Tenney Explains Reasons For Not Observing Holiday

Because it is necessary for the University to be in session 180 days of the school year, Southern was not able to observe Armistice Day by dismissing classes today, stated Dr. Charles D. Tenney, administrative assistant to the president.

Dr. Tenney went on to explain that there are 11 legal holidays in the state, six of which are University holidays. Only six of the 11 can be observed because of the required number of days in the school year. If each holiday were observed it would be necessary to add an extra week to the school year.

Although part of the physical plant employees were dismissed for today, because they are under State Code regulations or other Department, administrative and other Department offices are open.

Marberry Completes Series of Lectures

On Thursday, Nov. 4, William Marberry, assistant professor of botany, completed the last of a series of two lectures on soil gardening. Intended for the benefit of home owners in Southern Illinois, the lectures that were given in the Old Science building were pointed toward planning and planting of flower gardens in new places and the renovating of their old places.

Interested groups from nearby towns of Murphysboro, Herrin, Marsh, Benton, Anna, and Carbondale, attended and formed most of the group that attended a series of three lectures given by Mr. Marberry last year.

Make Cuttings
Mr. Marberry demonstrated how to make fall cuttings and then turned the lecture into a workshop and supervised the audience as they made cuttings. Material from ten different kinds of plants were used and each member of the audience was given cuttings to take home. Some of the cuttings were yellow Rambler rose, Evergreen Barbary, Winter Blooming Hongkongcree, Showy Golden Bell and other plants. Various members of the audience brought cuttings from their own gardens and exchanged with others.

In the first lecture given the week before, Dr. Marberry stressed the fact that the cuttings that fall seeding is far superior to spring seeding. He marked the difference with several exhibits of one and two year old seedlings from fall and spring planted lawns. He concluded by showing pictures of some of the beautiful lawns in the eastern states.

The lectures were sponsored by the University Housing office, Mrs. Mabel Pulliam, director, with the cooperation of the botany department.

Fingerprints Play Great Part As Means of Identification

Thousands of years ago the citizens of ancient China certified the authenticity of a document with the impression of a finger. Other and more recent groups have recognized the possibilities in the use of fingerprints for identification, but it has remained for twentieth century man to begin the utilization of fingerprints on a full and scientific scale.

Vets and Civilians

The noncriminal file of the FBI contains the fingerprints of members and veterans of the armed forces, government employees, persons who were fingerprinted while applying for jobs in important national defense plants and persons who voluntarily have their fingerprints recorded as a permanent means of identification.

The Morning After

by John DeLeonardo

It's getting so nowadays that basketball season starts in September since that's the time to start worrying what a coach is going to end up with after football takes the toll of injuries. We saw Coach Lynn Holder the other day and it seemed rather apparent he is minus a bit more hair than the last time. It isn't a joking matter, however, from any standpoint. Losing two key players on a football team that are just as valuable to the basketball team can ruin a whole winter's season. We shake our heads in wonder at the odds of two players getting hurt the same way, and shield our collective heads from what the perscriptions may result in basketball.

We've knocked this theory of ours back and forth about the lack of pep - at Southern - sports - problem, but until now, haven't said much about it. It's already too late for football, but with basketball creeping up how about having two organized groups on the campus attack one game en masse? It goes like this: pay we play Indiana on Tuesday. Have a schedule for the whole season on home games, that way it would be evenly distributed throughout the year. Let the Tri Sigs, say, and the Chi Delt go to the Tuesday night game in a body and sit in a body, and really make a lot of noise. Then if we have a home game on Thursday, have the Delta Sigs and the Delta Chi go in a

Maroons Limp To Charleston Saturday

The injury-riddled Southern Illinois Maroons will close the curtain on the 1948 season when they journey to Charleston this weekend for a tilt with the conference leaders, the Eastern State Panthers. Gus (Abe) Martin can well be glad that this one will be the final and no more certain calls (Cora Bowl bids) will be expected.

If Abe lost any more of his key men through injuries he would have to stand "leg man" material. With Joe Hughes' name going down on the casualty list, the hopes of a surprise victory seem more and more remote. He joins the other flankman Bob Colborn and a flock of other disabled which reads like a casualty list at Farawa. It is no wonder that groans can be heard from the die-hardest fans.

Southern's four conference losses can not be attributed to the injury jinx entirely, however. A mediocre pass defense has been perhaps the major cause. Western, Arkansas State, Northern, and especially Normal have come down largely on their aerial attack. To be sure, our secondary is made up of comparatively small men, but 48 points, scored either ground or in the air on the forward pass by Normal shows that the situation should be remedied. An experienced quarterback is also lacking. Not one of the trio of Foy, Cummins, and Kelley have had previous varsity college experience.

Saturday's another game, however, and next year's another year.

GINGERSNAPS

By Dulas Ginger

Now a story can be told... For a year now we have compared the careers of two men who we thought to be parallel in their athletic ticks. The two men to which we refer are Bob Colborn and Joe Hughes. In high school, both were named All-State ends just one year apart. Both were outstanding in their conferences and received that recognition there. Last year Bob and Joe were very outstanding as ends in the IAC in which Colborn was All Conference and Joe steadily improved until he would have been it had he played at the beginning of the season as he did toward the end. In basketball, the twosome again paired as forwards in which again Joe got a slow start but at Kansas City showed plenty of class when against A-1 competition. Bob and Joe received honors on the hardwood almost equal. The only sport that the two do not parallel in is track, and we'd venture that "Cob" would make a good quarter miler.

This is where the parallel becomes a tragedy... to Southern sports and maybe to the men themselves. Broken bones not in the same place but both have broken legs. It seems that whatever happens to Colborn will eventually happen to "Bruckelhead" Hughes.

Now Lynn Holder has but one returning starter to his first five in which he originally had a solid three. The load will fall on the capable and basketball talented Jack Eddie, around which the team must be rebuilt. It is not a black picture at all, Jack (Hooy) Long, Charlie Goss, Galen Davis, Bob Kiskaak, Don Glover, and Eric Bozarth all show promises of being strong competitors. The only thing that is dark about the situation is that no All Conference men will be in there and possibly never will show the talent they have in the event of war here. Also it is shameful because of the fine schedule that has been selected for a possible NAIB participant in which three returning stars made this the fifth consecutive year in which we could compete possible.

All is not lost, we will keep our hopes high and give Lynn and the boys our support.

It was pretty evident that the sore spot has not healed from the basketball accident with Normal last winter. Some of the players sensed that Hughes was the target of some outlandish football and wanted him to retire to the bench. With the score 42 to 52 at that point the reserves certainly should have been resting and the reserves getting some experience.

Martin Speaks to Groups At Fairfield and Mattoon

Director of Athletics and Head Football Coach Glenn "Abe" Martin returned to his hometown at Fairfield last Thursday to speak at the annual football banquet for the high school gridiron.

Martin began his playing career at Fairfield in 1926 and went on to win more laurels here at Southern and later with the professional Chicago Cardinals. He was the first undrafted team in the history of Fairfield in 1926 and in 1933 he returned to the town as coach. His 1934 and 1935 elevations were to Lincoln, Mo., and Lincoln, Mo., respectively. Last this season, he younger brother was coaching at Fairfield.

Thursday of this week, Martin journeyed to Mattoon to address the football team of Hevry Tweedy, Southern's substitute and football captain of the 1944 Maroons.

'Off Sides' with Bob Brayfield

The University of Oklahoma as proved last Saturday is next to impossible to beat on their own field. The Sooners have not been down on their home grounds since the Oklahoma Aggies beat them there in 1945. They have not lost a game since at home since Nebraska defeated them in 1942.

When Steve O'Neil was fired by the Detroit Tigers a few days ago, he became the seventh big league manager to lose his job this year.

The Off-Side column missed three out of thirteen last Saturday for that net good average of 76%. We are glad that we failed to pick the Georgia Tech-Tennessee game, because if we had our average would have been still lower.

Here are this week's predictions:
NOTRE DAME AT NORTHWESTERN.
 The game of the week in the mid-west. Northwestern is always at a high pitch for the Irish. The Sooners are in for a rout, but should win by one touchdown.
OHIO STATE AT ILLINOIS.
 This will be a very close contest. On the basis that the Illini are really moving, we will bring down with them.
ARMY AT PENN.
 Penn will be mad over their beating at the hands of Penn State last week, but Army is proving every week that they are one of the nation's finest Army-by-two touchdowns.
MINNESOTA AT IOWA.
 Minnesota is still in the running for a possible Rose Bowl bid, and should add an easy victory in this contest.
PITTSBURGH AND PURDUE.
 This is due to be a close match. Pittsburg has already beat one Big 10 opponent, Indiana. But the Boilermakers will not receive their Hoosier friends, and should have a victory after the smoke clears away Saturday.

Highlights of Prep Sports

By BILL HOLLADA

Benton will play at Harrisburg and Murphysboro will play at Carbondale this afternoon (Thursday) in feature games on the abundant Southern Illinois prep grid platter.

By beating Harrisburg and then downing West Frankfort on Thanksgiving day, the Benton Rangers came in to the University Six Championship. Otherwise, Harrisburg will wind up in full control of the championship.

Carbondale is in a similar situation. By defeating the Murphysboro Red Devils - winner of 24 straight games - Carbondale will tie for the championship. If the Terriers lose, the Red Devils will win the Southern Illinois prep grid platter.

In two other outstanding games scheduled for today, Centralia will play at West Frankfort and Danville will play at Pinckneyville.

Other games scheduled for today include Salem at Mt. Vernon, Sparta at Chester, Bridgeport at Lawrenceville, Mt. Carmel at Olney, Evansville at Eldorado, and Johnston City at Zeigler.

After playing West Frankfort today, Centralia will play an "iron train" role by traveling to Wheaton Friday in another game Friday night. Christopher will play at Marion.

Hughes Joins Injured List as Maroons Lose to Normal

Southern suffered its second most humiliating defeat in the history of the school as the Illinois State Normal Redbirds crushed the injury-riddled Maroons 48-0, here Saturday afternoon.

Southern's biggest blow, however, was not in the score itself, but in the loss of Joe Hughes, first string end from West Frankfort, who received a compound fracture of the right leg midway in the final quarter.

Hughes, a first string member of the cage squad and high point man of the track equal this spring, earlier this year was picked as the outstanding Southern athlete of the year.

The picture for Southern was dimmed immensely by the loss of Bob Colborn, stalwart forward and new has been blackened by a most recent tragedy, that victim being Joe Hughes. Joe came to Southern last year from Northwestern where he lettered in basketball in winning the Hinkle Memorial Award thus proved his versatility as an all around athlete.

In addition to the following schedule the Maroons will be engaged in the annual Vincennes, Ind., tourney during the Christmas vacation.

The schedule includes Dec. 4, Evansville, away; Dec. 11, Evansville, home; Dec. 18, Shurtleff College, home; Dec. 18, Mississippi Delta, home; Dec. 21, Ottawa University, home; Dec. 29-30, Vincennes Invitational Four-day tourney at Vincennes, Ind.; Jan. 4, Culver-Stocker, home; Jan. 8, Northern Illinois State Teachers College, home; Jan. 14, Illinois Wesleyan, away; Jan. 25, Illinois State Normal University, away; Jan. 19, Eastern Illinois State College, home; Jan. 22, Millikin University, home; Jan. 27, Evansville College, away; Jan. 29, Western Illinois State College, home.

Feb. 5, Northern Illinois State Teachers College, away; Feb. 9, Cape Girardeau, away; Feb. 12, Illinois State Normal University, away; Feb. 15, Kirkville College, home; Feb. 19, Eastern Illinois State College, away; Feb. 22, Cape Girardeau, home; Feb. 26, Western Illinois State College, away.

rooms completely "caved in," as normal turned fumbles and intercepted passes into touchdowns. On the first play of the quarter Normal recovered a Southern fumble on the 50. Normal then drove downfield, finally scoring on a 13-yard pass from Baker to Tom Iarside.

About two minutes later Frank Jakubicki intercepted a Southern pass on the Maroons' 40 and then raced 60 yards for another Normal touchdown.

An eight-yard pass from Baker to Dal Santo accounted for another Redbird touchdown about four minutes later. The leave clinched a 30-yard drive.

In the waning minutes of the game, Normal intercepted another pass. Then in the final minute of play Baker tossed to Jakubicki for the seventh Normal touchdown. The timer's gun stopped the onslaught at 48-0.

Surprisingly enough, Southern outstruck Normal, 167-137, in final statistics. It was Normal's 10 completed passes for a total of 320 yards, however, that spelled the difference.

Chuck Heinz, converted line man, was the Maroons' leading rusher as he picked up 61 yards in 12 tries for an average of five yards a try. Dick Seelman made three yards a try with 44 yards in 15 attempts, while John Tusch netted 35 yards in 10 attempts.

The defeat pushed the Maroons deeper into the conference cellar. Present standings are as follows:

Team	W	L	Ts	Pts	Opp
Eastern	3	0	35	13
Normal	2	1	69	26
Northern	2	2	62	26
Western	1	2	13	22
Southern	0	3	14	87
