimist have been fulfilled, for the Home-Coming of 1922 was as big as the most urgent Boosters had hoped for. The students had done their bit, and made interesting preparations, and then all they could was to sit back and see the result. On Thursday afternoon a tense atmosphere hung about the campus. What would be the outcome? The few arrived on Thursday night. But Friday, all day, they came in droves, those who could not get away. Friday was sometimes during the night and early morning. A group of faculty, yeas, the whole town knew that we at 7 or 14 or 38 were again back to visit us.

The Home-Coming of '23 has passed into S. I. N. U. history as a mark that future school years will have to some to keep step with. The pace has been set. Home-Coming now means more than a colorless word. Those who were here to enjoy it know what it means. It is an event they will not soon forget.

THE HOME COMING CHAPEL

The Home Coming chapel although short was of interest to all. Alvin Potas, president of the Student Council, was in charge. Music was furnished by the Band and mixed chorus. This was the initial appearance of the chorus. The work that it and its instructor, Mrs. Halls, has done could readily be seen.

Several of the former students were back and played in the band.

ANTHONY HALL WELCOMES HOMECOMERS

If you were looking for familiar faces of S. I. N. U. students of this year or former years you were very apt to have found them at Anthony Hall. An informal tea took place there. Friday afternoon and early evening. Anthony Hall again entertained an Alumni breakfast. Every graduate, living in Carbondale or out of town, was invited and urged to be present. Breakfast was served from 8 to 8:30 and was free to all alumni.

Anthony Hall was anxious to make her part of Home-Coming a success and I believe everyone was at either the tea or the breakfast can assure you that they enjoyed the hospitality shown by Anthony Hall.

FREE MOTION PICTURE SHOW

A free motion picture show was held Friday afternoon at 3:30 in the Burma theatre. This was under the auspices of the Peanuts Department of the school.

CLASS CONTESTS

The class contest on the campus green Friday afternoon brought out one of the most interesting crowds and some of the most spectacular features of the Home-Coming. The contests were in the nature of organized class fights. The contest was won by the Senior class. It was assisted by Ralph Warren, the U. I. Hi Freshmen deserve mention for the pep that they showed.

Rooster Fight

The two deck Rooster Fights caused many comments and some slight injuries. Most of these were to the losing sides however. The Normal Junior and the University High Freshmen were the winners in the contest.

Tug of War

The Tug of War was perhaps the most interesting of the different contests.

STRUT AND FRET

Talking about getting down to work, the Strut and Fret were informed about a week ago that they were to take charge of Friday night's program. Miss Trevillion lifted her eyebrows, meditated a minute, and said, "You know our past record? Right then and there the Strut and Fret go busy. Surely they have meant work. It has meant giving up a few pleasures but the benefits have certainly surpassed little things like that.

The Strut and Fret did not get started as early this year as the Society would have liked, but now that it has, "Just watch us."

It is rumored that there certainly is good talent in the Society and the director of the "Follies" might have a personal interview with some members.

Anyone that is interested in Dramatic Art of any kind, please see any member of the Strut and Fret or Miss Trevillion.

S. O. P. H. CLUB INITIATION

It was noticed one day last week that several girls about the campus and in the class rooms were carelessly dressed. It seemed that by dressing these girls had gotten their middles on the wrong side in front. But, this was part of an initiation and now these girls are loyal members of the S. O. P. H. Club. The initiation was finished up right that night. Every girl entered into the room with good spirit, and even though it was hard to carry a large bag, a torch and hold a rope blindfolded, it was lots of fun after all. They all tried the fire exercises and some girls enjoyed them so much they made the second spirit shows. After the fun the Club enjoyed a plenty amount of Strut fun.

Y. W. C. A.

The candle-light service which was postponed last week will be held Tuesday afternoon. This week is the Y. W. week of prayer and in recognition of this there will be a short program every afternoon from thirty to forty o'clock. The discussion each day will be given by a member of the Y. W. and the following is the program for the week:

Monday—World Spiritual Revival—Ethel Clezzen
Tuesday—Africa—Marie Walter
Wednesday—The Americas—Marie Walter
Thursday—Europe—Grace Cranston
Friday—Student Christian Associations of the World—Ethel Parr

All members are expected to attend these meetings.

Mrs. Pryor Wilson visited the school a few days last week. She is coming. Mrs. Wilson, as Miss Wilson, was a member of the faculty up to a few years ago.

CAPE BRINGS 300 ROOTERS

Cape lived up to expectations and arrived here three hundred support. This included their twenty piece band.

Here is how they came. Maybe it will serve as a suggestion to the people of Carbondale. All cars furnished by citizens of the town. The college truck came along and brought the noon and evening meals, the cars stopping just out of town and the visitors partaking thereof. The only expense the students were out was the price of admission to the game.

The supporters of Cape on one side and Carbondale on the other with all the pep and color of each at the highest, the scene was one which the Old Normal has never before witnessed. Here's to better cooperation between the two schools.

Dear Ransom:

Just a note to congratulate you on your paper. This week's copy which I received this morning is in my opinion, the best number you have put out and as good as any I have ever seen put out. Perhaps I enjoyed it especially because of the Home-Coming plans and program in it as I am looking forward to that particular week with a great deal of expectation.

You are right in asking for help from the student body in getting the paper out. Last year after I had tried editing the paper for a week for the Arg Club I realized that every week I would hand in something for the paper even if it was nothing more than a joke on myself. Of course, I did not always live up to my high Mr. Saylor tells us how the American dramatic spirit is influenced by the old world.

An unusual feature of the October 30th New Republic is the American College supplement containing articles by such educators as President McKiepohn of Amberst, Professor Stuart P. Sherman of Illinois and President Burton of Michigan.

Among the magazines

Are the students and faculty members of this school getting acquainted with the magazines in Wheeler Library? One hundred and thirty-five magazines and seven newspapers are received regularly in the library and are to be found in the north reading room.

In the current issues we find an unusual number of interesting articles. What do you know of the varied and interesting duties of the United States consuls in foreign countries? An article in the October Pan-American Union by the Director of the consular service of the United States explains the functions of our consuls. After reading this article you can readily see the importance and necessity of these government officers.

The November National Geographic contains a fascinating article called "Adventuring down the west coast of Mexico." It is illustrated with forty-five actual photographs.

E. Newton Harvey in the October Scribner's magazine discusses in the delight of the scientifically inclined how the glow worm glows. His article is called "Cone Light."

The theatre of tomorrow is the theme of an interesting discussion in the October Theatre Arts Magazine.

The supports of Cape on one side and Carbondale on the other with all the pep and color of each at the highest, the scene was one which the Old Normal has never before witnessed. Here's to better cooperation between the two schools.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

Some years ago, it was said that the world had but two kind of men, workers and shirkers. That they were divided into constructors and destructors. At the present time we call them boosters and knockers. In this school there are a few things that boosters do and others that are done by knokers. "By their deeds ye may know them." Who are they that praise the school, that applaud the orchestra, that cheer the team? There are persons in the school that sing in chapel, that subscribe to the newspaper, that throw waste paper in the refuse cans or the waste paper baskets, that are quiet about the buildings during the study hours, that do everything they can to make the school the best place in the world for getting an education, and that speak a good word for the school, that applaud the orchestra, and cheer the team? Are you a knoker? Are you a booster? Who are they that do and others that are done? If you want to feel at home drink and eat at the PALACE CAFE.

The Home-Coming Dance

We're they? Isn't it strange how easily some girls may be scared? Last Wednesday night two boys appeared below a window of Anthony Hall and sang softly, "Believe me If all those endearing young charms." Claudine Coulter ran to the door and called to a girl in the hall, "Come here quick, there is the funniest noise just outside my window." The neighbor girl rushed into the room, jerked down the window blind, and the two girls stood, staring breathlessly at each other until the song ended. It didn't occur to either of them that perhaps the boys were serenading the wrong girl.

The Parade

The parade formed at the New Hundley Hotel, marched through the business district and out to the football field. The parade took on the spirit of a festival, scores were dressed in the spirit of gaiety.

Since that time he has played on the following teams: Navy, University of Illinois, Indiana, and this year he is with the Chicago Bears.

Last year Smith had charge of our spring football practice.

Whatever the style, it has the extra width through bust and hip, the graceful neckline sloping to the waist, the fitted skirt that always stays closed.
