John C. Guyon will be selected as the next dean of the College of Sciences, the Daily Egyptian learned Thursday.

An eight-man search committee for the new dean was formed in January and completed work in June. A science faculty member who did not wish to be identified said some members were committed to the administration for consideration. The committee was not dismissed until October.

Knowledge of when the appointment will be officially announced or when the appointment will become effective was not available. Elbert H. Hadley, present dean of the college, had no comment, pending an official announcement. J. Keith Leasure, vice president for academic affairs and provost, was out of town and unavailable for comment Thursday. Various officials in the College of Sciences had no comment.

Guyon, 42, is presently a member of the chemistry department at Memphis State University.

Before going to Memphis State, he was chemistry department chairman at the University of Missouri from 1966-1971.

Guyon received his Ph. D. in analytical chemistry from Purdue University in 1961. He received his master's degree in physical chemistry.

Nixon 'arrogance' topic of impeachment rally

200 watch President burned in effigy

By Gary Hovy
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

President Richard Nixon was hanged and burned in effigy Thursday as an estimated 200 people watched during an impeachment rally near Anthony Hall.

The rally started shortly after noon with a speech by C. Harvey Gardiner, research professor of history. Gardiner said the 'arrogacy' of Nixon started in the summer of 1970 with the Houston Plan.

"This was a plan of political surveillance against college students and professors which led to burglary," Gardiner said. "The President was called on to enforce the laws of the land, instead he has broken them."

Gardiner mentioned the so-called White House 'plumbers' who 'committed burglaries and perjuries in the 1972 Watergate scandal. Then there was the bombing of Cambodia which was kept a secret. After he admitted it, he said that in similar circumstances he'd do it again."

"The Nixon tape compromise offer which led to the need for a new special prosecutor increased the delay in the process so we would lose enthusiasm for the truth," Gardiner said.

The next speaker, Brian Williams of the Young Socialist Alliance, suggested the nation's problems run deeper than the executive office.

"Getting rid of Nixon alone will not solve all our problems," Williams said. "Don't just blame as much as Nixon. We need to get rid of all criminals, Democrat or Republican, and get people with help themselves in government."

Gus Bode

Williams said national socialist organizations are 'suing Nixon and other characters for $27 million on the basis they've been doing these things since 1967.'

Jonathan Seldin, assistant professor of mathematics, was the third speaker. Cries of 'hang him,' grew frequent as Seldin took the megaphone.

"The worst thing the Nixon administration has done is the Houston Plan," Seldin said. "It advertised lying against those whose political views differed.

"We can now seriously talk of impeachment. Nixon is above the law almost the moment he was elected. Citizens can't have faith if they have rights as long as Nixon is president," Seldin said.

Fred Whitehead, assistant professor of English, said Americans should not be fooled by diversions from the question of impeachment.

"There is always a danger of a wider war to divert attention from internal affairs," Whitehead said. "Nixon hopes this would make people stand by the President. This helps to confuse people. Certain sections of the liberation movement are making moves toward impeachment," he said. At SU, 3,400 people signed a petition calling for Nixon's impeachment in only one week. The student movement recovered, said there is an opportunity for a real united front struggle.

"I foresee victory. Getting rid of Nixon is the first step towards real progress," he said. "Nixon's lack of concern for the poor and underprivileged and his advocacy of the death penalty makes it appropriate that we hang him in effigy today.

"Maurice Richards of the Committee to Impounce Nixon then held the life-size cloth effigy of Nixon in the air and said.

"Let's pick out a tree." A crowd of cheering students followed him to a tall elm. On the third attempt, Richards looped the rope over a branch. About 20 students eagerly grabbed the rope and pulled the dummy into the air. Then, the rope broke. Shouts changed from "hang him" to "burn him."

"If we've got anything to burn him with, we'll burn him," said Richards. A shredded copy of Thursday's Daily Egyptian and some matches did the trick. As the Nixon effigy lay burning on the sidewalk, the crowd gradually dispersed.

Applications for trustee contenders not available until final rules are set

By Terry Martin
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Applications for those wishing to run for student trustee or student senator will not be released until an ad hoc committee develops a complete set of election laws.

Larry Roth, eastside dorm senator, asked for a suspension of the rules at Wednesday's Student Senate meeting so that immediate approval of the ad hoc committee could be made.

Applications will be available in the Student Government office from Nov. 9 through Nov. 18. Mike Carr, student body president, announced earlier this week. The date set by Carr, Sharon Yeargin, executive secretary of Graduate Student Council (GSC) and Lynn Kinsell-Rainey, GSC president, was Dec. 5 for both elections.

Roth told the senate the elections would be run under inadequate election laws unless a committee was set up to complete the laws and present them by the next Student Senate meeting.

The vote for immediate consideration of Roth's proposal passed 11-0. Ron Adams, eastside dorm senator, then moved that the matter be tabled but his proposal failed.

Student Senate Vice President Jim Kanu commented that "an ad hoc committee made up of senators is not all that great." Kania said he thought a committee made up of non-senators would be good "because it would bring new people into Student Government."

A vote was taken on Roth's proposal and passed by the senators.

Any interested senator is eligible to be on the committee to determine election rules with the chairman to be appointed by the Committee on Committees.

Some qualifications had been set Wednesday for a student trustee candidate by Carr, Ms. Yeargin and Ms. Kinsell-Rainey. They were scheduled to meet again Thursday to finalize qualifications but reportedly met only five minutes because of the action taken by the senate.

A meeting of the ad hoc committee is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Student Government office.
College of Liberal Arts votes new graduation requirements

By Marcia Bullard
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A new set of graduation requirements for the College of Liberal Arts was adopted by the faculty on Thursday night by the Liberal Arts Council.

Students now in the college or entering before the fall term and graduating under either the new or old requirements must complete 90 semester hours for fall 1974 will be required to meet the new standards.

Full-time members in the College of Liberal Arts approved the new requirements by a vote of 18 to 0. There are approximately 330 eligible students in the college.

Roger Beyler, dean of the college, said the requirements are the result of a recommendation made two years ago that revisions within the College of Liberal Arts were necessary. Efforts have been underway since last spring to bring about the change and have caused some degree of inter-departmental disagreement as to specification included.

Under the new graduation requirements, a student enrolling in the College of Liberal Arts with the exception of completing a minor for 15 semester hours or of completing 15 semester hours, work in the other two areas of the College outside his major. The new requirements will result in at least 40 hours of credit at the 300 or 400 level.

Roger Beyler, dean of the college, said the requirements are the result of a recommendation made two years ago that revisions within the College of Liberal Arts were necessary.

The College of Liberal Arts is divided into three areas: Humanities which includes English, history, linguistics, philosophy and religious studies. Social Sciences which includes anthropology, economics, government, psychology and sociology; Mathematical Sciences and Foreign Languages and Literatures which includes computer science, mathematics, foreign languages and literature.

If a student majors in one of the humanities and picks the first option, then he or she would not be subject to the area rule. If a student were majoring in one of the humanities and the second option, the student must complete at least six hours in each of the other two areas.

Graduate studies courses cannot be used to satisfy the second option.

Saddle Club puts out call for volunteers

Saluki Stables needs "a lot of people" to help repair and upgrade the stables' grounds this weekend, said Rick Pere, Saluki Saddle Club member.

Volunteer help is being sought from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday to put a dent in the estimated $200 budget needed for immediate grounds maintenance. The cry for volunteers is one of the recent measures designed by the saddle club and a student senate committee to prevent closing of the Saluki Stables Nov. 15.

"It's an effort to get everyone interested in working to help the stables is more than welcome, Pere said. The volunteer work will continue as long as much as the club can be filled.

Any equipment and needed for repairs will be provided, said Rich Lange, another Saluki Saddle Club member.

"We need "bodies, and the clothes to go with them" for the Saturday and Sunday work efforts.

An advisory committee will be formed to work with Pere and the Stables Stables Nov. 15.

Veterans Congress will hold first meeting

The Carbondale Elementary School Board reported Thursday night its petition to the city calling for sidewalks to be built along the north side of East Grand Avenue from Lakeland School to Lewis School will be followed up by City Manager Carroll Fry.

The board authorized the petition at its Oct. 18 meeting. Security Officer has already made a traffic accident near Brookside Manor which occurred in the presence of an old boy.

Frances W. Martin, school superintendant, noted a 1961 city ordinance which stated any private home or apartment developments built subsequent to the ordinance would be required to have sidewalks installed. Brookside Manor has had a sidewalk installed.

Fry, in a letter of response to the board, said a report would be prepared by Nov. 26 investigating the matter to be considered before the sidewalks could be built. He included among the considerations the need to determine ownership of abutting property, and to check whether sidewalks can be built and still reserve room to widen Grand Avenue if and when the need arises.

Fry said he doubted any sidewalk could be completed before spring due to weather constraints.

Veterans Congress will hold first meeting

By John Morrissey
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The day-long session will largely be devoted to organizing and procedural matters for continuing the congress which is the coordinator of Veterans Affairs at SIU. Chao said seven area schools and junior colleges have representatives to the congress, and he also expects contacts from several area missions to attend.

One member of the congress will be to organize and coordinate veterans support of legislation affecting them. Chao said he found Carbondale Veterans Centers behind certain bills should prove more active than the southern support which has existed to date.

After deciding procedures for future congress, the members will discuss organizing veterans organizations at different schools for future recreational and social activities, Chao said. He also mentioned the desirability of having the promotion of veterans benefits brought "under control.

The afternoon session of the congress will begin with discussion of veteran-related legislation needing immediate attention, Chao said. Lines of communication between schools participating in the congress will be set up and specific goals for the congress will also be discussed.

The congress is basically a conference, Chao said, with the understanding that for the meetings discussion of particular veterans problems the minor schools are the congress. The congress should also be able to provide coordinated help for area congresses for the following weeks.

Phone service begins for those terminally ill

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - The Rev. Charles Claffey, who has used a 24-hour telephone counseling service for the terminally ill and their families, says the service fills the need for "someone they can call it all out with."

27-year-old Methodist minister said dying persons and the professional counselors because "often they feel isolated and alone in the ake of their families. They need to let their emotions loose."

And relatives, he said, "want to air feelings of denials and guilt."
A poptop that doesn't pop

By Brenda Penland
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Bill Kaiser, a junior from Morton, has an unusual problem. Some people seem to think his car is a can of beer.

The reason is simple. Kaiser had his 1965 Volkswagen Beetle decorated with Stag beer decals and equipped with a pop top, he's been getting some strange reactions.

"When I drive my car, people have double takes, wave and yell," Kaiser said. "Sometimes when I come out of class, I'll find a crowd of people around my car trying to pop the top but they can't because it's screwed on."

Kaiser said he doesn't mind when people notice his car.

"I've found that it's a great way to meet people," he said. "It's an interesting thing. Once people recognize my car, they seem to feel they know me. People tend to get attached to it."

Beetle Boards of America decorated Kaiser's car and the job didn't cost him a penny. In fact they pay him $30 a month for nine months just for letting them do it. Besides the decal and pop top, his car also received a new paint job.

Kaiser said he drove his plain, ordinary Volkswagen to St. Louis where it was transformed into a piece of art in just one day.

He said he has received several notes from people wanting to know how they can get their car decorated like his. But he said the company is based in Los Angeles and was in St. Louis for one day only.

Kaiser recently discovered that since his car has been decorated all of his friends want to ride with him.

"They all say it's super great," he said. "They like to ride with me because they're interested in seeing how people react.

Kaiser said he worries about causing accidents because people at busy intersections pay more attention to his car than they do to their driving. He also added to being worried about receiving criticism about the new image of his car.

"But so far, I've got ten all positive comments," he said. "Everybody seems to like it. In fact, most people really respect the art work."

Kaiser said the whole experience is really very ironic because he doesn't enjoy drinking beer.

But he said driving seems to be more fun than it used to be and he drives his car more often now.

So if you see something that looks like a can of beer driving down the road, don't panic.

It's probably Bill Kaiser out for another drive.

Nine clubs to receive S-Senate funding

By Terry Martin
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Funding for nine campus organizations was approved by the Student Senate Wednesday night.

Approval received at the meeting was for a special Dean of Student Funds include Soccers Club, Bowling Club, $100; and Orientering Club, $200.

The Rugby Club will receive $710 and the Bowling Club will receive $300 from the Special Projects Fund.

Those to receive money from the Student Organization activity fund are: Volleyball Club, $450; Sport Parachute Club, $350; and Saluki Track and Field Club, $160.

The recommendations for funding were made by the Finance Committee with final approval to be made by Student Body President Mike Carr. Carr said today he plans to approve all the recommendations.

In other senate action, three senators were impeached because of their failure to appear at three meetings in a row.

Those impeached were Mike Nairne, Terry Tollefson and Vine Mitchell, all eastside non-dorm senators.

"If they did attend once in a while, the charge would not consider impeachment," said Vice President Jim Kania.

Student files class suit after teachers strike

DETROIT (AP) - A high school student has filed a $12-million class action lawsuit against the Detroit Federation of Teachers, charging that a six-week strike kept him from graduating and prevented him from starting college in January.

The suit was filed by Danni R. Stillwell, 17, asks $1,000 damages for herself and on behalf of 31,000 that Detroit high school seniors who would have graduated in January.

Derge's lower tuition stand greeted with encouraging student reaction

By Debby Rasermann
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

SU President David Derge's strong stand against proposed tuition hikes met with overwhelmingly favorable student reaction Thursday morning.

"I was very, very happy he came out in favor of the students," Student Body Vice President Mike Carr said. "We sent him a letter saying Student Government favored lower tuition, but I didn't realize he was going to make a statement on it at the Student Senate meeting Wednesday night."

Carr said a Student Government committee composed of himself, Student Body Vice President Jim Kania, Dave Heske and Joel Blake is currently researching a report on decreasing tuition.

"If you're after a decrease, you have to know where to cut down," Carr said.

"Unfortunately, there is definite pressure for a tuition raise. The president at the University of Illinois came out in favor of an increase."

Carr said any large-scale action against the increase "must come from the Student Senate. They're the ones with the manpower."

Carr said he was "optimistic that we can stop a tuition hike."

Michael Westburg, a senior majoring in Cinema and Photography, said, "Students are sick of tuition increases. It shouldn't be such a burden to pay your fees."

"Education has become a big business," David Kwiatek, a graduate student in Design, said. "College isn't a right, it's a privilege. Education has the lowest priority in this society."

Mike Contor, a junior majoring in Industrial Technology, said, "No one likes to pay more money for the same thing."

"The fact that he's against an increase is a plus in Derge's favor," Glenn Park, a senior physical education major, said. "I was really surprised."

"It's the least he could do," agreed Ralph Byrko, a sophomore majoring in Business.

George Weisiger, a senior majoring in Administration of Justice, said, "I think Derge is trying to get the students on his side; I don't really think he cares. But tuition has already been raised too much."

"It's getting impossible to go to college without some sort of scholarship," Leslie Sheffer, a junior in Special Education, said. "I'm glad Derge decided to do something for the students for a change."

Mr. Nixon's 5672nd crisis

By Arthur Hoppie
Chronicle Features

By feeding the events of the past three weeks into a vast computer, scientists at the National Institute of Prognostication have determined precisely what Americans will face in the coming three years.

"Our predictions are guaranteed 99.8 per cent accurate," NIP Director Homer T. Pettwoose proudly told reporters. "God help us all." The computer readout follows.

+++ Nov. 7, 1973—Presidential croony Bebe Rebozo confessed today to blowing the $100,000 he'd collected three years ago for Mr. Nixon from Howard Hughes on wine, women and song.

"In regretfully accepting Mr. Rebozo's resignation as my cronyn," Mr. Nixon said, "let me say I still have full confidence in his croyniyn."

Dec. 8, 1973—Chief Justice Warren Burger attempted today to administer the oath of Vice President to Gerald Ford. "Repeat after me," he began. "No, no, let's try it again, Mr. Ford...Come on, one more time, Jerry..."

As darkness fell, Mr. Nixon expressed "full confidence" Mr. Ford would get the oath right when attempts resumed tomorrow.

Jan. 14, 1974—Mr. Nixon defended himself on television tonight from charges that he negotiated the Russian wheat deal in return for a campaign contribution of two million rubles from Mr. Kozyn. "I acted solely in the best interests of every American," he said, "Republicans, Democrats and Communists alike."

In regretfully accepting the resignation of the Russians as his friends, he expressed "full confidence" in their friendliness and, he said, "in me."

Jan. 15, 1974—As impeachment momentum mounted Mr. Nixon announced that Dr. Henry Kissingger had just returned from Andmedes II aboard a flying saucer after securing "a lasting peace with honor" with the Andmedesians. Meanwhile, fighting continued in Vietnam and the Middle East.

Oct. 10, 1974—Dr. Kissingger, it was revealed today, neither spoke nor understood English. His secret wife, Eva Braun, had long coached him on what to say. In regretfully accepting his resignation, Mr. Nixon told him he had "unbeginglie Zipersicht" in him. Jill St. John expressed "shock and disappointment."

June 5, 1975—Mr. Nixon regretfully accepted the resignation of Mrs. Nixon as his wife and First Lady today. All she would say is, "I finally heard these tapes."

Jan. 3, 1976—Following the arrest of David Eisenhower on pot charges, the revelation that Ed-ward Cox was the secret son of Archibald Cox and the disclosure that Justice Burger was the 16th billion MacDonald had bought, Mr. Nixon resigned today when the hot water heater burst. "That's one croyn," he shouted, stomping out of the White House, "Too many!" Mr. Ford pledged to get the oath straight by tomorrow at the very latest.

+++ After reading the above predictions, reporters asked if America could survive the next three years. Dr. Pettooose looked surprised.

"If we can survive the last three weeks," he said, "we can obviously survive anything."
A turning down peace

By turning down the Nobel Peace Prize, Le Duc Tho may prove to the world that he is not a hypocrite.

Tho feels that it is impossible for him to accept the prize he won for helping to bring peace to Vietnam, because there is no peace.

From that point on, Tho goes wrong.

Tho blames the United States and South Vietnam for continuing to commit "very serious violations" of the cease-fire agreement.

A South Vietnamese government spokesman said that Tho's country is preparing a huge offensive against the South.

So maybe Tho's government may have told Tho to make any kind of peace agreement, so that their army can rebuild. How would Tho's image become, if he was accepting the prize for achieving peace, while his country is attacking South Vietnam.

American intelligence have said that Hanoi has moved more than 70,000 men into South Vietnam since the cease-fire began. So, how could Tho blame the United States and Saigon for violations of the treaty.

Tho once said that war must go on until imperialism is scoured from the earth. How could a man win a peace prize when he makes a statement like that.

Maybe Tho's conscience told him not to accept the award because of these reasons, if he has a conscience.

Henry Kissinger, the co-recipient, plans to accept his award. After all, he was after a long lasting peace in some difficult negotiations. Tho merely was after enough time for his country to regain forces.

Unfortunately for Americans, the Nobel Peace Prize that Tho didn't deserve, will be honored throughout the world. Even if the North does attack, and if Tho never accepts it.

Start talking

For the first time in seventeen years, responsible representatives from Israel and Egypt have met face to face in formal negotiations. The meetings Sunday in Egypt's eastern desert concerned only technical arrangements related to the encircled Egyptian III Corps, and thus were immeasurably far from the direct political negotiations which Israel has long sought. But nearly two decades of artificial silence have in fact been broken; and Arabs and Israelis are at least making a start toward the kind of negotiations ordered by the United Nations Security Council.

One encouraging sign is the impressive high level of Israeli representation at these meetings: L. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, long the Army Chief of Staff and subsequently a cabinet minister, and Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, the widely respected former Chief of Military Intelligence. Egypt has sent a high-level diplomat for talks in Washington; but Cairo, too, would do well to name representatives of high rank and standing to meet the Israelis in the technical talks.

There are several factors which make the present moment more auspicious than 1967 for the Middle East. First, the Soviet Union and the United States are in accord this time in pressing for an early start to peace talks, though neither superpower can succeed in enforcing its will on traditionally turbulent friends.

The military situation left by last week's truce is hopelessly jumbled, with none of the tidy stability of the Suez Canal cease-fire line of 1967. Neither Egypt nor Israel can expect to maintain the present over-extended lines crisscrossing the canal.

The political situation left by the war is also unstable, particularly in Israel where the fractious parliamentary factions are already jutting each other and the Government. Anger is high among hardline Israelis against the United States and Premier Golda Meir for requiring Israel to stop short of total humiliation of the Arab armies. "Israel has been deprived of a decisive victory," lamented one retired general, apparently forgetting that Israel had previously scored three "decisive" victories without deciding anything.

Against this short-sighted intermezzo must be measured another body of Israeli thought, including some of the leading press commentators, that questions whether ancient Sparta is really the most desirable model for modern Israel. As one soldier remarked to a reporter on the western bank of the canal, "I simply cannot accept the idea that my son, who is five now, will have to go through this after me."

For the first time in many years, then, there is now some basis for hope that this unacceptable prospect will not have to be realized. It really depends on whether both the Egyptian and the Israeli Governments recognize that they cannot have military glory and peace at the same time. Negotiations will involve give as well as take.

The friends of Arabs and Israelis alike now have the obligation to encourage by every means a continuation of the momentum toward negotiations, however slight it may be, and to help both sides seize the prize of peace that last but within their grasp—if they are ready to grasp it.

The New York Times

Letter

Israel should hold gains

To the Daily Egyptian:

It is not entirely reasonable to assume that a lasting peace will come to the Middle East if Israel withdraws to her boundaries she held prior to the 1967 war. One of the conditions needed for peace between nations is stable boundaries and Israel's boundaries prior to the Six Day War were anything but stable.

Israel should hold the territory secured in June of 1967. Israel should hold the trans-Jordan region to prevent being nearly split in two by the hostile Jordanians. Israel should hold the heights in southern Syria to prevent the emplacement of Arab artillery; artillery which prior to 1967 periodically shelled civilian communities in Israel. Israel should hold the Gaza Strip and the Sinai, not only as a reliable buffer zone, but also to insure open passage of Israeli shipping through the Gulf of Aqaba, a route closed by the Egyptians in the spring of 1967. Though manmade, the Suez Canal is a more practical and reliable boundary than a line drawn arbitrarily through the desert, and peace will provide for the eventual opening of the canal, to be regulated by Egypt and open to all nations.

The boundaries of Israel as originally drawn in 1948 were unreasonable and contributed negatively to the cause of peace in the Middle East. The boundaries secured in the 1967 war are rational, they are defendable. In the interests of peace these boundaries should remain.

‘Heavy Traffic’ animates 1950’s

Whereas Ralph Bakshi’s previous adult cartoons, “ Fritz the Cat,” told a people story in terms of animated animals, “Heavy Traffic” is animated people against live-action, 1950’s New York City backgrounds. The film opened Wednesday at the Fox.

At its center is a frustrated car-

Animation removes any such competition.

By mixing live-action and animation, Bakshi generates a willingness is us to be moved in ways that are corny, but feel good. Violence runs through the city he draws, but so does loyalty— the cartoonists loyalty in his woman, and her loyalty to him. I use the word “loyalty,” but “love” would do as well.

Bakshi’s achievement is particularly important to animated film fans, because the feature-length animated cartoon has been going nowhere for 25 years. Top-notch animation of the caliber produced by Disney in the 1940’s is far more expensive to produce than live.

The inevitable result is that the quality of animated features has steadily declined to the point where today’s product is little more than a computerized string of Huckleberry Hound shorts.

What has been needed is either a technological or artistic breakthrough, and “Heavy Traffic” points the way.

Peace center to sponsor crafts shop

The Carbondale Peace Center is sponsoring an arts and crafts center for anyone interested in making holiday gifts.

Steve Budas, coordinator of the center, said materials will be provided as well as catalogs for mail order gifts.

"The cost will be just the minimum amount to pay for materials," Budas said. "For example, Christmas cards will cost about three cents a piece to make. We want to make Christmas less commercial and more meaningful."

The crafts center will be located at the Student Christian Foundation, 833 S. Illinois Ave. It will be in operation Monday through Thursday each week from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning Nov. 5.

"Monday nights the center will feature household goods and silkscreen; Tuesday, macrame; Wednesday, blockprinting and tie-dye; and Thursday will be candlemaking.

"We should get a really good response," Budas said. "This is the first time we've done this, but we hope to do it every year."

Roller Derby queen to meet her public

By Dave Stearnes
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

If you've ever wondered what Roller Derby queen Joanie Weston looks like outside of your black and white television tube, she will be at Penney's in full star-raving color from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Unlike Penney's other merchandise, Ms. Weston will not be for sale. However, she will be shaking hands, giving autographs and generally "vetering to her fans," as Roller Derby commentator Chet Coppock said.

"If you had both Weston and Billie Jean King on this campus, I bet that far more people would recognize Weston," Coppock declared.

Now captain of the Midwest Pioneers (who will war with the Jolters at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Arena), Ms. Weston started life as the daughter of a football player. By age 14, she was playing in a national championship girls' softball tourney. Ms. Weston's star, of course, is a major asset to her Roller Derby prowess, for she is truly big (five feet ten, 185 pounds). Skate fans everywhere are perpetually smitten by this attractive Jean of Arc on roller skates.

According to the New York Daily News, "Joanie Weston adds a touch of class, a bit of stamina to the sweaty grunting world of the banked track. She has had more injuries than Humpy Dumpty and rattles them off with unabashed pride. I've had three broken noses, three broken fingers, three fractured fingers, three smashed toes, a dislocated collar bone and in 1963 I had knee cartilage surgery. They told me at the time that I'd never skate again. They could have just as well told me I was dead. But I came back as strong as ever the next year."

Roller Derby queen Joanie Weston in action.

Appearing with Ms. Weston at Penney's will be Bonnie Robinson, son of Sugar Ray Robinson. Robinson has been a top pointmaker in the Roller Derby league, and has the agility and speed necessary to be an outstanding jammer.

One may wonder what exactly Roller Derby is. This question may be answered by posing another: "What has 160 wheels, 20 million nuts and crashes into itself?" (Signature magazine)

The Phoenix Gazette called the derby "a somewhat peculiar entity that falls somewhere between sports and entertainment, but for the participants and the legion of local fans it's a way of life. The roughness in Roller Derby is not play acting."

Ticket: may be clamored for at the Arena, the Student Center Ticket Office, Penney's and Sav-Mart for $4, $3, and $2.

Film directors and human behavior to be discussion topics on TV

Film directors and human behavior are the topics of discussion on "The Men Who Made the Movies," which will be telecast at 6:30 p.m. on WSIU-TV, Channel 8.

During the presentation Sunday on WSIU-TV, Channel 8, we will examine the work of eight directors whose films had considerable influence on American film during Hollywood's heyday. The directors featured in the autobiographical series include Ronald Walsh, who will discuss films such as "The Naked and the Dead" on Sunday. The others are Frank Capra, Howard Hawks, King Vidor, George cukor, William Wellman, Alfred Hitchcock and Vincente Minnelli.

Each program in the series is devoted to one director, and producer Richard Schickel, Time magazine's film critic, has included segments from their films. Cliff Robertson, Academy Award winner for "Charley," is the narrator.

William F. Buckley, Jr. will host a special four-part "Firing Line" examination of human behavior beginning at 9 p.m. Sunday. B.F. Skinner, appearing on the first segment, has called for a new approach to forming moral behavior.

The influential Harvard psychologist will discuss the mechanism of moral development with another prominent psychologist, Leon Festinger, and Buckley.

"In a world which is punitive, as is our world at the present time, I see no alternative but to continue to investigate and determine what causes human behavior," said.

Contemporary films slated for showing

The Southern Illinois Film Society (SIFS) will present two contemporary issue-oriented features Friday in Ballroom D of the Student Center.

"Mr. Freedom," which will be shown at 8:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., is described by SIFS President Jim Stephan as "an allegory on creeping fascism.

"It's a take-off on the Superman and super-hero syndrome," Stephan said.

"The Revolutionary," which will be screened at 8 a.m. and 11 a.m., concerns a young student (Jon Voight) and his gradual radicalization. Torn between his revolutionary commitment and nostalgia for his bourgeois roots, he is finally overtaken by the remorseless logic of events.

Admission is $1.50 for both films, or $1 for one.

Armstrong sentenced in bombing

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Karlton L. Armstrong, who pleaded guilty to charges in the 1970 University of Wisconsin bombing that killed a physics researcher, was sentenced Thursday to 23 years in prison.

"Long live the revolution," the bearded Armstrong shouted after Circuit Court Judge William Sachjen sentenced him on a second degree murder charge.

The 27-year-old former University of Wisconsin student walked out of the courtroom with his right fist raised in salute. Supporters in the audience responded, "Right on, Karl!"

Sachjen also sentenced Armstrong to indeterminate terms of up to 15 years for arson and 30 years for transporting explosives, to run concurrently with the second degree murder term.

Armstrong, who has been in custody since his arrest in Canada early last year, would be eligible for parole in five years. He still faces federal charges in connection with the bombing, in which physicist Robert Bauschak, 33, was killed.

Three others charged in the explosion at the Army Mathematics Research Center, located in Sterling Hall on the Madison campus, are still being sought.

Armstrong, who had been charged with first degree murder in Fassnacht's death, pleaded guilty in September only to the reduced charge under a plea bargain in which the prosecution agreed to dismiss a 25-year sentence.

He could have received a maximum of 60 years on the arson charges, 25 for second degree murder, and 10 for the explosives conviction.

The agreement enabled Armstrong's attorneys to present testimony as to motivation for the bombing in a two-week pre-sentence hearing that ended last Friday. Defense witnesses included Pentagon Papers case defendant Anthony Russo and antiwar activist Philip Berrigan.

Author to talk on religion

Father Andrew Greeley, noted sociological and prolific author, will speak on "The Persistence of Religion" at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 11 in Shryock Auditorium.

Greeley is the fall speaker in the Catholic Knights & Ladies of Illinois-Newman Lecture Series. He is the director of the National Opinion Research Center for the Body of American Pluralism at the University of Chicago.

Some of Greeley's books are "The Jesus Myth," "And the Young Shall See Visions" and "Sexual Intimacy." Catholic publications nationwide carry his column.

"Youthful radicalism" is a "desirable tradition" lost by American teens, Greeley said in a 1962 book examining the factors of American culture to account for the apathy of that time. His books aimed at college students discuss problems of religious belief, love and marriage, social action and other items of contemporary life.

Free tickets can be obtained by contacting the Newman Center at 715 S. Washington St. Tickets are required for admittance.

22 ex-employees in fraud case indicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal grand jury has returned an indictment against 22 persons in the gigantic Equity Funding Corp. of America fraud case.

Equity Funding, a financial conglomerate, collapsed into bankruptcy last April.

The indictment said the company padded its books with phantom insurance policies sold to re-insurers, then compounded the fraud with other fake policies.

Among those whose indictment was disclosed today were Stanley Goldblum, 46, former president and chairman of the board of Equity Funding; Fred Levin, 40; and Samuel R. Lowell, 34, both former executive vice presidents.

All the others named in the indictment are former employees of Equity Funding except for two who were employed by an auditing company which served Equity Funding and most of its subsidiaries.

The indictment charges all of the defendants with conspiring between January 1965 and April 1973 to commit federal law violations.

Night Birth Control Pill Clinic to open again Monday evening

By Ken Townsend
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A Night Birth Control Pill Clinic (NB CPC) is being sponsored by the Health Service Monday from 7-9 p.m. at the Health Service, announced.

The clinic, held the first and third Mondays of each month throughout the academic year, is offered to a walk-in, first come-first serve basis, Dr. Knapp said.

Dr. Knapp said the clinic, his personal idea, started last year because more students were asking for examinations for birth control pills than could be handled during regular Health Service hours.

"The clinics are desirable from the standpoint of convenience for the student and a more efficient use of Health Service personnel," Dr. Knapp said.

Last year eight clinics were held drawing nearly 400 students.

Besides Knapp, there is usually one other physician, five nurses, student workers and a representative of the Human Sexuality Services (HSS) office in attendance.

Students desiring this service must first come to the Health service during the clinic's regularly scheduled hours and fill out forms to accompany the examinations. Dr. Knapp said.

After filling out the forms, the student will be interviewed by a nurse and then-examined by a physician. If there are no complications, a prescription for birth control pills will be given to the student. Dr. Knapp said. The clinic is for birth control pill prescriptions only." Dr. Knapp explained. "The physicians will do no other evaluations of other conditions, such as vaginitis.

Dr. Knapp also explained that the Health Service laboratory and pharmacy will be closed during the clinic.

Services offered at NB CPC include pelvic examinations, a general disease check, birth control pill prescriptions and pap smears. The services are free except for a $3 charge for pap smears. Dr. Knapp said.

"The clinic can process nearly 50 people each night it is held," Dr. Knapp said. "And the entire procedure can take as little time as fifteen minutes."

The clinics are not sponsored during exam weeks. Dr. Knapp added.

Israeli women switch to fight

MEROM GOLAN, Israel (AP)—The small contingent of Israeli women serving with combat units in the barzeh, west of Golan Heights have put away their miniskirts and put on ski masks and fur-lined parkas.

The women, who are serving in the tanks and in the front line, are not alone. Behind them, army headquarters at Tel Aviv

Israeli and Arab combat forces were still in place even after the cease-fire. The women’s army is called "Chen," which is the Hebrew word for "charm." Its symbol is a flower and sword.

Since Israel’s war of Independence in 1948, women have been barred from front-line fighting. Women soldiers in the Golan Heights and Sinai were evacuated at the beginning of the latest war - but returned at the danger stepped. Col. Ruth Muscal, Chen’s command, said that any woman fighting in active combat runs the risk of being taken prisoner, “and since this is a Middle East country, the fate of a girl taken prisoner might be a little bit dirty.”

Navigator movement teaches union with God and spreading of gospel

By Fred Lynch
Student Writer

If you find yourself with a group of Navigators, it won't be in a boat on Crab Orchard Lake.

The Navigators are fishers of men.

"We want to help people discover God's peace, love, and purpose for them," Craig Merfeld, new Navigator staff member said. "This happens when people get to know Jesus Christ personally by allowing Him to lead their lives."

Jesus Freaks? Religious fanatics? Well, the Navigator's goal is "to help fulfill Christ's Great Commission of spreading the Gospel by producing multiplying laborers in every country of the world," Merfeld said.

The Navigator movement was founded in the early 1940's on the West Coast by Dawson Trotman. His ministry of sharing the Gospel with servicemen and sailors has since grown into a worldwide movement on college campuses and military bases, Merfeld said.

The Navigators began at SIU in 1967 and is active with Bible study groups in each living area on campus.

ERA supporters pledge 'grass roots' campaign

CHICAGO (AP) - Equal Rights Amendment supporters plan Thursday they will work "at the grass roots level" in Illinois to bring about ERA ratification by the General Assembly.

"We need politicians who understand the first three letters of their office," said State Sen. Esther Saperstein, Chicag0, at a news conference of women's rights proponents.

Mrs. Saperstein was referring to a plan by ERA Central, which coordinates ERA ratification efforts throughout the state, to gain support from legislators during their campaigns for re-election next spring.

She also advocated running candidates against any legislators who "refuse to support the ERA." Gloria Steinem, activist who was in Chicago to raise funds for the effort, said that with ratified in the fall, it needed from only eight more states for the ERA to become the 27th amendment to the U.S. Constitution, Illinois is a "crucial state."

"Illinois was the first state to ratify the amendment giving women the right to vote," she said.

"For a while it was very popular to be a follower of Jesus," he said. "The Christian life is more than a fad - it involves a lot of discipline. It is knowing God and sharing this faith and love with other people."

The Navigators hold meetings on Friday nights in addition to the small group meetings in the dorms. A dinner is scheduled Nov. 11 and is open to all students.

Interested persons may receive further information about Navigator activities by contacting Craig Merfeld, 549-4875, or Fritz Bingenham, 452-4177.

Investigation of amateur athletics urged

By TOM SEPPY

Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Bob Mathias, R-Calif., a two-time Olympic gold medal winner, said Thursday there needs to be an intensive investigation of the U.S. Olympic Committee and amateur athletics.

Mathias also told a news conference he understands the White House "is seriously considering the formulation of a presidential commission" to make the investigation. He said the commission would study the organization of the U.S. Olympic Committee and make recommendations concerning the development of amateur athletes for competition.

Mathias, who won the decathlon in the 1956 and 1952 Olympics, made his comments in announcing his introduction of a bill to clarify what he called a "Bill of Rights" for amateur athletes in the United States.

The measure would also compel arbitration of disputes involving amateur athletes who want to qualify or participate in international competition.

Disputes between national sports organizations, such as the on-going battle between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union, would be resolved under the legislation, according to Mathias.

He said the American Arbitration Association, an independent arbitrator of disputes for 43 years, had agreed to handle any disagreements which would come under the legislation.

Mathias said his measure, which had the support of all organizations but the NCAA, differs from other legislation seeking to clear up the chaos of amateur athletics because "there is now federal bureaucratic agency created.

A's cut Andrews

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Mike Andrews, the seven-year-old shortstop who became the center of an off-field controversy during the recent World Series, was given a second chance release Thursday by the Oakland A's. Andrews, who placed on waivers last Friday, was unclaimed. Any other major league team could have claimed him.

Last week, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn ruled that Oakland must cut Andrews because the player stated he was disabled due to a bad throwing arm and couldn't properly play his position.

"I told him I couldn't sign it, because it was a lie," Andrews said later. He finally agreed to sign, he said, when he became convinced "if I didn't sign, I'd never be in baseball again."

Kuhn ordered Andrews reinstated to the A's. At the same time, the commission's request that infielder Manny Trillo replace Andrews on the roster. Andrews, who broke into the major leagues with Boston in 1966 and started the '67 season, was recently removed from the A's.

He was released by them and signed as a free agent by Oakland on July 11.

Andrews appeared in 18 regular-season games for the A's, mostly as a pinch hitter, and batted .169.

Baseball auction attracts buffs

By Karol Stonger
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Eighty-theys do I hear ninety... couldn't get you another eight balls like this except at Cooperstown and they're not for sale. Ninety... ninety... do I hear a hundred... one hundred—one hundred to the man out there in centerfield."

An art and antique auction house on Manhattan's plush East Side was inundated Thursday by baseball buffs who bid nearly $8,000 for some 400 baseballs and other memorabilia from the estate of Alphonse Leveque. The proceeds went to charity.

Leveque, who lived just three blocks from Ebbets Field until he died last April at the age of 96, was a devoted baseball fan. His team, of course, was the Brooklyn Dodgers, but he collected autographed balls from nearly every club in the country, including the old Philadelphia Blue Jays and Boston Bees. And when the balls arrived in the mail, he stuffed them in the vault at the Wall Street bank where he was an officer.

The earliest in his collection was a 1927 Dodgers ball that went for $130. But a 1936 Yankees ball with the signatures of Babe Ruth and Casey Stengel commanded the highest bid—$570.

Most of the collection was sold in lots, up to 11 balls, well shellacked and stapled in plastic bags, to a group.

For the most part, the bidding was brisk. But when it lagged, the auctioneer would take up the slack by shouting "that's worth more than a hundred and five of that size."

John Bolig, a University of Delaware researcher, was all smiles. He bought a Babe Ruth-autographed ball for $200. "A friend of mine and I guessed it'd go for $100. We talked about spending $500 apiece and put it on my mantle the six months and on his for six months. He backed out of the deal so I personally was willing to go to $500."

I'm going to go home and gloat a lot."

The Cardinals boast an explosive running game. Their team, including outback Tony Schmidt. Eight Cardinal runners have gained 100 yards rushing this year, with Schmidt's 478, tops.

Ball State's defense comes limping into Indiana. The Cardinals boast one of the most physical teams we'll see this season. The Cardinals also have the Salukis running with a 1-4-1 record. The game, which the Salukos won 13-7, featured the only touchdown the Salukos scored all season on a punt.

The touchdown against Ball State was also one of the Salukis' many downs. SIU tallied all year. Already this season SIU has made 26 touchdowns. Ball State has a big advantage in the seven-year-old series between the schools. The Cardinals have not beaten SIU since 1970.
